To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

DJ Neyhart
225 Edenderry Drive
Keller, TX 76248

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:38:33 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robin Hubbard

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Robin Hubbard
Santa anna
dunedin, FL 34698

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:37:58 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Joshua boozar

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Joshua boozar
440 Scott Drive
Saraland, AL 36571

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:37:37 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Cleek

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

James Cleek
809 Morningstar Trail
Richardson, TX 75081

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:36:12 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Molly Walker

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Molly Walker
13001 Meadowheath Cove
Austin, TX 78721

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:35:47 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mary Hammons

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Mary Hammons
1101 orchard park circle
pflugerville, TX 78660

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:34:50 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Margaux Fragoso

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Margaux Fragoso
716 Heavens drive apt 14
Mandeville, LA 70471

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:29:49 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: vernon milina

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

vernon milina
2803 north sonny lane
galveston, TX 77554

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:29:19 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sandra Nobles

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sandra Nobles
18600 S. Parkview Dr. #1113
Houston, TX 77084

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:28:19 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Fran Machen

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Fran Machen
10035 Willis Rd
Foley, AL 36535

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:24:13 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gayle Buzzelli

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Gayle Buzzelli
25027 bow wood cy
Spring, TX 77389

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:21:45 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jeff Sen

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jeff Sen
1100 Deer Creek Cir.
Dripping Springs, TX 78620

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:20:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Elita Markey (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 20, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Elita Markey
12 Indian Valley Way
Rydal, GA 30171-1662
(706) 270-1273

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:20:40 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paul Rowlett

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Paul Rowlett
552 lois cir
Granbury, TX 76049

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:16:53 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Silvia Hall

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Silvia Hall
349 NE 31st Street
Boca Raton, FL 33431

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:15:47 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Greg Brinson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Greg Brinson
21550 provincial blvd #1621
Katy, TX 77450

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:15:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Hoover

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

William Hoover
403 laverton ct
katy, TX 77450

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:13:21 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ashley Beckworth

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Ashley Beckworth
1714 Beaver Pond Ct.
Bryan, TX 77807

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:11:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Tracy McDowell

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Tracy McDowell
6538 eleanor drive
port richiey, FL 34668

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:11:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael S

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Michael S

45

jacksonville, FL 32225

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:09:13 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Morgan Mayfaire

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Morgan Mayfaire
771 SW 120th way
Fort Lauderdale, FL 33325

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:08:39 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gary Miller

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Gary Miller
1892 SW Foxpoint Trl
Palm City, FL 34990

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:08:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Alan Forget

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Alan Forget
25215 Quaker Ridge Avenue
Sorrento, FL 32776

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:07:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Nilsa Gelpi
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Nilsa Gelpi
29825 sw 148 Pl
Homestead, FL 33033

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:06:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Lourdes Pulido
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Lourdes Pulido
15480 Southwest 82nd Lane
Miami, FL 33193

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:06:42 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Ian Hargraves
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Ian Hargraves
Leward Way
Port Orange, FL 32129

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:05:59 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Gene Macdonald
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Gene Macdonald
4828 S. Broadway
Tyler, TX 75703

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:05:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: james hornburg
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

james hornburg
1914 k
galveston, TX 77550

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:05:32 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Christiaan Petersen
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Christiaan Petersen
PO Box 66926
St Petersburg, FL 33736

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:01:43 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Eamonn Neary
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Eamonn Neary
8020 Long Canyon Drive
Austin, TX 78730

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:00:22 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Dan Albritton
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Dan Albritton
668 Pleasure Island Rd
Farmerville, LA 71241

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:59:58 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Tim Glim
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Tim Glim
10547 111 ave
Largo, FL 33773

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:59:10 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Vince Welsh

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Vince Welsh
1645 Forest Avenue
Winter Park, FL 32789

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:58:43 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Jonathan Orlando
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jonathan Orlando
1304 Beechwood
Friendswood, TX 77546

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:56:38 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Esther Prexl
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Esther Prexl
7000 nw 94th terrace, Tamarac, FL
Tamarac, FL 33321

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:55:41 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: SANDRA GREEN

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

SANDRA GREEN
8416 PINES RD
SHREVEPORT, LA 71129

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:53:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Franklin Hamilton

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Franklin Hamilton
701 McIntyre Ave
Winter Park, FL 32789

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:53:20 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Shelli King

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Shelli King
709 Steeplechase Drive, Bedford, TX
Bedford, TX 76021

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:52:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lena webb

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Lena webb
130 wildwood parkway apt#442
Homewood, AL 35209

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:50:03 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Stephanie Blacksmith

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Stephanie Blacksmith
1402 Eliza St
Key West, FL 33040

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:50:01 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Francisco Rodriguez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Francisco Rodriguez
321 Blue Violet way
Altamonte Springs, FL 32701

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:49:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Deon Gordon

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Deon Gordon
2364 Longhorn Street
Dallas, TX 75228

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:49:07 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: BARBARA MCKEE

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

BARBARA MCKEE
7500 5th Ave. No.
Saint Petersburg, FL 33710

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:49:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Minerva Lopez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Minerva Lopez
2738 Carlson Circle
Melbourne, FL 32901

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:48:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Patricia McCain

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Patricia McCain
Serenity Pond, 1213 Jim Mathis
Bryan, TX 77808

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:48:12 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamela Fischer

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sincerely,

Pamela B Fischer

Pamela Fischer
614 E Highway 50
Clermont, FL 34711

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:47:12 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Christine Ford-Farley

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Christine Ford-Farley
11200 Victoria Lane
Wilmer, AL 36587

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:47:08 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Williams

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Robert Williams
410 N. Maryland
Big Lake, TX 76932

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:46:09 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: norm reece

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

norm reece
4820 leonard st.
cape coral, FL 33914

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:45:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jerrilynneevitts Titsworth

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jerrilynneevitts Titsworth
2700 Hidden Lake Dr
Sarasota, FL 34237

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:45:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: lee scarborough

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

lee scarborough
309 thompson trail
fort davis, TX 79734

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:44:23 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: jeffery farmer

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

jeffery farmer
405 Clovis Road
Shallowater, TX 79363

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:44:22 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ernie Cosenza

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Ernie Cosenza
11 Slatington Place
Palm Coast, FL 32164

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:44:19 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jeremy West

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jeremy West
8370 Lake Placid Dr
Nederland, TX 77627

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:43:40 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Travis Riggs

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

We all want the ability to use the Gulfs bounty, whether we are serving them in our restaurant , at home, teaching our children how to cast a rod or paying our bills by selling it. "Amendment 28" is not the right direction. The USA is the poster child for Fishery Management nationwide, but pushing out commercial fisherman is not the answer. These are the very communities we need to protect, there growing compliance with reporting and new management systems have been difficult, but the fishing has improved.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Their's a way to make this work for everyone.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

This is coming from a recreational fisherman, who can look across the table. Please do the same.

Thanks

Travis Riggs
4114 Medical Drive #2202
San Antonio, TX 78229

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:43:14 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kirsten Wollheim

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Kirsten Wollheim
2209 howard dr
Winter Park, FL 32789

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:42:37 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Matthew Mims

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Matthew Mims
Po Box 18501
Hattiesburg, MS 39402

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:42:32 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: George F. Valle

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

George F. Valle
1408 Brickell Bay Drive, #606
Miami, FL 33131

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:41:41 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Diane Megason

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I am concerned for the fishing families that rely on red snapper fishing for their livelihood. "Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Diane Megason
106 Waldo Dr
San Antonio, TX 78209

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:40:58 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Allyson Hatalson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Allyson Hatalson
202 Brazos st
Garland, TX 75041

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:39:53 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: janice cochran

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

janice cochran
300 Herons Run Drive
Sarasota, FL 34232

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:38:33 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sharon Libby

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sharon Libby
336 davey road South daytona
South Daytona, FL 32119

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:37:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Heidi Faith

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Heidi Faith
2329 sw 23rd cranbrook dr
Boynton beach, FL 33436

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:37:41 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rueben Almaraz

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rueben Almaraz
PO BOX 691455
San Antonio, TX 78269

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:37:17 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Diane Nicklaus

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Diane Nicklaus
3140 Flagler Avenue
Key West, FL 33040

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:37:01 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dayna Faria

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Dayna Faria
3706 ne 21 Ter
Fort Lauderdale, FL 33306

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:36:07 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lisa Eastes

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Lisa Eastes
1705 Jenkins Road
Pasadena, TX 77506

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:35:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Connie Zuloaga

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

We have a family owned restaurant in Austin and this issue is very important to our patrons and ourselves as small business owners. Please continue to support business in Texas and oppose this amendment.

Thank you,

Connie Zuloaga
Hopfields

Connie Zuloaga
3110 Guadalupe St Suite 400
Austin, TX 78749

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:34:56 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sharon Denham

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sharon Denham
876 Meadowridge Drive
Gardendale, AL 35071

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:34:21 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: karen Frizzell

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

karen Frizzell
3414 Fernwood Lane
shreveport, LA 71108

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:33:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Barbara Compton

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Barbara Compton
1056 CR 429 Dime Box, Tx
Dime Box, TX 77853

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Jim Smith

Sign Name

Jim Smith

Print Name

4-10-14

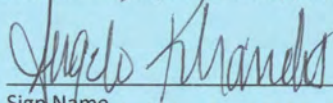

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

ANGELO PETRANDIS

Print Name

Date

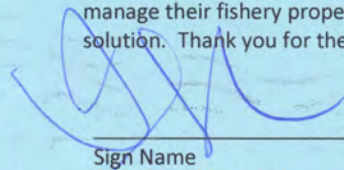

MAY 8, 2014

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

DAVID SAMUELS

Print Name

5/8/14

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Jamee Lowry

Jamee Lowry 4-7-14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

RC Blackburn
Sign Name

RC BLACKBURN
Print Name

5/6/14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

George Hanke

Print Name

George Hanke

Date

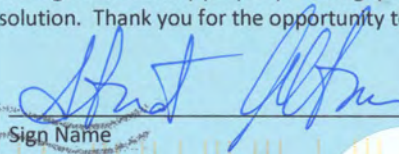

5-5-14

Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

STUART ALTMAN 5/15/14

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

James O'Connell

Print Name

James O'Connell

Date

5/14/11

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Katie Fischer

Sign Name

Katie Fischer

Print Name

5/7/14

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

MY-WAY SEAFOOD
Deborah Logan

Sign Name

DEBORAH LOGAN-5-5-14

Print Name

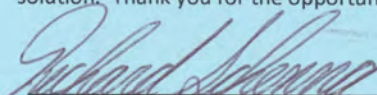

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Richard Schenna

Print Name

5/9/14

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

JAMES ZURBICK

5/1/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment. ★

Sue Ann Arnold

Sign Name

Sue Ann Arnold 4/17/14

Print Name

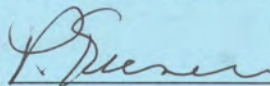

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

P. TURNER

Print Name

5/9/14

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

John Forsythe
Sign Name

John Forsythe
Print Name

5-1-14
Date

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:33:12 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bonnie Chestnut

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Bonnie Chestnut
901 Truman st.
Mission, TX 78572

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:33:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: roger wagner

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

roger wagner
7211 bucanero
Grand Prairie, TX 75054

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:32:45 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Nuzum

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Robert Nuzum
550 1st Ave. S
#805
St. Petersburg, FL 33701

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:32:42 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: anna householder

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

My family depends on red snapper season to survive the winter months. Every year we look forward to this season. Please don't take this stability away from us.

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

anna householder
7310 hurley dr
Beaumont, TX 77502

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:32:40 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Donna Scheubert

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Donna Scheubert
351 Charlemagne Blvd., 207C
Naples, FL 34112

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:31:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Diane Bragg

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Diane Bragg
Chatsworth Road
Moss Point, MS 39531

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:31:14 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Danny Gulledge

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Danny Gulledge
1785 Butler Road
New Market, AL 35761

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:29:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mayra Gomez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Mayra Gomez
1327 Sadler St.
Houston, TX 77022

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:29:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: chessie crowe

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

chessie crowe
31 Mary
Miami, FL 33133

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:29:32 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: George Clesi

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

George Clesi
23076 Old Inlet Bridge Drive
Boca Raton, FL 33433

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:28:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Carol Stokrocki

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Carol Stokrocki
450 SE 7th St. 246
Dania, FL 33004

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:28:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Carol Stokrocki

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Carol Stokrocki
450 SE 7th St. 246
Dania, FL 33004

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:28:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Trish Hassert

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Trish Hassert
12163 Ambrosia Ct.
Jacksonville, FL 32223

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:28:23 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Coates

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Robert Coates
22506 Morning Glory Cir
Bradenton, FL 34202

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:28:09 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Walters

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Richard Walters
2070 SW 81 Avenue
N. Lauderdale, FL 33068

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:28:11 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Duan Figueroa

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Duan Figueroa
159 twin oak dr. w
middleburg, FL 32068

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:27:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Marge Garvey

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Marge Garvey
56 Tokalon Place
Metairie, LA 70001

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:27:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: djag sue

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

djag sue rivoli
Addison, TX 75001

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:27:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Deborah Richard

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Deborah Richard
Eitzen Road
Pensacola, FL 32507

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:26:21 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Allen Thrush

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Allen Thrush
8008 Price AVE
Leeds, AL 35094

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:26:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Carter Morris

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Do be so dense!

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Carter Morris
4600 7th Court South
Birmingham, AL 35222

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 8:25:34 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Carter Morris

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Carter Morris
4600 7th Court South
Birmingham, AL 35222

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 4:40:36 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Daniel Diller (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 16, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Daniel Diller
2631c Sawmill
Fort Recovery, OH 45846
(419) 375-4303

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 7:12:56 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Doris Zink

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Doris Zink
3437 oak tree ln
Milton, FL 32571

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 6:58:38 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Barbara Brown

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Barbara Brown
796 TANGLEWOOD CIRCLE
WESTON, FL 33327

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 3:02:58 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jennifer McAvoy

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers

Please don't let the Red Snapper become an endangered species a also! Please do the right thing.

Sincerely,
Jennifer McAvoy

Jennifer McAvoy
2706 Brianholly dr.
Valrico, FL 33596

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 12:55:17 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rob Ferguson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rob Ferguson
1907 Belford
Austin, TX 78757

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 11:57:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Barbara Cameron

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Barbara Cameron
3318 Unity Tree Drive
Edgewater, FL 32141

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 11:22:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Faith Venning

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

These waters are needed for sustainable food, not recreation.

Regards,

Faith Venning

Faith Venning
5206 red branch lane
winter park, FL 32792

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 10:43:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: SAMUEL GONZALEZ-MORENO

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

SAMUEL GONZALEZ-MORENO
669 NE 195 STREET APT 228
NORTH MIAMI BEACH, FL 33179, FL 33179

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 10:26:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Susan Risko

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Susan Risko
581 Sabal Lake Drive Apt. 205
Longwood, FL 32779

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 10:09:32 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michele Prestenback

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Michele Prestenback
2031 Barbara Dr.
Slidell, LA 70458

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 9:52:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Chris Adkins

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Chris Adkins
692 102nd ave
Naples, FL 34109

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 9:44:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michelle m

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Michelle m
1200 Robley Dr
Lafayette, LA 70503

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 9:42:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paula Dodson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Paula Dodson
246 River Hills Dr.
Jacksonville, FL 32216

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 9:37:32 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Peggy Gentry

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Peggy Gentry
115 Ridge Road
Starkville, MS 39759

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 9:16:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kent Altpeter

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Kent Altpeter
835 E. Lamar Blvd
Arlington, TX 76011

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 9:06:37 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: marabeth Farmer

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I implore you to simply oppose
"Amendment 28"

Focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.
Thank you.

marabeth Farmer
39 Apaco
Apalachicola, FL 32320

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 9:01:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: martha eberle

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. This is a bad idea for working fishermen/seafood industry, and consumers.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

martha eberle
2525 mcgregor lane
dripping Springs, TX 78620

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 8:44:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paula Kleiman-Moore

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Paula Kleiman-Moore
19723 Encino Way
San Antonio, TX 78259

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 8:34:58 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Alfredo Cano

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Alfredo Cano
1422 Paso Hondo
San Antonio, TX 78202

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 8:19:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Debra Mendez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Debra Mendez
3914 Johnson St
Hollywood, FL 33021

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 8:10:59 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: darla wood

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

darla wood
1901 nugget drive
Clearwater, FL 33755

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 7:48:28 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Sporkia

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

David Sporkia
8428 109th Way
Seminole, FL 33772

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 7:39:48 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gayne Williams

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Gayne Williams
263 Santa Rosa Drive
Winter Haven, FL 33884

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 7:29:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Nicole Eglinger

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Nicole Eglinger
1700 SW 127th Lane
Davie, FL 33325

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 6:53:07 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Donna Price

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Donna Price
211 chubasco lane
Slidell, LA 70458

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 6:48:41 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Carl Young

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Carl Young
941 Belhaven St
Jackson, MS 39202

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 6:47:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Callen

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Robert Callen
87 St. Lucie Ave
SARASOTA, FL 34232

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 6:27:57 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Patricia Sullivan
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Patricia Sullivan
5511 Wheeler Dr.
Tallahassee, FL 32305

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 6:25:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Douglas Fish
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Douglas Fish
6024 Florida Ave
New Port Richey, FL 34653

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 6:25:03 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: MANUEL MINA
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

MANUEL MINA
6515BAYSHORE BLVD # 25
TAMPA, FL 33611

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 6:11:00 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Paul Cunningham
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Paul Cunningham
7103 Broadway
Galveston, TX 77554

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:56:27 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kenny Salter

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Kenny Salter
7253 broadmoor st
Navarre, FL 32566

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:50:57 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Amanda Daniels

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Amanda Daniels
3360 strong hill rd
West Point, MS 39773

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:50:03 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Amanda Daniels

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Amanda Daniels
3360 strong hill rd
West Point, MS 39773

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:47:35 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Adriana Lopez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Adriana Lopez

adrianalopez61@att.net

Miami, FL 33155

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:44:24 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: taliah Rasul

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

taliah Rasul
PO Box 180688
Tallahassee, FL 32318

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:43:22 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lee Watson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. I grew up fishing and playing in these waters, Please leave everything like God intended.

Lee Watson
38548 Speedwell Ave
Zephyrhills, FL 33542

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:38:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Linda Green

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Linda Green
2305 Dewberry Ln.
Pasadena, TX 77502

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:37:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Tina Mears

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Tina Mears
3007 Willow Ave. Apt A
Largo, FL 33771

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:35:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dale Wood

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Dale Wood
162 white ave
fairhope, AL 36532

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:34:49 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ricky Yates

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

This is some straight-up BULL. Stop being a bunch of greedy fers.
You were taught to share as a kid, so don't be a d.

Thanks.

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Ricky Yates
340 belt rd
Texarkana, TX 755001

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:32:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Justin Beard

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Justin Beard
46504 Betty Boo Ln
Hammond, LA 70401

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:31:29 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paul Day

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Paul Day
1326 Cooper Road
DeQuincy, LA 70633

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:30:37 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Johnson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Robert Johnson
613 emerald lake dr
Cocoa, FL 32926

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:28:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: carrie gardner

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

carrie gardner
des moines ct
Rosharon, TX 77583

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:26:50 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bettye Landers

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Bettye Landers
330 griffith dr
rockport, TX 78382

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:25:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kim Smith

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Kim Smith
14062 Bear Creek Road
Duncanville, AL 35456

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, May 19, 2014 at 5:24:17 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jim Hanson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jim Hanson
1020 Via Merano Court
Winter Park, FL 32789

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 9:52:39 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kimberly Garrasi

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Kimberly Garrasi
1735 e burgess rd
pensacola, FL 32504

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 9:34:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Karen Weatherford

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Karen Weatherford
PO Box 2114
Belton, TX 76513

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 9:23:26 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rachel Bush

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rachel Bush
258 forest lake dr
Madison, MS 39110

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 9:06:10 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: bill wynne

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

bill wynne
box 1609
chiefeland, FL 32644

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 9:00:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: RW Etheridge

To: Gulf Council

Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28"

would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – more in the future.

a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

The proposal is - divisive, unfair & comes at a time when demand for local & sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

STOP Amendment 28 & focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen AND the seafood industry and consumers.

RW Etheridge
General Delivery
Cantonment, FL 32533

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 8:56:06 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Wayne Bennett

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Wayne Bennett
Po box 2792
High Springs, FL 32655

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 8:52:40 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Brian Dickmann

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Brian Dickmann
1744 River Hills Dr
Fleming Island, FL 32003

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 8:49:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mike Rembis

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Mike Rembis
1009 Webb Dr
Clearwater, FL 33755

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 8:46:22 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Dunkin

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sincerely,

Michael Dunkin

Michael Dunkin
1920 West Gray #422
Houston, TX 77019

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 8:41:52 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bennie Shallbetter

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Bennie Shallbetter
300 Taylor
Smithville, TX 78957

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 8:41:19 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Elizabeth Ochs

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Elizabeth Ochs
1442 natural pine tr
Conroe, TX 77301

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 5:55:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jackie Carter

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jackie Carter
222 Rubino Drive
Davenport, FL 33837

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, May 16, 2014 at 5:49:11 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Diana Doyle

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Diana Doyle
730 Aqui Esta Dr
Punta Gorda, FL 33950

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 7:18:23 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sandra Ruempel

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sandra Ruempel
1005 Cottonbowl Dr.
Taylor, TX 76574

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 6:09:29 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Johnny Smith

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Johnny Smith
971 county road 28
Slocomb, AL 36375

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 5:10:33 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sandra D Alverson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sandra D Alverson
2425 shady lane drive
Calera, AL 35040

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 4:51:53 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Moczygemba

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Richard Moczygemba
14726 State Highway 195
Killeen, TX 76542

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 4:47:32 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Glenn Folkes

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Glenn Folkes
3616 Rickshaw Dr
Dallas, TX 75229

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 2:07:29 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kierstin Masse

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Kierstin Masse
4513 Charles Bennett Dr
Jacksonville, FL 32225

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 11:37:13 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Morcos (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Morcos
1212 Twelve Oaks Ct
Murrysville, PA 15668-2701

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 10:49:37 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: DAVID HECKMAN

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

DAVID HECKMAN
126 SW MINNIE GLN.
LAKE CITY, FL 32025

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 10:35:35 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Renee Andrews

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Renee Andrews
428 Westwood Dr
Mandeville, LA 70471

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 10:19:01 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sofia Perez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sofia Perez
2312 conroe ct
flower mound, TX 75028

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 10:06:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Kauffman (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Kauffman
69739 Christiana Lake Rd
Edwardsburg, MI 49112-9748
(269) 699-5297

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 10:06:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gregory Randazzo (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Gregory Randazzo
51875 Laurel Oak Ln
Chesterfield, MI 48047-1456
(586) 557-4091

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 9:36:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Terrance Kowalski (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Terrance Kowalski
6420 Hunting Creek Dr
Liberty Township, OH 45044-8865
(513) 779-5340

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 9:06:52 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ed west (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ed west
201 Chandler Mill Rd
Kennett Square, PA 19348-2611

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 9:06:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: emile thibodeau

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

emile thibodeau
437 2nd st. fultondale, AL 35068

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 8:36:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: richard valiquette (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. richard valiquette
3 Oxbow Rd
North Oxford, MA 01537-1209

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 8:36:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Francis Smith (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Francis Smith
4 Ruby Cir
Haverhill, MA 01835-6992
(978) 372-0332

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 8:34:33 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Virginia Cappucci

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Virginia Cappucci
5403 SW 26th Court
Cape Coral, FL 33914

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, May 15, 2014 at 12:41:58 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Fawzia Khan

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Fawzia Khan
470 Southwest 101st Avenue
Plantation, FL 33324

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:41:14 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Margarita Latimer
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Margarita Latimer
555 N.E. 34th Streer
Miami, FL 33137

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:32:34 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Devon Dassaw
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Devon Dassaw
3995 NW 176TH ST
Miami, FL 33055

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:20:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: KEVIN CLARKE
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

KEVIN CLARKE
16814 RIPPLING MILL
SUGAR LAND, TX 77498

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 9:59:00 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mercedes Gyorgy

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Mercedes Gyorgy
4578 trails dr
Sarasota, FL 34232

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 9:58:34 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mercedes Gyorgy

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Mercedes Gyorgy
4578 trails dr
Sarasota, FL 34232

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 7:53:30 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: danielle ohanesian

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

danielle ohanesian
825 center st. 52b
jupiter, FL 33458

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 6:53:57 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: KATHY O'KANE

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

KATHY O'KANE
814 Osceola Trail
Casselberry, FL 32707

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 6:50:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: D.A. ROY

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

D.A. ROY

undefined undefined

Houston, TX 77253

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 6:48:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Shayn Proler

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Shayn Proler
4709 Creekbend
Houston, TX 77035

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 6:01:07 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bette Fern

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Bette Fern
142 Southampton Pl So
Venice, FL 34293

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 5:47:40 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Christopher Lund

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Christopher Lund
1201 Canal Street
New Orleans, LA 70112

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 5:38:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Roberta Allen

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Roberta Allen
1000 comer ave apt 15
Pell City, AL, AL 35125

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 5:31:36 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Harold Fritts

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Harold Fritts
36181 East Lake Road, #171
Palm Harbor, FL 34685

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 4:57:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rita Leone

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rita Leone
8202 Martin Dr.
Southaven, MS 38671

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 4:25:29 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Claudia Schroeder

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Claudia Schroeder
7707 7th street
Harahan, LA 70123

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 4:16:35 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Claudia Schroeder

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Claudia Schroeder
7707 7th street
Harahan, LA 70123

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 4:15:17 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Harton Firmin

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Harton Firmin
6191 HWY. 107 South
Plaucheville, LA 71362

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 4:05:52 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gerald Dykes

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Gerald Dykes
52 Geri Dykes Drive
Richton, MS 39476

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 3:52:43 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Lynn Matarelli
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Lynn Matarelli
1317 Sarah Brooks dr
Keller, TX 76248

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 3:15:57 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Jose Rivas
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jose Rivas
12220 Sapling way #1519
Houston, TX 77022

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 2:59:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Amanda Burns
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Amanda Burns
21915 Belgrade Ave
Panama City Beach, FL 32413

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 2:50:22 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: BonnyJean Burns
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

BonnyJean Burns
21915 Belgrade Ave
Panama City Beach,, FL 32413

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 2:40:34 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: JOSE DE LA CERDA JR
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

JOSE DE LA CERDA JR
20335 BRIDGEDALE LN.
HUMBLE, TX 77338

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 2:18:53 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Calvert Peterson
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Calvert Peterson
469 Summerset Dr
Saint Johns, FL 32259

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 2:15:33 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glenda Swan
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Glenda Swan
3845 Confidence Dr
Fort Worth, TX 76244

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 1:36:28 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: phillip sandy
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

phillip sandy
8900 fortune rd
milton, FL 32583

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 1:19:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Sally Vavra
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sally Vavra
25607 Spring Source Ct.
Spring, TX 77373

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 1:17:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Leonard Wilson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Leonard Wilson
116 Woodridge Circle
Pineville, LA 71360

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 1:09:55 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Cheryl King

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Cheryl King
352 Billfish Ave. #20
Ft. Walton Beach, FL 32539

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 12:31:38 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: MIREYA RODRIGUEZ
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

MIREYA RODRIGUEZ
14831 sw 153 TERRACE
MIIAMI, FL 33187

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 12:10:49 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Joaquin Williams
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Joaquin Williams
1054 marine street mobile Alabama
Mobile, AL 36605

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 11:55:03 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: william Johnson
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

william Johnson
PO Box 572
Buchanan Dam, TX 78609

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 11:47:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: jackie april
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

jackie april
2530 harry wurzbach rd.
san antonio, TX 78209

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 11:38:20 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Frank Inserra
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Frank Inserra
2649 Sable Palm Drive
Miramar, FL 33023

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 11:36:25 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Isabel M. Devine
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Isabel M. Devine
402 Valley Road
Chickasaw, AL 36611

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 11:24:56 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Jennifer Bloyd
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jennifer Bloyd
po box798
Joshua, TX 76058

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:47:02 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Tina Simpson
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Tina Simpson
5431 NE 35 St Lot 240
Silver Springs, FL 34488

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:43:38 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: rose saunders
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

rose saunders
1618 banker rd
canutillo, TX 79836

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:41:10 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: michele cabral
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

michele cabral
2103 muroc st apt 103
austin, TX 78757

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:27:06 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Angelo Leidi
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Angelo Leidi
16425 Collins Ave.
Sunny Isles Beach, FL 33160-4542

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:21:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Paul Sapoch
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Paul Sapoch
10367 Ronnie Byrd Lane South
Semmes, AL 36575

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:20:26 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: kattya gomez
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

kattya gomez
11412 SW 41st ST
Miami, FL 33165

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:16:40 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Saul Wilen
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Saul Wilen
7105 Montana Norte
Austin, TX 78731

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:15:01 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Anthony Williams
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Anthony Williams
801 Hartford Lane
Lancaster, TX 75146

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:12:10 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Ralph Talbott
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Ralph Talbott
110 Susan Carol
San Antonio, TX 78216

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:07:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Jeffrey Nix
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jeffrey Nix
205 Thompson Drive
Kilgore, TX 78247

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:05:52 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Penny Leboeuf
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Penny Leboeuf
1579 Hwy 55 Montegut
Montegut, LA 70377

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:02:38 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: lakeisha webster
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

lakeisha webster
2218 ridgewood rd NW
Winter Haven, FL 33881

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:02:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Susan Siniard
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Susan Siniard
439 Coleman Road
New Market, AL 35761

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:01:56 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Nelson Rodriguez
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Nelson Rodriguez
3952 Southwest 135th Avenue
Davie, FL 33330

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:01:43 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Thomas Lane
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Thomas Lane
3352 Cincinnati Drive
Holiday, FL 34691

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 10:01:26 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: tina owens
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

tina owens
1207 tennessee ave
Dalhart, TX 79022

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 9:58:07 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Henrietta Angelle

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Henrietta Angelle
707 Janvier Road
Scott, LA 70583

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 9:55:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: sonia aguirre

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

sonia aguirre
8005 sw 107 ave
miami, FL 33173

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 9:51:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: pat gallagher

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

pat gallagher
3021 jena st
New Orleans, LA 70125

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 9:21:12 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Nancy Turnbough

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Nancy Turnbough
2645 W Randol Mill Rd
Arlington, TX 76012

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 8:45:01 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: JAMES LAND
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

JAMES LAND
11100 rip Duplessis rd
Gonzales, LA 70737

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 8:17:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Allison Stephens
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Allison Stephens
4338 Cr 1101
Rusk, TX 75785

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 8:16:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: DENNIS BARBATO SR
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members: GOVERNOR SCOTT YOU SHOULD OF NOT BEEN IN OFFICE AND YOU SHOULD BE IN JAIL. I WILL DO MY BEST TO GET YOU OUT OF OFFICE.

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

DENNIS BARBATO SR
3111 ocean
Hollywood, FL 33019

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 7:26:49 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Caroline Mosier
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Caroline Mosier
5811 Browder Road
Tampa, FL 33625

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 7:25:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Caroline Mosier

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Caroline Mosier
5811 Browder Road
Tampa, FL 33625

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 5:42:17 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Christopher Cook

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Christopher Cook
11321 94th Street
Largo, FL 33773

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 5:37:11 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dragisa Stanimirovic

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Dragisa Stanimirovic
13000 sw 60 ave
Pinecrest, FL 33156

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 4:04:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Peggy Carter

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Peggy Carter
6263 Highway 27
Vicksburg, MS 39180

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 3:38:25 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: janice cochran

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

janice cochran
300 Herons Run Drive
Sarasota, FL 34232

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 3:03:38 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dan Rios

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Dan Rios
4833 Saratoga Blvd
C C, TX 78415

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 2:09:01 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Janet Delaney

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Janet Delaney
5406 Western Hills Drive
Austin, TX 78731

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 1:14:09 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Belinda Tenorio

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Belinda Tenorio
2502 Miller Ave.
Donna, TX 78537

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 1:05:59 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Brian Geller

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Brian Geller
2021 Diamond Ridge Drive
Carrollton, TX 75010

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 12:50:40 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: John Caro
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

John Caro
315B Chattman St.
Pensacola, FL 32507

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 12:46:12 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Jenny Bramlette
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jenny Bramlette
5909 Estes Ln
Wesley Chapel, FL 33545

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at 12:35:40 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Edward Eversley
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Edward Eversley
5700 Industrial Dr Apt 13101
Greenville, TX 75401

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:32:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Diane Ethridge

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Diane Ethridge
335 S. Rivershire Dr.
Conroe, TX 77304

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:15:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Barbara Grove

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Barbara Grove
1719 Whitney Way
Austin, TX 78741

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:13:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: TIM BRANDON

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

TIM BRANDON
49 LAWLER LANE
HOLLY SPRINGS, MS 38635

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:01:16 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jillian Baker

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Please quit messing everything up for everyday people!

Jillian Baker
4603 Legend Heights
San Antonio, TX 78253

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 10:54:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Shakira Healy

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Shakira Healy
555 Lee Ave
Satellite Beach, FL 32937

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 10:40:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rebecca Taylor-Dye

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rebecca Taylor-Dye
5365 Southcross Ranch Rd #308
San Antonio, TX 78148

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 10:32:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Linda Cortez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Linda Cortez
5538 Peinado Lane
El Paso,, TX 79903

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 10:20:13 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: amy curtis

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

amy curtis
229 bohn st
Biloxi, MS 39530

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 10:16:27 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Laura Cartledge
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor Perry, and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Thus saith the Lord, And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

Gen 1:26 KJV

Personally I like to fish, but I don't like to fillet them. Peter was a fisherman and that is how he made his living. So please oppose Amendment 28. Thank you!

God bless,
Laura Cartledge

Laura Cartledge
P.O. Box 514
South Houston, TX 77587

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 9:50:08 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Judith Heeschen
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Judith Heeschen
15718 Gardenside Lane
Tampa, FL 33624

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 9:47:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Melissa Doyle
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Melissa Doyle
5926 Freeman's Farm
San Antonio, TX 78233

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 9:46:13 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Vincent Clark
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Vincent Clark
9630 Guest
Houston, TX 77078

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 9:36:14 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Leslie Ray
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Leslie Ray
2507 South Plantation Drive
Melbourne, FL 32901

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 9:30:37 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Lucille Acocella
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Lucille Acocella
1228 West Avenue, apt 1415
Miami Beach, FL 33139

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 9:16:22 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: karen white
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

karen white
6250 conneticut st
zephyrhills, FL 33542

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 8:48:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ken Goss

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Ken Goss
12667 CR 283N
Kilgore, TX 75662

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 8:40:32 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Rudolph DiSanto
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rudolph DiSanto
6903 Deatonhill DR.
Austin, TX 78745

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 8:26:51 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Grietje Borger-Boglin
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Grietje Borger-Boglin
4343 Lehman St
San Antonio, TX 78219

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 8:25:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Patricia McDonald

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Patricia McDonald
2348 Summerfield Road
Winter Park, FL 32792

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 8:02:20 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gene Frank

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Gene Frank
2920 Oak Ln
Bradenton, FL 34205

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 7:49:23 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dennis Ward

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Dennis Ward
2018 cedar run
Plant City, FL 33563

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 7:21:13 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Judi & Larry Trecartin

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Judi & Larry Trecartin
2529 Sandy Hill Court
Holiday, FL 34691

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:50:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Marshall Court

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Marshall Court
20 Leyland Court
Crawfordville, FL 32327

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:40:38 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jan Hobbs

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Jan Hobbs
62 Martinique Ave.
Tampa, FL 33606

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:40:36 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ingrid Zeckser

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Ingrid Zeckser
4006 Reatta Lane
College Station, TX 77845

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:36:22 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rick Ilgin

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rick Ilgin
840 Terraza
Irving, TX 75039

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:31:01 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Antonio Gonzalez
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Antonio Gonzalez
2122 N.W. 99th. Avenue
Doral, FL 33125

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:29:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lisa LaFontaine

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Lisa LaFontaine
7201 Pinnacle Dr. Apt. H23
Fort Myers, FL 33907

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:26:32 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rosemary Vaughn

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rosemary Vaughn
704 Landon Lane
Austin, TX 78705

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:26:16 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dora Tocunaga

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Dora Tocunaga
19102 SW 17th CT
Miramar, FL 33029

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:25:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Daniel French

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Daniel French
4801 Yorktown Street
Waco, TX 76705

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:05:45 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Steve Bradley

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Steve Bradley
2918 Water Lily dr
Corpus Christi, TX 78415

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 12:03:03 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Danielle Ball

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Danielle Ball
1604 NINA DR
Killeen, TX 76549

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:59:31 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rhonda Borkowski

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Rhonda Borkowski
POBOX 13613
Fort Pierce, FL 34979

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:57:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: carole babb

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

carole babb
5321 60th ave. north`
St. Petersburg, FL 33709

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:52:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Diane Hulser

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Diane Hulser
331 108th St W
Bradenton, FL 34209

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:50:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Vera Love

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Vera Love
116 Boot Hill
Horseshoe Bay, TX 78657

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:50:09 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: stephanie elieff

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

stephanie elieff
7882 crampton lane
frisco, TX 75035

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:49:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Brandon Robinson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Brandon Robinson
633 43rd street
west palm beach, FL 33407

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:49:16 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: mikel parent

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

mikel parent
4402 dove
austin, TX 78744

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:48:38 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sue Hoffman

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Sue Hoffman
1412 e. voorhis
de land, FL 32724

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:46:01 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Herbert Orr

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Herbert Orr
2828 Gaslight Lane, West
Mobile, AL 36695

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:43:47 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paul Fellegy

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Paul Fellegy
1117-F Post Oak Park Drive
Houston, TX 77027

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:42:32 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Candy Wisotsky

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Candy Wisotsky
21160 Mainsail Circle H-13
Aventura, FL 33180

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:41:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Victoria Nelson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Victoria Nelson
1001 N MLK Jr Blvd Apt 2802
Waco, TX 76704

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:33:25 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Lopeman

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Richard Lopeman
476 Spreading Oak Cir
Apopka, FL 32712

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:33:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Danette Griffin

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Danette Griffin
1302 Desert Flower
Spring Branch, TX 78070

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 11:29:31 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Larry McDonald

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 – and even more in the future.

"Amendment 28" is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers.

Larry McDonald
4411 County Road 4610
Athens, TX 75752

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, May 13, 2014 at 3:01:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Shawn GRAY (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Shawn GRAY
2746 Rollingdale Ln
Farmers Branch, TX 75234-2044
(469) 237-5011

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, May 12, 2014 at 7:30:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Elliott (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Elliott
PO Box 6424
Douglasville, GA 30154-0024

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, May 12, 2014 at 3:30:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: james dorman (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Jim Dorman

St Petersburg FL 33715

Sincerely,

Mr. james dorman
4770brittany dr s #15
st petersburg, FL 33715
(727) 234-5689

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, May 11, 2014 at 8:58:48 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: john luker (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. john luker
723 Pickett Hill Ln
Rosenberg, TX 77469-4884

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, May 7, 2014 at 6:18:58 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jeff Rader (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 7, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jeff Rader
1514 SE Courtney Rd
Oak Grove, OR 97222-8405
(503) 305-6216

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, May 4, 2014 at 11:29:39 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: TAMMY GRAHAM (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

May 4, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

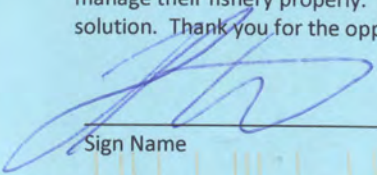

Mrs. TAMMY GRAHAM
PO Box 850
Mathis, TX 78368-0850

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Thomas Petruccis
Print Name

4-29-14
Date

TAMPA

5 235

20 APR 14

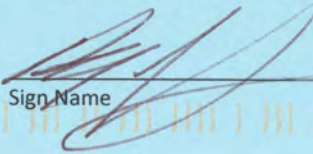

PM 11 L

To Whom It May Concern:

To oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Nick T. andopoulos

Print Name

Date

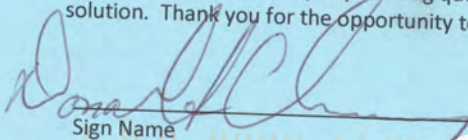

4-28-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

DONALD CHUMNEY
Print Name

Date

4/8/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Herman Conley HERMAN CONLEY
Sign Name Print Name Date
HERMAN CONLEY

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

RONALDE LASKEY

Print Name

4-30-14

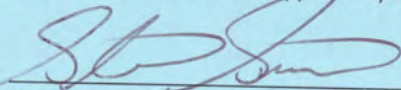

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

RR. 1167

Steve Smith

Print Name

4/14/14

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Colin Ah Conner Cochran 4-11-14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Bill Cochran

Sign Name

Bill Cochran

Print Name

4-11-14

Date

PM 5:15
04 APR 14
RI 028
PROVIDENCE

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

OCEAN FRESH SEAFOOD INC.

Garrett G. Alberts

GARRETT G. ALBERTS

5-1-14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

PRESIDENT OFS INC.

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Michelle Dolfi

Print Name

Michelle Dolfi

Date

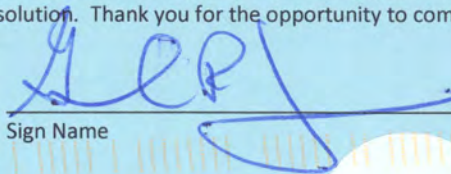

4/30/14

To Whom It May Concern:

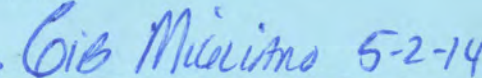

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

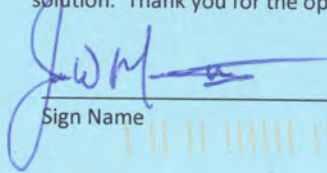

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

John W. MERKLE

Print Name

5/1/14

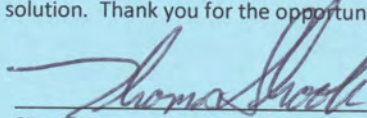

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Thomas Stook 5-1-14

Print Name

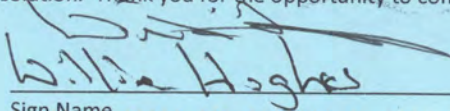

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

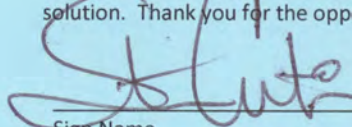

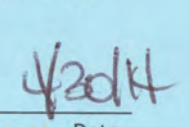

4-30-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

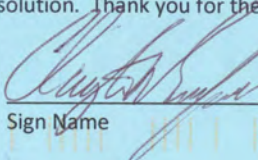

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Clayton W Gueisford

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

James Kofmehl

Print Name

JAMES KOFMEHL

Date

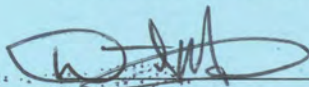

5-2-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

DAVID MAGINN

Print Name

5/1/14

Date

Dear Gulf Permit Holder,

There is a movement afoot to take red snapper quota away from commercial fishermen.

Reef Fish Amendment 28 would strip nearly half a million pounds of red snapper quota away from our commercial fishermen right now plus more in future years as the stock rebuilds. Regional regulators at the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council have proposed a "reallocation" of these fish to recreational fishermen.

This will roll back years of hard work, destabilize the Gulf's red snapper fishing fleet, harm conservation of red snapper and jeopardize stock recovery, and ultimately mean fewer chances for you to eat fresh red snapper harvested by American fishermen.

Please take a minute to tell the Council that you oppose red snapper reallocation. Tear off the bottom of this postcard, sign it, and drop it back in the mail (postage prepaid). Also please email the Council to submit your own comment: gulfcouncil@gulfcouncil.org.

Thank you for your support,

Eric Brazer, Deputy Director, Gulf of Mexico Reef Fish Shareholders' Alliance

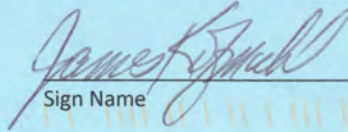

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

JAMES KOTMEHL 4-25-14
Print Name Date

PROVIDENCE RI 02903

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Jim Buckley

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Jim Buckley
5/1/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It is time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Allen Cynn

Sign Name

ALLEN CYNN 5-7-14

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Quinn Hill

Print Name

Sam Walker 9/24/2014

Date

Lisa Walker

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

[Handwritten Signature]
[Handwritten Signature]

Print Name

[Handwritten Signature]

Date

[Handwritten Signature] 4/24/2014

[Handwritten Signature]
Lisa Walker

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Michael Preston MICHAEL PRESTON 4-21-11
Sign Name Print Name Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Allen C Williams Jr

Sign Name

Allen C Williams Jr 5/3/14

Print Name

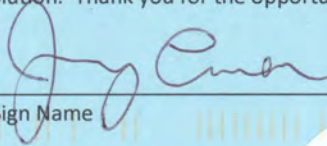

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

JAY CADMEVA
Print Name

5/2/14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Jeff Sandow
Print Name

5/5/14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Frank Patti

Sign Name

Frank Patti 5/1/14

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Jeffrey P. Hazell

Print Name

Jeffrey P. Hazell

Date

5/5/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

↓
Sign Name

Henry Alonso
Print Name

5/2/14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Maria Lucia Beneduci Monteleone Maria Lucia Beneduci 5/1/14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

BUDDY GANDY SEAFOOD, INC

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Kenneth Gandy 5/01/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

James Chesser James Chesser 4/18/14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sam Logan

Sign Name

SAM LOGAN

Print Name

4-15-14

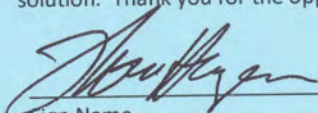

Date

To Whom-It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Thomas Hungen
Print Name

4-18-19
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Harold Hocks

Sign Name

HAROLD HOCKS

Print Name

4/9/2013

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Ed Dawson ED DAWSON

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

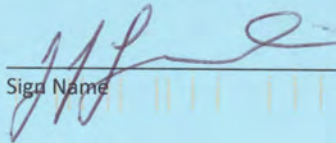

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Signature

 J.J. LASPROGATA

Print Name

Date

09/24

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Kris T. Geidel Kris T. Geidel 4-29-14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

James R Bradley Jr

Print Name

James R Bradley Jr.

Date

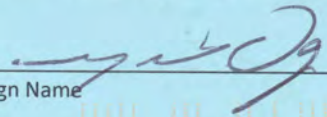

HOUSTON

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

M. Ke Doff
4/21/14

Sign Name Print Name Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Larry Davis
Sign Name

LARRY DAVIS
Print Name

4/7/14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

John + Lisa Walker

John Walker

4-24-11

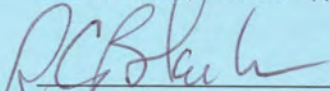

Lisa Walker

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

R.C. BLACKBURN
Print Name

4/23/14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Mildred Murphy

Print Name

Mildred Murphy

Date

4/21/14

To Whom It May Concern:

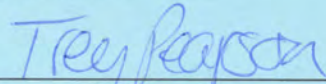

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

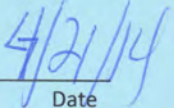

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

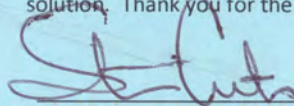

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Steven Curtis

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Signature

Print Name

Date

Norman E. McCarty Jr.

NORMAN E. McCARTY JR.

04-15-2014

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Lydia Grotsky
Sign Name

Lydia Grotsky
Print Name

4/17/14
Date

JACKSONVILLE
FL 321
APR 17 4 31 PM '14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Curt Raro

4-14-2014

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Carolyn F Wood

Sign Name

Carolyn F Wood

Print Name

4/24/14

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Marvin Woodruff

Print Name

Marvin Woodruff

Date

4-15-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Jerry W. Walker

Print Name

Jerry W. Walker

Date

4-14-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Darrell Loga

Sign Name

Darrell Loga

Print Name

Date
4-10-14

Directorial Request Letter

There is a management void in the role of Singapore Customs owing from resignation of Mr. [Name]

Directorial Appointment of a member of the Singapore Customs staff as a member of the staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore. The member of the staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore. The member of the staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore.

The staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore. The member of the staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore. The member of the staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore.

Approval of the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore. The member of the staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore. The member of the staff of the Singapore Customs is hereby recommended to the Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore.

Thank you for your response.

[Signature]

For Director, Director of Customs and Excise, Singapore Customs and Excise, Singapore.

1. Purpose of the Project

The purpose of this project is to develop a comprehensive plan for the development of the project area. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.

- 1. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 2. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 3. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 4. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 5. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 6. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 7. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 8. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 9. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.
- 10. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.

The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000. The project is to be completed by the end of the year 2000.

Name: _____
Date: _____

The Attorney's Affidavit Concerning

Intentional and Negligent Representations Through Which I Have Acquired Interest in Certain Assets
According to the Public Administration Law of 1991 (S. 100)

- I am not a resident of this state and am not a resident alien. I am not a partner, officer, director, or shareholder in any corporation, partnership, or other unincorporated firm, and I am not a partner, officer, director, or shareholder in any partnership, trust, or other unincorporated firm.
- I have not been convicted of any crime involving the acquisition, retention, or disposition of any interest in any real or personal property, or any other asset, or any other crime involving the acquisition, retention, or disposition of any interest in any real or personal property, or any other asset, or any other crime involving the acquisition, retention, or disposition of any interest in any real or personal property, or any other asset.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. I declare under penalty of perjury that I am not a partner, officer, director, or shareholder in any corporation, partnership, or other unincorporated firm, and I am not a partner, officer, director, or shareholder in any partnership, trust, or other unincorporated firm.

Sgt. Maria

Sgt. Maria

Sgt. Maria

The National Highway System

A national highway system should have four characteristics: 1. Accessible 2. Safe 3. Efficient 4. Modern

- Accessible: A national highway system should be accessible to all states and to all parts of each state.
- Safe: A national highway system should be safe for all users, including those with disabilities.
- Efficient: A national highway system should be efficient in terms of cost, time, and energy.
- Modern: A national highway system should be modern in terms of design, construction, and maintenance.

It is the policy of the Department of Transportation to develop and maintain a national highway system that is accessible, safe, efficient, and modern.

[Handwritten signature]

SECRETARY

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20590

The following are the key findings of the study:

- The study found that the majority of respondents (85%) were male, with a mean age of 35.5 years.
- The majority of respondents (70%) were employed in the private sector, with a mean income of $45,000 per year.
- The majority of respondents (65%) were married, with a mean number of children of 2.5.
- The majority of respondents (55%) were employed in the service industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 15.5 years.
- The majority of respondents (45%) were employed in the manufacturing industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 12.5 years.
- The majority of respondents (35%) were employed in the construction industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 10.5 years.
- The majority of respondents (25%) were employed in the retail industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 8.5 years.
- The majority of respondents (15%) were employed in the health care industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 6.5 years.
- The majority of respondents (5%) were employed in the education industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 4.5 years.

The study also found that the majority of respondents (80%) were employed in the service industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 12.5 years. The majority of respondents (75%) were employed in the manufacturing industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 10.5 years. The majority of respondents (70%) were employed in the construction industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 8.5 years. The majority of respondents (65%) were employed in the retail industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 6.5 years. The majority of respondents (60%) were employed in the health care industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 4.5 years. The majority of respondents (55%) were employed in the education industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 2.5 years.

The study also found that the majority of respondents (80%) were employed in the service industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 12.5 years. The majority of respondents (75%) were employed in the manufacturing industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 10.5 years. The majority of respondents (70%) were employed in the construction industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 8.5 years. The majority of respondents (65%) were employed in the retail industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 6.5 years. The majority of respondents (60%) were employed in the health care industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 4.5 years. The majority of respondents (55%) were employed in the education industry, with a mean number of years of experience of 2.5 years.

Continued from previous page

1. The Board of Directors has approved the proposed amendments to the Charter of the Corporation and the Bylaws of the Corporation, and the Board of Directors has authorized the Chairman of the Board to execute the necessary documents to effectuate the amendments.

2. The Board of Directors has approved the proposed amendments to the Charter of the Corporation and the Bylaws of the Corporation, and the Board of Directors has authorized the Chairman of the Board to execute the necessary documents to effectuate the amendments.

3. The Board of Directors has approved the proposed amendments to the Charter of the Corporation and the Bylaws of the Corporation, and the Board of Directors has authorized the Chairman of the Board to execute the necessary documents to effectuate the amendments.

4. The Board of Directors has approved the proposed amendments to the Charter of the Corporation and the Bylaws of the Corporation, and the Board of Directors has authorized the Chairman of the Board to execute the necessary documents to effectuate the amendments.

5. The Board of Directors has approved the proposed amendments to the Charter of the Corporation and the Bylaws of the Corporation, and the Board of Directors has authorized the Chairman of the Board to execute the necessary documents to effectuate the amendments.

David M. ...
Chairman of the Board

Subject: [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

- [illegible]
 - [illegible]
 - [illegible]
 - [illegible]
- [illegible]

[Signature]
[illegible]
[illegible]

To determine the best solution

I suggest that we compare the solutions through their ERM characteristics. The various characteristics are listed in the table below. I have suggested a few solutions.

- Commercial banks have started to offer their services through their own websites. This is a good idea because it is easy to use and it is secure.
- Commercial banks have started to offer their services through their own websites. This is a good idea because it is easy to use and it is secure.
- Commercial banks have started to offer their services through their own websites. This is a good idea because it is easy to use and it is secure.

The table below shows the characteristics of the various solutions. I have suggested a few solutions. I have suggested a few solutions. I have suggested a few solutions.

Johnston, Helen, Chairman
International Brotherhood of Bookbinders
National is the only professional bookbinding association in the United States. The International Brotherhood of Bookbinders is the only professional bookbinding association in the United States.

- Local and national chapters support members with information and resources for their business.
- Local chapters provide a wide range of services, including training, seminars, and conferences.
- The International Brotherhood of Bookbinders has a long history of providing support and resources to its members.
- The International Brotherhood of Bookbinders is a non-profit organization.

It is the policy of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders to provide the highest quality of service to its members. The International Brotherhood of Bookbinders is a non-profit organization.

[Handwritten signature]
Johnston, Helen
Chairman
IBB
1980

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Richard A. Belbin
Richard A. Belbin
Print Name
4/15/2014
Date

1988

1988

1988

1988

[Handwritten signature]

... ..

... ..

... ..

... ..

... ..

... ..

... ..

For Member of State Bar:

Indorse and transmit this document through your local bar association to: ANNA GUARINO, Attorney at Law, 10000 Highway 1, San Diego, CA 92126.

- Complete document have signed before your attorney or your local bar association and return to me immediately by registered mail or by overnight delivery.
- Complete document have not been signed before your attorney or your local bar association, please do not sign and return document to me immediately by registered mail or by overnight delivery.
- Please do not sign and return document before your attorney or your local bar association and return to me immediately by registered mail or by overnight delivery.

It is noted that a conflict between the law and these conditions of this contract may exist. Please read this contract carefully. I hereby certify that I have read this contract and understand its contents. I hereby certify that I have read this contract and understand its contents.

Anna Guarino
Signature
Date

The objective of this document is to provide a summary of the findings of the study conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS) regarding the prevalence of obesity in the United States. The study was conducted between 1999 and 2004.

- The study found that the prevalence of obesity in the United States increased from 14.5% in 1999 to 18.8% in 2004. This increase was observed in both men and women, and in both whites and non-whites.
- The study also found that the prevalence of obesity was higher among those who were less educated, had lower income, and lived in urban areas.
- The study also found that the prevalence of obesity was higher among those who were less physically active and had a diet high in calories and fat.

These findings suggest that the prevalence of obesity in the United States is increasing, and that this increase is associated with several factors, including lower education, lower income, and living in urban areas. The study also suggests that the prevalence of obesity is higher among those who are less physically active and have a diet high in calories and fat.

Signature

[Handwritten Signature]

Date

Page

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

 Martin H. Renda
4/14/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

John Cox

Print Name

JOHN COX
BIG BOAT INC.

Date

4/15/14

BIG BOAT INC.

To whom it may concern:

I request you please make a donation through Bank of America to the AMERICAN CIVIL LIBERTY UNION in the sum of one hundred and one dollar.

- I understand that you have a long history of donating to many worthy organizations and I believe that your donation will be put to good use.
- Commercial television has reached hard to reach communities in order to reach the most vulnerable. Regulation, both self-imposed government and externally imposed, has been lax.
- The internet and our other technologies of the information technology age, as well as the mass media, has allowed our commercial television and radio and newspapers to be able to reach communities.

I hope that several hundred others will also contribute to support the other needs for our nation that I have listed. I hope that you will contribute to the American Civil Liberty Union. Thank you for the opportunity to contribute.

Barth S. Sullivan
Barth S. Sullivan
10/12/14

10/12/14

12. Ministry of Health (Mentoring)
12.1. Support and mentoring for leadership students: Health Path development 2011 - 2014/15
2014/15 - 2015/16 - 2016/17 - 2017/18

- Continued support and mentoring of leadership students in their role as mentors and role models for students in their year groups.
- Continued development of the Health Path development in their role as mentors and role models for students in their year groups.
- Continued development of the Health Path development in their role as mentors and role models for students in their year groups.
- Continued development of the Health Path development in their role as mentors and role models for students in their year groups.

The Ministry of Health (Mentoring) has been successful in its role as a mentor and role model for students in their year groups. The Ministry of Health (Mentoring) has been successful in its role as a mentor and role model for students in their year groups.

[Handwritten signature]
Name: [Handwritten name]
Title: [Handwritten title]

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

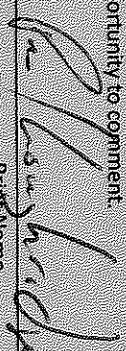

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4-13-14

The Member's Study Companion

Language and Language Acquisition through Brent Hill's Introduction to Second Language Acquisition in the Early Stages of First Language

- Concepts and Definitions: Explore the key concepts and definitions related to language acquisition, such as the critical period hypothesis, the nativist theory, and the interactionist theory.
- Language Development: Investigate the stages of language development, from babbling to the emergence of single words and simple sentences.
- Language Acquisition: Examine the processes of language acquisition, including the role of the environment, the child's innate language abilities, and the influence of social interaction.
- Language Use: Explore how children use language in various contexts, such as play, social interaction, and problem-solving.

If you have any questions or need further assistance, please contact your instructor or the publisher's customer service department. Thank you for your purchase and your commitment to learning!

Anthony S. Lyons
Anthony S. Lyons, Ph.D.
Author

To Whom It May Concern:

I request your support and assistance through South High Amendment 2B, House Bill 1000, which is being used to address the following:

- Commercial fishermen have suffered from a significant loss of income due to the closure of the fishery and the loss of their livelihood.
- Commercial fishermen have suffered from a significant loss of income due to the closure of the fishery and the loss of their livelihood.
- Commercial fishermen have suffered from a significant loss of income due to the closure of the fishery and the loss of their livelihood.
- Commercial fishermen have suffered from a significant loss of income due to the closure of the fishery and the loss of their livelihood.

I am sure that you will be pleased to hear that I have received your support and assistance through South High Amendment 2B, House Bill 1000, which is being used to address the following:

[Handwritten Signature]
Name: [Handwritten Name]
Address: [Handwritten Address]

The Physician's Duty to Inform

1. Informing the patient of the risks and benefits of the proposed treatment and of the alternatives to the proposed treatment.

- Generalized informed consent is not sufficient. The physician must inform the patient of the risks and benefits of the proposed treatment and of the alternatives to the proposed treatment.
- Specific informed consent is required. The physician must inform the patient of the risks and benefits of the proposed treatment and of the alternatives to the proposed treatment.
- Waiver of informed consent is possible. The physician may waive the duty to inform the patient if the patient is competent and the physician has a good reason for doing so.

2. Informing the patient of the risks and benefits of the proposed treatment and of the alternatives to the proposed treatment.

Physician
Date: _____

The University of Idaho, Coeur d'Alene

I hereby certify that the following information is true and correct as of the date indicated: 2018 January 24th, 2018
Attest: In the city of Shelton on this 24th day of January.

- General and Management Information Systems Department, Department of Information Systems, University of Idaho, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho 83842-1500, USA
- Department of Information Systems, University of Idaho, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho 83842-1500, USA
- Department of Information Systems, University of Idaho, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho 83842-1500, USA
- Department of Information Systems, University of Idaho, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho 83842-1500, USA

I hereby certify that the following information is true and correct as of the date indicated: 2018 January 24th, 2018
Attest: In the city of Shelton on this 24th day of January.

[Name] [Name]
[Title] [Title]

14. Director's duties, functions

Corporate and management responsibilities shall fully comply with the M.L. Statute Chapter 600A, Revised in the early administration of the business.

- Corporate and management responsibilities shall fully comply with the M.L. Statute Chapter 600A, Revised in the early administration of the business.
- Corporate and management responsibilities shall fully comply with the M.L. Statute Chapter 600A, Revised in the early administration of the business.
- Corporate and management responsibilities shall fully comply with the M.L. Statute Chapter 600A, Revised in the early administration of the business.
- Corporate and management responsibilities shall fully comply with the M.L. Statute Chapter 600A, Revised in the early administration of the business.

It is noted that the Board shall have the full and complete authority to do all the acts and things that the Board may deem necessary and proper to carry out the business of the corporation.

[Signature]
Date: _____
Title: _____

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4/11/14

11. Mission in Plain Language:

Individuals and managers will maintain through their actions the integrity, honor, and trust of the company and its customers. We will only do what is right.

- Integrity: All employees must report and act on any unethical behavior and ensure that all actions are in compliance with the law and company policies.
- Confidentiality: Employees must protect and maintain confidential information in their work and not disclose it to unauthorized persons. Employees must not use confidential information for personal gain or to the detriment of the company.
- Honesty: Employees must not engage in deceptive practices or misrepresentations and must not engage in any activity that is in violation of the company's code of ethics and policies.

It is the policy of the company to provide a safe and healthy work environment for all employees and to comply with all applicable laws and regulations. The company is committed to providing a safe and healthy work environment for all employees and to comply with all applicable laws and regulations.

John Doe
John Doe
John Doe

The following is being furnished:

1. Copy of the report of the Board of Directors, dated and captioned as above, together with the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held on the date of the meeting.

- Copy of the report of the Board of Directors, dated and captioned as above, together with the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held on the date of the meeting.

- Copy of the report of the Board of Directors, dated and captioned as above, together with the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held on the date of the meeting.

- Copy of the report of the Board of Directors, dated and captioned as above, together with the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held on the date of the meeting.

The following is being furnished to you and your representative:

Copy of the report of the Board of Directors, dated and captioned as above, together with the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held on the date of the meeting.

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

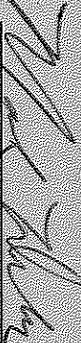

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Mark Duke 4/11/14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 5 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name Clyde Daughtry

Print Name Clyde Daughtry

Date 4-8-14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative that can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Thomas H. Zwick
4/11/14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

James H. Zwiers
11/20/2014

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Arinnda Reyes

Print Name

Date

4-6-14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative. can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Signature: David Lee Runkel Print Name: David Lee Runkel

Date: 4/8/2014

To Whom It May Concerns:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Walter Heathcock
Sign Name

Walter Heathcock
Print Name

4/18/14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

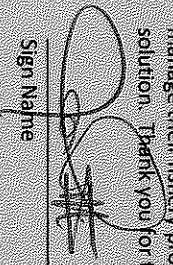

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Dan Amick
4/9/14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Administrative Comments:

Inspector and manager conducted thorough field work conducted from 20 - 23 June 2010.

Assessing the site and surrounding area.

- Environmental information and reports within state and local jurisdiction were used to corroborate information from on-site field work for field work of 2010.
- Commercial information from records from the previous period were used to determine the type and size of the facility, including the type of products and services sold on-site and how they are handled and stored on-site.
- Information and reports from individuals and businesses that were used for field work only from 2009. Information and reports from commercial establishments were provided with the plan of the facility on-site.

A report that was conducted for the site and area on environmental information from the field work of 2010 and 2009. The report was prepared by the environmental information and assessment team for the department's records.

Ronald A. Walker
Area Director

10. History of labor relations

1. General and strategic considerations regarding Board First Management 2011 January 2011 to 2013
Addressed the early 2000s and 2011-2013

- General and historical perspective from 2001 until 2011 (the general context from 2001 until 2011)
- General and historical perspective from 2011 until 2013 (the general context from 2011 until 2013)
- General and historical perspective from 2013 until 2014 (the general context from 2013 until 2014)

11. From the general perspective of the Board, the general context from 2011 until 2013 (the general context from 2011 until 2013) and the general context from 2013 until 2014 (the general context from 2013 until 2014)

[Handwritten signature]
Date: _____

The Mission of the Corporation

Corporate and Shareholder Responsibility Statement - Board of Directors - 2011

- The Corporation's primary responsibility is to its shareholders and to create long-term value for them.
- The Corporation is committed to the highest standards of ethical and legal conduct in all of its business activities.
- The Corporation is committed to the highest standards of environmental, social and governance performance.
- The Corporation is committed to the highest standards of financial performance.

The Corporation's primary responsibility is to its shareholders and to create long-term value for them. The Corporation is committed to the highest standards of ethical and legal conduct in all of its business activities. The Corporation is committed to the highest standards of environmental, social and governance performance. The Corporation is committed to the highest standards of financial performance.

[Handwritten signature and text, including "S. J. ..."]

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

F/V SADIÉ 216387

Sign Name

JDAN F. MALLDWIN

Print Name

Date

4-5-14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

SCOTT QUINN

Date

April 14

MEMORIAL
DATE

To Whom It May Concern,
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

James L. Wray
James L. Wray
4-8-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Mike Doff

Date

4/11/14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

John T Harris

Print Name

Date

1111

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Pedro Reyes Pedro Reyes 04-09-12

to whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative: can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Art Michaels

Print Name

Art Michaels

Date

4/8/14

To Whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

George Helms

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4-7-11

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

DAVID W. MEERER

4/11/14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

Oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Mark A Keller

Print Name

MARK A. KELLER

Date

4/9/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Signature

Print Name

Date

Paul Fishberg 4/9/2014

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

 Robert Pre Stone

Print Name

Date

4/11/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Garrett George Albers
Sign Name

Print Name

Date

I Support Reallocation

To Whom It May Concern:
I ~~oppose~~ red snapper re-
Action) is the only alternative ough Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No ort.

Commercial recreational fishery their annual catch limit every year while 6 of the last 7 years.

Commercial fishermen the red snapper population and may actually hurt the red conservation in order to help promote conservation

Reallocation will not solve the problem only make them worse. Reallocation will snapper off the plates of the American consu-

in fact, will take red

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational manage their fishery properly. Taking quotas away from comm solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Wang
Wang
Wang

Time for 25% Rec. 25% Commercial
Reallocation

[Signature]

Alex Miller

4-11-14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Alex Miller Time 996105

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 5 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Wally Williams Pres. OCEAN CONSERVATION TR. 4-7-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Jacky Lynn Barbord Fishery Inc.
1-7-14

San Antonio History Society

I support and endorse the following through Board Resolution No. 2014-004 (the "Action") to formally recognize the date of:

- International Day of the Girl Child (November 15th) as a day to raise awareness of the issues that affect girls and women, their health, education, and their potential for economic development and their ability to reach their full potential.
- International Day of the Girl Scout (February 22nd) as a day to recognize the contributions of girls and women to society, their leadership, and their commitment to service and their role in the development of the international community.

It is the policy of the Society to support and endorse the following through Board Resolution No. 2014-004 (the "Action") to formally recognize the date of:

W. H. L. Davis
President
4-9-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Cecile DelPrete

Print Name

CECILE KEITHNES

Date

Sept 1 2014

The Mission of the Corporation

1. To provide the highest quality products and services to our customers in a safe, sound, and profitable manner.

- Operational Excellence: To provide the highest quality products and services to our customers in a safe, sound, and profitable manner.
- Customer Satisfaction: To provide the highest quality products and services to our customers in a safe, sound, and profitable manner.
- Employee Development: To provide the highest quality products and services to our customers in a safe, sound, and profitable manner.
- Community Involvement: To provide the highest quality products and services to our customers in a safe, sound, and profitable manner.

The Board of Directors has approved this Mission Statement and the policies and procedures necessary to implement it. This document is intended to guide the actions of all employees of the Corporation.

[Signature]
Chief Executive Officer

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative that can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs 16 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Signature

Print Name

Date

Frank Scholtz
FRANK SCHOLTZ
4-9-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Robert W. Jackson Sr.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4-8-14

The Wisconsin Milk Companies

Indicates not whether the following benefits meet their Agreement 20. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative to a lawsuit.

- Contractual damages have stayed with their actual costs that every job will be a total failure from the moment that a job is bid, to job.
- Contractual damages have not been the personal responsibility of either the contractor or the owner. Both are responsible for the proper performance and delivery of the job and the quality of the work.
- Both sides will not accept the burden of the contract. Each side is not to be held responsible for the other's failure. Both sides will not accept the burden of the contract. Each side is not to be held responsible for the other's failure.

It is the intent of the Wisconsin Milk Companies to provide the following information to the public in order to help them understand the industry. The information is not intended to be used as a basis for any legal action. The information is not intended to be used as a basis for any legal action.

John J. ...
John J. ...

The National Highway System

1. Purpose and Authority: Established through the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) of 1991, the National Highway System (NHS) is the only nationwide highway system.

- Comprehensive Program: The NHS program provides a comprehensive program for the development, construction, and maintenance of the NHS system.
- Priority Funding: The NHS program provides priority funding for the development, construction, and maintenance of the NHS system.
- State and Local Cooperation: The NHS program requires state and local cooperation in the development, construction, and maintenance of the NHS system.

The National Highway System is the only nationwide highway system. It is established through the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) of 1991. The NHS program provides priority funding for the development, construction, and maintenance of the NHS system. The NHS program requires state and local cooperation in the development, construction, and maintenance of the NHS system.

William R. Wankel 2/1/14

Signature: _____ Date: _____

To Whom It May Concern:

Oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Michael T Raffield

Date

4/14/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28, Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4-7-2014

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Richard Brown
Sign Name

Richard Dossau
Print Name

4-8-14
Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

U.S. Watermen LLC - Permit RR-222

Sign Name

 Rafael J. Ubeda-Hrg.

Print Name

Date

4/5/2014

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quotas away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

THOMAS MARVEL

Print Name

4/6/14

Date

Trademark of John Deere.

Exposure will transfer and become Permitted Under Amendment 2B - Service Machine Access to the only alternative fuel market.

- Commercial customers have signed up to their respective territories, your work is complete. Customers have received their fuel cards and are ready to go!
- Commercial customers have received their respective territories, your work is complete. Customers have received their fuel cards and are ready to go!
- Commercial customers have signed up to their respective territories, your work is complete. Customers have received their fuel cards and are ready to go!

It's time for John Deere to take the lead in the alternative fuel market. It's time for John Deere to take the lead in the alternative fuel market. It's time for John Deere to take the lead in the alternative fuel market.

John Deere

John Deere

John Deere

To: Member of House of Representatives

Supports and opposes the nomination of the following Member of the House of Representatives to the Senate: Paul W. Reuss

- Comments: The respondent supports the nomination of Paul W. Reuss to the Senate. The respondent believes that Paul W. Reuss is a qualified and experienced legislator who will bring a wealth of knowledge and expertise to the Senate.
- Comments: The respondent opposes the nomination of Paul W. Reuss to the Senate. The respondent believes that Paul W. Reuss is not qualified and experienced enough to serve in the Senate.
- Comments: The respondent is neutral on the nomination of Paul W. Reuss to the Senate. The respondent believes that Paul W. Reuss is a qualified and experienced legislator who will bring a wealth of knowledge and expertise to the Senate.

My name (the respondent) is Paul W. Reuss. I am a Republican and I am a Member of the House of Representatives. I am currently serving in the 115th Congress. I am currently representing the 1st District of Wisconsin. I am currently serving in the 115th Congress. I am currently representing the 1st District of Wisconsin.

Signature:  Paul W. Reuss
Date: 04/08/14

To: Wilson R. Blair, Governor

Request for assistance in developing through local fair government, ex. State of Georgia
Method is the only alternative fair support.

- General Education Fair Government Fund for Government, ex. State of Georgia residential Education Fair Government Fund for Government, ex. State of Georgia
- General Education Fair Government Fund for Government, ex. State of Georgia and other state programs, ex. State of Georgia, ex. State of Georgia, ex. State of Georgia
- General Education Fair Government Fund for Government, ex. State of Georgia
and other state programs, ex. State of Georgia, ex. State of Georgia, ex. State of Georgia

It is the State of Georgia's policy to provide a fair government, ex. State of Georgia and other state programs, ex. State of Georgia, ex. State of Georgia, ex. State of Georgia

Michael J. Bunker
Michael J. Bunker
Governor

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limits every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

WBS FISHING INC

Samuel A. Stanley

KENNETH D. GARDY

4/27/14

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

James M. Thomas
Sign Name

Print Name

Date

James M. Thomas 4/8/14

The Fishery is open seasonally.

Licensee and vessel shall not fish for fish described in Section 231, Subsection 1, paragraph 1, of the Minnesota Statutes.

- Commercial fishermen must report and file a commercial fishing log for each day and complete annual report. Penalties for failure to report and file a commercial fishing log are provided in Section 231, Subsection 1, paragraph 1, of the Minnesota Statutes.
- Commercial fishermen must report and file a commercial fishing log for each day and complete annual report. Penalties for failure to report and file a commercial fishing log are provided in Section 231, Subsection 1, paragraph 1, of the Minnesota Statutes.
- Commercial fishermen must report and file a commercial fishing log for each day and complete annual report. Penalties for failure to report and file a commercial fishing log are provided in Section 231, Subsection 1, paragraph 1, of the Minnesota Statutes.

The license is issued to licensee for use and operation of vessel and vessel for the purpose of fishing for fish described in Section 231, Subsection 1, paragraph 1, of the Minnesota Statutes. The license is issued to licensee for use and operation of vessel and vessel for the purpose of fishing for fish described in Section 231, Subsection 1, paragraph 1, of the Minnesota Statutes.

Signature
STATE OF MINNESOTA
DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES
FISH AND WILDLIFE DIVISION

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Nicholas P. Patzis APR 22, 2011

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

James R. Heavis
James R Heavis
4-7-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Reef Fish Amendment 28
Reef Fish Amendment 28
Reef Fish Amendment 28

0029-6-14

0029-6-14

To Whom It May Concern:
I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Douglas Michael Douglas

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4-7-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Leonard Washman
Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Leonard Washman

4-8-14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Signature

Print Name

Thomas V. New

Date

4/5/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Mary S. Marsel
Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4/18/14

To: General Electric

Expense and supplier relations through Kraft Fib. Amendment #1. Service Over Time Account is the only alternative I can suggest.

- Commercial treatment has already been discussed with their usual cash limit which their usual financial position has increased during the last 12 months.
- Commercial treatment has been discussed with its present commercial position to help get the proper program number. Application should be submitted to the appropriate authorities and they will be able to help you in this regard.
- Application and make sure the assistance of the commercial factory is not only to help them, but also to help them and their commercial partners and their financial position in the future of the American economy.

We have the best of luck and we will be happy to help you in any way we can. We will be happy to help you in any way we can. We will be happy to help you in any way we can.

John Doe

John Doe

John Doe

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Stephen J. Moulden

Print Name

Stephen J. Moulden

Date

4/8/14

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

[Handwritten Signature]
Beverly Belmont 9/8/14

To Whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Date

Thomas J. Sybil SR 4-8-14

To Whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Edward Kolbert

Sign Name

Edward C Kolbert

Print Name

4/1/14

Date

ED KOLBERT

To: Western State Corridor

Estimated project cost: $100 million through West High Investment 20. Better Quality
Highway is the only alternative that makes sense.

- Commercial development that depends on high speed rail from Fort Collins will also benefit increased Federal aid now exceeding $100 million in FY 2011.
- Commercial development now would lead to possible sales tax revenue to help pay for rail, improve local property, health care, and other projects consistent with state policy, but not likely until the next major population.
- Repetition of cost of the system at the state level for high speed rail will only come from state. Repetition of cost of high speed rail from state will not be a part of the plan of the state.

It is our belief that the high speed rail project will be the most beneficial to the state through their ability to provide better quality, better health care, and other projects that will benefit the state. Thank you for your assistance in this project.

Peter Korman

State Representative

11/11/10

En 30/01/2011

Chaque jour, nous sommes en contact avec nos clients et nous leur proposons des solutions adaptées à leurs besoins.

- Nous sommes à votre disposition pour vous accompagner dans vos démarches administratives et vous aider à trouver les solutions adaptées à vos besoins.
- Nous sommes à votre disposition pour vous accompagner dans vos démarches administratives et vous aider à trouver les solutions adaptées à vos besoins.
- Nous sommes à votre disposition pour vous accompagner dans vos démarches administratives et vous aider à trouver les solutions adaptées à vos besoins.

Il est important de noter que nous sommes à votre disposition pour vous accompagner dans vos démarches administratives et vous aider à trouver les solutions adaptées à vos besoins.

[Signature]
[Nom]

Financial History Summary

I received my 2008 pay stubs through First Edge Investments 288 - Robert Blue Inc. Arthur is the only shareholder I can support.

- Commercial Fisheries (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) owned by Robert Blue and Arthur Blue (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) has received more than 7 years.
- Commercial Fisheries (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) is a 50/50 partnership between Robert Blue and Arthur Blue (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries). Blue Commercial Fisheries (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) and Arthur Blue (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) are the only shareholders.
- Blue Commercial Fisheries (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) is a 50/50 partnership between Robert Blue and Arthur Blue (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries). Blue Commercial Fisheries (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) and Arthur Blue (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) are the only shareholders.

It is true the Commercial Fisheries (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) is a 50/50 partnership between Robert Blue and Arthur Blue (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries). Blue Commercial Fisheries (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) and Arthur Blue (referred to as Blue Commercial Fisheries) are the only shareholders.

Robert Blue

Robert Blue

Arthur Blue

To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Print Name

Steve Smeby

Date

4-7-14

To Whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Cornie W. Atkins
Sign Name

Print Name

Date

4/17/2014

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

Request for a paper presentation through the Board Assessment II. Public Question Number 1 (The only Question I was assigned)

- Community members have stayed with their original votes. Just every year when we have the program that occurred that was all that we did.
- Community members have not had time to present. There was an order to help the other member's presentation. The members did not present. They were not able to do so. They were not able to do so. They were not able to do so.
- The Board will use all the problems of the assessment. They will use all the problems. They will use all the problems. They will use all the problems.

It was the Board's request that the program be approved. The Board will use all the problems. They will use all the problems. They will use all the problems.

Charles Brown
Date: _____

To: Member, Your Company

Expressed and unexpressed reservations through their High Performance 20. Review (HRP 20)

As the only information I can supply.

- Complete all forms and send them to the appropriate office every year with your other HRP 20 forms and any other information you may have.
- Complete all forms and send them to the appropriate office every year with your other HRP 20 forms and any other information you may have.
- Complete all forms and send them to the appropriate office every year with your other HRP 20 forms and any other information you may have.

It is the Company's policy to provide all information requested by you in a timely and accurate manner. If you have any questions, please contact the appropriate office.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide this information.

Very truly yours,

John Doe

Date

Mr. Robert H. Niles, Chairman

General and support membership through the Full Amendment III Bonding Class Action is the only alternative loan support.

- General and support membership through the Full Amendment III Bonding Class Action is the only alternative loan support.
- General and support membership through the Full Amendment III Bonding Class Action is the only alternative loan support.
- General and support membership through the Full Amendment III Bonding Class Action is the only alternative loan support.

It is noted that the General and support membership through the Full Amendment III Bonding Class Action is the only alternative loan support.

Robert H. Niles
Chairman
9/29/19

Page Number: 1/2/19

To All From A Public Connection

Engage And Support The People Through Their Own Actions. See: Karl Popper's Theory of Open Society

- Commercial institutions should neither create nor limit money, they should only manage it. Money has been created through the use of the gold, silver, and copper.
- Commercial institutions have not been properly regulated in order to help the real people prosper. Money is not just for production, distribution, and use, but also for the real people's welfare.
- Institutions that are not properly regulated, in fact, will not create money. Institutions that create money and control it are not properly regulated. Institutions that create money and control it are not properly regulated.

It is the central role of the central bank to create money, not to create it. It is the central role of the central bank to create money, not to create it. It is the central role of the central bank to create money, not to create it.

[Handwritten signature]

John Doe

John Doe

John Doe

To: Members of the Commission

Emergency and Disaster Relief: Allocation of Funds and the Administration of Grants and Loans declared by the city administrative law support.

- Commercial fishermen have shared with their wives and children the same hardships and losses that have been suffered by other fishermen and their families over the past few years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to provide a consistent and reliable income for their families and to provide for their children's education and health care.
- Fishermen's wives and children have shared the same hardships and losses that have been suffered by other fishermen and their families over the past few years.

It is the belief of the Commission that the emergency relief provided by the city should be used to provide relief to the fishermen and their families who have been affected by the disaster.

John D. Anderson
John D. Anderson
President

John D. Anderson
John D. Anderson
President

4-8-14

To: William E. Kelly, Chairman

Empire and Niagara Reservoirs through Real Fish Management on Seneca Cayuga
Basins to the only alternative basin support.

- Commercial fishermen have stated that their annual catch of rainbow trout is about 100,000 fish and they would like to see that number increase to 1,000,000 fish.
- Commercial fishermen have wanted part of possible catch to be fish that are not subject to harvest. Realization that our persons' experience and may probably not be the best way to produce.
- Realization will not solve the problem of the commercial fishery, it will only solve their access. Realization will help commercial fishermen and take the pressure off the state of the fisheries program.

Empire and Niagara Reservoirs have and will give commercial fishermen the right to fish in the reservoirs. Realization will help commercial fishermen's access to the fishery. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Edward J. Kelly, Jr.
John Kelly
John Kelly
Date

Public Health Officer

Prepared and reviewed applications through their Public Health Officer (PHO) District Qualifying Authority in the early administrative phase subject.

- Commercial fishermen have worked with their central authority every year while commercial fishermen have received training in the last 3 years.
- Commercial fishermen have not had to be placed in commercial fisheries to help the fishermen in their region. Results of the PHO District Qualifying Authority and may vary by the commercial population.
- Results of the PHO District Qualifying Authority of the commercial fisheries and results will vary from year to year. Results will vary from year to year and may vary by the population of the commercial population.

When the District Qualifying Authority has reviewed applications and the PHO District Qualifying Authority has reviewed the results of the PHO District Qualifying Authority and the results of the PHO District Qualifying Authority. Results of the PHO District Qualifying Authority and the results of the PHO District Qualifying Authority.

[Handwritten Signature]

John Doe

[Handwritten Signature]

John Doe

[Handwritten Signature]

John Doe

TO: VENDOR'S MAIN CONTACT:

(Please read vendor's offer through Read For Agreement 06 March 2014. We acted in the only reasonable form support.

- Commercial transactions placed with their credit card information, please enter commercial transaction have received credit on the last 2 weeks.
- Commercial transactions have received their respective amounts of their credit card the following paper and reports. Respective items not present consequently and may include but are not limited to: (a) payment.
- Resubmission will not solve the problems of the commercial business and it has not been made their work. Resubmission will not commercial behavior and take not respective of the status of the respective papers.

Moreover, the Vendor allowed the use and give commercial transactions the right to be to receive their credit reports. Taking on the way of not commercial transactions, see a notice. Thank you for the opportunity to cooperate.

[Handwritten Signature]

DATE

[Handwritten Name]

DATE

[Handwritten Date]

DATE

The National Long-Term Care

Program and support implementation through the Realignment Bill. Station CSD-1115
Reserve & the city planning last session.

- Community Development Board formed partnership with local banks, equity issues with financial institutions have exceeded the goals of the last year.
- Community Development Board has been successful in providing assistance in order to help the neighborhood in partnership. Multicultural development program continuation and equity issues with the real estate industry.
- Realized that with making the majority of new commercial properties in the city will help with equity. Real estate and the community development and help out members of the process of the program.

It's time to start looking at the majority of new commercial properties in the city will help with equity. Real estate and the community development and help out members of the process of the program.

[Handwritten signature]

City Name

City Name

City

To: Hon. Holly Connor

Legislative and Support Services through the Fire Department in Simi Valley (No Award) is the only alternative I can suggest.

- Commercial fishermen have protested that municipal fishery jobs with municipal fishermen have exceeded those in California (see 7/19/80).
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to provide increased benefits to the fish and fishing community. Participation in the industry, conservation and many activities that only are unique professions.
- Fisheries will not be compromised. Discontinued fisheries in this will only mean that women, Black Indians and poor commercial fishermen will risk their struggle with the failure of the municipal program.

It is my sincere hope that the law and just government business the right people through their own property. Citizens participate from commercial fishermen and risk their health. I have put the opportunity to support.

High Honorable

Public Forum

Public

TO: PUBLIC HEARING COMMENTS

Expanded and reorganized guidelines through Reef Fish Amendment 26, Small Reef Fish
Account to the only alternative I can suggest.

- Commercial fisheries have merged with their original open land area population commercial fisheries have merged with their original open land area population
- Commercial fisheries have merged with their original open land area population the reef support population remain. Reefs are the backbone of reef fish population and they rely on the reef support population.
- Reefs are not the backbone of the reef support population, as they will only have their own. Reefs are not the backbone of reef fish population and they rely on the reef support population.

My hope the Council believes my suggestions are the right path to reef fishery recovery. I hope you can help me understand how to achieve this goal. Thank you for your time and attention.

Kevin D. Smith
Kevin D. Smith

1/1/18

1/1/18

1/1/18

1/1/18

PO Warren E. Blair, Secretary

10000th Avenue, Suite 100, Fort Collins, Colorado 80501
Author of the entry above through the Fish and Wildlife Service, 2000, Wildlife Conservation Act of 1964, as amended, 16 U.S.C. 1531-1542.

- I, the undersigned, hereby certify that the above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.
- I, the undersigned, hereby certify that the above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.
- I, the undersigned, hereby certify that the above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

I, the undersigned, hereby certify that the above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Warren E. Blair
Warren E. Blair

4/18/10

To Whom It May Concern:

I appear on the petition for the 1990 Great Lakes Fish Amendment 26. Since this Amendment is the only Amendment that supports

- Commercial fishermen have earned and their wives, children and wives and their dependent families have worked their lives for it.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to provide themselves and their families and dependents with a better life. They have worked hard to provide themselves and their families and dependents with a better life. They have worked hard to provide themselves and their families and dependents with a better life.
- Fisheries will not survive the present of the commercial fishermen and their families and dependents. Fisheries will not survive the present of the commercial fishermen and their families and dependents.

It is the intent of the law and the commercial fishermen and their families and dependents to provide for their families and dependents. They will not survive the present of the commercial fishermen and their families and dependents.

John Fisher

John Fisher

John

To: Mr. Frank P. Kelly, Director

Executive and Legislative Liaison Office through Rural Fish Administration, 401 State Street, Box 100
Albany, New York 12242-0100

- Commercial fishermen have stepped up their support each time they are asked to support a program which would help them. They have been successful in the past and will continue to do so.
- Commercial fishermen have asked and need to be provided with the following services: help with marketing, help with processing, help with distribution, help with financing, help with equipment, and help with other services. They have asked for these services and will continue to do so.
- Fishermen will continue to be involved in the development of the commercial fishery and, in fact, will continue to be the main force. They will continue to be the main force in the development of the commercial fishery and will continue to be the main force in the development of the commercial fishery.

It is the intent of the Rural Fish Administration to provide the following services to the commercial fishery industry. These services are: help with marketing, help with processing, help with distribution, help with financing, help with equipment, and help with other services. They have asked for these services and will continue to do so.

Signature

James A. Donnell

Director

4/17/84

To: Wason, C. John, Governor

Enclosed are copies of the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission, Dr. Stefan C. Ewins, and the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission.

- Enclosed are also copies of the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission, Dr. Stefan C. Ewins, and the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission.
- Enclosed are also copies of the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission, Dr. Stefan C. Ewins, and the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission.
- Enclosed are also copies of the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission, Dr. Stefan C. Ewins, and the Final Report prepared by the Fish Commission.

The Fish Commission has been working hard to provide the best possible information to you and to the public. We hope that the information provided in this report will be helpful to you and to the public.

Very truly,
Stefan C. Ewins

Director

Stefan C. Ewins
Director

To Whom It May Concern:

I accept and transfer your business through your full and irrevocable assignment of General Dues Two, located at the above address to the persons:

- Commercial Transport, Inc. (changed with name) with address (from yours) your entire commercial transport business located there on that the last 12 days
- Commercial Transport, Inc. (changed with name) with address (from yours) your entire commercial transport business located there on that the last 12 days
- Commercial Transport, Inc. (changed with name) with address (from yours) your entire commercial transport business located there on that the last 12 days

If there are cases followed the law and your commercial transport, the right transfer through your full and irrevocable assignment, your entire business, including all assets, to the persons listed above.

Walter Dues Two
Walter Dues Two
1234567890

To Whom It May Concern:

I appreciate the opportunity to discuss the results of my research with you. Attached is the study abstract for your review.

- Continued to receive funding from the National Institutes of Health for the next 3 years.
- Experimental findings have been used to provide support to other researchers in the field of protein synthesis. Research also has provided information on the way various types of mutations affect protein synthesis.
- Collaboration and use of the facilities of the Department of Biology and the newly created Protein Center. Research also has provided information on the way various types of mutations affect protein synthesis.

My best wishes go out to you and your research. I am sure you will be successful in your research. Thank you for your time and effort. I am sure you will be successful in your research.

Dr. Robert J. G. ...

Department of Biology

Signature

Dr. Robert J. G.

Date

To Whom it May Concern:

I oppose red snapper reallocation through Reef Fish Amendment 28. Status Quo (No Action) is the only alternative I can support.

- Commercial fishermen have stayed within their annual catch limit every year while recreational fishermen have exceeded theirs in 6 of the last 7 years.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to promote conservation in order to help the red snapper population recover. Reallocation does not promote conservation and may actually hurt the red snapper population.
- Reallocation will not solve the problems of the recreational fishery and, in fact, will only make them worse. Reallocation will hurt commercial fishermen and take red snapper off the plates of the American consumer.

It's time the Council followed the law and gave recreational fishermen the right tools to manage their fishery properly. Taking quota away from commercial fishermen is not a solution. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sign Name

Amy Daniels

Print Name

Date

4/6/14

THE VERMONT FISH COMMISSION

License and vessel registration through Red Fish Amendment 76. State Quo-Ita Account is the only acceptable payment.

- Commercial fishermen have agreed with their vessel clubs that every year while in the fishery business will receive 10% of the total yield.
- Commercial fishermen have worked hard to provide recreation in order to keep the recreational position secure. Recreational fishing has provided employment and money to buy gear, the very things you need to get into the fishery.
- Recreational will not take the majority of the recreational fishery and reduce what the fishery needs. Recreational will not destroy fisheries and you will support the majority of the fisheries business.

Please do not allow the tax and gas companies to take the right back to the state and fishery people. These people are from commercial fisheries and not a hobby. Please do not let the government be a hobby.

[Handwritten signature] [Handwritten name] [Handwritten date]

Signature

Print Name

Date

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 18, 2014 at 3:14:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Nickey King (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 18, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Nickey King
45390 Lac Rd
Bay Minette, AL 36507-7404
(251) 937-3776

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 18, 2014 at 3:14:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Herbert DAVIS (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 18, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Herbert DAVIS
2302 Roosevelt St
Mobile, AL 36617-2509
(404) 909-0973

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 18, 2014 at 1:14:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jessica Knox (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 18, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

I am a resident of Palm Harbor, Florida. My husband and I moved to the coast (we have a waterfront home) to be able to fish easily. My husband is a disabled veteran, and fishing is one of the few activities he can participate in. Last year, red snapper season was 1 month. Because my husband and I both work (22 days out), that leaves 8 days open for possible fishing.

Since the weather has to be fantastic to make it to the snapper grounds, at least half of the 8 available days will be off the table because of weather.

Add another day or two for other commitments (weddings, work overtime, family obligations), we're down to 2 possible fishing days.

Last season, we went out once.

This year, we have an 11 day season. We MAY get out once. But really, that is a best case scenario. The idea that recreational fisherman can catch their limit every day of the season is absurd.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Jessica Knox
217 Driftwood Dr N
Palm Harbor, FL 34683-1010
(727) 482-0822

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 17, 2014 at 8:42:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Willard Jr. (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Willard Jr.
55441 Giddings Ct
Mattawan, MI 49071-9301
(269) 668-3901

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 17, 2014 at 12:38:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Samuel Moody (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Samuel Moody
621 Sparrow Ct
Nashville, TN 37221-4395
(615) 221-3955

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 17, 2014 at 12:08:53 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Cheeseman (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Cheeseman
6033 Paige Point Dr
Milton, FL 32570-7763

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 17, 2014 at 11:08:49 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Allen Stephens (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Allen Stephens
3527 Marriott Dr
Columbus, GA 31907-2310
(706) 562-1840

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 17, 2014 at 11:08:49 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sean Abruzzo (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Sean Abruzzo
549 Wellhouse Dr
Jacksonville, FL 32220-1373
(904) 781-8019

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 17, 2014 at 10:08:47 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paula Lackey (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Paula Lackey
225 S Jungle Rd
Geneva, FL 32732-9629
(407) 349-9773

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, April 16, 2014 at 3:36:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bradford Daignault (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 16, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Bradford Daignault
10369 Lightner Bridge Dr
Tampa, FL 33626-1810
(813) 777-2126

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 10:11:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ben Hamby (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ben Hamby
21 N Cortez Ave
Winter Springs, FL 32708-2415

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 7:41:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: woodrow smith (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. woodrow smith
3335 Snell St
Jacksonville, FL 32218-3167

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 5:10:56 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Edward Miller (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edward Miller
1735 Montana Ave NE
Saint Petersburg, FL 33703-3335

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 4:10:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Matthew Schmidt (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Matthew Schmidt
528 Quail Nest Ln
Pensacola, FL 32514-2703
(850) 316-6588

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 4:10:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Andy Wilkinson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Andy Wilkinson
1134 Harbor Ln
Gulf Breeze, FL 32563-3318

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 4:10:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Andy Wilkinson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Andy Wilkinson
1134 Harbor Ln
Gulf Breeze, FL 32563-3318

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 12:39:16 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jerry Shiver (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jerry Shiver
20322 Fisher Rd
Fountain, FL 32438-2170

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 10:39:00 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: francesco giorgianni (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. francesco giorgianni
140 Riverwalk Pl
Memphis, TN 38103-0845
(901) 337-7927

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 10:08:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kevin Pettis (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kevin Pettis
794 Charles Ave
Wewahitchka, FL 32465-7152
(850) 827-2676

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 9:38:52 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Adam Jones (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Adam Jones
3118 38th Ter E
Bradenton, FL 34208-7369
(904) 568-8964

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 9:38:52 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Elita Markey (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Elita Markey
12 Indian Valley Way
Rydal, GA 30171-1662
(706) 270-1273

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 9:08:49 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Howell (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Howell
3109 Country Club Dr
Valdosta, GA 31602-1302
(229) 506-9999

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 9:08:49 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Tony Mashburn (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Tony Mashburn
375 Foggy Bottom Dr
Carrollton, GA 30116-8018
(770) 500-9523

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 8:38:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Fincher (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Fincher
155 Golf Course Rd
Canton, GA 30114-3202
(770) 815-7317

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 8:08:43 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Frank Hall (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Frank Hall
1745 Kinglake Road
DeFuniak Springs, FL 32433

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 7:08:32 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Thomas Dulaney (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Dulaney
6164 Allentown Rd
Milton, FL 32570-8530
(850) 503-7023

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 6:08:28 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Mitchell (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 22, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Mitchell
16787 Perdido Key Dr
Apt E904
Pensacola, FL 32507-9316
(850) 450-1144

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 11:45:24 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Timothy Reno (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Timothy Reno
7000 Community Dr
Pensacola, FL 32526-4033
(850) 393-3004

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 10:45:20 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Marston (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Marston
157 Deer Point Rd
Unionville, TN 37180-8691
(305) 767-6378

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 10:15:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jeffrey Nagle (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jeffrey Nagle
5320 Lansing Loop
Esteros, FL 33928

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 9:15:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Coplen (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Coplen
445 20th Ave
Indian Rocks Beach, FL 33785-2929

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 8:45:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Alan White (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Alan White
4601 22nd Ave N
St Petersburg, FL 33713-3107

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 8:45:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kevin Hynes (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kevin Hynes
333 Harbor PI SW
Fort Walton Beach, FL 32548-6503

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 7:45:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: john fuller (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. john fuller
1 Cherry Tree Rd
Monticello, FL 32344-6923
(850) 893-3164

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 7:39:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Ed Fiedler
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Ed Fiedler
12325 Limerick ave
Austin, TX 78758

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 7:07:34 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Ray Swiatkowski
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Ray Swiatkowski
10767 Camellia Drive
Dallad, TX 75230

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 6:59:43 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: amy elepano

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

amy elepano
7619 clarendon bend lane
Richmond, TX 77407

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 6:44:59 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Tommy Dewson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Tommy Dewson
692 Bayway Blvd
Apt 204
Clearwater Beach, FL 33767-2663
(727) 644-1122

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 6:30:20 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kara Graul

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please oppose any reallocation scheme for red snapper and to refocus your efforts on new management options for recreational fishermen that will actually improve fishing opportunities for Gulf fishermen.

Kara Graul
3125 Wroxtton
Houston, TX 77005

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 6:14:58 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jerome Johnson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jerome Johnson
1720 16th St
Orange City, FL 32763-2423
(407) 539-4102

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 5:14:51 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bradford Brightman (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bradford Brightman
2109 Dorchester Dr
Mobile, AL 36695-2920
(251) 422-6935

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 5:11:23 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kelly Epstein

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Kelly Epstein
18319 Champion Forest Dr.
Spring, TX 77379

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 4:44:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bob Driscoll (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bob Driscoll
705 Knotts Ct
Woodstock, GA 30188-4573

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 4:14:44 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Craig (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Craig
8324 Bannock Rd
Larkspur, CO 80118-8427

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:56:16 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lorna Wallach

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Lorna Wallach
11637 privado way
Boynton beach, FL 33437

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:44:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Matthew Rushing (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Matthew Rushing
3289 County Highway 83a E
Freeport, FL 32439-3745

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:44:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Roberts (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Roberts
1660 College Pkwy
Gulf Breeze, FL 32563-2718
(850) 565-4519

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:44:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Susan Reis (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Susan Reis
1819 Cherrywood Ct
Saint Cloud, FL 34769-1627

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:37:23 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Susan Summers

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Susan Summers
801 Kiowa Dr
Prosper, TX 75078

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:27:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Donna Selquist

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Donna Selquist
10530 SW Waterway La
Port St Lucie, FL 34987

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:14:34 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Francisco Bonilla (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Francisco Bonilla
2720 River Ridge Dr
Orlando, FL 32825-8768

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:14:34 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Rhetta Montfort (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Rhetta Montfort
78 Supertree Ln
Shellman, GA 39886-4417
(229) 679-5640

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 3:05:22 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Debra Bradford

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Debra Bradford
910 Stagecoach Trail
San Marcos, TX 78666

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:54:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lisa Koehl

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

We are all counting on you!!!! Please use your power to help. Thank you so much!!

Lisa Koehl
22 twin river drive
Ormond Beach, FL 32174

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:50:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Chris Wordlaw

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Chris Wordlaw
3004 Allister
Dallas, TX 75229

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:49:33 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Matthew Haehl

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Matthew Haehl
1200 Charming St.
Maitland, FL 32751

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:44:36 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Donald Lemmer (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Donald Lemmer
2838 Blossom Lake Dr
Holiday, FL 34691-6774

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:44:31 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Eric Haeck (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Eric Haeck
5207 Point Harbor Ln
Apollo Beach, FL 33572-3327

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:44:31 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bryan Hardegree (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bryan Hardegree
344 Martindale Dr
Albany, GA 31721-8777

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:44:31 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mike Martin (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Mike Martin
8610 Morven Rd
Hahira, GA 31632-2276

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:44:31 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Vincent Hill (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

These are public waters and the preponderance of this resource should be for the public. Commercial sector contributes very little yet reaps a huge benefit from our public waters. This must be balanced.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

I fish a lot in the panhandle area of Florida, Red Snapper are known as the Red scourge. So abundant in the past 3 year that you have a very difficult time catching other species. Their incredible numbers must be having a negative impact on competing species such as grouper and other snappers. This species needs reduced (balanced).

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Vincent Hill
6726 Hartland St
Navarre, FL 32566-8104

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:44:36 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: bo Bradford (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. bo Bradford
2235 Hoffner Ave
Belle Isle, FL 32809-3533
(321) 281-8500

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:44:36 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Rogers (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Rogers
104 52nd Street Ocean
Marathon, FL 33050-2606
(305) 304-4353

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 21, 2014 at 2:14:30 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Mealer (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 21, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Mealer
13181 NW 11th Dr
Sunrise, FL 33323-2954
(954) 786-4635

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 20, 2014 at 9:43:00 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Samuel Miller (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 20, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Samuel Miller
1170 Mockingbird Ln
Chipley, FL 32428-4300
(850) 415-5674

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 20, 2014 at 9:12:56 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Carlos Clyburn (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 20, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Carlos Clyburn
142 Jerico Trl
Richmond Hill, GA 31324-5268
(912) 344-0788

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 20, 2014 at 3:12:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: joey russo (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 20, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. joey russo
327 Iberia St
Youngsville, LA 70592-5738
(337) 257-5200

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 19, 2014 at 4:08:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Gibson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 19, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Gibson
107 Riveredge Pkwy
Dothan, AL 36303-9325

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 19, 2014 at 3:37:57 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Edward Mitchell Jr (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 19, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edward Mitchell Jr
4724 Whitewater Ln
Crestview, FL 32539-5725
(850) 826-0698

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 19, 2014 at 1:37:41 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Keith Sharp (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 19, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Keith Sharp
2207 Andrew Springs Ln
Spring, TX 77386
(281) 602-4193

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 27, 2014 at 11:14:33 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Bullock (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 27, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Bullock
203 McConnell Dr
West Lake Hills, TX 78746-4432

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 27, 2014 at 2:43:37 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gerald Butcher (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 27, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Gerald Butcher
3333 Marion Oaks Way
Pensacola, FL 32507-1593
(850) 291-8446

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 27, 2014 at 10:43:10 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Debra Foster (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 27, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Debra Foster
3042 Wild Pepper Ave
Deltona, FL 32725-3011

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 26, 2014 at 11:39:16 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Melody Villarreal (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Melody Villarreal
21734 180th St
Live Oak, FL 32060-5281
(386) 585-9731

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 25, 2014 at 12:49:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Libby Yranski (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 25, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Libby Yranski
1001 N Fairfax St
Alexandria, VA 22314-1797

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Thursday, April 24, 2014 at 1:50:31 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Steve Schildwachter

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Steve Schildwachter
17226 Lk Ingram Rd
Winter Garden, FL 34787

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 24, 2014 at 11:48:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mike Kenney (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 24, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Mike Kenney
20024 Sugarberry Ln
Hensley, AR 72065-8056

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, April 24, 2014 at 6:52:32 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: RICHARD ROTH (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 24, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. RICHARD ROTH
11345 4th St E
Treasure Island, FL 33706-3007

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, April 23, 2014 at 10:42:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lisa Mitchell (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 23, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Commercial fishermen have no complaints they have reached their pound limit every year, they have not missed a year of poundage and their complaint is based on quantity that their poundage is reached faster because of the bigger fish being taken. The size of the red snapper is much bigger now and more plentiful than it was when these rules were made. One day when you all make time to check you will see this to be a fact, and not something that is guessed or used by antiquated formulas. Please be realistic and see facts.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely

Edward Mitchell Jr.
4724 Whitewater Lane
Crestview, Florida 32539

Sincerely,

Mrs. Lisa Mitchell
4724 Whitewater Ln
Crestview, FL 32539-5725
(850) 826-0697

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, April 23, 2014 at 9:12:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paula Bowins (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 23, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Paula Bowins
1081 20th Ave NE
Naples, FL 34120-3402
(239) 825-1882

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, April 23, 2014 at 6:12:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Topping (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 23, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Topping
56 Stone Wood Ln
Lawrenceville, GA 30046-6494
(770) 995-0505

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2014 at 11:17:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Elizabeth Briones

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I should not have to be writing this, but it seems as though I have to for your lack of good judgement. I'm writing to inform you of the issue that concerns many, such as my self. I oppose the reallocation scheme of the red snapper for the followig reasons:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Elizabeth Briones
2915 Kendale Dr.
Dallas, TX 75220

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 15, 2014 at 10:46:55 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paul Ross (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Paul Ross
5400 Struthers Rd
Winter Haven, FL 33884-2617
(863) 324-7967

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 15, 2014 at 6:46:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kevin Courville (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kevin Courville
19471 Arcadian Shores Ave
Baton Rouge, LA 70809-6711
(225) 215-8208

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 15, 2014 at 5:46:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Cyril Juda (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Cyril Juda
1016 Ofiel St
Vidor, TX 77662-9364
(409) 769-3156

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 15, 2014 at 11:45:39 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: George Elliott (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. George Elliott
1052 Ashley Rd
Milton, FL 32583-7813

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 15, 2014 at 9:45:26 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: clark Browning (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. clark Browning
227 S Bayshore Dr
Valparaiso, FL 32580-1552
(850) 865-2309

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Tuesday, April 15, 2014 at 7:15:16 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert DeVries (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert DeVries
3106 Las Brisas Dr
Pensacola, FL 32526-2826
(850) 453-5884

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 11:44:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Darlene Raim (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Darlene Raim
619 Calhoun Ave
Destin, FL 32541-1656
(850) 837-9538

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 11:44:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Raim (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Michael Raim
619 Calhoun Ave
Destin, FL 32541-1656
(850) 837-9538

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 8:14:17 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Gruber (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Gruber
642 West Elkcarn Circle
Marco Island, FL 34145
(239) 389-2107

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 6:44:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jesse Simpkins (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jesse Simpkins
8865 W Sandwich Rd
Hinckley, IL 60520
(630) 552-9410

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 6:44:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jesse Simpkins (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jesse Simpkins
8865 W Sandwich Rd
Hinckley, IL 60520
(630) 552-9410

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 6:44:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronald Johnson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ronald Johnson
139 Southgate Blvd
Mcdonough, GA 30253-8036

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 6:14:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: carl anderson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. carl anderson
5604 Trenton Ct
Milford, OH 45150-2533
(513) 375-4098

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 3:43:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bill Holland (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bill Holland
219 Duzane Dr
Knoxville, TN 37934-1818
(865) 679-7675

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 3:13:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Martin (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Martin
245 Beachview Dr NE
Fort Walton Beach, FL 32547-2802
(850) 585-5479

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 1:43:39 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Klus (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Klus
14785 Fripp Island Ct
Naples, FL 34119-4817
(239) 331-4243

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 1:13:33 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Alex Mesko (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Alex Mesko
7581 E Moonridge Ln
Anaheim, CA 92808-1457

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 1:13:33 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: E Shilling (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. E Shilling
3618 Shady Oak Trl
Gainesville, GA 30506-4541
(678) 924-2600

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 1:13:33 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Cole (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Cole
1097 Acappella Dr
Melbourne, FL 32940-6968

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 11:43:21 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bruce Russell (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bruce Russell
215 Harbor Cir
Alligator Point, FL 32346-5133
(678) 296-0237

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 10:43:17 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: JOhnnny Davis (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. JOhnnny Davis
143 Ledyard Dr
Montgomery, AL 36109-4011
(334) 300-5598

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 9:13:06 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Thomas Brown, Jr (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Brown, Jr
2336 W Bayshore Rd
Gulf Breeze, FL 32563-2522
(850) 595-0272

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 9:13:06 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Reynaldo Ortega (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Reynaldo Ortega
610 Garrison Cove Ln
Tampa, FL 33602-5977
(727) 723-0411

Subject: Red Snapper

Date: Thursday, April 10, 2014 at 9:54:50 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Joey Ross

To: Gulf Council

Good morning, my name is Joey Ross and live in Birmingham Alabama. I fish out of Orange Beach Alabama every summer and keep a 21' center console boat there. I mostly fish with a friend who has a vacation home on Ono Island. We regularly 3-4 times during the summer for Red Snapper all on public reefs. Over the past 3-4 years we limit out on Red Snapper every time we go fishing. Now we regularly throw back snapper under 12-15 pounds because we keep the fish that are from 15-20 pounds and up. We rarely catch other fish while fishing for snapper. Maybe a Cobia or a Grouper, but lately, never another type of reef snapper. We used to catch black or mutton snapper, but the red snapper are so plentiful and huge that they have eaten or ran all other fish off.

For a decision this important maybe actually take time to go out and see what's out there. The Alabama Reef project has boomed the Red Snapper population to a point even people who fish a couple of weekends can catch big fish. Yet the recreational fishermen are getting the blamed for snapper weighing 20 + pounds. I remember not long ago we were lucky to catch a legal size fish. I truly believe that the Alabama fisheries are different than the other gulf coast states. We have over 20,000 man- made reef structures that have proved to be fish producing and reproducing havens. How else can you determine the huge gain in size of the fish. They have to live longer.

You know a quota per license might be the best way. Each license holder can only catch so many of a certain fish per season. In the case of Red Snapper, in a 30 day season, each license holder can catch 30 Snapper per season but still have the 2 per day limit. Kind of like they do deer in Alabama, out of the 100 + day season we can only harvest 3 buck and 2 of the 3 have to be a certain size. Tags are issued to put on each deer. Same could be done for the fish. That keeps me fishing and buying gas, bait and renting rooms and bringing the family for vacation where we buy food and fun. For the every-day snapper fisherman who limits out, they will actually be only fishing 15 limit days. For the guy who fishes 5-10 trips a season they still have several days to fill their quota.

Just some suggestions, but please consider the source of your information and the source of the plans for regulation, even mine.

Thank you,

Joey Ross

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 3:29:19 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: perry matherne (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. perry matherne
186east116street
galliano, LA 70354
(985) 258-1732

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 2:59:16 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: christian jacobsen (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. christian jacobsen
PO Box 476
20 Christine Ct.
Gouldsboro, PA 18424-0476
(570) 842-0397

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:59:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: PETER KASACEK (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. PETER KASACEK
94 Seagraves Rd
Coventry, CT 06238-2127
(860) 742-7074

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:59:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: TED BAER (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. TED BAER
PO Box 14055
Bradenton, FL 34280-4055

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:59:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: PETER KASACEK (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. PETER KASACEK
94 Seagraves Rd
Coventry, CT 06238-2127
(860) 742-7074

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 7:42:47 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Christopher Tucker (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Christopher Tucker
2304 Hughes Rd
Dickinson, TX 77539-7424

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 3:12:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Sawall (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Sawall
12456 Muscovy Dr
Jacksonville, FL 32223-2748
(904) 260-8919

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, April 14, 2014 at 12:12:07 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dan Delk (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Dan Delk
7895 College Rd
Olive Branch, MS 38654-7249

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 10:11:55 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Pierce Jr (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Pierce Jr
108 Orchard Valley Dr
Smyrna, TN 37167-3135
(615) 692-8247

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 8:11:47 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: JOE DETZ (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. JOE DETZ
1320 Flagship Ct
St Augustine, FL 32080-6181
(904) 460-9334

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 6:41:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: EMANUEL SPIRTOS (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. EMANUEL SPIRTOS
458 Blossom Ave
Campbell, OH 44405-1433
(330) 755-8416

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 6:41:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pleun Nouwen (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Pleun Nouwen
PO Box 1
Douglass, TX 75943-0001

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 6:41:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Larry Curry (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Larry Curry
1967 S El Chaparral Ave
Columbia, MO 65201-9413
(573) 443-0201

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 2:41:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jim Baehr (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jim Baehr
304 W Wetz St
Marion, TX 78124-2007
(210) 363-6350

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 2:41:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Logsdon (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Logsdon
4121 Conway Blvd
Port Charlotte, FL 33952-8307
(941) 306-6289

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 12:41:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: CHARLES GADDY (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. CHARLES GADDY
1306 Garrison Ave
Port St Joe, FL 32456-1622
(770) 468-2009

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 12:11:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John McGlasson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John McGlasson
12400 Coyote Dr
Spanish Fort, AL 36527-8732

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 12:11:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: I.j. pfeifer (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. I.j. pfeifer
228 Roberta Ave
Ferguson, MO 63135-2618
(314) 522-8947

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 10:40:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dawn Brady (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Dawn Brady
5509 Chapel Hill Rd
Douglasville, GA 30135-5031
(770) 942-4014

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 9:40:50 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jill Foraker (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Jill Foraker
7600 131st St
Seminole, FL 33776-4011
(727) 422-6420

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 9:40:50 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sharon Hanna (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Sharon Hanna
10529 Balm Riverview Rd
Riverview, FL 33569-5515
(813) 363-5595

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 8:10:41 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Terry Gillingham (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Terry Gillingham
4465 77th Way N
St Petersburg, FL 33709-4419
(727) 368-1044

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 7:40:37 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Woods (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Woods
2070 Illinois Ave
Englewood, FL 34224-5447
(941) 474-0903

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Sunday, April 13, 2014 at 2:40:09 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Henry (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Henry
14730 NE 10th Ave
North Miami, FL 33161-2454
(786) 255-3964

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:35:34 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Tom Jenkins (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Tom Jenkins
97 Matanzas Ave
Saint Augustine, FL 32080-7159

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:05:30 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Gautiero (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Gautiero
8022 E Gospel Island Rd
Inverness, FL 34450-2717

Subject: Approve Alternative #5

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 8:40:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Frank Heikamp, Jr

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I want preserve our recreational fishing for it to be worth while not only for current anglers but future anglers as well.

Sincerely,

Frank Heikamp Jr
1713 Crepe Myrtle Dr
Rayne, LA 70578

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 6:04:31 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: michael sterner (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. michael sterner
104 Sunset Ln
Hamburg, PA 19526-1137
(610) 562-9613

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 5:04:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mark Boyer (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Mark Boyer
2405 Hopkins St
Orange Park, FL 32073-5310
(904) 278-7137

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 5:04:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William McAllister (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates. Today that is not the case. As a long time recreational fisherman, I can attest to the huge increase in red snapper numbers while I am out on the water fishing. In fact, most of the time it is difficult to catch anything but red snapper due to the large number of fish making it hard to catch grouper, other snappers, etc.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. William McAllister
140 Onlake Dr
Kingston, TN 37763-5046
(865) 376-7297

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 4:33:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: mark edwards (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. mark edwards
6976us hwy 45 s
oshkosh, WI 54902
(920) 933-4482

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 4:33:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Serdynski (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Serdynski
14001 Vivian Dr
Madeira Beach, FL 33708-2218
(727) 459-5593

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:59:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: stephen Buccafusca (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Stephen Buccafusca
266 Glenhill Ave
Yonkers, NY 10701-5613
(914) 709-0281

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:59:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jeffrey Fisher (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jeffrey Fisher
3013 W Vina Del Mar Blvd
St Pete Beach, FL 33706-2739
(813) 629-3652

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:29:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James ZOLLER (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James ZOLLER
6464 7th Avenue Cir W
Bradenton, FL 34209-4128
(941) 792-7222

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:29:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James ZOLLER (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James ZOLLER
6464 7th Avenue Cir W
Bradenton, FL 34209-4128
(941) 792-7222

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 12:29:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: ERICK WAKEFIELD (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. ERICK WAKEFIELD
PO Box 22894
West Palm Beach, FL 33416-2894
(561) 656-5205

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 12:29:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Timothy Roberts (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Timothy Roberts
1104 John E Sullivan Rd
Byron, GA 31008-5610
(478) 956-5222

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 12:29:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dion Robb (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Dion Robb
7393 Frankfort St
Navarre, FL 32566-7729
(850) 939-3266

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 11:59:00 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Josh Rounds (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Josh Rounds
19204 Chardonnay Ave
Baton Rouge, LA 70817-7670

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 11:28:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sean Ashcraft (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Sean Ashcraft
54106 Huckleberry Ln
Callahan, FL 32011-7621
(904) 254-6212

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 10:58:56 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: PAULA ZOLLER (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. PAULA ZOLLER
6464 7th Avenue Cir W
Bradenton, FL 34209-4128
(941) 792-7222

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 10:58:56 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: john gibson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. john gibson
PO Box 692
Orange Beach, AL 36561-0692
(251) 952-8261

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 10:58:56 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Tucker (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Tucker
67 Highpoint Dr
Gulf Breeze, FL 32561-4078
(850) 572-9052

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 10:28:50 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Moubray (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Moubray
1907 W Elkton Rd
Hamilton, OH 45013-9694
(513) 668-0967

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:58:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Anthony Kaylor (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Anthony Kaylor
2016 Allyson Dr
Heartland, TX 75126-8295
(214) 422-2891

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:58:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Greene (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Greene
601 12th St W
Bradenton, FL 34205-7414
(941) 747-1871

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:58:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bill Boswell (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bill Boswell
28107 Perdido Beach Blvd
Apt D716
Orange Beach, AL 36561-8235
(251) 609-1105

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:58:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Guest (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Guest
6900 Buckhorn Dr
Columbus, GA 31904-2510
(706) 442-5889

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:58:46 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ed Hale (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ed Hale
2555 Amberjack Ct
Pensacola, FL 32526-1501

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:28:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Roth (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Roth
11345 4th St E
Treasure Island, FL 33706-3007
(845) 701-9343

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:28:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Melquiades Lopez (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Melquiades Lopez
1360 Holly Ave
Merritt Island, FL 32952-5883
(321) 258-8906

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:28:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Monica Torres (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Monica Torres
1869 SE 19th St
Homestead, FL 33035-1989
(305) 431-7020

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:28:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ron Crowder (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ron Crowder
5409 Manatee Ave W
Bradenton, FL 34209-3746
(941) 792-9855

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:28:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Thomas Gunn (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Gunn
1517 SE 43rd St
Topeka, KS 66609-1764
(785) 249-0764

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 9:28:44 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Howard Skinner (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Howard Skinner
254 County Road 319
Crane Hill, AL 35053-4314
(256) 747-1549

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 8:28:34 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: RAYMOND SCHRODT (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. RAYMOND SCHRODT
7057 Cloverdale Ln
Columbus, OH 43235-4287
(614) 717-0274

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 8:28:34 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: michael richard (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. michael richard
PO Box 10311
Houston, TX 77206-0311
(832) 228-6976

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 7:58:29 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Howard Murrell (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Howard Murrell
2827 Silverleaf Ln
Naples, FL 34105-3032
(239) 213-0808

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 7:58:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Melinda Crosby (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Melinda Crosby
1120 Classic Dr
Valrico, FL 33594-6611
(813) 833-5969

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 7:28:25 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Timothy Kapolnek (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Timothy Kapolnek
4325 Home Ave
Berwyn, IL 60402-4315

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 6:58:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Feipe Cruz (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Feipe Cruz
170 County Road 2721
Mico, TX 78056-5486
(210) 884-6732

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 6:58:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Patrick Jordan (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Patrick Jordan
136 E Seaview Ave
Linwood, NJ 08221-2138
(609) 927-9697

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 6:28:20 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Deb Day (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Deb Day
501 Center St
Jupiter, FL 33458-4320

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 5:58:18 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: fausto de Alba (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. fausto de Alba
3626 Richardson Rd
Crestview, FL 32539-7223
(850) 246-1361

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:58:00 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: BRUCE RUTHERFORD (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. BRUCE RUTHERFORD
1217 Plum St
Steubenville, OH 43952-2551

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:27:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Julius Mabile (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Julius Mabile
4200 Highway 70 S
Pierre Part, LA 70339-4466
(225) 937-7640

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 1:27:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: paul zuest (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock. I believe any action to improve recreation fishing puts much needed dollars into our economy and also pays into fees and taxes helping govt too. thank you for your support. Paul Zuest IV

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. paul zuest
fulton 464
klamath falls, OR 97601
(541) 281-0807

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 12:57:53 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: George Wight (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. George Wight
1800 Athens Ln
Antioch, CA 94509-6821
(925) 757-0292

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 12:57:53 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: paul zuest (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. paul zuest
fulton 464
klamath falls, OR 97601
(541) 281-0807

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, April 12, 2014 at 12:27:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Travis Petty (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Travis Petty
3512 Weaver Falls Ln
Loganville, GA 30052-8912
(770) 778-2531

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:57:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronald Melanson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ronald Melanson
1251 SE 27th St Unit 101
Homestead, FL 33035-2315
(786) 339-8961

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:57:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Charles Grana (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Charles Grana
3704 Hyde Park Dr
Fort Myers, FL 33905-7756
(239) 337-1489

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:27:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Amy Mathews (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Amy Mathews
18025 Broadview Dr
Springdale, AR 72764-8872

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:27:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Steven Gadra (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Steven Gadra
293 Armor Ct
Powder Spgs, GA 30127-6242
(770) 590-0780

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 10:57:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Joe Grabowski (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joe Grabowski
29 Fox Hill Rd
Branchville, NJ 07826-4307
(973) 948-2692

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 10:57:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Janet Baggett (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Janet Baggett
312 Brooks St SE
Fort Walton Beach, FL 32548-7233
(850) 240-4298

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 10:27:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Danny Gholson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Danny Gholson
164 Miller County 405
Fouke, AR 71837-9395
(870) 653-6164

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 9:27:37 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: EDWARD JOHNSON (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. EDWARD JOHNSON
1375 Knight Rd
Urbana, OH 43078-9232
(937) 484-3534

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 9:27:37 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ted Ricci (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ted Ricci
12546 Ballard Drive
Willis Wharf, VA 23486

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 9:27:37 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Marino (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Marino
91 Saint James Dr
Webster, NY 14580-2247
(585) 671-3645

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 8:57:32 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lee Anarino (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lee Anarino
102 2nd Ave
Baltimore, MD 21225-2713
(410) 789-9166

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 8:57:32 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Nick Nichols (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Nick Nichols
1612 Poinciana Dr
El Cajon, CA 92021-1143
(619) 258-9833

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 8:27:27 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Anthony Leonard (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Anthony Leonard
102 County Road 281
Sullivan, OH 44880-9733
(216) 403-4233

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 8:27:27 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Jackson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Jackson
3255 Rauschenberg Rd NW
Dalton, GA 30721-7712
(706) 847-1157

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 8:27:27 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Madden (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Madden
441 Crested View Dr
Loganville, GA 30052-5418
(770) 352-4935

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 8:27:27 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ryan plotkin (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ryan plotkin
9 Christopher Rd
Voorhees, NJ 08043-1678
(856) 651-8186

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 8:27:27 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Eric Morrow (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Eric Morrow
3249 Joshua Ln
Chincoteague, VA 23336-1318
(757) 336-6951

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 7:57:22 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Curtis Kirkland (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Curtis Kirkland
15579 Three Otters Pl
Manassas, VA 20112-5425
(202) 345-4432

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 7:27:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Barbara Petz (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Barbara Petz
6007 Beneva Rd
Sarasota, FL 34238-2506
(941) 927-3251

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 7:27:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Branca (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Branca
4464 E Riverside Dr
Fort Myers, FL 33905-2951
(239) 826-8594

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:57:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Wayne Vandommelen (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Wayne Vandommelen
2530 144th Ave
Dorr, MI 49323-9706
(616) 901-8427

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:57:17 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jens M. Jensen (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jens M. Jensen
1611 Highway 49 E
Charlotte, TN 37036-5447
(615) 789-0097

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:57:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: banks pope (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. banks pope
9575 Pharris Ln
Kimberly, AL 35091-3005
(205) 627-6066

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:27:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Stan Koropka (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Stan Koropka
611 Marvel Rd
Milford, DE 19963-1737
(302) 265-2057

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:27:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jeff Rader (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jeff Rader
1514 SE Courtney Rd
Oak Grove, OR 97222-8405
(503) 305-6216

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:27:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: patricia makowski (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. patricia makowski
10355 SW 112th St
Miami, FL 33176-3423

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:27:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronald Meredith (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Please take another look at the percentages. Please give the recreational angler an equal share.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ronald Meredith
454 Mower Rd
Chambersburg, PA 17202-8150
(717) 414-4555

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 6:27:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jose Castrillon Henao (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jose Castrillon Henao
8231 Indigo Ridge Ter
Bradenton, FL 34201-2059
(305) 546-4675

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 5:57:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Hilbert Smith (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Hilbert Smith
654 Wesley Cir
Toccoa, GA 30577-8617
(706) 886-5497

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 5:57:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jimmie Jennings (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jimmie Jennings
9746 Old Plank Rd
Jacksonville, FL 32220-1334
(904) 502-8481

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 5:57:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Raymond Isom (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Raymond Isom
3747 Bay Rd
Street, MD 21154-1403
(443) 424-0022

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 5:57:12 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Joseph Walsh (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joseph Walsh
5031 SW 8th Pl
Cape Coral, FL 33914-7395
(239) 549-7059

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:57:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Alvin Sommerer (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Alvin Sommerer
1731 Piney Grove Rd
Loganville, GA 30052-3614
(678) 478-8956

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:57:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jill Carraway (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Jill Carraway
5121 Martin Luther King Jr Hwy
Greenville, NC 27834-8613

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:57:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Larry Hunt (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Larry Hunt
20 Old Kirk Rd
Temple, GA 30179-3151

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:57:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Timothy Gondeck (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Timothy Gondeck
1530 Inner Dr

Niles, MI 49120-3864
(269) 687-5234

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:57:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jim Ferris (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jim Ferris
3916 Jim Bowie Rd # 2

Agoura Hills, CA 91301-3606
(818) 889-7474

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Coca (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Coca

11309 Largo Dr
Savannah, GA 31419-1325

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Alex Vlahos (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Alex Vlahos

29885 Heron Ct
Orange Beach, AL 36561-3644

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Martin (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Martin
800 Rook Rd
Ochlocknee, GA 31773-1375
(229) 226-6259

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Craig Carpenter (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Craig Carpenter
744 Main St
Sewell, NJ 08080-4546

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: MARIO LUCIBELLO (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. MARIO LUCIBELLO
12 Apple Tree Ter
West Haven, CT 06516-6603
(203) 932-3422

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Joseph Gauta (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

My entire family, immediate and extended, and all the friends I know fish regularly. We spend lots of money on gas, boats, equipment, hotels, marinas, and everything involved in touching the boating industry which leads to so much in taxes that can be used to better our fisheries and our states. Please seriously consider the importance of this amendment to recreational fishermen like myself. Fishing is my life, and it is the way that I make memories with my family. To close the snapper season early means to remove the joy and happiness that my family derives from the catch of a great fish for the dinner table. Please remember all the recreational fisherman who support you and the entire fishing industry when making your decisions about this amendment.

Sincerely,

Dr. Joseph Gauta
5822 Spanish Oaks Ln
Naples, FL 34119-1154
(239) 269-0502

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28
Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Art Favre (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)
To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Art Favre
610 Highland Crossing St
Baton Rouge, LA 70810-5819
(225) 215-8270

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William LeJeune (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William LeJeune
1389 Albatross Rd
Sanibel, FL 33957-3601

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Heather Day (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Heather Day
1688 Chamblee Gap Rd
Cumming, GA 30040-5114

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Sabrina Bayhi (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Sabrina Bayhi
9901 Pecue Ln
Baton Rouge, LA 70810-3502

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Irvin Washington (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Irvin Washington
8905 Beacon Hill Ave
Mount Dora, FL 32757-8877
(352) 357-9953

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jay Bonewit (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jay Bonewit
4623 Neptune Dr SE
St Petersburg, FL 33705-4236
(727) 512-4369

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 4:27:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Takacs (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Takacs
427 Avenida Vaquero
San Clemente, CA 92672-3612
(949) 456-1166

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 3:57:08 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Trudeau (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Trudeau
2819 SW 34th Ter
Cape Coral, FL 33914-4765
(845) 325-7592

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 3:57:08 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lamar Garrett (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lamar Garrett
3080 Governors Ave
Duluth, GA 30096-3566
(770) 656-4065

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 3:57:08 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Olsen (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed

initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Olsen
7300 Doe Run Rd
St Augustine, FL 32095-8336
(904) 824-1081

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 3:57:08 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Duane Gilmore (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock. Not to mention the economic impact of the recreational fisherman is huge compared to the minimal or no economic benefit from commercial fishermen.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Duane Gilmore
PO Box 249
Mary Esther, FL 32569-0249
(850) 244-3387

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 3:57:08 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Sullivan (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf

Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Sullivan
1942 Jonna Dr
Carrabelle, FL 32322-3051
(518) 928-4156

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Mcpherson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Mcpherson
112 Youngblood Rd
Troy, AL 36079-2973
(334) 770-0777

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Hooker Hailstone (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Hooker Hailstone
36033 NE 80th St
Carnation, WA 98014-6501
(425) 333-4442

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Norvell (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

The economic impact per pound of fish caught is far greater on the recreational side than it is on the commercial side.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Norvell
123 Pryor Dr
Mary Esther, FL 32569-1881
(850) 865-9391

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: George Bull Jr (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. George Bull Jr
1937 Sevilla Blvd W
Atlantic Beach, FL 32233-4578
(904) 246-4469

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Hall (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Hall
323 Eunice Rd
Lakeland, FL 33803-2615
(863) 687-3667

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Daniel Parrish (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Daniel Parrish
4809 Old Timber Ridge Rd NE
Marietta, GA 30068-1683
(404) 861-2740

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Hamilton (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

We travel to Florida multiple times a year, just to fish for this wonderful fish -> Red Snapper.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Hamilton
205 Hidden Brook Dr
Sweetwater, TN 37874-5818

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Stevan Brown (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Stevan Brown
24 Noyes St
Portland, ME 04103-4426
(978) 626-1375

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dennis Skelley (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Dennis Skelley
747 Bradberry Crk
Evans, GA 30809-4049
(706) 231-8002

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mike Young (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Mike Young
240 Avalon Blvd
Miramar Beach, FL 32550-3847
(850) 650-6594

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gwynn Saunders (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Gwynn Saunders
628 Hummingbird Ct
Jacksonville, FL 32259-4315
(904) 382-8973

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 11:56:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Marvin Nolen (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Marvin Nolen
2916 Whites Draft Rd
White Sulphur Springs, WV 24986-2078
(304) 536-1859

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Friday, April 11, 2014 at 12:19:57 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Kim Bradley
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015— and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Thank you for all you do for the great state of Texas.

Sincerely,
Kim Bradley

Kim Bradley
177 Shannon Rdg
Floresville, TX 78114

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Thursday, April 10, 2014 at 11:35:03 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mark A. Keller

To: Gulf Council

Gulf Council,

I am opposed to reallocation of red snapper quota to the recreational fishermen. When the IFQ system was first put in place the red snapper catch limit was cut in half because this fishery was over fished. DEven though the recreational sector is continually catching more than their legal annual quota, the red snapper population has rebounded due to conservation practices that the commercial fishermen have strictly adhered to.

The increase of red snapper population in the Gulf has benefited commercial and recreational fishermen alike. The overall quota is now higher than when the IFQ System was first initiated. This increase in red snapper population can only be attributed to the commercial fishermen's good stewardship of this precious resource. There is no reason to believe that giving a higher percentage of quota to a group that has continually caught more than their allotted share could ever benefit the fish population. It would make more sense to give a larger share to those who have been good stewards of this resource, therefore if there is to be a change in the allotment, the commercial sector should be given a larger portion, definitely not the recreational sector.

Keeping the current balance between the commercial and recreational red snapper harvest will help ensure that the population recovery will continue and red snapper will remain a sustainable resource for everyone. Please do not upset this balance by changing a system that is working and is benefiting everyone.

Thank you,
Mark A. Keller
IFQ Shareholder

April 9, 2014

Doug Boyd, Chairman
Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council
2203 N Lois Avenue, Suite 1100
Tampa, Florida 33607

Re: Accountability Measures for the Recreational Sector

Dear Mr. Boyd:

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council (“Council”) is currently evaluating accountability measures for the recreational red snapper fishery consistent with the court’s decision in Guindon v. Pritzker, --- F. Supp. 2d ---, 2014 WL 1274076 (D.D.C. Mar. 26, 2014). We urge the Council to avoid establishing such accountability measures through Amendment 28. Amendment 28 would reallocate quota to the recreational sector from the commercial sector. It is the wrong vehicle for implementing recreational accountability measures.

Recreational Accountability Measures Should Not Be Established Through Amendment 28

The Council must first determine whether new accountability measures for the recreational fishery are effective in ensuring compliance with the recreational sector’s catch limits before any reallocation of quota can be considered.

In the Guindon case, the court held that the failure to implement sufficient accountability measures to constrain the recreational catch to the recreational quota violated several provisions of the Magnuson-Stevens Act (“MSA”). Among other violations, the court found that Section 407(d) of MSA “required NMFS to implement measures with a fighting chance of ‘resulting in a prohibition on the retention of fish’” once the recreational quota has been met, and that “[f]ailing to do so was arbitrary and capricious.” 2014 WL 1274076 at *18. The court also found, based upon “persistent overages and high management uncertainty” in the recreational sector, that the “existing [management] scheme does not ‘ensure accountability’ within the meaning of Section 303(a)(15).” Id. at *23. The court further held that tolerance of recreational overharvesting resulted in a de facto reallocation in violation of the Reef Fish FMP and MSA National Standard 4, stating that, “[w]hen an agency blinds itself to the high likelihood that its actions will cause overharvesting, the Court cannot characterize those actions as ‘reasonably calculated to promote conservation’” as required. Id.

If the new recreational accountability measures are ineffective in constraining recreational catch to the quota, then reallocating more fish to the recreational sector will only exacerbate the legal violations the Guindon court identified: overharvesting will continue or get worse, fishing mortality will increase, stock rebuilding will be affected, and the illegal de facto reallocation that has already occurred will continue. Management uncertainty remains extremely high for the recreational sector. Just yesterday, Dr. Crabtree indicated that his staff's own estimates of the probability of the recreational sector exceeding its quota under various management buffers likely underestimated the risk of overharvesting due to the high degree of management uncertainty.

These two separate regulatory actions – accountability measures and reallocation – should not be combined; the effectiveness of the accountability measures could be undermined by reallocating more quota to a sector where management uncertainty is high. The inclusion of a “payback” provision where an overage is deducted from the following year's quota may rectify the problem for a single year, but cannot be counted on as a long-term strategy to avoid overages in the first place. The Council must first determine whether it has effectively addressed the accountability problem in the recreational fishery before it can evaluate whether to reallocate more quota to that sector.

Amendment 28 Is Fatally Flawed and Requires Much More Work

Amendment 28 is also the wrong vehicle for implementing accountability measures because of the flaws in that amendment that require substantial additional work to fix. In particular, the economic justification for Amendment 28 relies on a study that does not apply to the substantial, non-marginal reallocations being proposed, and much more work is required to ensure that any reallocation is economically justified.

The Council is relying solely upon an economic study prepared by Juan Agar and David Carter of the Southeast Fisheries Science Center to economically justify the reallocation alternatives in Amendment 28. Numerous stakeholders, including the Council's Socioeconomic Scientific and Statistical Committee (“SESSC”), have raised concerns about using this study. Messrs. Agar and Carter have expressed the same reservations about their own work. The SESSC accepted this methodology by only one vote, which was cast by an ineligible member with a conflict of interest.

A recent paper by Dr. Dennis King (a former Pacific Council SSC member) and Lawrence Buc discusses the limitations of the Agar/Carter study and explains why further analysis is required to justify any reallocation of the red snapper quota. The paper (copy attached) was funded by commercial fishermen and industry participants. In summary, the paper concludes:

The Agar/Carter study does not provide an economic justification for the significant reallocations proposed in Amendment 28 to the Gulf Reef Fish FMP. The study uses two very different methodologies for measuring the economic gains and losses in the commercial and recreational fisheries from reallocation. The study then uses the very limited results of these two methodologies to make a comparison that overstates the benefits to the recreational sector while ignoring many costs on the commercial side. For the reasons discussed below, the Agar/Carter study does not provide a reliable assessment of the changes in net benefits that would result from the non-marginal quota reallocations proposed in Amendment 28.”

The serious questions raised by the SESSC, this paper, and Messrs. Agar and Carter themselves regarding the economic justifications underlying reallocation must be addressed before the Council can proceed with Amendment 28. Additional analysis is required to ensure that any reallocation is justified, and we understand that the SESSC is being re-convened to re-examine some of these very issues. Other upcoming events, such as the MRIP calibration workshop scheduled for September 2014, could also affect the analysis supporting Amendment 28.

Implementation of recreational accountability measures must be a priority. Tying those measures to a flawed Amendment 28 risks undue delay.

Amendment 28 Is Not the Solution to Problems in the Recreational Fishery

Instead of expending time and resources on reallocation, the Council instead should focus on new management approaches to increase access and flexibility in the recreational fishery by achieving real accountability.

Under the Preferred Alternative in Amendment 28, approximately 500,000 pounds of red snapper quota would be reallocated to the recreational sector in 2015. Combined with new recreational accountability measures, it is our understanding that this quantity of fish would allow only one additional fishing day for the recreational sector. Reallocation simply does not offer the solutions the recreational sector needs. For years the for-hire sector has begged the Council to implement measures like real-time data collection which would boost accountability and management flexibility for that sector. The Council should no longer ignore these pleas.

The commercial sector at one time faced problems similar to those now facing the recreational sector. We overcame those problems – not through buffers and paybacks – but by implementing a new management system that tied increased access and flexibility with full accountability. Now we do not need a buffer, because there is no management uncertainty in the commercial sector, and we can fish 365 days a year. Similar solutions await the recreational sector. Now is the time to explore them.

Recreational Accountability Measures Could Be Added to Amendment 40

If the Council wants to incorporate accountability measures into an amendment currently under development, it should use Amendment 40, which would partition the recreational sector into distinct subsectors. Amendment 40 is an appropriate vehicle because the different recreational subsectors have different degrees of management uncertainty, and so should be subject to different accountability measures.

The court in Guindon recognized that “the [NMFS] guidelines ‘clearly favor’ sector-specific [accountability measures], Oceana v. Locke, 831 F. Supp. 2d at 117, because as this case demonstrates, imposing a restriction on an entire fishery to accommodate management uncertainty in one sector may penalize fishermen in another.” 2014 WL 1274076 at *22 n.22. While the court was referring to the differences in management uncertainty between the commercial and recreational sectors, the same rationale applies to subsectors within the recreational fishery. Indeed, NMFS guidelines define a “sector” as “a distinct user group to which separate management strategies and separate catch quotas apply.” 50 C.F.R. § 600.310(f)(5)(ii). That definition applies to the distinct user groups (i.e., for-hire and private angler components) in the recreational fishery.

The for-hire component of the recreational sector is already limited access and so fishing effort is effectively capped (compared to the private angler component, which is open access and where effort appears to be rapidly increasing). For-hire vessels could readily adopt near-real time reporting of catches and other measures – many of which have been specifically requested from the Council by participants in the for-hire sector for years – to demonstrate accountability with catch limits. Imposing a management restriction like a buffer on the entire recreational sector to accommodate management uncertainty that exists primarily in the private angler component penalizes the for-hire component, an outcome that is inconsistent with the court’s ruling in Guindon. Similarly, the for-hire component should not be required to pay back overages caused by the private angler component.

Amendment 40 is therefore a natural place to incorporate recreational accountability measures. Adding accountability measures to Amendment 40 would enhance the effectiveness of such measures because they could be specifically tailored to the components within the recreational sector as NMFS guidelines recommend. By contrast, as discussed above, incorporating recreational accountability measures into Amendment 28 risks undermining their effectiveness and could result in a delay as the other problems with that amendment must first be addressed.

* * * * *

For the above reasons, we respectfully urge the Council not to incorporate recreational accountability measures into Amendment 28, but to implement them through a stand-alone FMP amendment or as part of Amendment 40. We request that this letter and its attachment be included in the Administrative Record for Amendments 28 and 40.

Thank you for considering our comments.

Sincerely,

Buddy Guindon
Wayne Werner
Donny Waters

cc:

Dr. Roy Crabtree, NMFS Southeast Regional Administrator
Mara Levy, Office of NOAA General Counsel

The Agar and Carter study does not provide economic justification for reallocation of the Gulf of Mexico red snapper quota as proposed by Amendment 28; more work is required.

By
Dennis M. King, Ph.D.
University of Maryland and King and Associates, Inc.
and
Lawrence G. Buc
SLS Consulting, Inc.

ABSTRACT

The Agar/Carter study does not provide an economic justification for the significant reallocations proposed in Amendment 28 to the Gulf Reef Fish FMP. The study uses two very different methodologies for measuring the economic gains and losses in the commercial and recreational fisheries from reallocation. The study then uses the very limited results of these two methodologies to make a comparison that overstates the benefits to the recreational sector while ignoring many costs on the commercial side. For the reasons discussed below, the Agar/Carter study does not provide a reliable assessment of the changes in net benefits that would result from the non-marginal quota reallocations proposed in Amendment 28.

Unavoidable data and model limitations prevented Agar/Carter from addressing many important costs and benefits, and from generating credible estimates of the few measures of costs and benefits they did address.

On the commercial side, the Agar/Carter study ignores losses in value-added seafood processing and distribution sectors (producer surplus) and the effects of reduced red snapper supplies and higher prices on seafood consumers (consumer surplus) and assumes, without evidence, that U.S. seafood consumers are indifferent between fresh, locally caught red snapper and inferior seafood substitutes. The study also ignores losses to most commercial fishermen, including many skippers and all crewmen, who do not own quotas but earn their livings through “crewshares” that are based on the landed value of the commercial harvest.

On the recreational side, the Agar/Carter study overstates gains to anglers by relying on results of a sportfishing survey taken of anglers, not all of whom resided in Gulf states, which are known to overestimate “willingness to pay,” and by failing to adjust for sampling bias. In addition, the consumption value of red snapper to anglers—the value of eating their catch—appears to account for a predominant portion of anglers’ “willingness to pay” and was factored into the recreational analysis, even though it was excluded from the commercial analysis.

This paper discusses the limitations of the Agar/Carter study, illustrates differences in estimates of efficiency gains and losses that would result if the study were improved, and explains why further analyses using additional data and new models are required to justify any reallocation of the red snapper quota.

The conclusions drawn in this paper are consistent with the limitations in the Agar/Carter study that were identified by the authors themselves and expressed in the motions passed by the SE-SSC after reviewing the study.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Under Amendment 28, the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council (the “Council”) is considering seven options for allocating the annual Gulf red snapper quota among commercial and recreational fishermen. One option maintains the status quo; all of the other options allocate less of the allowable harvest to commercial fishermen and more to recreational fishermen.

Under the Magnuson-Stevens Act (MSA) “quota allocation decisions are expected to address issues of efficiency and fairness” (NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-NWFSC-115). In addition, under MSA National Standard 2, all management actions must be based upon the best scientific information available.

A 2013 study by Juan Agar and David Carter (“Agar/Carter”) purported to measure the economic efficiency gains—sometimes called the net economic benefits—of reallocation options by comparing estimates of commercial and recreational fishermen’s “willingness to pay” (WTP) for catch allocations. In recognition of significant data and modeling limitations and the narrow scope of their analysis to these two specific measures of gains and losses, the authors repeatedly warn in their study that their analytical results are not suitable for justifying nonmarginal reallocations, and that more data and more analyses would be needed to guide the Council’s reallocation decisions.

In late 2013 and early 2014, the Council’s Socio-Economic Scientific and Statistical Committee (SE-SSC) reviewed the Agar/Carter study. The SE-SSC narrowly voted to accept the Agar/Carter methodology, subject to two important caveats. The SE-SSC urged the Council to “consider the suite of other socio-economic net benefits...that aren’t captured in Agar/Carter,” and “to consider the limitations of the data used in the Agar/Carter analysis.”

This report describes technical problems with the Agar/Carter study and explains why these problems should prevent the study from being used to support any non-marginal reallocation of red snapper quota. Using the results from Agar/Carter to justify quota reallocations would have far reaching and as yet unstudied adverse economic impacts related not only to the commercial fishing sector, but also to seafood processors, retailers, and consumers.

The problems with the Agar/Carter study stem from the narrow focus of the analysis, the assumptions that were required because adequate data were unavailable to correctly apply the methodology, and because the data that were used to apply the methodology were developed for very different purposes.

The fundamental problem with the Agar/Carter study is that it compares partial measures of economic losses on the commercial side with overestimates of gains on the recreational side to conclude that a reallocation would produce net economic benefits. Several factors render the value measures employed on the commercial and recreational sectors non-comparable, which cause the results of the study to be unreliable.

First, many costs of reducing the commercial sector’s allocation were excluded from the analysis but should have been considered, such as economic losses in the value-added supply chain, economic losses to fishermen whose crewshare earnings are directly tied to trip profits, and the potential losses to consumers of red snapper because of reduced supplies and higher prices.

Second, the Agar/Carter study compares actual lease prices paid for red snapper quotas in the Gulf of Mexico commercial fishery (known as “revealed” WTP) with the results of a decade-old survey of recreational headboat anglers, not all of whom fished in the Gulf, which involved asking them to first envision themselves in a variety of hypothetical fishing situations and then answer questions about what they believe they would be willing to pay to catch another red snapper (known as “expressed” WTP). These methodologies are two very different ways of measuring value, were applied in very different contexts, and may not even address the same stock of red snapper. Results from these two studies should not be compared directly with one another without significantly more justification than was provided in Agar/Carter.

Third, the recreational sector analysis included gains in “consumption value”—the value derived from eating fish—while losses in consumption value were excluded from the commercial sector analysis. This is significant because it appears that consumption value may comprise the predominant portion of an angler’s expressed willingness to pay for red snapper. Including this value on the recreational side but not the commercial side biased the study’s results.

Fourth, significant data and model limitations prevented the study from addressing many important pathways of benefits and costs, which render study results incomplete and unreliable.

Fifth, the Agar/Carter study did not examine economic issues of fairness and equity resulting from reallocation. For example, significant factors affecting recreational angler’s WTP for more access to red snapper include income, wealth, and the availability of leisure time. Some accounting of these factors should have been included in the recreational valuation exercise.

Finally, the Agar/Carter study has limited practical application to Amendment 28. The study assumed that “no new anglers will start fishing and existing anglers will not change the number of trips they take when the season is extended” as a result of reallocation. This assumption seems to conflict with a fundamental purpose of Amendment 28.

Also, because the recreational fishing is open access, even if one were to accept all the study’s findings, the study provides no assurance that anglers who value red snapper the most will actually be the ones harvesting the reallocated quota. The study, therefore, provides no evidence that reallocation will generate net economic benefits or result in combinations of gains and losses that are fair and equitable.

The Agar/Carter study does not provide an economic justification for the significant reallocations proposed in Amendment 28 to the Gulf Reef Fish FMP. More work is required.

The Agar and Carter study does not provide adequate economic justification for reallocation of the Gulf of Mexico red snapper quota as proposed by Amendment 28; more work is required.

By
Dennis M. King, Ph.D.
University of Maryland and King and Associates, Inc.
and
Lawrence G. Buc
SLS Consulting, Inc.

SECTION 1: INTRODUCTION

Under Amendment 28 to the Reef Fish Fishery Management Plan (“Amendment 28”) the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council is considering seven options for allocating the annual Gulf red snapper quota among commercial and recreational fishermen.

Option 1, the status quo, maintains the current allocation with 51 percent of the allowable harvest allocated to commercial fishermen and 49 percent to recreational fishermen. All of the other options allocate less of the allowable harvest to commercial fishermen and more to recreational fishermen. Most reallocation options significantly reduce the commercial share of harvest. Some, for example, reallocate 75 percent of the quota above 9.12 million pounds and/or 100 percent of any increase in the quota above 11 million pounds to the recreational sector. Reallocations like these, which amount to millions of pounds, are not “marginal” in any sense of the word; they are significant and substantial and will have far-reaching efficiency and fairness impacts.

The most drastic reallocations being considered, for example, would result in the commercial sector losing up to 1 million pounds of annual quota, assuming an 11 million-pound total quota. This is equivalent to a 25 percent reduction in the 2012 commercial harvest of 4.036 million pounds, and an 18 percent reduction in the 2013 commercial quota of 5.610 million pounds. Less dramatic reallocation options, or ones that are not imposed until the overall quota is increased, will also have potentially far-reaching economic impacts. These impacts will be related not only to lost earnings in the commercial fishing sector, but also economic losses to local seafood processors, restaurants and retailers, as well as U.S. seafood consumers.

A recent study by Juan Agar and David Carter, “Economic Analysis of Red Snapper Allocation Alternatives for Amendment 28 to the Gulf of Mexico Reef Fish FMP” (Agar/Carter, 2013) attempted to “measure the net economic benefits of these reallocation options” by comparing estimates of commercial and recreational fishermen’s “willingness to pay” (WTP) for catch allocations. WTP by commercial and recreational fishermen was estimated using very different methodologies, assumptions, and data. For example, WTP in the recreational fishery implicitly included the value anglers place on consuming as well as catching red snapper, but consumption value was explicitly excluded on the commercial side.

Commercial fishermen’s WTP for an additional one-pound allocation was estimated to be about $3 based on the prices that some quota owners have actually paid to buy or lease quota allocations from other owners. However, this approach to valuation focuses only on vessel owners and permit holders and excludes the value of quota allocations to the many commercial fishermen who work on vessels they do not own and are paid “crewshares” based on the landed value of the catch. Even if the valuation exercise was limited to the harvesting sector, it would have been reasonable to assume that these fishermen, who may collectively receive crewshares of up to 25 percent of the landed value of the catch, would be willing to pay something to protect commercial quota allocations. On the other hand, recreational fishermen's WTP for an additional one-pound allocation was estimated to be about $10 based on an analysis of results from a 2003 survey of recreational fishermen that was designed to determine their preferences for various types of fishing experiences (e.g., higher daily bag limits versus more fishing days).

Based on a comparison of these two narrowly focused WTP estimates, roughly $3 per pound for quota owners and $10 per pound for recreational fishermen, the Agar/Carter study reached the conclusion that "the net economic benefit of reallocation is roughly proportional to the share allocated to the recreational sector." A review of the Agar/Carter study indicates that this conclusion is clearly a result of the limited focus of the economic analysis and severe data and model limitations that required Agar/Carter to make simplifying assumptions in order to apply their chosen methodology.

In this paper, we describe significant analytical problems with the study and why its results should not be used to assess and compare the economic costs and benefits of reallocation alternatives under Amendment 28. These problems are primarily a result of data and models not being available to apply the accepted methodology for making valid economic comparisons of economic gains and losses in these fisheries. These limitations prevented Agar/Carter from focusing on the full range of lost values associated with reallocating quota to recreational fishers (e.g., effects on crew members, fishing communities, seafood markets, restaurants, seafood consumers, working waterfronts, people who value working waterfronts, etc.). They also resulted in Agar/Carter using non-comparable measures of economic gains and losses in commercial and recreational fisheries to estimate economic efficiency and net benefit impacts.

More work is required to justify the non-marginal reallocations under consideration. Agar/Carter expressly disclaim their study's suitability for assessing or comparing changes in net economic efficiency resulting from other than marginal changes. The unavailability of both the data and models to examine the full range of reallocation costs and benefits does not justify claims that the limited analysis presented in the Agar/Carter study is the "best available" scientific basis for assessing reallocation options. The Agar/Carter study, by its own terms, does not purport to provide a scientific basis for assessing net economic gains from nonmarginal reallocation options.

Following this introduction, the paper has two additional sections:

Section 2: Background describes the range of economic benefits and costs that would need to be considered to determine the net economic benefits of allocating more of the red snapper quota to recreational fishermen. It also describes why comparing what is known as "revealed WTP" in commercial fisheries (e.g., how much some commercial fishermen have actually paid for an allocation) with what is known as "expressed WTP" (e.g., how much some recreational fishermen say they would be willing to pay for the opportunity to catch more red snapper) is not a sound basis for assessing the net economic benefits of reallocation.

Section 3: Deficiencies in the Agar/Carter Analysis describes the results of the study and the reasons why its focus and the assumptions and data used in the study make study results unsuitable for assessing the efficiency or fairness of reallocation alternatives under Amendment 28. This section describes why specific technical problems with the analysis seem to have been unavoidable because Agar/Carter did not have access to all the data that would have been required to avoid these problems. Agar/Carter acknowledge, and the review of the study by the Council’s SE-SSC confirms, that data limitations required the study to maintain a narrow focus that could not address all sources of costs and benefits associated with each option for reallocation. This section explains why the costs and benefits that were not addressed cannot be assumed to be $0 and why significantly more economic analysis would be needed to provide an economic justification for any proposed nonmarginal quota reallocations.

SECTION 2: BACKGROUND

The Agar/Carter Study is Not a Complete Efficiency Analysis

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) specifies that under the Magnuson-Stevens Act (MSA), “allocation decisions are expected to address issues of efficiency and fairness” (NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-NWFSC-115). In 2012, NOAA published guidelines for assessing and comparing the allocation of fishery harvests based on measures of efficiency that reflect “how well resources are used in production and consumption” and measures of fairness that reflect “the welfare of individuals vis-à-vis the welfare of other individuals.” The guidelines focused specifically on the principles that should be used for estimating net benefits when “limited harvests must be divided between commercial and recreational fishing sectors.” However, it also documented what it called “daunting” difficulties researchers would have putting those principles into practice in most fisheries because of inadequate data and limited budgets to collect and analyze data.¹

In principle, the net economic benefit of a good (a physical tangible item) or a service (work someone does) should be measured in terms of differences between what producers and consumers or users would be “willing to pay” for them and what they actually pay for them.² In the case of consumers, economists refer to this measure of net value as “consumer surplus,” and in the case of producers it is referred to as “producer surplus.” A full accounting of the net economic benefits of a reallocation of the allowable red snapper harvest from commercial to recreational fisheries would require estimating and then summing across all the expected increases and decreases in producer and consumer surplus that would result in both commercial and recreational fisheries.

In the case of the commercial fishing sector, this would be an enormous task because it would require estimating changes in producer surpluses not only at the harvesting level for quota owners and vessel skippers and crews, but also throughout the value-added supply chain that includes processing, distribution, and the grocery or restaurant sectors. Also, it would also require estimating declines in consumer surplus expected to be experienced by seafood consumers as a result of commercial fishermen having less quota and supplying less local fish to market.

Based on the relative wholesale and retail prices paid for red snapper and competing imported fish by restaurants and consumers, imported seafood and some other domestic fish may be viewed as inferior substitutes for red snapper. That means there would be losses to measure in these markets from reallocation even if full product substitution were possible. There are also likely to be people who would be willing to pay something (or would at least express a willingness to pay something in a survey similar to the one used by Agar/Carter to establish recreational benefits of red snapper fishing) to protect and support working seaports, harbors, and fishing communities and help them survive in the face of increasing competition from coastal development.

¹ NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-NWFSC-115 (pg. 8) “For the commercial harvesting sector, an important consideration is the fact that seafood passes through a series of potentially independent stages from harvest to final consumption. The economic value of allocating harvest to the commercial sector then depends on the value or WTP at each of these states.” and (pg. 20) “The data requirements for a fully realized analysis of allocation efficiency are daunting.”

² In fisheries, an example of a “good” is harvested fish, while an example of a “service” is the time of a fishing guide or a headboat trip.

In 2013, 91 percent of the seafood consumed in the U.S. was imported, so there is a good chance that the seafood products U.S. consumers substitute for red snapper that is reallocated to the recreational sector and away from retail markets will be imported. To support domestic fishing industries and to reduce their dependence on imported seafood products (that are often mislabeled and harvested illegally or in fisheries that are not managed as well as U.S. fisheries), some U.S. consumers may be willing to pay more for locally caught red snapper. A complete accounting of costs and benefits would also require at least some examination into potential indirect and induced economic losses from reallocation of red snapper associated with impacts on tourism, the convention business, and other activities that are attracted to the Gulf Coast communities in part by fresh local seafood and local cuisine.

The Agar/Carter framework ignores potential losses in consumer surplus and other adverse impacts on the commercial side, although it does include measures of consumer surplus on the recreational side. For example, the Agar/Carter analysis assumes that any increase in the recreational allocation would not result in any increase in numbers of anglers or numbers of fishing days by existing anglers, and that the increase would generate economic benefits because “the average angler would be willing to pay around $200 to keep two red snapper on a trip versus a trip where no red snapper could be kept.” (Agar and Carter, 2013, pg.11.)

This conclusion, which drives most of the analysis of recreational economic benefits from the reallocation, is based on an analysis of results from a 2003 recreational angler survey. However, that survey also revealed that only “20% of anglers preferred red snapper over the other three species included in the survey” (which were dolphinfish, grouper, and king mackerel). The Agar/Carter analysis does not address the concentration of reallocation benefits among the 20 percent of anglers who have options to fish for those other species, but prefer to target red snapper. Nor is there any assurance, given the open access nature of the recreational fishery, that those 20 percent would actually be the ones harvesting whatever quantity of red snapper is reallocated to the recreational fishing sector.

The Agar/Carter analysis also excludes the consumption value in measures of commercial losses. Although the reallocation options under consideration involve reductions in the commercial red snapper harvest equivalent to roughly 10 to 20 percent of the annual commercial harvest, the Agar/Carter analysis assumes that these reductions will result in no loss of economic value associated with the harvesting or value-added processing and marketing of red snapper (producer surplus) and no loss of economic value in seafood markets (consumer surplus).

The single WTP estimate used to measure economic losses of reallocations in commercial fisheries was based on the price some quota owners have actually paid for quota allocations, not how much they might be willing to pay, which could be higher. It also excludes the value that crew members (who do not own or lease quota) place on their earnings from the red snapper catch. This estimate for the commercial side was compared directly with a single imputed “average” WTP estimate on the recreational side that was based on a saltwater sportfishing survey that asked anglers, hypothetically, what they would be willing to pay. Further, some respondents were intercepted while fishing in North and South Carolina as well as Georgia, none of which are germane to the issue of quota reallocation in the Gulf. It is not reasonable to use comparisons of these two very different measures of WTP as a basis for determining the net economic benefits of reallocations.

To appreciate the significance of Agar/Carter not having data to address many important pathways of economic losses related to reductions in the commercial allocation, consider the following hypothetical illustration, which addresses just one omitted category of economic loss: consumer surplus.

Under Preferred Alternative 5, Agar/Carter estimate that 0.5 million-pound (whole weight) quota reallocation to the recreational sector will result in net gains of $2.73 million. Agar/Carter conclude that this 0.5 million-pound (whole weight) reduction in the commercial harvest of red snapper would result only in a $1.5 million reduction in revenues to commercial fishermen. Assuming a dressed weight to whole weight yield of 50 percent, this ignores the effects of a 0.25 million-pound reduction in the supply of red snapper fillets available at retail.

At an assumed retail market share of 70 percent/30 percent restaurant/grocery, that lost harvest, after value added processing, would have been worth about $9.5 million.³ If seafood consumers would be willing to pay just 10 percent more to purchase locally caught red snapper rather than substitute imported fish or other less preferred seafood products, the WTP by seafood consumers to maintain this commercial share of the quota would be $0.95 million (0.10 X $9.5 million). In addition, assuming that reducing the supply of red snapper by 0.5 million pounds caused a 10 percent increase in price for red snapper, seafood consumers would suffer additional economic losses of approximately $7.7 million.⁴ Under these assumptions, the overall loss in annual economic value to seafood consumers from that 0.5 million-pound reallocation would be approximately $8.6 million, a figure that is about three times the $2.7 million in net gains reported in Agar/Carter. These hypothetical examples illustrate the potential magnitudes of some of the economic losses that were overlooked in the Agar/Carter study and how expanding that study to consider those losses could drastically affect study conclusions.

The Agar/Carter study concluded that reallocation would have no impact on consumer surplus on the commercial side because the study assumed that consumers would be completely indifferent to substituting other seafood products, such as imported farm-raised tilapia, for locally caught red snapper. However, anecdotal market evidence suggests that consumers are not indifferent between such alternatives, because they are willing to pay higher prices for fresh red snapper than for competing seafood products. For example, in a Washington D.C. grocery store in early March, fresh, wild-caught Gulf of Mexico red snapper filets sold for approximately $20 per pound, whereas imported tilapia fillets sold for $8 per pound.

³ This is based on an assumed product yield of 50 percent of 500,000 pounds of landed fish (whole weight), yielding 250,000 pounds of fillets, with products reaching consumers 30 percent via markets and 70 percent via restaurants. The average dressed weight market price was assumed to be $20 per pound ($10/pound whole weight) and the price of an average 7 oz. serving size in restaurants was assumed to be $20. No attempt was made to back out the value of other food served with red snapper.

⁴ At a 50 percent dressed weight yield, the 2012 commercial red snapper harvest 4.036 million pounds (round weight) resulted in dressed weight product of about 2.018 million pounds. Using the same assumptions described above in footnote 3, this retail product had a market value of about $76.684 million. Therefore, a price increase for red snapper purchased at retail and served in restaurants of 10 percent would result in approximately $7.7 million in losses to seafood consumers. We used 2012 landings to provide a more conservative hypothetical scenario; the 2013 quota was significantly higher and thus would have had a higher market value.

In the above illustration, the reduction in consumer surplus alone associated with a 0.5 million-pound reallocation of red snapper quota away from the commercial fishery could have cancelled out the $2.73 million in net benefits that Agar/Carter estimated from that alternative. Factoring in other types of economic losses in addition to losses to consumer surplus, such as losses in crewshare earnings of commercial fishermen, could show significant net economic losses—not benefits—as a result of reallocating quota from the commercial to the recreational sector.

Economic efficiency, moreover, implies producing goods or services at the lowest possible cost and having them reach consumers who value them the most. On a per-pound basis, commercial fishing is by far a more cost effective way of harvesting red snapper than recreational fishing. The efficiency of value-added processing sectors and intermediate and final markets for the commercial harvest make it likely that the commercial red snapper harvest will result in reasonably priced red snapper products reaching seafood consumers who value it the most. By contrast, the recreational red snapper harvest is consumed by anglers and their friends and families, does not legally pass through markets and, therefore, may not result in the landed harvest being used efficiently. Fishing for recreation and fishing to supply seafood markets are obviously distinct pursuits, but based purely on a narrow market-based measure of economic efficiency—low-cost production and products achieving their highest value—the reallocation of quota to recreational fisheries is not efficient.

Also, other measures of net gains and losses the Agar/Carter analysis does not consider involve environmental impacts. For example, the annual recreational red snapper harvest routinely exceeds the annual recreational red snapper quota; reallocation may exacerbate these chronic recreational catch overages, resulting in potential increases in fishing mortality, which could jeopardize stock rebuilding plans. In addition, the commercial sector uses far less energy and other resources and generates far fewer air emissions per pound of red snapper landed than the recreational sector.⁵ Therefore, shifting quota away from commercial fisheries can be expected to have some adverse consequences on air quality. Technically, the public's WTP to avoid these negative environmental externalities of a reallocation should have been subtracted from any positive WTP values associated with the reallocation to provide a full accounting of net economic benefits.

A. Agar/Carter Ignore Losses on the Commercial Side That are not Offset by Gains Ignored on the Recreational Side.

By ignoring reallocation costs associated with lost crewshares and producer and consumer surplus on the commercial side, the Agar/Carter study has a clear bias in favor of reallocation because there are few, if any, offsetting gains that are not accounted for on the recreational side. For example, approximately 33 percent of recreational red snapper landings come from charter boats or headboats, where skippers and crews are paid by the hour or based on the number of trips or passengers, not as a percentage of the harvest, which is how many skippers and all crewmen earn income in the commercial fishery. Reallocating quota to these for-hire vessels, therefore, is not likely to increase crew earnings on the recreational side to offset losses in crewshares on the commercial side.⁶ In addition, the red snapper landed by recreational fishermen do not (legally) enter value-added processing and supply chains the way commercial landings do, or reach consumer markets, so reallocation would not result in gains in value-added producer or consumer surplus to offset those lost on the commercial side. In the case of producer surplus, the only slight exception in the case of recreational fishing would be tips paid to deckhands for cleaning fish for passengers. As described elsewhere in this report, Agar/Carter already fully account for the consumptive value anglers place on their catch in their estimate of anglers' WTP.

⁵ We did not conduct a thorough comparison of energy usage and air emissions associated with commercial and recreational red snapper fishing. However, assuming that a typical 40-foot commercial vessel harvests about 12,000 to 15,000 pounds during a three-day trip and burns about 300 gallons of fuel (roughly 0.023 gallons per pound), while a typical 36-foot sportfisher harvests about 100 to 125 pounds on a one-day trip where it burns between 100 and 200 gallons of fuel (about 1.3 gallons per pound), the fuel consumption and air pollution per pound of red snapper landed would be roughly 57 times higher for fish landed by recreational fishing vessels.

The significant losses in producer and consumer surplus on the commercial side that were ignored in the Agar/Carter study are not offset by significant gains that were not considered on the recreational side. The omissions in the Agar/Carter analysis clearly bias the results in favor of reallocation towards the recreational sector.

B. Agar/Carter Ignore Important Fairness, Equity, and Distributional Impacts

Shifts toward economic efficiency can be assessed independently of fairness and equity. While a shift to a more efficient outcome should result in gains to the winners that would allow them to compensate the losers for their losses, based on efficiency criteria alone, there is no requirement that this compensation take place. MSA guidelines for making quota reallocation decisions, however, require some consideration of fairness; that is, some consideration of who will gain and who will lose from a reallocation. The sections below describe some of the fairness considerations that should be considered when making reallocation decisions and were not addressed in the Agar/Carter study.

1. Equity impacts

An individual's willingness to pay for anything is influenced most by the individual's wealth and income, which determine how much the individual is able to pay.⁷ An individual's WTP for improved recreational fishing experiences is also influenced by the amount of leisure time an individual has to fish, the individual's access to a boat, and other factors that are related as much to wealth as a love for fishing. Agar/Carter used survey results indicating that fishing-related constraints, such as bag limits and gear restrictions, affect the WTP of recreational fishermen. However, the study did not attempt to use measures of income, wealth, or leisure time to explain how those factors influenced survey results.

⁶ In Agar and Carter, the authors note that "the only way to have changes in producer surplus would be for for-hire profits to be relatively higher on trips that offer red snapper." They go on to note that "angler benefit estimates ... suggest that some anglers are indeed willing to pay a premium for trips that offer red snapper." However, presumably because such premiums have not been estimated and are likely to be small, the authors decided to "assume that trip costs are same regardless of species offerings such that the all economic value increase (surplus) from longer seasons accrues to anglers." That economic value is already accounted for in their WTP estimates.

⁷ NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-NWFSC-115 notes that "In most cases WTP is determined in part by income, with higher levels of income associated with higher WTP, other determinants being equal. Income distribution can therefore affect the levels of WTP across individuals, thus using WTP as a metric to measure efficiency does not entirely escape judgments about fairness." (Footnote 1)

No equity-based research has been presented to compare the economic wealth and incomes of those adversely affected by reallocating quota from the commercial sector to the recreational sector. However, several things are known. First, wealth, leisure time, and boat access strongly influence an angler's WTP for marginal improvements in recreational fishing experiences.

Second, the recreational fishing survey used in the Agar/Carter study indicated that the average angler would be willing to pay $200 per day to catch two red snapper instead of targeting other species. That high WTP seems to indicate that most survey respondents were relatively wealthy. Many residents of and visitors to Gulf coastal communities can only benefit from the Gulf red snapper fishery if fresh local red snapper is only available to them via the commercial fishery at a fish market or restaurant.

Finally, it is reasonable to speculate that the average seafood worker or seafood consumer, if they did engage in sportfishing, would probably not be willing to pay $200 per day to harvest an extra red snapper. For all of these reasons, it may not be equitable to reallocate quota based on a survey results that show some recreational anglers, when put in hypothetical fishing situations, say they would be willing to pay a certain amount to maintain the option to catch more red snapper.

2. Other efficiency and fairness considerations

Two other aspects of the recreational fishing analysis presented in Agar/Carter reflect fairness and equity impacts of reallocation that need more research.

First, Agar/Carter (pg. 8) report that the estimation of recreational benefits of reallocations is based on the assumption that “no new anglers will start fishing and existing anglers will not change the number of trips they take when the season is extended” so that “the overall harvest will only increase if anglers previously fishing for other species redirect to harvest red snapper when the season is open.” These assumptions do not seem rational and have impacts on whether the expected beneficiaries of reallocation are the intended beneficiaries. This demands further research.

Agar/Carter admit that “because of data and modeling limits we are forced to take a narrow view regarding the effects of a longer season on fishing activity” (Agar and Carter, 2013, pg. 8) and that “because the Council is considering relatively larger changes in allocation (e.g., 10 percent)...the assumptions of no new anglers or trips are more tenuous.” (Agar and Carter, 2013, pg. 8.) However, they proceed with the analysis of recreational benefits based on an assumption that they concede is unlikely. The authors' assumption seems to contradict the fundamental assumption underlying Amendment 28 that additional quota for the recreational sector will result in more days of fishing and, thus, more targeting of red snapper. This also demands more research.

Agar/Carter note (pg. 12) that “On average around 20% of the 10,000 anglers ‘preferred’ red snapper over the other three species, i.e. these anglers had a total benefit for red snapper that was higher than the total benefit for any other species.” Additional details are not provided about these 10,000 anglers, but this suggests that only about 20 percent of anglers would be willing to pay more to catch more red snapper on trips where they were already targeting other species. This would mean that the reallocation of red snapper quota will only benefit about one in five anglers who prefer red snapper to other target species. Also, only three other species were considered in the survey; in fact, most recreational anglers have a far greater number of different species to target.

Attention to fairness at least requires that research be conducted to determine how many and what types of anglers will benefit from reallocations. Addressing fairness and equity issues would also require comparing the increase in reallocation benefits that accrue to these particular anglers with the corresponding costs the reallocation imposes on commercial fishermen, including quota owners, skippers, crews, income earners in seafood industries, and seafood consumers.

If WTP surveys are to be used to measure dollar gains and losses from reallocation, fairness requires that the results of more than one WTP study related to sportfishers be considered; additional WTP surveys might show that people who are not sportfishers put at least as much value on preventing adverse socio-economic impacts of reallocation on the commercial sector as sportfishers put on the additional fishing enjoyment that would result from reallocation. One WTP survey, for example, could address how much people would be willing to pay to prevent reallocating the red snapper resource in a way that reduces the current and potential future income earning capacity of commercial fishermen and others who depend on the commercial harvest in order to marginally increase the enjoyment of recreational fishermen by letting them target red snapper more often at no cost. Based purely on the expected non-zero results of all the WTP studies related to the commercial allocation that were not conducted, it is unfair to use the results of the one narrowly focused WTP study that was used in the Agar/Carter study to determine that there are net economic benefits to be gained by reallocating more of the commercial fishing sector's red snapper quota to the recreational fishing sector.

C. Agar/Carter Repeatedly Caution that Their Study is Not Suitable for Assessing Non-marginal Reallocations

Agar/Carter repeatedly state that the analysis and results presented in their paper are insufficient to assess or justify the nonmarginal quota reallocations that the Council is considering.

Agar/Carter repeatedly cite cautionary statements from a previous paper that employed similar analysis to assess red snapper quota reallocation and assert that these cautions still apply:

“However, we cautioned that additional research, improvements in the quality of existing quality of existing data collections, and new data collections were necessary in order to estimate the economic effect of non-marginal changes to the allocation. The caveats mentioned in Agar and Carter (2012a) applies to this analysis.” (pp. 3 and 4.)

Agar/Carter reiterate and expand on their concerns about the limits of their analysis and caution the Council about misusing results to judge non-marginal reallocations:

“We caution, however, that the results of this analysis are conditional on a number of simplifying assumptions and, strictly speaking, apply at the margin and to the quota level at the time the data were collected. The methods and assumptions become tenuous at “large” reallocations. As emphasized in our previous allocation work ... more and better data and analysis are necessary to accurately measure the potential economic implications of relatively large reallocations of fishery stocks as well as adequately capture other economic surpluses in the wholesale and retail markets.” (pg. 14.)

Agar/Carter also expressly recognize that more work is required:

“Even if we had accurate, cardinal measures of the marginal value of recreationally harvested fish, there is still much work to be done before we can calculate and predict the economic effects of fishery allocation decisions on the recreational sector.” (pg. 27.)

D. The SE-SSC Expressed Similar Concerns with Using the Agar/Carter Study to Justify Non-marginal Reallocations

Mindful of the limitations of the Agar/Carter study, the SE-SSC had significant reservations about using its results. That group, consisting of economists and social scientists who advise the Council, passed three motions related to the study:⁸

Motion 1: The SE-SSC, on a 5/4 vote, passed a motion to accept the methodology used in Agar/Carter.

Motion 2: The SE-SSC passed a motion to “have the council consider the suite of other socio-economic benefits, such as impacts to communities, value chains and wealth transfers that are not captured in the Agar/Carter study.”

Motion 3: The SE-SSC encourages the Council to consider the limitations of the data utilized in the ... analysis for reallocation ... as the model predicts outside the bounds of both data sets.” (This last statement refers to the separate datasets used in the analysis of losses in the commercial sector and gains in the recreational sector, the problem that the current catch limit is higher than the catch limit used in the analysis, and the non-marginal reallocation alternatives).

The problems with Agar/Carter are not primarily methodological; the study followed established principles for assessing the net economic benefits of quota reallocations by measuring and comparing the resulting gains and losses in WTP. For that reason, and since similar methodologies have been used elsewhere by Agar, Carter, and others to credibly assess the net economic benefits of other fishing quota allocations, it is understandable that five out of nine members of the SE-SSC voted to approve Motion 1 to accept the basic methodology. This does not mean, however, that the SE-SSC approved the results of this particular application of the methodology to assessing the reallocation scenarios in Amendment 28.

The problems with the analysis stem from the assumptions, the narrow focus, and the weak data that were used in this particular attempt to apply the methodology. For that reason, the second SE-SSC motion warning the Council that the Agar/Carter study did not provide a full accounting of economic benefits and costs and ignores welfare shifts, and the third motion alerting the Council that the study arrives at benefit and cost estimates based on analysis that “predicts outside the bounds of both data sets” are much more important. These motions reflect the technical criticisms presented in the following section.

⁸ For details about the SE-SSC deliberations regarding the Agar/Carter analysis consult transcripts and minutes of their meetings, especially meeting transcripts of a special January 13, 2014 SE-SSC webinar that dealt specifically with the study. (GMFMC, 2014. SE-SSC 01/13/14 Meeting Transcript)

SECTION 3: SPECIFIC DEFICIENCIES IN THE AGAR/CARTER ANALYSIS

A. The commercial sector analysis excludes numerous factors.

The approach used in the commercial industry attempts to estimate a demand curve for the allocations in which their market price—used as a proxy for value—is estimated as a function of quantity or quota, dockside price, the price of fuel, and quarterly and yearly dummies using data over six years averaged to produce monthly values for both the independent variables and the dependent variable. In this approach, the value loss from a quota reallocation will be the amount of quota lost multiplied by the allocation price at that quota. This estimate of commercial value, however, excludes the value crew members receive from their share of the catch and includes none of the producer surplus (defined as the amount commercial fishermen would be willing to pay to acquire additional quota above the amount they actually do pay). It also excludes all upstream value of the fish in consumption. The approach draws on an earlier Agar/Carter study, “Is the 2012 allocation of red snapper in the Gulf of Mexico economically efficient.” (Agar and Carter, 2012a)

B. The recreational sector analysis includes consumption value.

In this study, value is defined as “Willingness-to-Pay” (WTP) by anglers for various recreational fishing experiences. WTP is estimated using results from a stated preference choice experiment (SPCE), which gathered data from a group of survey respondents in 2003 and 2004 about recent marine fishing experiences in the southeast U.S., but not only from the Gulf fishery. The survey asked about costs incurred, basic socioeconomic characteristics of respondents, and preferences in eight different questions, each of which presented three choices between participating in one of two fishing trip scenarios or not participating in either. The recreational value estimated in this way includes the entire consumer surplus of the recreational fishermen, including the value of taking home and eating fish. This consumptive value appears to be sizeable and to have contributed significantly to the imputed recreational WTP values assigned to reallocation of red snapper quota. Ironically, no consumptive value was used to show reallocation losses associated with reductions in the commercial red snapper harvest, even though retail consumers of red snapper only have access to fish taken commercially.

C. The commercial and recreational sector analyses are not comparable.

A fundamental problem with the Agar/Carter study is that it uses statistical analysis of results from a sportfishing survey to estimate an average WTP value for the recreational fishery and results from one very different analysis of the prices some commercial fishermen actually pay for quota allocations to determine an average WTP value for everyone who benefits from the commercial fishery. These valuation approaches use fundamentally different measures of WTP. While the recreational study claimed to be measuring the value of catching red snapper, the underlying survey data clearly shows (as explained below) that most of the recreational value comes from keeping fish rather than simply catching and releasing it. Consumption value not only inflated the valuation in the recreational study, it was excluded altogether from the commercial study. The two measures are, therefore, not commensurable and should not be compared with one another.

It is also unreasonable to assume that the two separate WTP estimates, which are presented as measures of the marginal values of gains and losses associated with a reallocation, are valid when comparing non-marginal reallocation decisions that involve hundreds of thousands or millions of pounds.

Even if the results of the two WTP studies are accepted, they only show that recreational fishermen value catching and consuming red snapper more than quota owners (but not the crew) value catching red snapper with the value of consumption excluded. The only link most Americans have with the red snapper fishery and the only way they can benefit from the fishery is by purchasing or ordering red snapper that is harvested commercially. Excluding these consumers from consideration on the commercial side while including consumptive values on the recreational side leads to a clear bias in the analysis presented in Agar/Carter.

D. There are numerous problems with the data, methods, and results used for the commercial valuation part of the study.

The commercial study suffers from two serious data problems.

1. The data used to fit the model are from 2007-2012, a time when the ITQ system was just being established and the red snapper fishery was in a significant period of transition. There is no guarantee that any estimated relationships in fledgling quota allocation markets during this period still hold in 2014 or will represent conditions in the future. The analysis should be updated with more current data and reflect the growing consumer preference for fresh, locally caught fish over imported seafood, which is often mislabeled, unhealthy, and caught illegally.
2. Most of the available data that were collected for analysis were not usable. About 80 percent of the transactions in the candidate data set to be used in estimating the allocation price as a function of quota reported no allocation prices or, according to the NMFS 2012 GoM Red Snapper IFQ annual report, “had underreported price information.” (pg. 22.) That report indicated that “low prices could be due to, but not limited to, one of the following: entering a price per pound equivalent instead of total price, reluctance to enter price information, gifts, transferring to a related account...part of a package deal...unreported bartering, etc.” (pg. 22/23).

While these anomalous data points were properly excluded from the analysis, the resulting analysis embodies two implicit assumptions with respect to the data that were used: that the 20 percent of the data that were useable are representative of the data that were not usable; and that the factors listed above that put downward pressure on reported prices in the excluded data did not also put downward on the reported price data points that were used in the analysis.

There is no evidence in the Agar/Carter study that these assumptions are valid. The study states what the authors believe allocation prices will reflect “in well-behaved quota markets.” (Agar/Carter, 2013, pg. 5.) All the evidence related to the red snapper quota allocation markets during 2007-2012, especially most trades taking place at no reported price or at prices that are considered unrealistically low, indicate that this market was not “well behaved.”⁹

⁹ According to NMFS 2012 GoM Red Snapper IFQ annual report about 80 percent of quota allocation transactions reported either no allocation prices or “had underreported price information.”(pg. 22.) The report speculated that “low prices could be due to, but not limited to, one of the following: entering a price per pound equivalent instead of

There are also problems with the modeling approach and the results:

- Raw data were obtained on individual allocation prices, dockside prices (presumably at the locations where the quota was sold), and general quota levels over a six year period. Then data for each month were averaged to produce a data set with 72 observations, one for each month of the sample period. The study does not explain why the regression analysis was not performed using panel data.¹⁰ It may be that it was, but because the results generated were not significant, they were not presented and the modeling effort was switched to the time series analysis that generated the results that were presented. Given the form of the data, the usual econometric approach would have been to perform the analysis using the available panel data.
- The paper presents the results of four different model specifications. Three were rejected because coefficient estimates of important independent variables were either not significant or were significant with the wrong sign. The remaining specification—the one that was used for the analysis—did have significant coefficient estimates of the correct sign for the variables “Commercial Quota” and “Diesel 32 price index.” It is important to note, however, that the coefficient estimate for “Monthly dockside price” showing that the allocation price was affected by the dockside fish price was not significant even at the very weak 10 percent level. This implies that the amount commercial fishermen pay to purchase allocation quota from other commercial fishermen is not related to the landed price of the fish; as the landed price of red snapper goes up, they do not pay more for additional quota and as the landed price goes down, they do not pay less. Given that the entire point of commercial fishing is to sell fish at dockside, this result raises substantial doubt about the validity of the analysis and its results. The results should not be used until a model can be specified that results in significant coefficients of the expected sign for all variables. It is also curious that while the cost of fuel was included in the model specifications, the cost of crew compensation, a very important expense, was not.

E. Substantial problems with the methods and data used for the recreational sector analysis render its results unreliable.

In contrast to the methods used for commercial fisheries, the approach to valuation on the recreational side includes the value associated with consuming fish. The abstract of the Carter and Liese paper titled: “The Economic Value of Catching and Keeping or Releasing Saltwater Sport Fish in the Southeast USA” reports that “anglers indicated that keeping a fish was worth more than eight times the value of releasing the fish due to a bag limit.” Also, elsewhere that paper reports that “WTP did not differ much between a fish released due to bag limit and a fish released due to a size limit.” Thus, the value of catching and keeping red snapper is far larger than the value of catching total price, reluctance to enter price information, gifts, transferring to a related account...part of a package deal...unreported bartering, etc.” (pg. 22/23.) This is not a “well behaved market.”

¹⁰ The use of panel data is a common technique for dealing with cross-sectional data over time. Panel data would include a data point for each allocation sale price, the landed price, and the quota level along with the time period for which the data apply. It combines both time series and cross-sectional aspects and the use of dummy variables, comparable to those used, allows for the sweeping out from the results, and the effect of time on the variables of interest.

and releasing them either because of bag limits or minimum size limits. From this, it appears that at least 7/8ths of the value in recreational fishing for red snapper—broadly defined—resides in keeping the fish.

Heuristically, the value of keeping the fish can be decomposed into two potential components: (1) the value of consuming the fish, and (2) the added value of consuming a fish that you caught. Both of these are consumption values that are similar to the consumptive values not measured with respect to the commercial fishery. It is also important to note that the net benefit per pound for recreational anglers imputed in Agar/Carter and used in comparing the benefit from reallocation quota from commercial to recreational fishing is $11.21 a pound. This is very close to the round weight equivalent price of $10 per pound seafood consumers pay for red snapper in grocery stores.¹¹ If, for sake of comparison, we use the results of the Carter and Liese study cited above to decompose the $11.21 per pound estimated recreational value into the value of catching the fish and the value of consuming it, the consumption value component would comprise 7/8ths of that $11.21, or $9.81, which is about the $10 per pound (whole weight) at which commercial red snapper may be sold. Under these assumptions, a reallocation of quota from commercial to recreational fishermen would actually slightly reduce economic efficiency, at least in consumption, by reallocating red snapper to those who value it less for consumption, rather than to those who value it more.

As noted above, the estimate of value defined as WTP in recreational fishing is primarily determined by data from a stated preference choice experiment which used a survey instrument to derive a utility function from which WTP is derived. In light of well-known issues about survey responses (See Report of the NOAA Panel on Contingent Valuation, January 11, 1993, for a discussion of issues) economists prefer to use market information or information from related markets to estimate WTP whenever possible.

Survey or stated preference methods, for example, are generally only used when there are no market-related data that can be used to estimate actual willingness to pay. The saltwater sportfishing survey that generated the data used in the Agar/Carter study to estimate anglers stated WTP for fishing trips, for example, also collected data about how much anglers actually do spend on fishing trips. Because actual spending on quota allocations was used in Agar/Carter as an estimate of WTP in the commercial sector, it is unusual for the same type of actual spending measures related to recreational fishing not to be used or even mentioned in the Agar/Carter study.

Demand curves related to recreational fishing could have been developed using estimates of actual spending (revealed WTP) to at least corroborate what anglers say they would be willing to pay (expressed WTP). Did survey respondents actually pay more to take fishing trips where red snapper was a likely target species?

The literature also notes that WTP estimates elicited through stated preference surveys are often higher than WTP estimates based on observed market behavior (See NOAA Panel). In their paper, “Is the 2012 allocation of red snapper in the Gulf of Mexico economically efficient” Agar and Carter, 2012a, note this upward bias with respect to valuing recreational fishing by stating, “research has shown that the value of a recreationally caught fish estimated using stated preference ... can be systematically higher than the value of fish estimated using revealed preference.” (pg. 18.)

¹¹ Note also that with additional processing, value per pound increases significantly. Each pound of red snapper landed (whole weight) results in about a half pound of fillets with a retail value, in 2014, of about $20/pound.

There are also significant problems with the data that were used in the recreational valuation study:

- Respondents to the survey were self-selected from a larger group of recreational anglers who were intercepted and asked whether they would be willing to participate in the survey. Those who were willing to participate received a survey instrument via regular mail to complete and mail back. There were no indications provided that those who volunteered to receive a questionnaire in the mail and the smaller subset who actually responded are representative of those who chose not to volunteer or those who received a questionnaire but did not complete it. It seems reasonable that more avid fishermen would be more willing to respond to this sort of survey than less avid ones; if so, this would bias the estimate upwards.
- As with any survey, there is always the question as to how well people actually understand their preferences or values and the questions being asked even when they do try to answer them truthfully. The 16-page survey instrument included eight choice experiment questions that presented fairly complex scenarios with the fishing trips characterized using eight different trip features. Sorting this all out and thinking through preferences is a considerable task, so WTP estimates based on comparisons of how respondents answered questions related to various scenarios may not yield reliable results. The NOAA Panel, among others, pointed out this general problem; when asked hypothetical questions survey respondents feel comfortable providing hypothetical answers or, worse, providing answers that will have the desired influence on survey results. It is logical to assume that this problem is worse when survey respondents are asked what they would be willing to pay for something they know they will not be asked to pay for.
- There is also no guarantee that the derived WTP estimates actually apply to the Gulf Fishery. Some survey respondents were intercepted in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia and no respondents were intercepted in Texas. Thus, the estimate of WTP is not for those fishing for red snapper in only the Gulf Fishery and has no relationship to the level of recreational red snapper quota in the Gulf. In particular, simple supply and demand theory suggests those fishing in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, where red snapper are less prevalent, may value them more.
- Even if the WTP estimate were valid when estimated, there is no guarantee that it would remain so today. The data are 10 years old. Would the preferences be the same today? As Agar/Carter themselves note, “we do not know whether estimates using more recent data would be higher or lower than the estimates from the 2003 data. Consequently, we cannot speculate as to how our measure of the economic value associated with the increased quota in the recreational sector would change with more recent data.” (pg. 9.)
- On page 12 of Agar/Carter, regarding the simulations used to estimate recreational WTP for the reallocation, it is reported that “[o]n average around 20% of the 10,000 anglers “preferred” red snapper over the other three species, i.e., these anglers had a total benefit for red snapper that was higher than the total benefit for any other species.” (The other three species were dolphinfish, grouper, and king mackerel.) Does this imply that four out of five anglers either prefer targeting species other than red snapper or are indifferent to whether they target red snapper or some other species? If results of this survey are to be used to justify reallocating quota to the recreational sector, more effort should be put into interpreting how many anglers and what types of anglers will benefit from the reallocation. Given the open access nature of the fishery, there is no assurance that the 20 percent of anglers who purportedly prefer red snapper (even assuming that figure applies to the Gulf of Mexico) will actually be the ones catching the reallocated red snapper.

- Most goods and services have a positive income elasticity of demand: as income rises, people consume more of almost all of them and presumably are also willing to pay more for them. This has several implications: (1) If those who responded to the survey are more affluent than those who didn't, this would bias the estimate upwards, and (2) If resources are to be allocated based on WTP, more affluent people will receive more of them than less affluent ones.

F. The Agar/Carter study disregards the distributional aspects of reallocation and the wider economic benefits of commercial red snapper harvest.

Aside from recreational anglers, most Americans benefit from the red snapper fishery by consuming red snapper that is caught commercially and passes through a value-added processing and distribution supply chain to reach them in restaurants and markets. For many families living or visiting the Gulf area, purchasing or ordering commercially harvested red snapper is the only link they will ever have with the red snapper fishery.

During 2012, commercial fishermen landed 4.036 million pounds of Gulf red snapper with an ex-vessel value of $13.661 million at Gulf of Mexico ports. After value added processing, this fish had a retail value in restaurants, stores, and seafood counters of about $76.6 million (see footnote 4). This value reflects how much seafood consumers are willing to pay for locally caught red snapper. However, it also reflects the significant economic value that is added to the commercial harvest after it is landed and the significant incomes and jobs that are generated in Gulf communities by the commercial red snapper harvest.

Based on standard economic multipliers used by NMFS to estimate economic impacts of Gulf of Mexico commercial fisheries, the direct, indirect, and induced economic impacts of the 2012 commercial Gulf red snapper harvest included $73.591 million in business sales, 1,328 jobs, and $36.147 million in value added incomes.¹² By contributing to the income of businesses related to and supported by commercial fishing the commercial red snapper harvest also improves the survivability of traditional aspects of Gulf Coast seaports, waterfronts, and working harbors that are part of the region's important maritime heritage. A willingness to pay survey of local residents and visitors would indicate that they put a significant value on this indirect contribution of the commercial red snapper harvest. If the results of WTP surveys are to be used as a basis for judging the economic efficiency of reallocating red snapper quota, it is not acceptable to use the results of one WTP survey aimed at saltwater sportfishermen.

¹² Fisheries Economics of the United States-2011 (NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-F/SPO-128, December 2012) reports that domestic commercial fish landings at Gulf coast ports in 2011 had an ex-vessel value of $818.018 million and generated: $4.407 billion in overall sales, $2.167 billion in value added and 79,529 jobs (FTE). Using the same ratios of impacts to ex-vessel harvest value (5.387 for sales, 2.646 for value added, and .0001 for jobs), the $13.661 million in red snapper landings generated the impacts shown.

G. The omissions in the commercial sector analysis taint the assessment of reallocation alternatives provided in Amendment 28.

The Agar/Carter study is included as Appendix G to Amendment 28 and is the basis for the conclusion presented in Amendment 28 that “increases in net benefits that could potentially result from the reallocation alternatives are estimated to range from $1.44 million to $6.16 million.” These net benefit estimates cannot be justified on the basis of the analysis presented in the Agar/Carter study. The study ignored losses to commercial fishermen who earn their income via crewshares (rather than as vessel owners and IFQ holders); it ignored losses in producer surplus in the entire value added processing and distribution chain up to retail markets; and it ignored losses in consumer surplus associated with lower red snapper supplies and associated increases in red snapper prices that can be expected to result from reallocation. Evidence that these three missing components of the Agar/Carter analysis are misdirecting deliberations regarding Amendment 28 is summarized below.

(1) Missing estimates of lost producer surplus in the harvesting sector

Following Agar/Carter, page 72 of Amendment 28 states that, “The economic effects ... to the commercial sector...are limited to losses to red snapper IFQ participants including harvesters and individuals and entities who elect to lease their annual allocation.” However, most commercial fishermen, including many skippers and most crewmembers (who do not own or lease quota), earn their incomes via crewshares (i.e., splitting a portion of the profit of the catch). Reductions in the allowable red snapper harvest result in direct income losses to those fishermen apart from the economic losses reflected in the price vessel owners/IFQ holders are willing to pay for a quota allocation. In fact, IFQ participants can be expected to subtract crewshares and other trip and vessel costs from expected value of landings to determine their willingness to pay for quota allocations. The one measure of harvesting sector loss included in Agar/Carter and reported in Amendment 28, therefore, is inversely related to losses of many commercial fishermen.

(2) Missing estimates of lost producer surplus in value-added sectors

Following Agar/Carter Amendment 28 states on page 72 that, “Losses in producer surplus incurred by economic agents operating between the harvest and the final consumption of red snapper, e.g., dealers and retailers, are not included.” In 2013, red snapper landed by commercial fishermen was worth about $3.50 per pound (whole weight) at the dock, but by the time it reached retail was worth about $10 per pound (round weight equivalent). This approximate tripling in economic value reflects incomes in seafood businesses that should have been addressed by Agar/Carter. There is no explanation in either Agar/Carter or Amendment 28 about why these losses are ignored.

(3) Missing estimates of lost consumer surplus

According to Amendment 28, “The consumer surplus forgone by red snapper consumers was also not included in the estimates provided. However, given the availability of a multitude of substitutes for red snapper, including imported farm raised fish, consumer demand for red snapper can be assumed to be fairly elastic, generating relatively small consumer surplus.” This assumption would require U.S. consumers to be indifferent between locally caught red snapper and imported farm-raised fish, such as tilapia. Based on anecdotal evidence, at retail U.S. consumers pay about $20/pound for wild-caught red snapper fillets and about $8/pound for imported farm-raised tilapia. This suggests that consumers may not be indifferent between the two products after all. However, Agar/Carter defend their assumption about consumer indifference by referring to results of a study that compared prices of imported farm raised tilapia and several wild-caught fish, including red snapper, at Fulton Fish Market in New York. (Norman-López (2009)). That study, however, only tested the hypothesis that the recent surge in the U.S. supply of low price imported farm-raised tilapia is putting downward pressure on prices of wild-caught fish, including red snapper. That study did not imply U.S. consumers are indifferent between these products; and, in fact, the author reports in several places that “these seafood products are inferior substitutes” and cites previous seafood market studies (Ye and Beddington, 1996) that reached the same conclusion. Market evidence does not support the assumption that U.S. consumers will experience no loss in consumer surplus if they are required to substitute imported farm-raised fish for locally caught red snapper. The Norman-Lopez article cited in Amendment 28 and by Agar/Carter provides no justification for ignoring this significant source of economic loss associated with the Amendment 28 reallocations under consideration.

REFERENCES

Agar, J.J. and D.W. Carter. 2012a. "Is the Allocation of Red Snapper in the Gulf of Mexico Economically Efficient?" NOAA Fisheries, Southeast Fisheries Science Center, Miami, Florida.

Agar, J.J. and D.W. Carter. 2012b. "Are the Allocations of Gag, Red, and Black Grouper in the Gulf of Mexico Economically Efficient?" NOAA Fisheries, Southeast Fisheries Science Center, Miami, Florida.

Agar, Juan, J. and David W. Carter, 2013. Economic Analysis of Red Snapper Allocation Alternative for Amendment 28 to the Gulf of Mexico Reef Fish FMP. Southeast Fisheries Science Center, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Miami, Florida.

Carter, D.W. and C. Liese. 2012. "The Economic Value of Catching and Keeping or Releasing Saltwater Sportfish in the Southeast USA." North American Journal of Fishery Management 23: 613-625.

Carter, D.W. and J. Agar, 2014. "Economic Analysis of Red Snapper Allocation Alternatives (Amendment 28 to Reef Fish FMP.) Presentation to the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council in Houston, TX, February 2014. NOAA Fisheries Service.

GMFMC. 2012a. Final regulatory amendment to the fishery management plan for the reef fish resources of the Gulf of Mexico, revise fall recreational fixed closed season and set 2012 and 2013 quotas for red snapper. Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. Tampa, Florida.

GMFMC. 2012b. Final amendment 37 to the reef fish fishery management plan for the reef fish resources of the Gulf of Mexico – Modifications to the gray triggerfish rebuilding plan including adjustments to the annual catch limits and annual catch targets for the commercial and recreational sectors. Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. Tampa, Florida.

GMFMC. 2013a. Red snapper 2013 quota increase and supplemental recreational season, including environmental assessment, regulatory impact review, and regulatory flexibility act analysis. Framework action to the fishery management plan for the reef fish resources of the Gulf of Mexico. Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. Tampa, Florida.

GMFMC. 2013b. Red snapper individual fishing quota program 5-year review. Jointly prepared by Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council and NMFS Southeast Regional Office. Tampa and St. Petersburg, Florida.

GMFMC. 2013d. Framework action to set the 2013 red snapper commercial and recreational quotas and modify the recreational bag limit, including environmental assessment, regulatory impact review, and regulatory flexibility act analysis. Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. Tampa, Florida.

GMFMC, 2012. Options Paper for Amendment 28 to the Fishery Management Plan for the Reef Fish Resources of the Gulf of Mexico; Gag, Red, and Black Grouper Allocation. Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, Tampa, Florida.

GMFMC, 2014. SE-SSC 01/13/14 Meeting Transcript. Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, Socioeconomic Scientific and Statistical Committee Webinar, January 13, 2014.

NMFS. 2011b. Fisheries Economics of the United States, 2009. U.S. Department of Commerce, NOAA Technical Memorandum. National Marine Fisheries Service-F/SPO-118.

NMFS. 2013b. Fisheries of the United States 2012. National Marine Fisheries Service, Silver Spring, Maryland.

NMFS. 2013c. 2012 Gulf of Mexico Red Snapper Individual fishing quota annual report.

NOAA Tech. Memo. NMFS-NWFSC-115, 2012. Allocation of Fishery Harvests under the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act; Principles and Practice. U.S. Department of Commerce, Northwest Fisheries Science Center.

Norman-Lopez, A. 2009. Competition between Different Farmed and Wild Species: The US Tilapia Market. Marine Resource Economics 24:237-251.

SERO- LAPP-2013-6. Southeast Regional Office, National Marine Fisheries Service, 263 13th Avenue South, St. Petersburg, FL 33701.

Sportfishing Survey, 2003. Saltwater Sportfishing Survey. Help us improve your sportfishing experience. What Do You Think? NOAA Fisheries.

Ye Y. and J.R. Beddington. 1996. Bioeconomic interactions between the capture fishery and aquaculture. Marine Resource Economics (11): 105-23.

About the Authors

Dennis King is a Research Professor at the University of Maryland, Center for Environmental Science and President of King and Associates, Inc. a Maryland-based environmental economic research and consulting firm. He received his Ph.D. in marine resource economics from the University of Rhode Island and an MS in Food and Natural Resource Economics and BA in Economics from the University of Massachusetts, and has been involved in fishery economics research for over 30 years.

Lawrence G. Buc is the President of SLS Consulting, Inc. a consulting firm specializing in economic and financial analysis, often in an environmental context. Mr. Buc received an MA in Economics from the George Washington University of America and an AB degree with honor in Mathematics and Economics from Brown University. He has been conducting environmental economics studies for over 30 years.

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Monday, April 7, 2014 at 8:06:22 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Walt Proctor

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Walt Proctor
42 So. Winterset Ave
Crystal River, FL 34429

290 YACHT CLUB DR

NICEVILLE, FL 32578

April 7, 2014

Dr. Roy Crabtree;

The Northwest Florida Marine Industries Association (NWFMI) would like to provide comments on the upcoming vote on Amendment 28 of the Red Snapper Fishery Management Plan.

As you may know, many of our NWFMI members own or operate marina facilities or are engaged in recreational fishing and tourism-related businesses throughout our coastal region. Our membership has been economically hard-hit over the last few years with excessive and what appears to us to be out-of-touch regulations of the Gulf of Mexico Red Snapper fishery. Many of our members' longstanding customers who moor their vessels at member marinas, and purchase tackle and gear from member shops, fish specifically for Gulf Red Snapper. If the season is not open, many, if not most of our customer's vessels stay dockside. As a result, they do not buy fuel, bait, ice and many other amenities from our marinas and numerous other businesses within the region.

We understand the most recent Economic Study presented to the Gulf Council at its February meeting shows what we believe to be true-the recreational sector for Red Snapper should have its quota increased in order to be more fair and equitable to the recreational stewards of our fishery, as well as improving the economic impact within our numerous coastal communities.

We believe due to what we are seeing personally in the Gulf, the Red Snapper fishery has rebounded significantly and more quota should be released for harvest. We know it is important that this fishery continue to grow, and we believe it will, even with the increased quota. The recreational sector has been told for years it is overfishing its annual catch limit, but, as the stock assessments show, this fishery continues to grow exponentially. Our members and their customers are fishing and will continue fishing according to whatever regulations are in place.

For these reasons, the NWFMI would request that the Council vote at its April meeting for Alternative 5 or 6, to increase the percentage of red snapper quota allocated to the recreational sector in the Gulf. Thank you for your consideration of our request.

Sincerely,

Todd Sumner

NWFMI President

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 4, 2014 at 2:05:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Leah Kershner (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 4, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Leah Kershner
2008 Blue River Rd
Holiday, FL 34691-7850

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation between Commercial and Recreational fishermen

Date: Thursday, April 3, 2014 at 11:03:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Julius Maresh

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current allocation of red snapper for recreational fishermen makes it cost prohibitive for a recreational fisherman to participate. At approximately $135 per person to get on a charter boat and only be allowed 2 red snapper becomes a no win situation for the recreational fisherman. With the cost of transportation (fuel for personal vehicle) to get to the launch site and usually a motel for at least one night, the cost can run to $250 minimum for a trip. That comes up to about $125 per fish. In summary the cost to go red snapper fishing is cost prohibitive already. Increasing the limit to 5 per person per day would at least bring it more in line.

Sincerely,

Julius Maresh
2222 Belle Grove Dr
Richmond, TX 77406

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, April 2, 2014 at 3:51:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bradd Barker

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would strongly ask you to consider Alt. 5 for reallocation of the Red Snapper quota. Recreational anglers have stood by patiently waiting for a sensible reallocation. I fish often in Key West and the Red Snapper fishery seems to be very healthy compared to previous years.

Sincerely,

Bradd Barker
27 Winnebago Rd
Sea Ranch Lakes, FL 33308

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Friday, April 4, 2014 at 2:05:36 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Leah Kershner (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Apr 4, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Leah Kershner
2008 Blue River Rd
Holiday, FL 34691-7850

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation between Commercial and Recreational fishermen

Date: Thursday, April 3, 2014 at 11:03:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Julius Maresh

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current allocation of red snapper for recreational fishermen makes it cost prohibitive for a recreational fisherman to participate. At approximately $135 per person to get on a charter boat and only be allowed 2 red snapper becomes a no win situation for the recreational fisherman. With the cost of transportation (fuel for personal vehicle) to get to the launch site and usually a motel for at least one night, the cost can run to $250 minimum for a trip. That comes up to about $125 per fish. In summary the cost to go red snapper fishing is cost prohibitive already. Increasing the limit to 5 per person per day would at least bring it more in line.

Sincerely,

Julius Maresh
2222 Belle Grove Dr
Richmond, TX 77406

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, April 2, 2014 at 3:51:09 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bradd Barker

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would strongly ask you to consider Alt. 5 for reallocation of the Red Snapper quota. Recreational anglers have stood by patiently waiting for a sensible reallocation. I fish often in Key West and the Red Snapper fishery seems to be very healthy compared to previous years.

Sincerely,

Bradd Barker
27 Winnebago Rd
Sea Ranch Lakes, FL 33308

Subject: FW: Please accept these attachments in the public hearing documents that are wholeheartedly supported by the Souotheastern Fisheries Association
Date: Friday, March 28, 2014 at 9:45:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Doug Gregory
To: Charlene Ponce
CC: Bob Jones

From: bobfish@aol.com [mailto:bobfish@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, March 27, 2014 9:38 PM

To: Doug Gregory

Cc: Nick Wiley; Roy Crabtree; Bonnie Ponwith; Roy Williams; Pamella Dana PhD; Jmsanchez22@aol.com; rshipp@jaguar1.usouthal.edu

Subject: Please accept these attachments in the public hearing documents that are wholeheartedly supported by the Souotheastern Fisheries Association

Doug,

I do not know exactly where to send public comments on the red snapper Amendment 28 so I hope you will forward this to the proper person for us.

The first attachment is an article by Outdoor Columnist David Sikes of the Corpus Christi Times Caller making the case on cca misguided attempt to be rewarded with more red snapper after their sector has over fished to such an extent that they are taking 65% of the red snapper resource at least and by law are entitled to only 49%.

This article covers most all the areas that we have tried to get the Council to address such as the commercial sector is accountable and the angler sector is not and the unaccountable sector should not be awarded more red snapper even if the power on the Council at this time again leans toward Texas calling the shots for fishing in the Gulf of Medico.

We also attach the Summary Judgement from the Texas Federal Court issued yesterday re: Quindon vs Penny Sue Pritzker and cca-Defendant- Intervener. We request this Summary Judgement be made part of the public testimony. It seems to us the federal district court will not accept an "arbitrary and capricious reallocation" just because the Council power structure has 9 votes to take the fish from the consumers and give to an unaccountable sector. We hope those that had promised their vote to support cca will not be left on the hook to vote for the reallocation again after the federal judge has ruled.

Thank you for your help. If there is another person for me to contact just let me know and I will go that course.

Thank you.

Bob Jones, Executive Director
Southeastern Fisheries Association
<http://www.SFAonline.org>

Subject: I SUPPORT ALTERNATIVE 5 FOR RED SNAPPER ALLOCATION

Date: Thursday, March 27, 2014 at 1:53:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Tracey Dean

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Commercial fishermen are financially motivated to appear at every possible Council function to make their case over and over and over. For the rest of us, like me, life gets in the way, and the demands of jobs and family can make it virtually impossible to carve out the hours to participate in yet another red snapper hearing. I am supporting Alternative 5. The current allocation is more than two decades old and it is based on 30-year-old data. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. That is a good thing in my opinion.

Sincerely,

Tracey Dean
20249 Hilltop Dr
Wimberley, TX 78676

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, March 27, 2014 at 9:43:30 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Daren Teeters (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 27, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Daren Teeters
8278 Emerald Forest Ct
Sanford, FL 32771-8100
(407) 602-8278

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, March 27, 2014 at 8:43:23 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Rossignol (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 27, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Rossignol
11501 70th Ter
Seminole, FL 33772-5812
(727) 391-4555

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, March 27, 2014 at 2:12:38 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronald Melanson (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 27, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ronald Melanson
1251 SE 27th St Unit 101
Homestead, FL 33035-2315
(786) 339-8961

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, March 27, 2014 at 12:42:26 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jose Espin (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jose Espin
618 N Woodlake Ave
Inverness, FL 34453-9775
(352) 637-2150

Subject: Gulf Coast Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 7:50:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Randall Morgan

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I very strongly urge each of you, as my Texas State Council members, to unanimously approve Alternative 5, and revise our terribly outdated Gulf Coast Red Snapper allocation system!!!!

Thank you very much,

Randall Morgan (a very long time member of the Coastal Conservation Association)

Sincerely,

Randall Morgan
116 Frostwood Dr
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 7:27:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Luksa

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. That is a good thing.

CCA is supporting Alternative 5. It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation, perhaps even too reasonable, but it is the most viable allocation option on the table and it is still hanging by a thread.

Approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

James Luksa
12230 Dorrance Ln
Meadows Place, TX 77477

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 7:11:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kenneth Morrow (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kenneth Morrow
16706 132nd Ter N
Jupiter, FL 33478-6074
(561) 744-3735

Subject: Alternative 5 - Vote for it!

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 4:53:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Smart, IV

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 to Amendment 28 as the most reasonable method to Red Snapper reallocation and I wish you would too. The current allocation method is outdated and Alternative 5 seems to be the best option on the table and in the best interest of conservation and recreational anglers. Conservation is an important issue and the financial interest of commercial fisherman should not be the deciding factor in this decision. Please hear my voice and represent me well. Thank you.

Thanks!

Sincerely,

JSS
1745 W Main St
Houston, TX 77098

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 3:11:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Smith (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Smith
23809 Victory Blvd
West Hills, CA 91307-3153
(818) 340-6611

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 2:11:07 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Daniel Carney (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Daniel Carney
2 Sun Flower Ct
Bolingbrook, IL 60440-1284
(630) 739-0549

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)
Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 12:50:41 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Steve Kirkpatrick
To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I am opposed to the commercial fishing industry opposition to Amendment 28. I think the precedent has been established that public resources (ducks, deer, turkey, etc.) are protected from commercial harvesting. If the resources are insufficient to support the harvesting rates we are experiencing I believe we should restrict commercial exploitation of the Snapper resource.

Steve Kirkpatrick

Steve Kirkpatrick
1546 Riverfront Rd
Rogersville, AL 35652

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 12:40:59 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Charles Hogan (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Charles Hogan
436 Oakridge Dr
Forsyth, GA 31029-9506
(478) 394-1388

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 12:10:57 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Meehan (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Meehan
12355 Sparrowwood Ct
Saint Louis, MO 63146-4608
(314) 434-1079

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 11:40:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Doug Stanford (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Doug Stanford
78362 ingleside, TX 78362
(361) 523-9452

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 11:40:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: barto DAVERSO (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. barto DAVERSO
198 Clinton Ave
Eatontown, NJ 07724-1743
(732) 245-4430

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 11:11:02 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: mark edwards (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. mark edwards
6976us hwy 45 s
oshkosh, WI 54902
(920) 933-4482

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 11:11:02 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Steve Akridge (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Steve Akridge
117 Windermere Cir
PO Box 645
Perry, GA 31069-4109
(478) 396-1265

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 11:11:02 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: mike kurtz (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. mike kurtz
14059 SW 142nd St
Miami, FL 33186-5563
(305) 235-0270

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 10:40:51 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Beck (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Beck
6758 S> Kenneth
Chicago, IL 60629

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 10:40:45 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Beck (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Beck
6758 S Kenneth Ave
Chicago, IL 60629-5726
(708) 772-5668

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 10:10:42 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Thomas Lonergan (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Lonergan
7250 Westpointe Blvd Apt 1023
Orlando, FL 32835-6506
(407) 259-8218

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 10:10:42 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gregory Fusillo (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Gregory Fusillo
108 Dorset C
Boca Raton, FL 33434-3009
(561) 400-2573

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 10:10:42 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jerod Harman (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jerod Harman
4 Cleveland Ave
Buckhannon, WV 26201-2847
(304) 613-9099

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 9:40:39 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: DAVID CASHDAN (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. DAVID CASHDAN
4120 Vineyard Dr
Paso Robles, CA 93446-9624

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 9:40:39 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Douglas Cash (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Douglas Cash
5709 Chanta Ln
Powder Springs, GA 30127-4035

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 9:10:35 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Glen Ballinger (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Glen Ballinger
617 Tamiami Trl N Lot 19
Venice, FL 34285-6028
(941) 323-5251

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 9:10:35 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Randal Skinner (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Randal Skinner
1550 Earl Rd
Hiawassee, GA 30546-2642
(706) 896-9529

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 8:40:31 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: wesley pitts (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. wesley pitts
3600 Walden Pond Dr
Sarasota, FL 34240-9343

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 8:40:31 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Bridges (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Bridges
320 Malcom Ln
Covington, GA 30014-8549
(404) 402-9705

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 8:10:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Larry West (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Larry West
4439 Bluebird Ln
Lithia Springs, GA 30122-2004
(770) 948-7043

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 8:10:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Mc Farland (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Mc Farland
390 Anchor Row
Placida, FL 33946-2203
(804) 815-6577

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 8:10:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Kennedy (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Kennedy
902 Turner Quay
Jupiter, FL 33458-4340
(561) 685-0315

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 8:10:27 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kathy Keck (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Kathy Keck
1013 Hammock Shade Dr
Lakeland, FL 33809-4650
(863) 858-9780

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 at 7:40:22 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Craig Pereira (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 26, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Craig Pereira
3281 5th Ave SW
Naples, FL 34117-4101
(239) 352-1073

Subject: Snapper

Date: Tuesday, March 25, 2014 at 6:20:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Peyton Martin

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

we support Alternative 5 and longer recreational seasons!!!

Sincerely,

Peyton Martin
310 Morton St Apt 280
Richmond, TX 77469

Subject: FW: Reminder : Your Webinar is on Thursday, March 20, 2014 6:00 PM - 9:00 PM EDT
Date: Tuesday, March 25, 2014 at 12:03:49 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Phyllis Miranda
To: Charlene Ponce

><(((e>`. _ .`~><(((e>`. _ .`~. ><(((e>

Phyllis Miranda
Document Editor/Executive Assistant
Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council
2203 North Lois Avenue, Suite 1100
Tampa, Florida 33607
813-348-1630, ext. 225
813-348-1711 (FAX)
E-mail: phyllis.miranda@gulfcouncil.org

From: Farmers and Merchants [mailto:fmins@centurywireless.net]
Sent: Tuesday, March 25, 2014 11:15 AM
To: phyllis.miranda@noaa.gov
Subject: Re: Reminder : Your Webinar is on Thursday, March 20, 2014 6:00 PM - 9:00 PM EDT

I took all the info you sent me sat down at 5:45 went on line and was denied access so I called the phone number which told me to hold on which I did till 6:15 when I called back to be put on hold for 20 more minutes it kept saying meeting to start shortly. I am disgusted with this entire program when people like me with permits for 20 years are being forced out over the years. I am 66 years of age had this permit for years now when I need it to be profitable the most in my lifetime they are changing it yet again it appears they want to turn this over to the recreational sector at the cost of the commerical sector. When the recreational side has to have a computer, call out to make a trip, call 3 hours in advance for a landing number, call a dealer report number of lbs or fish, have nmfs officer come to the vessel check permits and fish, fill out landing reports, fill out discard reports, and carry an observer 3 times in 2 years then take more of small quota and give to them. Larry Davis

----- Original Message -----

From: Phyllis Miranda
To: larry davis
Sent: Thursday, March 20, 2014 4:10 PM
Subject: Reminder : Your Webinar is on Thursday, March 20, 2014 6:00 PM - 9:00 PM EDT

Reef Fish Amendment 28 - Red Snapper Allocation Call-in Session

Subject: Red Snapper

Date: Tuesday, March 25, 2014 at 12:53:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Frank Warner

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

My Family and I am in strong support of this statement...

" The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council has selected Alternative 5 as its preferred alternative for reallocation. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. "

Sincerely,

Frank Warner
129 Woodcreek Dr
La Vernia, TX 78121

Subject: Allocation of red snapper catch in the Gulf

Date: Tuesday, March 25, 2014 at 11:07:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jack Montgomery

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

There is no question that the entire economy on the Gulf Coast benefits the most from recreational fishing as opposed to the commercial industry. The allocation of the red snapper catch should tilt in that direction.

Sincerely,

Jack Montgomery
435 Fox Briar Ln
Sugar Land, TX 77478

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Monday, March 24, 2014 at 11:42:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Higgins

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a CCA member, I urge you to support alternative 5 for red snapper reallocation .

Sincerely,

William Higgins
2331 Merion Dr
League City, TX 77573

Subject: Red snapper regulations

Date: Monday, March 24, 2014 at 4:27:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Art Cruser

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a life long saltwater fisherman and the son of a saltwater guide, I would like to lend my support of option 5 as the best option for this dwindling fishery.

Sincerely,

Arthur E. Cruser
9605 Newberry Dr
Austin, TX 78729

Subject: Comments on Amendment 28

Date: Monday, March 24, 2014 at 4:15:48 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ted Venker

To: Gulf Council

On behalf of the Coastal Conservation Association, please find attached the organization's comments on Amendment 28 – Red Snapper Reallocation.

Thank you, and please let me know if there are any problems with this file.

Regards,

Ted Venker
Conservation Director
TIDE Magazine Editor
www.JoinCCA.org
www.facebook.com/CCANational

Subject: Public Input for tonight
Date: Monday, March 24, 2014 at 4:15:02 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Bob Bryant
To: Gulf Council
Category: AP-Data Collection

I would like to submit my total support for preferred alternative #5 as written for amendment 28....
In addition I would add; that the sudden debate that has blown up over this proposed alternative, but recent upstart groups around the region, goes further to show, the sense of entitlement and resource ownership that has emerge as a result of the Gulf of Mexico Reef Fish Catch Share/IFQ program. These entitled fishermen that you created now have the nerve to state the alternative #5 is actually taking 500,000 pounds away form them, when nothing could be further form the truth. Alternative #5 does not reduce anyone's quota, and in fact if projections remain...all will be getting an increase in quota, yet these entitled fishermen have been counting on chickens that will fail to hatch. They view this as the recreational anglers taking away THEIR fish, fish they neither have ownership of, nor promise of in any future allocation. But by virtue of granting them (many of whom NO LNGER EVEN FISH) catch shares and IFQ, they now believe that they are entitled to these fish and any future fish that may be allocated.... This shows the deep problems with IFQ not only here in the GOM, but elsewhere. It is time to consider scrapping this failed method of management, which has divided communities, pitted fishermen against fishermen, granted entitlement rights to undeserving fishermen and has done nothing to reduce capacity or decrease the amount of fish and damage caused to the fishery by many of the industrial type practices employed.

So...Yes to amendment 28 Alternative #5 and no to individual ownership of the public trust resource....
Thank You

Bob Bryant - President/CEO
Actuarial Systems Group
www.subocorp.com
(727) 420-0722

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Monday, March 24, 2014 at 10:35:47 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kenny Redin (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 24, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kenny Redin
2320 Gracy Farms Ln Apt 1114
Austin, TX 78758-2316
(512) 966-3007

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Monday, March 24, 2014 at 9:22:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Clyde Blades

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider the CCA recommendation and support Alternative 5 .

Thank You

Sincerely,

Clyde G Blades
10724 Welcome Hites Dr
Baker, LA 70714

Subject: Snapper allocation

Date: Sunday, March 23, 2014 at 10:16:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bill Tempel

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 it's almost not worth my time or gas to go snapper fishing with the way things are now. I don't understand how you can continue to allocate with old science and expect the recreational anglers to accept that crap.

Sincerely,

Bill Tempel
1850 FM 1092 Rd
Missouri City, TX 77459

Subject: Red snapper reallocation

Date: Sunday, March 23, 2014 at 9:49:03 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Norman

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear sirs:

Please register my support for alternative 5 in the red snapper reallocation decision process.

Sincerely,

James Norman
4305 Oak Creek Dr
Nacogdoches, TX 75965

Subject: Red snapper allocation

Date: Sunday, March 23, 2014 at 8:21:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronald Luhn

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please vote for alternative 5 on red snapper allocation

Sincerely,

Ronald Luhn
2431 Country Meadows Ln
Brenham, TX 77833

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Sunday, March 23, 2014 at 8:19:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mary Ann Russo

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Amendment 28 would Hurt Small Business & Families Amendment 28 Proposals are Divisive & Unfair It's a False Promise. Please Oppose Amendment 28. Focus on Real Solutions. Thanking You in Advance for It's the Right Thing to do!
Mary Ann Russo, Boynton Beach, FL 33436

Mary Ann Russo
11211 S Military Trl
Boynton Beach, FL 33436

Subject: Catch Allocation to Recreational Fishermen

Date: Sunday, March 23, 2014 at 5:35:07 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: vincent wall

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I wish that you all think seriously about the effort that is put forth by recreational fishermen as well as the capital and expense. In order to maintain my boat I spend almost $5,000/year to the Surfside Marina for storing my boat. I spend another $700 plus to insure it and I spend about $4,000 or more a year in maintenance on my boat; again paid to the Surfside Marina. Of course with every trip, of which I take 15+ per year, I spend another $200-400 on fuel, ice and bait. My spending just like all the other recreational boat owners helps the economy of the Texas Coast. The Marina, the bait shack, the gasoline suppliers. incidentally, Surfside Marina is in Surfside, Texas, right by Freeport. When you make your decision on how to handle the allocations I sure hope you are keeping in mind what I and the other recreational boat owners are doing for the economy. I and the friends I take out with me love offshore fishing and I hope to continue it for the balance of my life but with the short seasons and low bag limit, I just wonder how long I will be able to justify the expense to my wife and family. Besides the expense, I invested $99,000 of capital when I purchased my 2004 Grady White 28 foot Sailfish (282) in 2007. I highly encourage you to give all of the recreational fishermen a fair and equitable shake when you make your determinations.

Sincerely,

vincent wall
7114 Mohave Hls
Houston, TX 77069

Subject: Snapper allocation

Date: Sunday, March 23, 2014 at 11:22:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: George Eash

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I fully support the cca's position on this matter, I vote and I hope you support it also. Thanks,George Eash

Sincerely,

George Eash
112 Donald Ross Pl
New Braunfels, TX 78130

Subject: Red Snapper allocation Amendment 28

Date: Saturday, March 22, 2014 at 5:43:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kathy Eicke

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Corky, Dale, Doug and Leann,

You have heard the arguments pro and con to allocating the red snapper quota above 9.12 mp to the recreational (75%) and commercial (25%) sectors. The simplest and fairest way to think about this is to consider a time perspective - the 51-49% allocation is dated from 1979-87 data - much of it non-existent and the fishery quite different from today. We have reached an historical point (9.12 mp) that demands this perspective be considered and recognition be accorded to the recreational sector based on its current status. We do need better data collection on recreational catch but that is a separate issue from how the Gulf Council decides the question before it. Give proper credit to the recreational sector that will only share in the increased stock with Alternative 5 and our commercial brethren will not be unduly impacted. A better relationship may well ensue. I buy red snapper periodically at seafood dealers and the price is not going to feed the masses - only put more money into a few pockets and deprive the recreational sector that goes out to catch red snapper more access for our limited trips, season, bag limit and opportunities.

Sincerely,

Kathy Eicke
6208 Wimbledon Cv
Ocean Springs, MS 39564

Subject: Alternate 5

Date: Saturday, March 22, 2014 at 5:43:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Timothy Bryant

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am an avid offshore recreational fisherman in the Gulf of Mexico particularly along the Texas coast. I spend an average of 15-20 days and nights in Port Aransas, Texas every year fishing in the gulf. I live in north Texas and travel to the gulf coast to fish. I spend several thousand dollars per year pursuing recreational fishing in the gulf with family and friends. Red snapper are a major part of the total fish we catch and subsequently bring back and eat. I strongly support Alternative 5 as a reasonable approach to the reallocation of the red snapper fishery. Please approve this measure.

Sincerely,

Timothy Bryant
6551 Brook Lake Dr
Dallas, TX 75248

Subject: Red snapper allocation

Date: Saturday, March 22, 2014 at 12:21:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Glen Cowan

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I want to voice my support for option #5 in the red snapper allocation. While it is not ideal, it is the best of the choices available. If you guys keep going down the road you are going, for the average recreational angler, it will not be worth going offshore to fish for red snapper and folks will quit going. If that is the desired result, by all means keep reducing the limits and shortening the season. That is my two cents on this matter. I hope it does not fall on deaf (or jaded) ears.

Sincerely,

Glen Cowan

Sincerely,

Glen Cowan
7631 Bronze Trail Dr
Humble, TX 77346

Subject: Fishing as a pastime and future

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 6:53:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ben Dorskocil

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Saltwater fishing has been my hobby for as long as I can remember. My father taught me the ropes and I now have the opportunity to carry on the tradition by taking others to experience my favorite pastime. I would like to start off by saying that I appreciate conservation efforts and am a member of the Coastal Conservation Association. For a profession, I am a Banker and I see fluctuations in our economy that are caused by various laws and regulations. One such example is a group of gentlemen (fellow employees, customers, and friends) who wanted to spend some of their hard earned money to go snapper fishing just this last year, but could not due to the season being closed because of quota limits. They were ready to spend money on hotels, boats, fuel, tips and other areas that would have spread throughout the economy not only where they were going but right here in our hometown. The bigger picture of this is that they are not the only fisherman who also could not spend the money that they were ready to inject into the economy. When you prevent people from being able to go fishing you not only hurt the economy now but you area affecting the economy for future generations who may not even know that they would like fishing because there was no season for recreational purposes. I don't really like any of the proposed options for the current discussion but I believe that "Alternative 5" is the only options that has been presented that sticks to the grass roots of our economy and will create growth for years to come.

Sincerely,

Ben Dorskocil
717 Craig St
Hillsboro, TX 76645

Subject: Reallocation of red snapper

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 5:51:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Wade, Jr

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please join me and CCA in supporting Alternative Five for reallocation of red snapper. This is very important in the future of our red snapper fishery. Thank you for your support with Alternative Five

Sincerely,

James Wade Jr
1580 Florida St
Mercedes, TX 78570

Subject: Red Snapper Re-allocation

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 3:35:07 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Joel Godwin

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing to you today in support for the re-allocation of Red Snapper for the Recreational Fisherman. This has been proven many times to be the best economical use of any fishery, bringing much needed jobs to all of the Gulf Coast States.

I would also like to state that the allocation process needs to be reviewed more frequently than in the past.

Thank You,

Sincerely,

Joel Godwin
729 Kingston Ct
Apollo Beach, FL 33572

Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 2:58:29 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Carolyn Wood

To: Gulf Council

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I am appalled at the Gulf Management Council's recommendation for the new allocation of the red snapper fishery. It is so biased to the recreational sector of the fishery as to leave doubt in the minds of many if there is not a hidden, buried agenda of future long term benefits for only the recreational sector. Even the announcement of the public hearings to address Amendment 28 slants this way. The announcement reads 'Amendment 28 examines allocating red snapper resources between the commercial and recreational sectors to increase the net benefits from red snapper fishing and improve the stability of the red snapper component of the reef fish fishery, particularly for the recreational sector.' I, for one, do not see how this reallocation 'increases the net benefits from red snapper fishing or improves the stability of the red snapper component of the reef fish fishery'.

Traditionally, the recreational sector has overfished their portion of the resource, resulting in shorter seasons and a reduced per person catch limit. So, by now allocating the recreational sector, we are suddenly improving the stability of red snapper? The truth is that this decision will not improve anything! How is NMFS going to monitor this improvement, when they don't even have a stable, reliable method to monitor the recreational catch? It appears that what is truly going on here is a move to carve a portion of the future commercial catch out for the for-hire sector of the recreational fishery. Why not be honest about it? Why all of the rhetoric to make it appear as something else?

Let's look at both fisheries for just a moment. Who does the recreational sector of the fishery feed? Families in the five Gulf of Mexico coastal states. Who does the commercial sector of the fishery feed? The entire nation. What the recreational sector does feed are the pockets of the business owners who cater to them, the boat, fishing tackle and related manufacturers who in turn feed the pockets of the lobbyists trying to rule this Council. Which side of this fishery pays for its own enforcement? It certainly isn't the recreational sector. Is that going to be the case now? Will the for-hire sector of the recreational fishery be asked for 3% of their charter/headboat fees to enforce their industry? Will the recreational sector be charged more for their fishery licenses to enforce their portion of the industry?

The commercial fishery has worked hard over many years so that the red snapper fishery could rebuild, which it is doing. There have been many sacrifices on the part of the small hardworking fleet of commercial vessels during this time. And now, the Gulf Council wants to repeat what has happened in previous fisheries (speckled trout and redfish) by pushing the fishery into the recreational sector. If red snapper is increasingly set aside for recreational fishers, then supplies of wild, sustainably managed, Gulf of Mexico red snapper will disappear for millions of Americans. Restaurant owners, legitimate fish houses and the consumers will be on the losing side of the coin.

If this amendment is passed, you are also guaranteeing that the commercial sector will, over the future years, never see much of an increase in their prices as the back door sales of fish to neighborhood markets, small restaurants and individuals will gradually increase as their catch limits increase. These violations, which occur even now, are virtually unstoppable given the lack of enforcement on land. Over the past 20 years, the increase in fish prices has absolutely not kept up with the increases in the price of fuel, ice, tackle, insurance, virtually everything necessary to run a fishing operation.

Early into the management of reef fisheries and the division of the red snapper industry into commercial and recreational sectors, one of the amendments stated that any future amendments would divide the allocation fairly between the two sectors. Please tell me how this new allocation division of anything over 9.2 million pounds into a 75% recreational share and a 25% recreational share is fair to both sectors?

Say NO to this recommendation for Amendment 28!!

Carolyn Wood
739 Cadillac Avenue
Dauphin Island, AL 36528

Subject: I support alternative 5!

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 1:45:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kyle Harris

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Thank you, kyle

Sincerely,

Kyle Harris
3642 County Road 506
Brazoria, TX 77422

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 1:39:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gregory Cooney

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to acknowledge my support for Alternative 5 reallocation of red snapper. I believe this is a balanced allocation for commercial and recreational fisherman

Sincerely,

Gregory Cooney
3511 Vienna Dr
College Station, TX 77845

March 25, 2014

Mr. Doug Boyd, Chairman
Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council
2205 North Lois Avenue
Suite 1100
Tampa, Florida 33607

RE: Amendment 28 to the Reef Fish Fishery Management Plan [Red Snapper Allocation]

Dear Chairman Boyd,

On behalf of The Pew Charitable Trusts (Pew), please accept the following comments on red snapper allocation for consideration by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council (Gulf Council) regarding Amendment 28 (Am28) to the Reef Fish Fishery Management Plan. In general, Pew supports periodic and systematic review of all allocations, though we typically do not get involved in specific allocation decisions. However, for red snapper in Am28, there are conservation issues that merit serious consideration as part of the reallocation deliberations. Specifically, any shifts in allocation of red snapper to the recreational fishery should be accompanied with accountability measures (AMs) to more effectively constrain the recreational sector to the prescribed annual catch limit (ACL). A new action with an appropriate suite of alternatives should be added to Am28, with specific measures selected as preferred alternatives to address in-season and post-season AMs. Adding measures to constrain the recreational catch can build in conservation benefits to reallocation, satisfying the amendment's purpose and need to prevent overfishing, in addition to meeting legal requirements.

Another important consideration is that, broadly speaking, if the Gulf Council wishes to stabilize and expand recreational fishing opportunities, it should consider all proposed management actions that would affect the red snapper fishery. Specifically, the Gulf Council should consider the effects of removing the "30B permit provision", sector separation and other management strategies, as well as changes to the management goal for red snapper in conjunction with this amendment to ensure that any one specific action does not limit overall benefits to the fishery or jeopardize rebuilding.

While overfishing for red snapper ended, the population is still overfished and remains under a rebuilding plan currently projected to culminate in 2032. Any action taken by the Gulf Council should be designed to rebuild by or before the scheduled timeline. Without the proper management controls in place, shifting allocation to the recreational fishery could jeopardize the rebuilding plan, which has been ongoing since 1990 because of persistent quota overages. If the Gulf Council continues to pursue reallocation in Am28, specific measures, as outlined below, should be included to improve red snapper management and ensure that the rebuilding plan stays on track. Adding AMs to Am28 also provides better justification for increasing allocation to the recreational fishery by promoting conservation in the reallocation decision, as is required under National Standard 4.

As it now stands, this amendment:

- Does not specifically meet or fully address the stated purpose and need for this action because simply increasing allocation does not stabilize the fishery nor prevent overfishing on its own.
- Does not comply with several provisions of the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (MSA) because the recreational regulations for red snapper do not include AMs to help prevent overfishing and promote conservation.
- Is not consistent with National Standard guidelines to comply with the MSA because management plans for species in rebuilding plans should have AMs.
- Does not adequately minimize the risk of overfishing and ensure rebuilding stays on course.

To remedy these deficiencies, a new action with alternatives for in-season and post-season accountability measures should be added to Am28 such as:

- Adopting an annual catch target (ACT) which would be used to set management measures such as season length and bag limits, and reduce the likelihood of the recreational sector exceeding its portion of the ACL.
- Applying quota paybacks to account for overages of the ACL.

The council has considered AMs for the recreational red snapper fishery in prior actions, and it remains an action in Amendment 39 (although it is unclear at this point if Am39 will be enacted). Consequently, much of the supporting documentation and analysis should be available and may readily be included in Am28. We recognize that adding an action in Am28 would likely prompt the need for the preparation of a supplemental Draft Environmental Impact Statement, causing a slight delay in the timing of the final public hearing. However, final action could be taken in June and the May special meeting can be used to take public comments from stakeholders in the northern Gulf on reallocation and AMs. Therefore, we recommend including AMs for red snapper as a new action in Am28, just as the Gulf Council has done for the region's other overfished species (greater amberjack, gag and gray triggerfish) to enhance the conservation benefits of reallocation, to reduce the risk of overfishing, and to maintain adequate progress towards achieving the goals of the rebuilding plan.

Purpose and Need Not Satisfied

Adding in a new action considering AMs and selecting preferred alternatives designed to constrain the recreational catch and prevent overfishing can also help satisfy the stated purpose and need in Am28:

“The purpose of this action is to reallocate red snapper resources between the commercial and recreational sectors to increase the net benefits from red snapper fishing and increase the stability of the red snapper component of the reef fish fishery, particularly for the recreational sector that has experienced shorter and shorter seasons. The need for the proposed actions is to prevent overfishing while achieving the optimum yield, particularly with respect to food production and recreational opportunities, while rebuilding the red snapper stock” [emphasis added].¹

Without this additional action, reallocation on its own offers no new measures to increase stability or prevent overfishing. Under Am28, the same recreational management strategy using the same method to project the length of the recreational red snapper season would still be utilized. This approach has resulted in large overruns of the recreational sector’s allocation nearly every year since 2007 by a million pounds or more. Managers’ ability to accurately project the season length does not improve simply by increasing the recreational quota. No discussion or analysis is provided in the document to show how this amendment would result in a different outcome and bring about the desired stability for the recreational sector in this fishery. Nor is there any analysis or discussion to demonstrate how overfishing would be prevented through increased allocation to the recreational sector. Furthermore, no specific management changes to stabilize the fishery or to prevent overfishing are proposed in Am28 as it is currently drafted.

However, discussion in Am28 does point to the need for additional measures to prevent the recreational quota from being exceeded and suggests management changes should be considered. Specifically:

“Even with additional quota, continuing to rely on existing management measures to slow harvest may allow [two] problems to continue.”²

In other words:

“Alongside the short seasons and lag time to calculate landings from MRIP, quota overages are likely to continue under the system of predicting season length based on past fishing effort”.

Amendment 28 provides suggestions for additional measures to reduce quota overages:

“Examples of management changes....include the adoption of accountability measures or implementation of real time quota monitoring” [emphasis added].³

It is presumed that increases in allocation to the recreational fishery under the proposed preferred alternative will allow additional fishing opportunities and longer seasons. However, as the discussion in Am28 points out, the proposed increase in allocation is roughly equivalent to what the recreational sector has actually been catching.⁴ Therefore, it is likely that the increase in allocation will not allow for substantially longer seasons, at least in the short-term, without resulting in significant overages.

¹ Reef Fish Amendment 28, Red Snapper Allocation, Draft Public Hearing Draft, January 28, 2014, pg 5.

² Ibid., pg 36.

³ Ibid, pg 37.

⁴ Ibid.

Additionally, previous council action conflicts with the stated intent of Am28 to stabilize the recreational red snapper fishery and to allow for a longer recreational fishing season. Specifically, council approval in February 2014 of a Framework Action to rescind permit conditions in the for-hire reef fish sector destabilizes the recreational fishery and will likely result in shorter federal seasons. This in turn will likely make it even harder for managers to keep the recreational fishery within its portion of the ACL and prevent overfishing.⁵ It is unclear how destabilizing the fishery in another action combined with simply reallocating quota in this action stabilizes the recreational fishery, extends seasons, and prevents overfishing. Therefore, as currently drafted, Am28 does not satisfy its own stated purpose and need, and additional measures are warranted. The potential conflict in outcomes from these two actions further points to the need to consider management measures that affect the red snapper fishery in concert with each other rather than as discrete, separate actions.

Compliance with the Magnuson Stevens Act and National Standards

According to the MSA, any fishery management plan or regulation to implement a plan shall be consistent with the 10 national standards.⁶ National Standard 1 (NS1), which is a central driving policy of NOAA for implementation of the MSA, states:

“Conservation and management measures shall prevent overfishing while achieving, on a continuing basis, the optimum yield from each fishery for the United States fishing industry.”⁷

To prevent overfishing, the MSA requires councils to set catch limits that do *not exceed the fishing level recommendations of its scientific and statistical committee*⁸ (SSC) and requires fishery management plans to:

“establish a mechanism for specifying annual catch limits in the plan (including a multiyear plan), implementing regulations, or annual specifications, at a level such that overfishing does not occur in the fishery, including measures to ensure accountability” [emphasis added].⁹

As outlined above, for councils to implement regulations to prevent overfishing and comply with the MSA, ACLs should be designed so catch won't exceed scientific limits established by the council's SSC, and regulations should include accountability measures. However, high recreational overages in the red snapper recreational fishery have occurred frequently in recent years. Since 2007, landings over the recreational ACL have occurred in every year except for 2010 (when the Deepwater Horizon disaster occurred) ranging from 19% to 89% over the ⁵ Modifications to the Reef Fish Permit Condition for For-Hire Vessels, Draft Framework Action to the Reef Fish FMP, February 2014.

⁶ 16 U.S.C. 1851, MSA § 301(a)

⁷ 16 U.S.C. 1851, MSA § 301(a)(1)

⁸ 16 U.S.C. 1852, MSA § 302 (h)(6)

⁹ 16 U.S.C. 1853, MSA § 303(a)(15)

quota.¹⁰ In contrast, the commercial fishery has not exceeded its ACL in the past seven years. These overages, along with the lack of accountability measures, are the primary subject of a lawsuit against NOAA brought by red snapper commercial fishermen.¹¹ Although Pew is in no way engaged in this litigation, we offer the observation that if the court finds in favor of the plaintiffs in this matter, accountability measures such as those suggested in this letter will likely be required for this fishery. Thus, it would be prudent for the Council to utilize the opportunity presented by consideration of Am28 to proactively address this issue now.

National Standard 1 guidelines offer technical assistance from NOAA for councils to prevent overfishing while maintaining optimum yield. Presently, regulations for red snapper are not consistent with NS1 because there are no specific AMs to prevent or recover overages. Adding AMs to red snapper recreational regulations has been discussed in past Gulf Council documents and most recently in Amendment 39 looking at regional management of the recreational fishery. As discussed in Am39¹², not having AMs for red snapper is inconsistent with the NS1 guidelines.¹³ In particular, overage adjustments should be included in regulations because red snapper are still overfished. Per the NS1 guidelines:

“For stocks and stock complexes in rebuilding plans, the AMs should include overage adjustments that reduce the ACLs in the next fishing year by the full amount of the overages, unless the best scientific information available shows that a reduced overage adjustment, or no adjustment, is needed to mitigate the effects of the overages” [emphasis added].¹⁴

Additionally, further guidance for NS1 is provided for fisheries with repeated overages:

“If catch exceeds the ACL for a given stock or stock complex more than once in the last four years, the system of ACLs and AMs should be re-evaluated, and modified if necessary, to improve its performance and effectiveness” [emphasis added].¹⁵

To prevent ACL overages, the NS1 guidelines recommend the use of an ACT when in-season controls are ineffective:

“For fisheries without in-season management control to prevent the ACL from being exceeded, AMs should utilize ACTs that are set below ACLs so that catches do not exceed the ACL” [emphasis added].¹⁶

In-season and post-season AMs are intended to be part of the conservation and management measures for species within federal FMPs in order to prevent overfishing and maintain rebuilding. Fortunately, the red snapper recreational ACL overages have not exceeded the levels

¹⁰ Public Hearing Draft for Amendment 28 to the Reef Fish FMP, February 2014, Table 3.1.3, pg 28. The range if overages does not include the high overage of 2013.

¹¹ Guindon v. Pritzker, Case 1:13-cv-00988-RWR, filed 06/28/13.

¹² Final Draft for Amendment 39 to the Reef Fish FMP, pg 33, discussion for Action 6, Alternative 1.

¹³ 50 CFR 600.310(g)

¹⁴ 50 CFR 600.310(g)(3)

¹⁵ Ibid.

¹⁶ 50 CFR 600.310(g)(2)

that would trigger an overfishing classification (i.e., the “overfishing level” or OFL) despite overages near 90% in some years. However, that has mostly been happenstance rather than by design given the high management uncertainty in the recreational fishery. In particular, it is difficult to project the season length due to unpredictable and inconsistent regulations for red snapper in state waters across several Gulf States. Clearly, in order to fully comply with the MSA and follow the guidance of NS1, accountability measures should be included in the recreational red snapper management measures to maintain catch within the scientifically determined limits and to prevent overfishing.

National Standard 4 (NS4) of the MSA requires that allocations should be “reasonably calculated to promote conservation.”¹⁷ The agency guidelines for complying with NS4 state that an “allocation scheme may promote conservation by encouraging a rational, more easily managed use of the resource” [emphasis added].¹⁸ Yet, Am28 offers no description or analysis of how reallocating the total red snapper ACL encourages a more easily managed use of the resource considering the continuous high recreational overages and the commercial sector’s adherence to its limits. Without mechanisms in Am28 to promote conservation, such as accountability measures, the sole reallocation action of Am28 is inconsistent with NS4.

To conclude, as drafted with a single action to reallocate a greater proportion of the red snapper ACL to the recreational fishery, Am28 does not meet the document’s own purpose and need. It also does not comply with several MSA provisions and is not consistent with NS1 and NS4. Simply reallocating red snapper quota may lead to overfishing and jeopardize the rebuilding plan. To remedy these deficiencies, AMs designed to maintain catch at or below the total ACL should be added to the regulations for the red snapper recreational fishery. This would entail adding a new action in the document with a suite of AM alternatives, including in-season and post season AMs, and selecting preferred alternatives within that new action. Final action may have to be delayed until June 2014, but Am28 would then have the necessary conservation elements before final approval.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide comments on the Public Hearing Draft for Amendment 28. We look forward to continuing to work with the Council, staff, and stakeholders to improve the conservation and management of fisheries while enhancing fishing opportunities.

Sincerely,

Chad W. Hanson
Officer, U.S. Oceans, Southeast
The Pew Charitable Trusts

¹⁷ 16 U.S.C. 1851, MSA § 301(a)(4)

¹⁸ 50 CFR 600.325(c)(3)(ii)

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 5:49:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: scott marshall

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please let the red snapper allocation be updated. I support alternative 5. Thank You Scott Marshall

Sincerely,

scott marshall
219 Shady Lane Ave
Long Beach, MS 39560

Subject: Recreational Anglers

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 11:18:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Chad Bellard

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The recreational anglers should have more days to fish and more fish to catch. Commercial fishing industry, is killing all of the young snapper. Louisiana W/F needs to control our own waters and fish limits. Tell the FEDs to go play with the Atlantic Ocean side.

P.S. If the FEDS keep this up, everyone in the south will start playing Golf instead of teaching their future kids to fish and hunt.

Sincerely,

CPL
101 Medina Dr
Lafayette, LA 70503

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Friday, March 21, 2014 at 9:17:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Stuart Lewis

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It's time to tip the allocation to the recreational fisherman with a vote for Alternative 5. Give the snapper population a chance along with the folks that enjoy the occasional fishing trip.

Sincerely,

Stuart Lewis
2221 Dunstan Rd
Houston, TX 77005

Subject: Snapper

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 11:18:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gary Carville

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I believe the sport fisherman will do much more for the state economy than any commercial fishery

Sincerely,

Gary Carville
208 Elaine St
Victoria, TX 77904

Subject: allocation #5

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 9:21:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Larry Henderson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I stongly agree that #5 is a good start to make it fair for all fishermen

Sincerely,

Larry Henderson
2412 Primrose Dr
Pasadena, TX 77502

Subject: In Support of Alternative 5

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 7:47:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Georgette Jacob

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in Support of Alternative 5 so we can protect recreational fishing for our families.

Georgette Jacob

Sincerely,

Georgette Jacob
315 W 31st St
Houston, TX 77018

Subject: red snapper

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 7:14:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James Ferguson, Jr.

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

the current share is unfair for the rec. fisherman, we spend more money in the coastal economy, taxes & votes. So why is just a few allowed the reward to more than there share.

Sincerely,

James Ferguson Jr.
105 Garnett Rd
Rockport, TX 78382

Subject: Alternative 5 to Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 6:43:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Liza Evans

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 to Amendment 28 as the most reasonable method to Red Snapper reallocation and I wish you would too. The current allocation method is outdated and Alternative 5 seems to be the best option on the table and in the best interest of conservation and recreational anglers. Conservation is an important issue and the financial interest of commercial fisherman should not be the deciding factor in this decision. Please hear my voice and represent me well. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Liza Evans
2901 Bammel Ln Apt 56
Houston, TX 77098

Subject: red snapper

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 5:27:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: colleen nunez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support alternative 5

Thanks

Sincerely,

colleen nunez
139 Ridgewood Dr
Pass Christian, MS 39571

Subject: RED SNAPPER ALLOCATIONS

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 4:15:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: JOHN TAYLOR

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

PLEASE VOTE FOR APPROVAL OF ALTERNATIVE 5 WHICH WOULD GO A LONG WAY TOWARDS REALLOCATION OF RED SMAPPER HARVEST. THE CURRENT SYSTEM DOES NOT WORK BECAUSE ACCURATE DATA DOES NOT EXIST FOR THE RECREATIONAL SECTOR

I APLAUD THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE HEADBOAT SURVEY TO CORRECT THIS AND GIVE THE FISHERMAN A FAIR SHOT AT RED SMAPPER. VOTE FOR ALTERNATIVE 5!!!

Sincerely,

JOHN TAYLOR
3364 Townsend Dr
Dallas, TX 75229

Subject: Gulf Red Snapper Allocations

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 3:37:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Christopher Burke

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen,

I realize you are probably getting a ton of these messages, so I'll be brief. Please consider updating the Gulf Red Snapper Allocation to Alternative No. 5.

Although I am a recreational angler, I doubt that even this allocation will significantly change my personal frequency of offshore trips for red snapper (or lack thereof). I don't know if it would affect that frequency for any recreational angler, but history shows that if the commercial allocation is increased, it will certainly be landed.

As a businessman, I know its important to preserve the economic value associated with both recreational and commercial ventures. But the conservationist in me knows that appropriate regulation must be applied to commercial to avoid depletion of any natural resource.

Sincerely,

Very truly yours, Chris Burke, Houston, TX
10114 Green Tree Rd
Houston, TX 77042

Subject: Management of Red Snapper
Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 3:36:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Frank Rawlings
To: Gulf Council
Category: AP-Red Drum, Recreational

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This note is to strongly urge you to adopt alternatives for management of the Red Snapper Allocation recommended by the GOMFMC. I have been a licensed commercial fisherman and a recreational angler for 40+ years and this resource needs to be managed to allow the majority of the public to harvest, within national guidelines, Red Snapper year round if possible. The recreational sector contributes much more money into supporting a healthy red snapper resource via its use of other fishery supporting businesses (eg: fuel, bait, tackle, boats, etc...).

Sincerely,

Frank Rawlings

Sincerely,

Frank Rawlings
3430 Bienville Blvd
Ocean Springs, MS 39564

Subject: Red sanpper allocations

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 3:17:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Marlin McMullen

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm writing to express my support for Alternative 5 that is currently under consideration, regarding Red Snapper allocations in the Gulf of Mexico.

Sincerely,

Marlin McMullen
5309 TX State Highway 62
Buna, TX 77612

Subject: SNAPPER REGS

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 3:01:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Maddock

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have heard the argument for allocation of so much of a public resource to a few {commercial permit holders}is based on their families and protecting their way of life. It would be nice if I could have a monopoly on furniture customers and forbid anyone else from opening a store in my town. We have children who want to follow in our footsteps also. What if I had saved all my life to be a commercial fisherman, but now have to buy a license from someone with history? Do they have to do anything special to compete with me? No, they have free reign, even though our history here is over 100 years. So, do you think it's fair to allott over half the public resource to someone with catch history? We have weeks to fish for a resource that has rebounded immensely in Texas, while they get to fish year-round! Come out with me and I'll show you how endangered they are. Sincerely, John Maddock

Sincerely,

John Maddock
1417 W Paisano Dr
Rockport, TX 78382

Subject: Support for Alternative 5

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 2:40:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Drahozal

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I agree with my CCA colleageas that Alternative 5 is the best option at this time

Sincerely,

Michael Drahozal
1617 Pine Chase Dr
Houston, TX 77055

Subject: Red Snapper

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 2:05:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Steven Pinson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5 for the red snapper allocation. The commercial interest are using outdated data and their economic impact does not justify their limit.

Sincerely,

Steven Pinson
8655 FM 3237
Driftwood, TX 78619

Subject: Red snapper

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 1:45:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Daniel Morgan

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

With some of the best experts, accurate data out there why are we still using 1979 data to base these decisions for us today. It would be like basing your retirement on what you made 20 years ago. I get so tired being made a fool of.

I am supporting Alternative 5. It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation, perhaps even too reasonable, but it is the most viable allocation option on the table.

Sincerely,

Daniel Morgan
14515 Avalon Ave
Baton Rouge, LA 70816

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 1:45:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronald Zetik

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support anything to increase the snapper allocation for the recreational angler. This gives the best economic impact for more than just the commercial fishermen.

Sincerely,

Ronald Zetik
5114 Glenhaven Dr
Baytown, TX 77521

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 12:39:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Daniel Thompson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support CCA in their stance for alternative 5 on this issue. Far more tax dollars are generated by the private fishing sector than what is generated by the commercial fishing sector. Please vote in favor of the private fishing sector. I will certainly be exercising my right to vote come election time.

Sincerely,

Daniel Thompson
3510 Rip Ford Dr
Austin, TX 78732

Subject: red snapper allocation

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 12:33:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Pontius

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

We definitely need to vote for prop 5 as it's not worth going off-shore to catch spade-fish or a limit on trigger-fish we throw away to many under-size snapper to be eaten by dolphin etc John

Sincerely,

John Pontius
5500 N Braeswood Blvd Apt 233
Houston, TX 77096

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 12:12:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Singleton

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 for the allocation. Please preserve the fishery for the recreational fisherman....

Sincerely,

David Singleton
100 Winding Oak Dr
Leander, TX 78641

Subject: Red Snapper

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 11:41:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Greg Callaway

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support more snapper allocation to the recreational sector....

The hard working coastal recreational community needs our support to make a living....

I fish offshore a few times a year and have seen the huge amount of snapper that are now available off the Texas coast....

I have been fishing offshore for 40 years...and there are more snapper than ever available.

Sincerely,

Greg Callaway
9516 Woodland Hls
San Antonio, TX 78250

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 11:38:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Glen Wilson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Glen Wilson
13710 Wheatbridge Dr
Houston, TX 77041

Subject: Red snapper allocation

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 11:38:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Aaron Theilengerdes

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

To whom It may concern:

I am in favor of seeing the red snapper allocation updated. Therefore I am in of Alternative 5!

Sincerely,

Aaron Theilengerdes
4803 El Gusto St
San Antonio, TX 78233

Subject: Gulf Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 11:06:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jon Snelling

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support alternative 5 for Gulf Red Snapper allocation. Recreational fishermen provide a huge amount of economic support for the Gulf Coast Region, much of which has suffered from environmental and weather related disasters over the past several years.

Thank You

Sincerely,

Jon B Snelling MD
2225 Saddlewood Blvd
Kerrville, TX 78028

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 10:47:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Andrew Fulton

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing quickly to encourage you to support Alternative 5. This is the most reasonable path to reallocation, and the best thing for the Gulf Coast. The present model is based on 30 year-old science - Alternative 5 is the only logical approach being discussed. Thanks for your consideration,

Andrew Fulton

Sincerely,

Andrew Fulton
1834 Tiki Dr
Tiki Island, TX 77554

Subject: Redfish

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 10:34:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Vernon Ebert, j

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am for Alt. 5.

Sincerely,

Vernon Ebert
2004 Shallow Stream Cv
Austin, TX 78735

Subject: Red Snapper Quota

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 9:58:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John Barnett

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm with CCA in supporting Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

John Barnett
725 FM 1959 Rd Apt 910
Houston, TX 77034

Subject: Res snapper allocation

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 8:01:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jeffery Craddock

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Good morning gentlemen, please remember the hundreds of thousands of dollars that are spent by recreational fisherman that are spent by weekend after weekend trips driving south to hunt for beautiful mornings in the huge body of water we call our playground. Most red snapper fisherman generate great economics throughout the week making enough money to be able to afford offshore fishing, after working five days a week we take our hard earned cash and invest in fifty thousand dollar trucks to pull hundred thousand dollar rigs to the gulf where we fill up with overpriced fuel and supplies to gather just enough snapper filet to feed two people. If you leave commercial fisherman to the majority of the allotment it will not lead to local reinvestment, it just brings hard case deckhands from different bordering states that will migrate to the next area that can be plundered. Louisiana has always been a sportsmans paradise and should be known for that. Please keep our fisheries out of federal politics. Thank you for your time, gotta go make money so I can haul my family to the coast this weekend. JEFF CRADDOCK

Sincerely,

Jeffery Craddock
7861 English Oak Rd
Denham Springs, LA 70706

Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 7:56:33 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: William Labrie (sent by KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org>)

To: Gulf Council

Mar 20, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Labrie
451 Palmetto St
Dunedin, FL 34698-4969

Subject: Redfish quotas-alternate 5

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 7:13:04 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Victor Pardo, Sr

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Redfish quotas need to be re-addressed, I request you to set right this outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Victor Pardo Sr
3902 Pecan Valley Dr
Missouri City, TX 77459

Subject: Amendment 28

Date: Thursday, March 20, 2014 at 5:30:09 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mr. & Mrs. Charles Franks

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I will recommend alternative # 5 even though I think that recreational fishermen deserve a higher percentage of the annual red snapper allotment. I also have the following comments:

There are more red snapper now than in the last 40 years.

States should not be lumped together. Texas has a different red snapper fishery than Florida.

There needs to be more flexibility on dates available to allow for inclement weather. June traditionally can be a very windy month.

A discussion should be held on keeping the first caught fish regardless of length. Currently porpoises eat most of the throwbacks and that helps no one or the recruitment of red snapper.

Thank you.

Charles Franks

Sincerely,

Charles Franks
2168 Navajo Pass
League City, TX 77573

Subject: red snapper

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 11:43:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: james musil

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please choose alternative 5 for the red snapper harvest limits.

Thank you

Sincerely,

j musil
2205 Paradise Ln
Flower Mound, TX 75022

Subject: Red snapper re-allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 11:46:03 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mr. & Mrs. Bill Cloyd

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I fish out of Matagorda ,mostly in the bays, but when weathear and waves allow I head for snapper . I am in support of re#5

Sincerely,

Bill Cloyd
336 Kelly Rd
Magnolia, TX 77354

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 10:11:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Martin, W

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I as a CCA member and have been for many years also support alternative 5. CCA and its members have done a lot more for the fishery than the commercial industry ever thought about doing other than trying to keep sport fisherman from a fair share of the fishery

Sincerely,

Robert Martin W
2540 Harrison St
Beaumont, TX 77702

Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 10:00:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dixie Wofford

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would prefer Alternative 5 as the way to allocate the division of red snapper between commercial and pleasure fishermen.

Thank you

Dixie Wofford

Sincerely,

Dixie Wofford
12500 Ballerstedt Rd
Elgin, TX 78621

Subject: Red snapper!

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 9:44:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dennis Berg

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please quit the good old boy politics.

Give us (Rod & Reel Fishermen) What GOD gave us,true Red Snapper Fishing.

Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Dennis Berg
6927 Silver Star Dr
Houston, TX 77086

Subject: alternative 5-reallocate Red Snapper

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 9:18:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Wayman Walker, SR

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

i am an avid Texas angler and ask you to support Alternative 5. please do your best to insure fairness for all

Sincerely,

Wayman Walker SR
PO Box 6238
San Antonio, TX 78209

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 9:08:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Lucas Russell

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Not sure who this is going to, but I vote for Alternative 5 if it in anyway will allow recreational fisherman to keep more snapper.

I fish out of Freeport at least a couple dozen times a year and can see the Red Snapper population is much improved.

It is crazy that you are allowed to only keep 2 fish with such a short season.

Almost as crazy as tearing down all the rigs, killing thousands of Snapper.

Also, I was out about fifty miles one day and watched a commercial boat catching snapper. All the ones they couldn't keep they just threw back in the water. I swear there must have been a hundred fish just floating away to die. If this is the attitude the commercial guys have toward our fisheries the less "fishing" they can do the better.

Lucas Russell

Sincerely,

Lucas Russell
2503 Lynn Dr
Pearland, TX 77581

Subject: Red Snapper in the Gulf

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 9:03:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Kimi Duplichan

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Gulf Council:

My husband and I are recreational fishermen and women. As a matter of fact our marina has many couples who fish recreationally and have been severely affected by the severely reduced federal red snapper season. Many recreational fishermen have sold their boats because with only 8 weeks of snapper fishing, the cost of going off shore without a guarantee of bringing back dinner was just not worth the expense. Most charter boats were also put out of business in our marina.

How in the world anyone gets away with setting limits with 30 year old data is beyond my comprehension.

At least with this Alternative when the commercial guys hit their quota (I am sure they will stop and not go beyond it; it's an honorable business, right?) then the recreational fisherman can at least have another shot at catching some of the ABUNDANT Red Snapper out in our Gulf.

You know, really, commercial guys want and need the small 13-20 inch Red Snapper, maybe we should make them fish State waters and Recreational fisherman can fish federal ALL YEAR or at least half a year.

Also let me remind you Council that recreational fisherman spend a bunch of money every year on fuel, bait, ice, boats, marina, beer and food to go fishing every possible weekend. We put that back into our communities.

All of us Recreational anglers spend our weekdays working and don't always have time to go to yet another red snapper hearing. Where NOTHING happens.

Council, we CAN NOT let another year go by using the 30-year-old data. Much less let it stand for another 30 years. PLEASE hear our calls and correct this severe injustice.

Really, recreational Angers would be happy with a 3-6 month season. Injustice is so one-sided; it is so discouraging.

There is really NOT a shortage of red snapper. It is just another way the federal fisheries put snub their noses at the hard working recreational anglers.

Kimi L. Duplichan, PHR

Sincerely,

Kimi Duplichan
5933 Woodway Place Ct
Houston, TX 77057

Subject: update reallocation of red snapper

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 8:52:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jay Navarro

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I, Jay Navarro, support our CCA Mid-coast chapter and ALTERNATIVE 5 for the updated reallocation of red snapper.

Sincerely,

Jay Navarro
3001 Arroyo Dr Apt 807
Victoria, TX 77901

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 8:47:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Julia Burns

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please use Alternative 5 as suggested by the CCA for reallocation of Snapper quota, and update the old laws on the books. Thank you-

Sincerely,

Julia Burns
415 Scenic Vw
Friendswood, TX 77546

Subject: Red snapper Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 8:14:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Frank Wilson

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support alternative 5 for red snapper allocation to put more of the allocation into the recreational fisheries.

Thank you,
Frank Wilson

Sincerely,

Frank Wilson
5419 County Road 73A
Robstown, TX 78380

Subject: alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 7:41:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: James King

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please choose alternative 5 for the on the upcoming vote on Red Snapper allocation.

Sincerely,

James King
12322 Meadowdale Dr
Stafford, TX 77477

Subject: Snapper allocations

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 7:38:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mark klotz

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please do not further reduce our allotments. Here on the Texas coast most days during red snapper season are not fishable for most recreational anglers due to poor seas and weather conditions. Although our state waters are open year round there are almost no areas where they can be caught due to the shallow coast. I also feel the over management of RS has resulted in the loss or decline of other species. The Triggerfish are all but gone as a result of this as their juveniles are found in the bellies of the RS we are allowed to take. If we are to lose more quota then at least delay the start of season to July 1 so the western gulf anglers are able to go out and actually catch our RS. Please consider the impact of your decision on the economy of the recreational angler not just the lobbyist paid by the Commercial segment.

Sincerely,

Mark klotz
872 Falling Springs Ln
League City, TX 77573

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 5:15:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Richard Vasquez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support CCA and Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Richard Vasquez
2418 Pilgrims Bend Dr
Friendswood, TX 77546

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 5:15:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Shanna Obenberger

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Guys, thanks for your service! It's time to update the snapper allocations. Please support Alternative #5.

Keep up the good work and the fight.

Shanna O

Sincerely,

Shanna Obenberger
2230 Scenic Shore Dr
Seabrook, TX 77586

Subject: Amendment 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 5:03:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Donny Dosser

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Amendment 5

Sincerely,

Donny Dosser
271 Plum Cir
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 4:50:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jon Claybourn, Jr

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider Alternative 5 for red snapper allocation

Sincerely,

Jon N Claybourn Jr
128 San Bernard St
Bay City, TX 77414

Subject: Please support Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 4:49:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Todd Phillips

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5 as a reasonable way to fairly reallocate the red snapper limits for commercial and recreational fishermen, and to help preserve the sustainability of the harvest. Thank you, Todd Phillips

Sincerely,

Todd Phillips
15206 Fall Ridge Dr
San Antonio, TX 78247

Subject: Snapper Reallocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 4:35:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Dennis Vader

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5 for reallocation.

Thank You

D.G.Vader

Sincerely,

Dennis Vader
217 Sutherland Ln
League City, TX 77573

Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 4:13:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Martin Menchaca

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like for my council member to support Amendment 28 Alternative 5. I am a big Red Snapper fishermen who thinks it's just ridiculous that the season is only 3 weeks or so. I see tons of Red Snapper at every fish market and I can only go fishing for a limited time of the year makes no sense.

Thank you very much for the support.

Sincerely,

Martin Menchaca
8727 Ashlawn Dr
Houston, TX 77083

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 4:12:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronan Gregg

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gulf Council Texas

I am writing you to vote for Amendment 28 Alternative 5 which is a better choice for both commercial and recreational fisherman. We have followed a 30 year old plan for way too many years and it is time to allocate more to the recreational fisherman. So I hope you will listen to us and vote for Amendment 28 Alternative 5

Thanks

Ronan Gregg

Sincerely,

Ronan Gregg
5435 Dumfries Dr
Houston, TX 77096

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 4:11:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Ronald Williams

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs: Please use common sense and CURRENT scientific data in your decisions. Do not be swayed by self interests and the " this is the way we have always done it" philosophy. Be Fair!!!

Sincerely,

Ronald Williams
3500 Walton Ave
Fort Worth, TX 76133

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 3:21:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David McCollum

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5. We need to re-allocate percentages away from commercial fisherman and toward recreational fisherman who are typically better stewards.

Sincerely,

David McCollum
1 Pleasant Cv
Austin, TX 78746

Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 3:10:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: david rodriguez

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I believe its only right that the public has an opportunity to enjoy the fruits of the sea and not have to pay for it at a grocery store. Not often are we able to go fish for red snapper but when we do our limitations are small. As for the commercial side of it if this allocation occurs the numbers of the snapper will increase as far as population.

Sincerely,

david rodriguez
17639 Arcadia Point Ln
Humble, TX 77346

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 3:07:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Gene Schwall

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I wish to communicate my support of Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Gene Schwall
4118 Garden Branch Ct
Katy, TX 77450

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 2:59:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Thomas O'Brien

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support and urge you to vote for Alternative 5 in the Red Snapper Reallocation issue.

Sincerely,

Thanks, Tom O'Brien
33 S Rue Charles
San Antonio, TX 78217

Subject: Red Snapper Fishing & Conservation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 2:59:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Paul Kageler

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 to allow local residence to pursue happiness in a sustainable manner.

Sincerely,

Paul Kageler
205 River Oaks Dr
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Subject: Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 2:58:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: John McCarty

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5! This is a very fair law for the recreational fisherman!

Sincerely,

John McCarty
5543 Southern Oaks
San Antonio, TX 78261

Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 2:00:06 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Schlebach

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I want you to approve Alternative 5. Recreational fishermen deserve more red snapper. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Michael Schlebach
2508 Barton Springs St
League City, TX 77573

Subject: Red Snippet fishing

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 2:04:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Bill Johnston

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As an avid recreational snapper fisherman I would encourage you to select Alternative 5.
I should have access to the fishery!

Regards

Bill Johnston

Sincerely,

Bill Johnston
37294 Clapp Rd
Brookshire, TX 77423

Subject: I support Alternative 5!

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 1:56:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Aaron Knapek

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5 to allow 75% of the excess quota to go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. This is a great alternative to managing red snapper and keeps recreational fisherman in business. I personally enjoy paying a guide to take me fishing, and I love cooking and providing fresh cooked snapper to my family!

Sincerely,

Aaron Knapek
18719 DEER TRACE DR
CROSBY, TX 77532

Subject: Red Snapper Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 1:36:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Michael Montalbano, III

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of Alternative 5 as a reasonable allocation option.

Sincerely,

Michael Montalbano III
768 Glenmore Ave
Baton Rouge, LA 70806

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 1:08:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Eric Mays, G

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I AM IN SUPPORT OF ALTERNATIVE 5.

Thank you
Eric Mays
Tri county CCA member.

Sincerely,

Eric Mays G
1367 Fairview Rd
Pleasanton, TX 78064

Subject: Red snapper allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 12:39:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Raymond Geyer

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Raymond Geyer
10116 FM 1346
Adkins, TX 78101

Subject: alternative 5 red snapper allocations

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 7:27:03 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mr. & Mrs. Charles Crain

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5 allocations. 1979 quotas are old and unfair to recreational anglers. This resource in my opinion first belongs to the people and no amount of money can take away what belongs to and me and my children and grand children unfairly.

Sincerely,

Charles Crain
2915 Central Blvd
Nederland, TX 77627

Subject: Alternative 5

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 6:55:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Billy Bell

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am an avid offshore recreational fisherman in the Gulf of Mexico particularly along the Texas coast. I spend an average of 15-20 days and nights in Port Aransas, Texas every year fishing in the gulf. I live in north Texas and travel to the gulf coast to fish. I spend several thousand dollars per year pursuing recreational fishing in the gulf with family and friends. Red snapper are a major part of the total fish we catch and subsequently bring back and eat. I strongly support Alternative 5 as a reasonable approach to the reallocation of the red snapper fishery. Please approve this measure."

Sincerely,

Bill R Bell
2329 Clearview Ct
Lewisville, TX 75057

Subject: Red Snapper Season

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 5:54:10 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Robert Dendy

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to see the Red Snapper season extended by 4 weeks and the daily catch limit to 2 more fish per day.

I am in support of Alternate 5.

Sincerely,

Robert Dendy
6034 Victory Dr
Houston, TX 77088

Subject: Recreational red snapper limits, another one
Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 5:55:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Rocky Southern
To: Gulf Council

I would like to propose a tagging system for recreational red snapper. This system would be similar to deer tag system in some states.

For example, at a 20 day season with a 2 day fish limit equals 40 red snapper . A recreational red snapper fisherman could get 40 red snapper tags for a year which would be good for one year only. This would be a rec fisherman's iqf. There could be a small fee for the tags. The tags could be required to be through the mouth and gills . The tags could be used only once. It could be illegal to have any fish without tags inplace. If caught, then that fisherman would not be allowed to have tags the next year plus high fine.

This way of regulation would allow rec fisherman the same privilege as commercial fisherman have.

This would benefit marinas, boat sales, equipment, etc....

The practice of culling could be made illegal which now goes on anyway.(non enforceable, but maybe)

An allotment could also be given to charter boats.

Also, there could be a requirement for a year end report of total tags / fish caught/ used. This would give a true account of red snapper caught. This could be done with an app.

Fisherman could catch snapper during other species open season. This will reduce pressure over a calendar year.

Thank you for considering,

Rocky Southern

Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 at 5:42:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: David Harris

To: Gulf Council

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please be advised that I support Alternative 5, and would like your vote on this issue. The Gulf fishery should benefit the recreational and commercial angler equally. The commercial segment should not have a disproportionate share.

Sincerely,

Dave Harris

Sincerely,

David Harris
11330 Colonial Trail Dr
Houston, TX 77066

Subject: Re: Red Snapper
Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 4:03:05 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: fish@surelurecharters.com
To: Douglas Macke
CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce
Category: Council Members

Thank you Douglas. I will forward to the Council for public record.

-----Original Message-----

From: Douglas Macke
To: Sure Lure
Subject: Red Snapper
Sent: Mar 14, 2014 2:12 PM

Dear Ms. Dana,

As a recreation fisherman I believe that option 5 is the fairest option to all parties involved. Your vote should represent an unbiased vote for all fishermen and not those that have a special interest such as the Commercial interests

Sincerely,

Douglas Macke
2649 Bayview Dr
Fort Lauderdale, FL 33306

Sent on the Sprint® Now Network from my BlackBerry®

Subject: Re: red snapper allocation
Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 4:02:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: fish@surelurecharters.com
To: scott warbritton
CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein
Category: Council Members

Thank you Scott. I will forward to the Council for public record.

-----Original Message-----

From: scott warbritton
To: Sure Lure
Subject: red snapper allocation
Sent: Mar 14, 2014 2:13 PM

Dear Ms. Dana,

I'm in favor of Alternate 5

Sincerely,

scott Warbritton
1012 Symphony Isles Blvd
Apollo Beach, FL 33572

Sent on the Sprint® Now Network from my BlackBerry®

Subject: Fw: Red Snapper allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 4:00:43 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

On , Pamella Dana <pamdana@yahoo.com> wrote:

Thank you Kash for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit your comments to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 2:50 PM, Kash Ramsdale <kramsdale@pertree.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Honored Council Members

I am writing you to voice my support of alternate 5 on the Red Snapper reallocation. It is my opinion that the recreational use of the fishery is far better for the state and the fishery. Due to the fact that recreational fishermen treat the fishery with more care than the commercial fishermen due to the reduced amounts of by catch and concern for future generations rather than pure profit. The dollars spent per fish by the recreational anglers far outweigh that of the commercial angler there by benefiting local economy's.

Sincerely,

Kash Ramsdale
32123 Wolf Branch Ln
Sorrento, FL 32776

Subject: Re: Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 4:00:24 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Jesse Read

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thank you Jesse for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit your comments to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 2:40 PM, Jesse Read <flatsnut@embarqmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Mr. John Sanchez

Ms. Pam Dana

Ms. Martha Bademan

Chairman Doug Boyd

Council Member Roy Williams

CCA is supporting Alternative 5.

AND SO AM I

Jesse Read

Sincerely,

Jesse Read

180 Broadmoor Ln

Rotonda West, FL 33947

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 3:13:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Dennis Matherne

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thank you Dennis for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit your comments to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 2:10 PM, Dennis Matherne <dmatherne11@att.net> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Please take time to review Alternate 5 for the new accepted Red Snapper allocation plan. The present allocations are not correct and are based on 30 year old data. Please make this change now.

Sincerely,

Dennis Matherne
25 Starfish Dr
Vero Beach, FL 32960

Subject: Re: Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 3:08:28 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Doug Foster

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thank you Doug for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 1:50 PM, Doug Foster <dfcons1@comcast.net> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

While on an offshore trip out of Naples 2 weeks ago, we released many red snapper in two different areas from 150 ft to 120 feet deep. Please allow more access for recreational fishermen. Thank you, Doug Foster

Sincerely,

Doug Foster
4253 Tarpon Ave
Bonita Springs, FL 34134

Subject: Re: Snapper allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:47:42 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Steve Orman

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thank you Steve for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 1:40 PM, Steve Orman <scorman9929@aol.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

This is the opportunity to fix he problem. Continuing to use 30 year old data to justify these closures is a travesty, and Amendment 5 is the way to fix it.

Please pass it.

Sincerely,

Steve Orman
11809 Wordsworth Ct
Jacksonville, FL 32223

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Fishery

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:47:01 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Thomas Truman, MD

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thank you Dr. Truman for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 1:30 PM, "Thomas Truman, MD" <trumant@comcast.net> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

As a Floridian and avid recreational fisherman, I strongly encourage you to vote in favor of Alternative 5 as the preferred reallocation strategy in regards to the Florida Red Snapper Fishery. Countless Floridians and tourists enjoy this privilege to catch and keep a few Red Snapper each season, and Alternative 5 keeps this privilege intact.

Respectfully submitted,

Thomas L. Truman

Tallahassee, FL

home: 850-386-7930

Sincerely,

Thomas Truman MD

2820 Cline St

Tallahassee, FL 32308

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:21:25 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Ralph Alspach

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thank you Ralph for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 1:20 PM, Ralph Alspach <ralph@sovrn.us> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I would like to see the red snapper allocation updated in order to provide a longer recreational season. I, like many others, have a lot of money invested in a boat, trailer and tackle so that I may spend time with my family enjoying the great outdoors. It is frustrating to know that the commercial allocation, along with the flawed snapper assessments, have cut the season to such a short amount of time.

Sincerely,

Ralph Alspach
1840 Vineland Ln
Tallahassee, FL 32317

Subject: Re: Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:20:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: John Tenewitz

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thank you John for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 1:20 PM, John Tenewitz <jhtenewitz@yahoo.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I support Alternative 5 for the red snapper reallocation. Recreational fishing is dying in Florida because of reduced bag limits. People do not want to buy a $50,000 boat and only be able to use it to catch fish a few times a year. Please do something to give a break to the recreational fishermen.

thank you

Sincerely,

John Tenewitz
41 Walker Creek Dr
Crawfordville, FL 32327

Subject: Fw: Accept Alternative 5

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:19:53 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

On Friday, March 14, 2014 1:17 PM, Pamella Dana <pamdana@yahoo.com> wrote:
Thank you Randell for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:30 PM, Randell Carroll <rcarroll1@cfl.rr.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Please accept Alternative 5 to reallocate red snapper harvesting.

Sincerely,

Randell Carroll
2082 Judith Pl
Longwood, FL 32779

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:19:29 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Andrew MacGill

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thank you Andrew for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:50 PM, Andrew MacGill <andrew.macgill@ampf.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Please add me to the group supporting Allocation 5. I believe that recreational fishermen have gotten the short end of the (fisheries) stick in recent years.

Sincerely,

Andrew MacGill
13509 Hollow Cv
Tampa, FL 33613

Subject: Re: Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:18:51 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Russ Thompson

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thank you Russ for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:50 PM, Russ Thompson <rthompson17@tampabay.rr.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I go for alternative 5 please this is the better alternative.

Sincerely,

Russ Thompson
9602 Conservation Dr
New Port Richey, FL 34655

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:18:19 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Ray Campbell

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thank you Ray for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:30 PM, Ray Campbell <campr05@comcast.net> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I am writing this letter to inform you that it is about time for the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council used some up to date data in their management of Red Snapper. It is time for them to stop bowing to commercial interests. It is time for them to fairly allocate the Quota according to which is more valuable. It is obvious by the dollars spent that the recreational fisheries is much more valuable than the commercial fisheries.

It's time for the commercial allotment to be severely restricted, and the recreational allotment greatly increased.

We will be watching!

Sincerely,

Ray Campbell
5995 Venetto Way
Vero Beach, FL 32967

Subject: Re: Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:16:29 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Billy Nobles

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thank you Billy for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input. Pam

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:30 PM, Billy Nobles <bigsnookbilly@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I as being a full time Charter Captain, permit holder, TV and Radio host in the Tampa Bay area think that the way the snapper are allocated is a slap in the face. Our red snapper are healthier than I have seen and in shallower as well. we need a longer season and should allow for the taking of Gag grouper to overlap with the red snapper. Gag grouper should not be closed as we have record numbers of those as well. On the other hand our snook season was reopened when every reputable captain was screaming to keep it closed for a few more years. Please go with Alternative 5 as this seems to be the only viable plan but not the best by far but it seems the only option available.

Thank you for your time

Sincerely,

Billy Nobles
716 Spanish Main Dr
Apollo Beach, FL 33572

Subject: Re: Reallocate Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 2:15:14 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Jim Gieges

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thanks Jim for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:30 PM, Jim Gieges <upsidedownjag@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I ask, on behalf of myself and all fellow recreation fishermen your strong consideration of the issue on your table concerning Reallocation of Red Snapper, a lopsided law which has been in existence for all too long. I wish not to take money out of the pockets from commercial fishermen, they work hard and put in long hours. We recreational fishermen have no disagreement when it comes to making a fair living. But recreational fishermen spend vast millions of dollars annually in the fishing industry, add many more jobs than commercial fishermen to the US economy and add millions in tax dollars to federal, state and local governments. We deserve your consideration on this matter for all the right reasons and only you can do the right thing. Please give us a fair shake this go around.

Sincerely,

Jim Gieges
4728 Starboard Dr
Bradenton, FL 34208

Subject: Re: SNAPPER ALLOCATION

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 1:29:00 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: RANDY FULLERTON

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thanks Randy for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:50 AM, RANDY FULLERTON <NFAHRANDY@EMBARQMAIL.COM> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

IT IS HIGH TIME CHANGES ARE MADE TO THE CURRENT ALLOCATION. ALTERNATIVE 5 IS THE BEST OF THE OPTIONS HOWEVER IN MY OPINION, THE SNAPPER BELONG TO EVERYONE JUST LIKE TERRESTRIAL GAME SUCH AS DEER, TURKEY, DUCKS, ETC. IF IT WERE UP TO ME I WOULD GRANT SNAPPER AND GROUPER GAME FISH STATUS AND STOP COMMERCIAL HARVEST.

Sincerely,

RANDY FULLERTON
662 Scotland Rd
Havana, FL 32333

Subject: Re: Reallocate Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 1:24:04 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Ron Faber

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thanks Ron for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:20 PM, Ron Faber <rfabercpa@aol.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I support alternative 5. Please vote for it and help your recreational anglers and the millions of dollars they spend.

Thank you -

Sincerely,

Ron Faber
1470 Minnesota Ave
Winter Park, FL 32789

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 1:18:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Scott Nunn

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thanks Scott for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:10 PM, Scott Nunn <scott@ultimatetennis.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Please vote for Alternative 5 as the responsible solution for Gulf coast red snapper management. Once the quota has been met the bulk of the excess should go to the recreational section. The recreational sector supports so many more industries than the commercial sector. Tourism, boating, tackle and dive shops, charter services and more. Providing fishing opportunities to the public and our kids should always be treated as the highest order. The commercial industry will always be dedicated to stripping all allowable quota "as fast a possible" with the bulk of the money going into the hands of a very few businessmen. Please protect the future of our fishery by providing the recreational fisherman and chance to participate.

Sincerely,

Scott Nunn
8488 35th Ave N
Saint Petersburg, FL 33710

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 1:08:13 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: David Ross

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thanks David for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:00 PM, David Ross <dross@firstam.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I support Alternative 5. I don't often get the chance to fish for Red Snapper. But, when I do, I believe that my right to harvest one should exist, within sustainable and manageable limits.

This resource should not be squandered so that a relative few can make a profit, while exploiting and damaging the population, leaving a depleted resource for the remaining sector groups.

I believe that modern science and information should be considered when determining fair allocations for all sectors and that should we err, it be on the side of caution.

I am a native Floridian and have been a devoted recreational fisherman for 32 years. I practice catch and release most of the time, but I believe in the right to harvest a fish from time to time to enjoy as table fare.

I spend thousands of dollars annually on fishing and boating equipment, licenses, resorts, etc. and I vote.

Please consider the intelligent, concerned and caring voices of the recreational sector and citizens of the State of Florida, the fishing capital of world.

Sincerely,
Dave Ross

Sincerely,

David Ross
15037 Moultrie Pointe Rd
Orlando, FL 32828

Subject: Re: Snapper fishing allocations

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 1:07:08 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: James Buchli

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thanks James for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:01 PM, James Buchli <jbuchli2004@yahoo.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

First, I thank you for your interest and dedication in insuring all fishermen have access to a healthy and robust fishery. Option 5 seems reasonable. In the long term, we must be more knowledgeable of what is the true distribution of the fish population and what is the health of the various geographic habitats. It makes no sense to increase the population if the habitat won 't support --- conversely, we need to know when we are overfishing an area. Not easy subjects, but we can do better.

Sincerely,

James Buchli
14761 Innerarity Point Rd
Pensacola, FL 32507

Subject: Fw: Support Alternative 5

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 1:06:13 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: dannylenbodyshop@aol.com

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thanks James (Mr & Mrs Albin). I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 12:01 PM, Mr. & Mrs. James Albin <dannylenbodyshop@aol.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I would you to support Alternative 5.

I believe it would bring more moneys to the state of Florida, and I believe that the data gather about the Red Snapper is not correct.

As a deep sea fishing couple we can not hardly go fishing without catching red snapper. Just trying to get to the bottom to catch Sea bass more times then not we pull up a Red snapper.

The freedom to go fishing has almost been lost with all the regulation put on the recreational fisherman/woman.

Sincerely,

James Albin
17605 US HIGHWAY 441
MOUNT DORA, FL 32757

Subject: Re: Alternative 5

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 12:59:54 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Greg Craddock

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thanks Greg for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:40 AM, Greg Craddock <gregcrad@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I support this option. Please protect the fishery and the recreational angler. Better allocation toward Rec equals more dollars spent and the better and highest use of the marine resource.

Sincerely,

Greg Craddock
1363 Morvenwood Rd
Jacksonville, FL 32207

Subject: Fw: Reallocate Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 12:57:35 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamela Dana

To: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:52 AM, Pamela Dana <pamdana@yahoo.com> wrote:
Thank you Kelly. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:50 AM, Kelly MacDonald <kam84@hotmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

I support Alternative 5. It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation for Red Snapper. Set right the outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Kelly MacDonald
4217 Centergate Ln Apt 101
Orlando, FL 32814

Subject: Re: Red Snapper

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 12:56:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Phillip Dennis

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thanks Phillip for your email. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:51 AM, Phillip Dennis <pdennis73@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

I am a recreational fisherman that enjoys taking my daughter out to fish with me when time permits. I am in support of alternative 5, because it seems fair to all parties. Also, I couldn't fathom telling my daughter that we can't fish for red snapper anymore because of old data that the government thinks is current!

Thank you,

Phillip

Sincerely,

Phillip Dennis
279 Marinero Ct
Coral Gables, FL 33143

Subject: Re: Red Snapper Re-Allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 12:55:23 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Dave Lear

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thanks Capt Lear. I will forward this onto the Gulf Council to make sure that they submit to the record of public input.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:51 AM, Dave Lear <silverking@comcast.net> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

As a former guide and avid recreational angler, I urge you to consider the importance of the red snapper re-allocation issue. The economic benefit from sport-fishing has not been fairly considered in the past and I hope you will take this opportunity to make the proper adjustments for an equitable allocation of this key resource.

I fully support Alternative 5 among your proposals as a way to rectify the current imbalance. Thank you very much for the consideration.

Sincerely,

Capt. Dave Lear
1510 Dove Rd
Tallahassee, FL 32317

Subject: Re: Red snapper reallocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 12:50:20 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Kathryn Kelly

CC: Charlene Ponce, Emily Muehlstein

Thank you Kathryn for your email. Please be sure to email the entire Gulf Council so they can log in and count your input for the record.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:40 AM, Kathryn Kelly <kkelly@embarqmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Please select alternate 5.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Kelly
11910 Seabreeze Cove Ln
Fort Myers, FL 33908

Subject: Re: Red Snapper allocation

Date: Friday, March 14, 2014 at 12:49:21 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Pamella Dana

To: Marcel Kasten

CC: Emily Muehlstein, Charlene Ponce

Thanks Marcel for your email. Please be sure to send this to the entire Gulf Council so that they can log in and count your opinion for the record.

On Friday, March 14, 2014 11:40 AM, Marcel Kasten <mkasten@cannons.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Dana,

Hello council memebbers,

I feel the current Red snapper allocation is out dated and doesn't make sense anymore. I am favor of increasing the catch of Red Snapper for the recreational angler that produces lots of income for the state of Florida instead of the commercial fishery that continues to rape the waters and takes away from our resource.

Sincerely,

Marcel Kasten
2516 Monterey St
Sarasota, FL 34231

Subject: Amendment 28 Alternative 6

Date: Thursday, March 13, 2014 at 8:21:31 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: THARB333@aol.com

To: Charlene Ponce, Gulf Council

The recreational sector is far larger than the commercial sector. As such, the 51/49 % allocation is way off to begin with.

the current 51/49 allocation does not allow the recreational red snapper fishery to expand and draw new participants into the fishery which is essential for a healthy and vibrant recreational fishing industry.

since the IFQ holders have exclusive ownership of the commercial component of the resource, they actually need fewer fish to make the same amount of money. With a capped number of participants in the commercial fishery already providing enough red snapper to meet demand by American consumers, the biggest demand for red snapper access today is from the recreational sector where allowable fishing days have been reduced by upwards of 70% since 2006.

RFA fully supports the Gulf Council moving forward with an allocation scheme that provides 100% of any red snapper quota above 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The recreational sector should be given equal opportunity to enjoy the benefits of a rebuilt fish stock

The recreational segment fully supports our RFA in supporting Amendment 28,

Alternative 6 which sets a 9.12 million pound baseline with 100 % of the allowable harvest above the baseline going to the recreational sector.

The 51/49% ratio is economically crippling the state of Florida. The potential economic impact of a real red snapper recreational season on the state's economy, a state that depends on tourism, is not being realized. The vast majority, the recreational fisherman, spends hundreds of dollars more per fish than the very few IFQ holders. Yet, with a 51% allocation, a small commercial segment is given more opportunity to catch more fish and add far less to the state's economy.

Bob Harbison A concerned native Florida recreational fisherman

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lance Larocca <tinman4wd@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:16 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support alternative 5. Thank You.

Sincerely,

Lance LaRocca
10261 Moore Rd
Hammond, LA 70403

Phyllis Miranda

From: George Schultz <georgeg.schultz@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:15 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Alloctions

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Proposal 5, please. Thanks.

Sincerely,

George Schultz
10737 County Road 152 W
Bullard, TX 75757

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rick Linn <ricklinn@mmaequipment.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As these hearings come to an end I sincerely hope you will choose Alternative 5. Any maybe in the near future your panel could touch on an issue that seems no one wishes to talk about, "Shrimpers" and there "By-Catch". I believe Shrimping does far more damage to the fish population than recreational and commercial combined.

Sincerely

Rick Linn
24306 Katex Blvd
Katy, Texas. 77493

Sincerely,

Rick Linn
24306 Katex Blvd
Katy, TX 77493

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Ferrari <johncferrari@me.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:09 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative #5.

Sincerely,

John Ferrari
13310 Alchester Ln
Houston, TX 77079

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Colombo <johndcolombo@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs, we need to update our outdated allocation system of Red Snapper. Recreational fisherman should come first when it comes to quotas on Red Snapper, and I urge you to approve Alternative 5. While not perfect it's the most reasonable choice. Thank you.

Sincerely,

John Colombo
3830 Country Rd
Pasadena, TX 77505

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brian Anderson <brian.anderson@grbirdwell.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Recreational Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Good Morning, I am Brian Anderson and live in League City in Galveston County, Texas. I bought a boat some years ago and began fishing offshore. My boat is medium sized and therefore does not have the range to travel far off-shore. I don't bill fish but I enjoy going out 30 -40 miles and bottom fishing. We always follow the rules and eat and enjoy the catch, which is primarily red snapper. The regulations have changed drastically since I first got the boat. The season has shrunk dramatically and with the timing and weather conditions allows for maybe a hand-full of days on the water. Also the 2 fish limit makes it hardly worth the fuel expense and cost to keep this boat. I have added quite a bit of money to the GDP over this passion. It is ridiculous that the national organization can ruin this sector of business in boat sales, supplies and fuel by imposing the limitations that you have. Especially based on weak information. There is no way you can tell me that recreational fisherman are the problem or cutting us out, would be any solution. By limiting recreational fisherman, you are putting a bandage on a scrape, but leaving a gapping hole in the real mortality issue. (By-catch and illegal commercial harvest) not to mention the destruction of red snapper habitat. You are restricting the more financially productive sector (recreational) and if votes count then you are attacking a much bigger base of voters. Please consider CCA's recommendation for the new allocation and please keep the recreational fisherman in mind in the future deliberations. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Brian Anderson
2287 Azahar Ct
League City, TX 77573

Phyllis Miranda

From: Cyrus Tolman <stolman@calpine.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:06 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to support Alternative 5 on the issue of red Snapper allocation.

I believe it is a reasonable compromise that continues to allow commercial fishermen economic returns while ensuring that recreational anglers are not ignored.

Thanks for your time, I know you are all very busy.

Sincerely,

Cyrus Tolman
2306 Acacia St
League City, TX 77573

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michelle Beale, Esq. <Mchllbeale@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:47 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a member of the Coastal Conservation Association, and have read their support of Alternative 5 regarding the allocation of commercial and recreational red snapper fisheries. My husband and I fish offshore Texas for recreational purposes --last year we were only able to catch about a dozen snapper total with the current limits plus the weather. When the weather was good the fishery was closed. We are certainly not putting a dent in the fisheries, yet we spend a lot of money on keeping up a boat, fuel, guides, taxes, etc. We support CCA's Alternative 5, and hope you do too. Thanks.

Sincerely,

R. Michelle Beale
31 Hackberry Ln
Houston, TX 77027

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Frankson <jimfrankson@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:44 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Using 30year old date to allocate the Red Snapper harvest between commercial interests and the recreational interests is not sound policy. Despite that fact, I strongly encourage you adopt "option #5" for future allocation.

Thanks,
Jim Frankson

Sincerely,

James Frankson
203 County Road 141
Bay City, TX 77414

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Vela <mrhappy1010@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:38 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5 and reallocate Red Snapper between recreational anglers and commercial fisherman.

Sincerely,

David Vela
19154 Spruce Bough Ln
Kingwood, TX 77346

Phyllis Miranda

From: Roger Pak <rowpaq@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:38 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support for the recreational Snapper angler

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support the Alternative 5 in a progressive attempt to update the antiquated snapper allocation we currently have.

Sincerely,

Roger Pak
10026 Larston St
Houston, TX 77055

Phyllis Miranda

From: Hugh Perry, III <hugh@kemp.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:36 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Allocation 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Allocation 5, it's a good start t correct allocation of Red Snapper.

Thsnk You,
Hugh Perry

Sincerely,

Hugh Perry III
7809 Hardy Dr Apt B
Austin, TX 78757

Phyllis Miranda

From: Billy Goodrich, Jr <bgoodri@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:37 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Relocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As an avid fisherman I encourage you to support Alternate 5

Sincerely,

Billy Goodrich Jr
1007 Carroll Dr
Yoakum, TX 77995

Phyllis Miranda

From: james blackbutn, jr. <jimbosjumbo@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:29 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative #5 for Red Snapper realocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a recreational angler and wish for my right to fish and harvest an occasional meal for my table to be protected from shrinking by suggestive amendments of the commercial sector. Enough is enough and the feds need to stand up to the commercial permittees and as they continue to not perform under the guidelines of their allotment and permits need to be shrunk from the lottery. Thus allowing the snapper population to improve and also allowing the private sector their fair share of harvest.

Thank you
Jim Blackburn

Sincerely,

jimbos jumbo
35597 Marshall Hutts Rd
Rio Hondo, TX 78583

Phyllis Miranda

From: Hans Crump <hans.crump@att.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:15 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Gentlemen and Ladies,

Please vote Alternative 5 policy due to my family loves to caught Red Snapper from my little girls one 5 and other 6 as well as my two boys at 11 and 15. Has been a tradition to try and go once a year and all have fun catching fish, last year was unable due to weather, work and very short season. Fishing for Red Snapper for my family has always been a very enjoyable desirable event which everyone is always eager to go and the boys always talking who is going to catch the biggest and the Girls always win as well as cheerleaders,,,(Go Momy Go") when someone else has fish on. Great moments, Many Thanks Hans Crump

Sincerely,

Hansamoto
7614 Marinette Dr
Houston, TX 77074

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mark Brown <mark.brown.b4qm@statefarm.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:09 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation Update

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support the Alternative 5 for a solution to Red Snapper allocation. I have been a long time recreational snapper fisherman. There is no doubt in my mind that recreational snapper fishing has a significant impact on local economies in this region (Port Mansfield, TX). Commercial snapper fishing has no impact in this region.

My vote for Alternative 5.

Thank you
Mark Brown

Sincerely,

Mark Brown
11339 FM 1834
Raymondville, TX 78580

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bridget Sprague <bsmom@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:06 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to express my concern for the current outdated allocation of Red Snapper allocation between the commercial fishing industry and recreational anglers.

I would like to encourage Texas Council Members to please approve Alternative 5 in order to update the outdated allocation.

Thank you!

Sincerely,

Bridget Sprague
PO Box 767
Port O Connor, TX 77982

Phyllis Miranda

From: Elden Miller <etmiller1958@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 11:00 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in favor of the "Alternative 5" choice as it is the best out of all the choices, but it is still lacking.

Sincerely,

Elden Miller
14943 Sandy Creek Ct
Corpus Christi, TX 78410

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bill Boyle <billboyle@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:59 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational saltwater angler, I strongly urge you to support Alternative 5 in the Red Snapper Reallocation efforts!! This seems to be the best scenario for all parties involved, and it's time for a change. The current regulations have been in effect far too long, and are based on obsolete data. Recreational anglers put large amounts of money into the states economy each year through the purchase of licenses, tackle, baits, lodging, meals, shopping, fuel, etc. Our voices and opinions should be heard and considered as equals to the commercial fishermen.

Sincerely,

Bill Boyle
321 LCR 737
Thornton, TX 76687

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Shives <jshives2007@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:57 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: support REALLOCATION ALTERNATIVE 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a member of the CCA and a life-long fisherman on the Texas coast, I urge you to support Alternative 5. The multiplier effect in the local economies, far outweighs the economic benefit from commercial fishing. please allow recreational fisherman a larger share of the resource. The sport fisherman are paying the lions share of taxes in the form of license sales and sales tax, fuel tax, etc. They should be allowed their proportionate share of the resource.

Thank you

Sincerely,

John Shives
9200 Westheimer Rd Apt 205
Houston, TX 77063

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Koch, Jr. <dktxrosa@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:54 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a sportsman and fisherman and I care greatly about the future of our fisheries both Gulf and Inshore. I believe that the best interest of the Red Snapper fishery will be served by approving and applying Alternative 5. Updating the current allocation is imperative. Alternative 5 is a fair and reasonable solution.

Thank You

Sincerely,

David Koch
1011 FM 471 N
Castroville, TX 78009

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gary Vansyckle <gcvan@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:58 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper catch re-allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have reviewed the information available on this issue and think the greatest gain for the public benefit is Alternative 5. This alternative provides benefits to the commercial industry while provided the greatest economic upside for the public.

Sincerely,

Gary Vansyckle
PO Box 441150
Houston, TX 77244

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ralph Senner <ralph@karlsenner.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:57 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please do not forget the average Joe fishing person that spends a lot of time and money to be able to enjoy our fishing. We contribute a lot of tax dollars and bring enjoyment to our families and traditions. The few snappers we are allowed to catch does not hurt the vast numbers of Snappers we have in our area. We are truly blessed and so are the commercial fishermen..

Sincerely,

Ralph Senner
PO Box 459
Destrehan, LA 70047

Phyllis Miranda

From: Elisa Ginn <loahelisa@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:27 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please accept this message as support for the allocation 5 restructuring of the red snapper allocation between commercial and recreational fisheries. As an avid offshore fisherman, both my husband, myself and multiple friends with boats that fish out of Freeport, we feel that basing quotas on decades old information makes no sense would like it to be backed up by current information available. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Elisa Ginn
112 Lariat Ln
Angleton, TX 77515

Phyllis Miranda

From: matt bryant <bryant.matt@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:25 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I am For Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

"I am an avid offshore recreational fisherman in the Gulf of Mexico particularly along the Texas coast. I spend an average of 15-20 days and nights in Port Aransas, Texas every year fishing in the gulf. I live in north Texas and travel to the gulf coast to fish. I spend several thousand dollars per year pursuing recreational fishin in the gulf with family and friends. Red snapper are a major part of the total fish we catch and subsequently bring back and eat. I strongly support Alternative 5 as a reasonable approach to the reallocation of the red snapper fishery. Please approve this measure."

Sincerely,

matt bryant
10203 Asheboro St
Frisco, TX 75035

Phyllis Miranda

From: Leslie Berry <lesberry70592@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:24 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current allocation is more than two decades old and it is based on 30-year-old data. It seems incredible, but this Council could easily decide to let an allocation set using data from 1979.

This should not be allowed to happen.

As a recreational fisherman there are years where I am unable to even go offshore to catch any Red Snappers because I was or will be working.

When I can go, it will be only once or twice a so short season.

The cost of going versus the cost of not. Just out weighs the other.

For the amount of fish I can bring home.

Please Reconsider Alternative 5,

Sincerely,

Leslie Berry

Sincerely,

Leslie Berry

1145 Potato Shed Rd

Breaux Bridge, LA 70517

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mark Clark <espanolabass@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:22 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current allocation is more than two decades old and it is based on 30-year-old data. It seems incredible, but this Council could easily decide to let an allocation set using data from 1979. Please choose Alternative 5 as its preferred alternative for reallocation. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. That is a good thing.

Sincerely,

Mark Clark
5 Edgewood Forest Ct
The Woodlands, TX 77381

Phyllis Miranda

From: George Halamicek, Jr <2georgeh@att.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:16 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational fisherman, I understand how two opposing opinions exist for the " Red Snapper " allocations and limits for our Texas Gulf Coast. Unfortunately, it can all be reduced to the financial impact ($) that the commerical fishermen's revenue vs. the recreational fisherman's expenditures have on the Texas economy, and consequently the political agendas. The fisheries are a natural resource and should be available for all, with a 50% /50% allocation, with neither group having an advantage.

I support Alternative 5, and continued efforts to protect this resource for my grandchildren and future generations to enjoy..

Sincerely,

George Halamicek Jr
1015 Pear Tree Ln
Houston, TX 77073

Phyllis Miranda

From: Victoria Kulpins <victoria1@msn.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:08 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 Good thing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please do not change Alternative 5 as a recreational fisher I support this...

Thank You

Sincerely,

Victoria Kulpins
6529 Sea Isle
Galveston, TX 77554

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Herring <herring@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 10:02 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 for Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve alternative 5 to keep family's fishing on the water. This is desperately needed. Thank you in advance for your support.

Thomas & Karen Herring

Sincerely,

Thomas & Karen Herring
1118 Papeete St
Galveston, TX 77554

Phyllis Miranda

From: Patrick Smelley <prsmelleysr@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:50 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This is to express my desire for your approval of alternative 5 for the future of red snapper allocation and the future recreational fishing. This change is way over due and should be acted on to secure a way of life in our coastal waters. Thank you in advance for your service in this matter.

Sincerely,

Patrick Smelley
1351 Roaring Springs Rd
Fort Worth, TX 76114

Phyllis Miranda

From: richard klenk <klenkslandscaping@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:56 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I do not fish offshore as much as I use to. The # 1 Reason THE # of Red Snapper We allowed to take. Your limit is so low. Have you ever been out there??? The red snapper are all over the rigs now .. not to said what they doing to the snappers when they blow up the rigs. Very sad to think you all care .. the sea is floating red with red snapper. Not 100's but 1000's of red snapper. This is an or is the #1 reason rec fishermen go offshore. Extend the of the recreational fishermen Season AT least.. Keep The # of snapper at 3 per person.. And Use Todays Data.. to make Your judgements.. I say You All Need to take a trip out offshore . See with your own eyes . But Why Is fishing about not having a fun time any more.. Doing The Right Thing Is Hard..

Sincerely,

richard klenk
16747 Selder Dr
Friendswood, TX 77546

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ray Hamilton, Jr. <bhamilton@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:49 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Tried to tell our CCA Rep several years ago, you negotiate with the Feds, you're gonna get F#$%^&; and that is what happened with the red snapper issue; raised on the coast and as a family we went offshore fishing as much as we went inshore; and we fished 75-100 days a year; fished just for the fun of it and threw back most, just kept enough to eat; we didn't waste.

Don't go offshore because of the regulations anymore; The balance has swung to far in the favor of 1 side; now it needs to swing back; Alternative 5 "Appears" to make the pendulum at least slow down, so hopefully we can get it back to a neutral position.

R. W. Hamilton, Jr.

Sincerely,

Ray Hamilton Jr.
PO BOX 260
MATAGORDA, TX 77457

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steven Large <slarge04@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:37 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Fish allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please help protect the rights of Texas Anglers. May God continue to Bless The State of Texas!

Sincerely,

Steven Large
558 Cool Springs Dr
Spring Branch, TX 78070

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul LeBlanc, III <plebla4@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:36 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a fisherman, Fishery Biologists, and environmental scientist, I am concerned about our state and federal agencies making decisions on data that is 30 years old when new, better data is available or could be available. This is for all fisheries, but especially a fishery that is as sensitive as the Red Snapper fishery. Though better alternatives should be considered, Alternative 5 is the best alternative that is available and needs to be chosen over the others. Please consider my professional opinion on this matter. Thanks

Paul L

Sincerely,

Paul LeBlanc III
33810 Cane Market Rd
Walker, LA 70785

Phyllis Miranda

From: Charles Moore <tylercmoore@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:34 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Fishery

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It's no secret that anyone who goes fishing knows that they could buy a cooked snapper filet at a restaurant for a whole lot less money than they do when catching them in the Gulf. Fishermen and women spend lots of money pursuing their outdoor adventures and sharing them with friends and family. This economic reality is one reason that snapper should remain available for recreational fishing versus commercial fisherman. Please don't let the commercial fisherman not only make all my toys worthless, but please don't let them take the memories and love for the outdoors away from my kids. I want to pass on this respect for nature to my kids just as my father passed it on to me. Please don't do as the commercial fisherman want.

This seems like a reasonable compromise; The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council has selected Alternative 5 as its preferred alternative for reallocation. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Charles Moore
714 Pinehaven Dr
Houston, TX 77024

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ramon Mirelez, Jr. <rmirel7@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:32 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Allocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support your push for Alternative 5. It's time that recreational fisherman get a fair deal. We continue to loose out to the people with the big bucks. It's time our voices are heard. Thank you for your push for the recreational fishermen in this country. RJM

Sincerely,

RJM
5639 Turmeric Dr
Baytown, TX 77521

Phyllis Miranda

From: Terry Pool <t_pool@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:23 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Alternative 5 is FAIR

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Red Snapper Alternative 5 is FAIR, maybe even too fair (for the Commercial sector). But at this point, it's a great starting point to get allocation where it needs to be (current data is 30 years old, and until new data is taken, Alternative 5 is the fairest, according to current rec and commercial catch samples). I cannot drop a bait down anywhere in the gulf out of Texas or Alabama (in federal waters) to target non-red snapper species like Amberjack, Grouper, or the like without catching red snapper that average 5-10lbs. This is the consensus among ALL recreational fishermen I speak to! You can read up on this issue here...http://s3.amazonaws.com/assets.clients/cca/ckeditor_assets/attachments/507/snapper_briefing02282014_web.pdf?1393623815. Please consider supporting Alternative 5 until new catch data is obtained. I guarantee you, once the new catch numbers are out, you will notice that Alternative 5 is MORE THAN FAIR! Thanks for your time.

Terry Pool

Sincerely,

Terry Pool
907 Columbia River Rd
Montgomery, TX 77316

Phyllis Miranda

From: Andrea Hance <andrea_hance@texasshrimpassociation.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:21 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Texas Shrimp Association

Good Morning

In my efforts to educate myself on the different councils and organizations, I'm curious how the State representatives are elected and how long the term is for? I noticed that Patrick Riley's term is up this year.

Thank You!!

Andrea Hance

Executive Director
1000 Everglades Rd.
Brownsville, TX 78521
956-873-1660 Cell
956-831-6550 Office
www.TexasShrimpAssociation.com
Facebook: TexasShrimpAssociation

This email is free from viruses and malware because avast! Antivirus protection is active.

Phyllis Miranda

From: Martin Smith <mvslms55@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:17 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly urge you to vote for Alternative 5 and change the red snapper allocation so that it is more equitable to all citizens, not just commercial interests.

regards,
Marty Smith

Sincerely,

Martin Smith
1108 Myrtlewood Dr
Friendswood, TX 77546

Phyllis Miranda

From: August Boldt <g_boldt@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:05 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current federal allocation gives a few commercial fishermen a bountiful harvest while I am limited to 2 fish! How ridiculous. The cost per fish sportsman VS commercial is astronomical. How long before the sports fishermen and women just say the heck with it, its cost prohibitive. Seriously? Two fish? The commercial boat traps the fish in a huge cage, large and small, no discrimination. Loads up with 50 to 60 TONS of snapper and heads to the bank, not the snapper bank, the money bank. You have made him very wealthy at the expense of marina owners, sports fishermen, boat builders, and taxpayers in general. I personally have quit the pursuit of this gulf species due to incredibly stupid regulations.

August Boldt

Sincerely,

August Boldt
126 Live Oak Dr
Inez, TX 77968

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kevin Smith <smitty77316@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:03 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs, the misallocation of this bountiful resource is the reason for my letter, as a recreational sport fisherman the daily bag limits are and have been for years a real misallocation of this resource, to the point where it is not even feasible to venture into the gulf thirty miles for this species of snapper, please hear the voices of the recreational fisherman and vote the right direction for this issue looming at hand

Sincerely,

Kevin Smith
PO Box 2083
Tomball, TX 77377

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Stewart <djstewart15@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 9:03 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As my representatives please vote for alternative 5 for Red Snapper Management. It is time to move on from a law which is 30 years old and is based on data of the same age.

Respectfully,

Sincerely,

David Stewart
10130 Somersby Dr
Riverview, FL 33578

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Davidson <johnd@jmdavidson.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:54 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: RedSnapper Limits for recreation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Correct the balance in the limits by allowing #5 to be the rule or guideline. It would be a continued injustice not to change it now.

Sincerely,

John Davidson
118 Bay Ct
Aransas Pass, TX 78336

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard O'Donovan <r_odonovan@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:35 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper.

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It seems clear at this stage that the current allocation of Red Snapper based on 30 year old data is no longer appropriate. The commercial percentage needs to be reduced to reflect the newer information which reflect a burgeoning Red Snapper population.

Sincerely,

Richard O'Donovan
3808 Bon Aire Dr
Monroe, LA 71203

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Dybala <bobdybala@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:21 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Alternative 5 seems the best we can achieve at the present moment for a more equitable reallocation of Red Snapper harvests.

Sincerely,

Robert Dybala
11922 Cedar Form Ln
Meadows Place, TX 77477

Phyllis Miranda

From: Scott Stephenson <bestbonecracker@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:17 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: fish limits

Dear Chairman Boyd,

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE! THEY ARE GOING TO CHANGE THE TROUT LIMITS AND FLOUNDER SEASON FOR THE UP COMING YR. I GAVE MY INPUT A FEW MONTHS AGO ON THE TROUT AND FLOUNDER. THE FEDS ARE GOING TO DO WHAT THE ----- THEY WANT!!!!!!!!!! IT NOT FAIR!

Sincerely,

Scott Stephenson
1730 Avenue C
El Campo, TX 77437

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Thompson <jcthompson@tmw.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:12 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Alternative 5 for red snapper allocation. Current data is too old.

Sincerely,

John Thompson
5730 Arboles Dr
Houston, TX 77035

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Bunnell <dpaul@cableone.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:09 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation Hearings

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Living on the coast I see the benefits of recreational fishing for families. Fishing for red snapper is an activity that anglers of all ages can enjoy. Please consider the allocation suggested by CCA. Protecting this resource for recreational fisherman and commercial interests will be achieved.

Sincerely,

Paul Bunnell
1101 N Benavides St
Port Lavaca, TX 77979

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bryan Kestler, D.C. <aandic@cableone.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:07 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a coastal resident and offshore fisherman since 1998 I have seen the decline of the red snapper population as well as the explosion in both size and numbers of red snapper in the last 8 years. It has been frustrating to watch the recreational fisherman's season dwindle each year despite the overabundance in numbers. If you want to look at the economical impact the shortened seasons have created just look at the number of offshore boats for sale and the limited amount of full time guide services.

Sincerely,

Bryan Kestler
100 Baffin St
Port Lavaca, TX 77979

Phyllis Miranda

From: Troy Barbay <troy.barbay@motivaent.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 8:06 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to see more of the red snapper allocated to the public / recreational fisherman.

Sincerely,

Troy Barbay
1714 Green Oaks Dr
Port Neches, TX 77651

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jimmy Crainer <JonesCreekKid@Gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:51 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I go with Prop 5.

If I had a suggestion, it would be to have a maximum size limit for both commercial and recs.

The older "SOW" SIZE snappers are you breeders. Have a maximum size limit as they do Red Fish. What is the majic size number? I dont know, Im not into research, but probably around 30" give or take a inch or two. If they want a big SOW, which truly arent that good to eat compared to the 20"ers, have a tag system as they do Redfish. Also from a fishermans stand point, ive always heard that June was the breeding month. If so, or what ever month it is, have that month be restricted.

Last. Ive heard of a idea, that instead of having a specific season, it was a idea of where a person is allowed a certain amount of trips per year which is a way of specifically trying to only allow X amount of snapper per rec fisherman. The fisherman calls in before the trip that morning and gets a code (weather is not considered, its a chance he takes) and that is one of his days he has chosen. If he does call in and is stopped, he's fined weither he has any snapper on the boat or not. Just a idea. i heard that from rec self spokesman Tom Hilton, it sounded pretty good at the time.

Keep the circle hook with bait rule and keep the air release device rules..

Thanks for listening.

Jimmy Crainer
Freeport, Texas

Sincerely,

Jimmy Crainer, Recreational Fisherman
216 Durazno Rd
Freeport, TX 77541

Phyllis Miranda

From: Pete Sobieski <pete@trsservices.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:51 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Fish Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 for allocation of Red Snapper in the Gulf of Mexico. The fishing has improved dramatically off the coast of Texas and we continue to have to return fish to the water when the seasons are so short and the weather off Texas is not very easy to find easy days to take the family fishing and when the seas are calm, we catch a lot of Red Snapper when the commercial guys are able to fish and families are not able to keep a few for dinner.

Pete Sobieski "Chasin Tail" out of Harborwalk Marina

Sincerely,

Pete Sobieski
330 Bayou View Dr
Seabrook, TX 77586

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Drymala <pdrymala@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Paul Drymala
PO Box 748
Wallis, TX 77485

Phyllis Miranda

From: Cheryle Byma <cherebyma@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:28 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Choose Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As new Grandparent, it is my hope that my grandsons will grow and be able to fish in our gulf waters. By choosing alternative five, our waters will remain viable for ALL.

Sincerely,

Cheryle Byma
13800 Primavera Dr
Corpus Christi, TX 78418

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Snyder <jsnyder14@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:22 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am supporting Alternative 5 and the CCA. Just look at the good that the CCA has done for the fisheries.

Thanks James Snyder

Sincerely,

James Snyder
103 Revere Ct
Clute, TX 77531

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eric Puckett <eric.puckett@apac.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:24 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

We need longer times imits to fish and more of a bag limit. The time of year that is set for recreational fishing makes it tough for small boats to get out and fish. The weather is not very stable and with most of the working class people leaves only the weekend to fish. I was only able to go offshore twice last year and with a bag limit of two fish we only brought home 8 fish. That just is not right. Lets move the season back to July, August & Sept so the little boats and little people have a chance to fish.

Sincerely,

Eric Puckett
6114 Royal Pt
San Antonio, TX 78239

Phyllis Miranda

From: lloyd dazey <lloydrdazey@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:19 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper regulation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in full support of Alternative 5. The allocation needs to be updated. The current set up is flawed and one sided. I live very close to the gulf and see on a daily basis the impact of the recreational fishermen on our economy. Please stand up to the ongoing corporate greed. The recreational angler needs a strong voice on this issue, and I urge you to be that. Please support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

lloyd dazey
2906 Bristol Bend Ln
Dickinson, TX 77539

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Ortego <ortego384@mac.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:14 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve alternative 5.

Thank You

Sincerely,

Paul Ortego
13 Timber Ln
Conroe, TX 77384

Phyllis Miranda

From: Karen Vaughan <krunern@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:03 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The fisheries council has almost made it impossible for the recreational fishermen to go out and enjoy snapper fishing due to regulations. With the high cost of gas it is absolutely insane to go out and catch 2 fish per person, when that is the only thing in season at the time. Please let us have our fair share of fish.

Sincerely,

Karen Vaughan
5330 Pearson Rd
Santa Fe, TX 77517

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mike Revel <mrrevel@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 7:06 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I urge you to strongly support Alternative 5 for red snapper reallocation. It is time to update this 30 year old allocation.

Sincerely,

Mike Revel
PO Box 155
Ganado, TX 77962

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Rau <rau802@cableone.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 6:55 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current snapper season in federal waters is too short. As a diver and a offshore fisherman for forty-five years, the number of snapper, and the size of the snapper, indicate that a longer season would be justified.

I enjoy eating in restaurants as much as most people, but the current allocation should be adjusted. If there are not enough fish for an individual to be able to bring home fish, there should not be a commercial fishery allowed. Fairness, economic data, all suggest a larger quata for the recreational sector.

Thanks, Michael Rau

Sincerely,

Michael Rau
802 S Guadalupe St
Port Lavaca, TX 77979

Phyllis Miranda

From: Glenda Barrett <glenda.barrett@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 5:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5. Please update the red snapper allocation. Using 1979 data to set allocation for red snapper is and would be highly inaccurate. It is like using 1979 cost of living to figure out how much of a cost of living raise you receive in 2013....does not compute. Again, please update the red snapper allocation by approving Alternative 5. Thank you in advance for your much needed attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Glenda Barrett
PO Box 547
Matagorda, TX 77457

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brendon Efaw <efaw704@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 5:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am an avid fisherman in the Gulf of Mexico. The last few years of offshore fishing have proved to be very frustrating as I can only catch big red snapper when bottom dropping or mid level jigging. I fish more often than most people I know which equates to anywhere from 5-10 offshore trips per year. Last year I kept 4 red snapper for the entire year. I watched barracuda kill probably 10-15 more that were on their way back down that I vented and released. Plus there were a few that came up from 300 ft and it is most probably they did not survive the atmospheric change. We have poor policies that hinder recreational fisherman from keeping red snapper. Recreational fisherman spend a lot of money on fuel, equipment, bait and food for these trips and it only seems fair to allow us to keep more than it currently allotted. We don't fish for meat hauls, it is never cost effective to do so with fuel costs as they are. We fish for the experiences and rewards of providing a much fresher product than can be bought at any store or market. I hope that you are able to enjoy fresh red snapper for more than 4 days per year as I have only been able to do for the last few years.

Tight lines,
Brendon Efaw

Sincerely,

Brendon Efaw
12614 Adams Run Dr
Cypress, TX 77429

Phyllis Miranda

From: Craig Raif <craifc@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 5:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It has come to my attention that your committee is considering a reallocation of red snapper. I am a recreational angler, and a member of CCA. I strongly encourage you to select alternative #5 for the coming reallocation. Sound science indicates this is an appropriate option.

Sincerely,
Craig Raif

Sincerely,

Craig Raif
5019 Misty Ln
Bacliff, TX 77518

Phyllis Miranda

From: Daryl Chenier <tunaholder@cox.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 5:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational fisherman I would prefer you vote for Alternative 5. Thanks Daryl Chenier

Sincerely,

Daryl Chenier
10737 Gurney Rd
Baker, LA 70714

Phyllis Miranda

From: Sean Austin <cooterb19@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 5:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5 and think an update to the red snapper allocation is vital.

Sincerely,

Sean Austin
13506 Saint Marys Ln
Houston, TX 77079

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Kevin Adney <ot8dvm@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 1:53 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 19, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Kevin Adney
111 Augusta Ave
Palm Harbor, FL 34683-1802
(239) 555-1212

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dennis Lockstedt <dalock3@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:26 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Spapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please work us sport fisherman and vote for alt 5 I think its istime that the sport fisherman gets a break.
thank you for voteing with the fisherman

Sincerely,

Dennis A Lockstedt
407 Crawford Dr
Victoria, TX 77904

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rene Pfefferle <rjpfefferle@cox.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:15 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Update Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please update the red snapper allocation. Support Alternative 5. Thanks

Sincerely,

Rene Pfefferle
3113 Grand Way Ave
Baton Rouge, LA 70810

Phyllis Miranda

From: Armando Longoria <aahlongoria15@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 19, 2014 12:09 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5. Please make my voice known as well as thousands of other recreational fisherman that we support Alternative 5.

Than You for your support and attention to this crucial matter.

Sincerely,

Sincerely,

Armando H. Longoria
PO Box 1474
Georgetown, TX 78627

Phyllis Miranda

From: Fred Shelton, E <fshelton@sheltonsplumbing.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 11:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: In favor of option #5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider the recreational anglers right to harvest red snapper . Being in the Gulf regularly I am suprised at the ammount of snapper at each stop we make . One thing I have noticed is that we can't get any bait down to fish for any other species without snapper (getting in the way) there are too many . Why are the people of Texas being penalized when the species is over populated and starting to affect smaller reef fishes like the grey trigger fish ? If you clean a snapper you will see smaller reef fishes that they normally would not eat. Thankfully the state waters recognize the over population of red snapper ?

Sincerely,

Fred Shelton E
13709 Sea Horse Ave
Corpus Christi, TX 78418

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Johnson <rljgj@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 11:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support alternative No. 5 to allow recreational fisherman their fair share of the allocation. Recreational fisherman are major financial contributor to the financial well being of the sport fishing industry.
Thank you, Richard Johnson

Sincerely,

Richard Johnson
1930 Oakbluff Dr
Carrollton, TX 75007

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. Tamara Scharck <t2shark@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 11:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Fishing from a regular Fisher

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I fish the gulf frequently. I want to stress that I understand the need for Snapper regulation. However, I want to propose the following...

The snapper within 9 miles are over fished and too small. They need to be included in the season for a 5-10 years to let them reestablish themselves and mature.

The snapper outside the 9 mile international waters are over fished by commercial fishing. The commercial industry should be cut back about 15-20%.

The private snapper season should be longer for private fisherman. If the season is only 10 days and one weekend you have a commitment and the other is a storm and the water is too choppy, you are out of luck for snapper!

The Snapper Season should be the first Friday in July to the last Sunday in July.

Snapper inside 9 miles should have the same season and a 2 snapper limit per person.

Snapper outside 9 miles should be a 4 snapper limit per person.

Sincerely,

Tamara Scharck
(EVEN Range 9000 - 9098) GROGANS MILL RD SPRING, TX 77380

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ron Grasty <rongrasty@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please enact proposition 5.

Sincerely,

Ron Grasty
202 Seashell Dr
Freeport, TX 77541

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Tanner <rtannerqm@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:44 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 - Please support it!

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Members of the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council,

I write today to ask you to support "Alternative 5". It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocating the annual Red Snapper fish take from our coastal waters. While it may not be perfect, it is a vast improvement over the outdated guidelines and allocation that are currently in place.

Sincerely,

Robert W. Tanner, Col, USA Ret
1204 Woodlawn Dr
Pflugerville, TX 78660

Phyllis Miranda

From: Henry Ehler <budpamrach@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please use some common sense and reallocate the red snapper allotment so that a few commercial fishermen don't have a near monopoly on the harvest of red snapper.

Sincerely,

Henry Ehler
2612 Piney Woods Dr
Pearland, TX 77581

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Brown, Jr. <cowhandmb@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: open it up more

Dear Chairman Boyd,

open it up there is so many out there they have almost made the trigger fish endangered!!!

Sincerely,

James Brown Jr.
PO Box 864
Seadrift, TX 77983

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gerald Guillory <kwjg66@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please! Enough of this game is enough already! Please approve Alternative 5...

Sincerely,

Gerald Guillory
1011 N Worthington
Lake Charles, LA 70605

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kathy Freeman <benji@pdq.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:07 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm writing as a member of GCCA to support Alternative 5 of amendment 28 in the upcoming vote. Please help protect the recreational anglers rights to the resource.

Sincerely,

Kathy Freeman
3206 Farmers Field St
Pearland, TX 77581

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dwight Andreas <adwight250@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am contacting you concerning the soon to be made decision concerning the allocation of Red Snapper in the Gulf of Mexico.

I would plead with you to support Alternative 5, that would bring allocation of resources into the 21st Century. We can no longer operate on 30+ year old data that is dubious at best. The Snapper population off the Texas Gulf Coast is very healthy.

Recreational fishermen who support and pay for conservation efforts should be afforded the opportunity to pursue this fishery. Commercial fishermen have no interest in conservation or the health of the fishery. They will do as they have done in the past and abuse and over harvest until the fishery is depleted, and then move on.

I pray that your sound judgement will change the way that business has been done in the past, and make it more equitable. In these austere times, this becomes critical to local and state economies.

Thank you for your patience and attention to this matter

Dwight Andreas
San Antonio, Texas

Sincerely,

Dwight Andreas
13723 Stony Forest Dr
San Antonio, TX 78231

Phyllis Miranda

From: Barry Walter <user12930@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Youi people are taking bribes from the commercial fishing industry Treat the recreational fishermen equally or we will take your jobs away

Sincerely,

Barry Walter
4918 Magnolia Run Dr
Sugar Land, TX 77478

Phyllis Miranda

From: Herbert Bolden <herbert77060@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like you consider this undeniable fact....there is no way a person with a rod and reel can do as much damage to the red snapper population as commercial fishers can. Stop letting greed ruin it for the recreational fisher.

Sincerely,

Herbert Bolden
505 N Sam Houston Pkwy E Ste 340
Houston, TX 77060

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marvin Murray <mjmurraytx@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 51

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support this alternative, it is the only fish in the gulf that is the recreational fisherman target species for quality table-fare. The commercial fisherman take more than their fair share, the rec fisherman has such a small impact on the resource. It is our turn to enjoy the fruits of our labor and expense!

Sincerely,

Marvin Murray
PO Box 122
Mont Belvieu, TX 77580

Phyllis Miranda

From: Thomas Winkley <winkeng@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Sound science and reason should be beacons in the decisions we make regarding the species of our earth. It is seldom that any individual or group has the opportunity to impact a species by placing a vote. May wisdom and not self service be your guide.

Sincerely,

Thomas Winkley
4202 Aqua Verde Dr
Austin, TX 78746

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Gomez <gomezptg@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper limits

Dear Chairman Boyd,

We should as anglers be able to fish for snapper more than 30 days it's sad but you can buy it year round for $19.00 a pound at h.e.b.

Sincerely,

James Gomez
115 Avenue G
Sugar Land, TX 77498

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lee Morgan <lmorgan@entouch.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:44 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Alternative 5.

Thanks,

Lee Morgan

Sincerely,

Lee Morgan
8323 Talons Way
Missouri City, TX 77459

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Lacy <greatmimipapa@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: REALLOCATE RED SNAPPER

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I STRONGLY SUPPORT ALTERNATIVE 5. THIS HELPS ALL OF US. PLEASE DO THIS FOR US!!! THANKS!!!!

Sincerely,

Robert Lacy
159 Old Orchard Ln
Bandera, TX 78003

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jim Taylor <jimtaylor101@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like my opinion considered in tegards to Red Snapper allocations between commercial and recreational anglers. I support 'Alternative 5' as the best option available to update our snapper allocations. I am always a supporter of smart game management, and this option is the best for our future generations of anglers. My family represents 6 active CCA members and we all support Alternative 5.

Thanks,
Jim Taylor

Sincerely,

Jim Taylor
1008 Aspen Rd
Clear Lake Shores, TX 77565

Phyllis Miranda

From: Sandra Leyendecker <sandy@crittercarevet.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational angler, I would like to see a higher percentage of the allocation distributed to recreational fishermen. The commercial side, in my opinion, is more interested in harvest while the recreational anglers lean toward preservation and long term improvement of the species via organizations such as the CCA. We must preserve our saltwater resources for years to come.

Sincerely,

Sandra Leyendecker
PO Box 406
Encinal, TX 78019

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Sanders, Sanders <westexasjim@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:43 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Limits

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am responding to a call for help from the CCA. I am an avid off shore angler and for many years have been concerned about the management of this vital resource. I have done some research on the subject and I believe that the stocks of red snapper have made a dramatic rebound. One of the ways this is apparent to me is the numbers of red snapper we catch when fishing for vermilion snapper off the coast of Port Aransas. To me it is a shame to have to release so many of these fish. Even with proper venting and care I am sure many of these released fish become prey as they descend through the water column. Of course as a conscientious angler I respect the laws and limits set by you gentlemen. My concern is that you are making decisions based on data that is old and out dated.

The CCA is supporting Alternative 5 and while in my opinion this is still unfair to the recreational angler I stand behind them as they seem to be the only organization on the side of the recreational angler.

Sincerely,

James Sanders
209 S Jackson St
Amarillo, TX 79101

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steve Hresko <shresko@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Red Snapper are a public resource which should not be limited to the hands, enjoyment and benefit of a few. Please increase the allocation allowed to the general public.

Sincerely,

Steve Hresko
16806 Springfield Ct
Sugar Land, TX 77498

Phyllis Miranda

From: George Blackford <gbsq22@centurylink.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I believe that Alternative 5 is the right solution for both commercial and recreational sport fishing.

Sincerely,

GBB
312 Trieste Dr
Punta Gorda, FL 33950

Phyllis Miranda

From: kevin milone <kmilone22@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: allocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

My name is Kevin Milone and I live in North Texas, I make several trips per year to the Texas coast to fish, while spending considerable monies in that pursuit. I URGE you to Please support Alternative 5. These resources certainly belong to more than the commercial interests. Please support alternative 5. Thank You for your time and attention

Sincerely,

kevin milone
11342 FM 2153
Sanger, TX 76266

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Piznar <mpiznar@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I encourage you to support recreational fishermen and the CCA by increasing the recreational allocation for red snapper.

Sincerely,

Paul Piznar
200 Water St Apt 26103
Webster, TX 77598

Phyllis Miranda

From: Doug Holmes <dsholmes51@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:15 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a Florida licensed recreational angler and I support Alternative 5, for the reallocation of Red Snapper. This update is needed to reflect the current commercial and recreational allocation of Red Snapper, to make it more fair to everyone. To quote Chester Brewer, chairman of CCA's National Government Relations Committee:

"The best available economic science clearly supports increasing the recreational allocation. It is difficult to understand why NOAA Fisheries has not acted on these studies before now to produce the best possible outcome for the economies of the Gulf states and for the nation."

Sincerely,

Doug Holmes
680 Monaco Dr
Punta Gorda, FL 33950

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ruben Flores <rfloros11@rgv.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:18 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I don't know why commercial fishing needs to have 51% of the red snapper. They belong to all of us anglers. Please don't let them take my future grandson or daughter's ability to fish these fish. The Public anglers rights should always be protected.

Sincerely,

Ruben Flores
2305 W Ann Arbor St
Harlingen, TX 78552

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Kiszkiel <john_kiszkiel@me.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please do the right thing and support Alternative 5. It is clearly the best option for recreational and commercial fishermen.

Sincerely,

John Kiszkiel
2700 Cortez Dr
Cedar Park, TX 78613

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dave Bayles <davebayles@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support CCA and back alternative 5. Do something right this time.

Sincerely,

Dave Bayles
15634 Thornbrook Dr
Houston, TX 77084

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Hines <michaelallanross@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: reallocation of red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I feel this is way past over due and should be allowed as purposed in proposition 5. It is time that we take away the right of a few to better the majority and help keep our Snapper population in better standing.

Sincerely,

Michael Hines
PO Box 6004
McAllen, TX 78502

Phyllis Miranda

From: Alvin Berger <acb78132@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Since when does commercial interests take priority over the public's interest? Sport fishing has a great influence on tourist interest in Texas. Looks like they are giving too much to commercial fishermen and not to the general public and tourism. We need a better cut for us, the public, and a smaller one for the commercial fishermen.

Sincerely,

Alvin Berger
826 S Bay St
Aransas Pass, TX 78336

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brad Skloss <bradskloss85@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:52 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5.

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a CCA member and avid fisherman, I support Alternative 5 as an updated allocation option of the red snapper fishery.

Thank you,
Brad Skloss

Sincerely,

Brad Skloss
22223 Oceanic Dr
Katy, TX 77449

Phyllis Miranda

From: Derek Moody <derekleemoody@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It is important to me and my family that my elected representative respect the recreational fishermen they represent. Fishing is a cornerstone of my childhood and its important to me that we relocate the red snapper and work with the coastal conservation association

Sincerely,

Derek Moody
5500 Great Divide Dr
Austin, TX 78738

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Sias <Texpro19@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs, In the democratic process, often times the disparate sporting public is overshadowed by a well organized and financed commercial lobby. In discussing the red snapper allocation one must keep in mind the best way to satisfy the most people and maintain the maximum harvest potential of the species. I believe that this is to maximize the take on rod and reel and minimize the allocation to commercial efficiencies such as nets and trawls. The fact is that sportsmen put a lot more money into local economies than commercial fishermen. If you ever took a child or a friend fishing you would know this. Whether it be to buy bait, or purchase a boat capable of making an offshore trip. By definition these folks are pursuing something they enjoy, not something they can profit from. There is indeed a place for profit from commercial fishing, but using old data and ignoring the present state of the fishery is misguided decision-making at best. I support alternative 5 which allows continued commercial fishing and incents the private angler to continue to pursue his passion. After all, if you can only keep a small and limited number of fish regardless of the health of the resource, common sense and brutal economics indicates that we will lose the very interested sportfishers that we need to maintain vigilance and preserve the resource for future.

Sincerely,

William Sias
19 Valley Forge Dr
Houston, TX 77024

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brent Campanella <breau007@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd, support #5

Sincerely,

Brent Campanella
985 Rodney Dr
Baton Rouge, LA 70808

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brent Coker <bwc58@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please be fair with the recreational fishermen and give us the majority of the Red Snapper catch. There are many other fish that the commercial fisherman can catch and sell in the market place. The $ we spend is very important to our economy and private business. Give us a break !!!

Brent Coker

Sincerely,

Brent Coker
7023 Oak Walk Dr
Humble, TX 77346

Phyllis Miranda

From: Billy Jalufka, Jr <bjalufka@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Council member, I am a recreational fisherman in the Galveston area. I am strongly in favor of Proposal 5. We recreational fishermen are definitely the silent majority in this battle against the big money commercial industry. We just sit back and expect it to be appropriated fairly. I understand how this works in America. The loudest voice usually gets what it wants just to shut it up. This resource is the American people's, not the commercial industry's who make money off of it. Please do the right thing for the great majority and allocate the quota fairly. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Billy Jalufka
4025 17th St N
Texas City, TX 77590

Phyllis Miranda

From: Shane White <Rswwhiteconstco@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: APPROVE ALTERNATIVE 5 (FIVE)

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing to you as a group with an appeal to do what is good, and right, and wise regarding the upcoming decision on the Red Snapper catch allocation in the Gulf.

Stop the unfair punishment of all the tax-paying citizens who are entitled to utilize this public resource! It has been shown unequivocally time and again that the economic benefit from private sport fishing sector is FAR greater than that of the wasteful commercial fishery.

It is true that the lobbying efforts of the commercial sector are better financed and organized. But that by no stretch means that they are motivated by anything other than monetary profit for themselves.

You have been trusted to be fair, just, and always on the side of conservation in deciding such issues. Approving Alternate 5 is clearly the right decision here.

Can I count on your support?

Thank you for your time.

Best regards,

Sincerely,

Shane White- member CCA TX
11240 S Bay Ln
Austin, TX 78739

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Anderson <randerson0520@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please allocate the red snapper pursuant to Alternative 5 as supported by the CCA. Recreational fishermen spend a lot of money to catch two fish. That's ridiculous when the red snapper are so abundant. When have conserved for years now, so it is time for us to reap the rewards.

Sincerely,

Robert Anderson
6414 Tarna Ln
Houston, TX 77074

Phyllis Miranda

From: Randy Underwood <randyu55@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:17 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Mssrs.

I want to voice my objections to the proposed reallocation of Gulf Snapper to provide more fish for the commercial fisherman. Sport fishermen on the gulf provide much needed funds and support to the industry and provide an over watch function to ensure the continued snapper population. The commercial industry does not provide this over watch nor do they care to do so. It is the commercial industry that has caused so much stress to the population and they will continue to do so until we have extinction of the snapper. Then they will simply move on the another fish and the problem will start all over again. Remember the Redfish and what commercial fishing did to the resource in a mere 4 years.

Sincerely,

Randy Underwood
5135 Maple St
Bellaire, TX 77401

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Mego <john@seemego.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:18 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Rec Fisheries

Dear Chairman Boyd,

poor governance to not reevaluate and cave to special interests

Sincerely,

John Mego
7906 Clarion Way
Houston, TX 77040

Phyllis Miranda

From: Timothy Chappetta, Sr. <1tcnola@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: To the authority who can make a change!

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I as a recreational fisherman am asking you to vote in favor of changing the red snapper quota to include the higher catch limit for us. You are the people we trust to look out for us to let our voices be heard. We depend on you in times like this. We spend a lot of money for fuel, tackle, food and so on. This in turn generates a lot of tax base money for the state. In short it cost a lot of money for us to go out and enjoy snapper fishing and all we are allowed to keep is 2 snapper per person. I am a strong believer in supporting conservation. When you are out targeting other species you can not help but to catch numerous red snapper. The data is from 1979 that the fisheries are using, I'm no biologist but from what we have seen the data needs to be updated. We urge you to support us in voting on Alternative 5.

PLEASE HELP !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Sincerely,

Timothy Chappetta Sr.
26193 Harvey Lavigne Rd
Ponchatoula, LA 70454

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Wattigney <pbwatti@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:03 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am an average recreational fisherman and I have not been offshore in quite a few years, largely because of the Red Snapper limits. Oh, I love ling, and King and grouper, but the majority of the fish we caught were red snapper and the current limit and restrictions are unfair to us recreational types. please consider adopting option 5 so we can have a fair shot and a more robust recreational fishing opportunity. Thank you so much for your consideration.

Paul Wattigney

Sincerely,

Paul Wattigney
222 Pecan Loop Dr
Baytown, TX 77523

Phyllis Miranda

From: Daniel Dodds <fishtexas@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Council Members,

I am writing you in support of Alternative 5 for management of our Red Snapper resources. Please vote for alternative 5.

Regards,

Ryan Dodds

Sincerely,

Ryan Dodds
207 Trafalgar Rd
San Antonio, TX 78216

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mason Gilfoil, Jr <masongilfoil@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am recreational fisherman and spend a lot of time and money in pursuit of my hobby. I would spend more in coastal communities and fish offshore more if the red snapper allotment was increased for the recreational angler. I would also suggest that there are a lot of small fish caught that will not survive release and should be kept.

Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,

Mason Gilfoil
14109 Commons Cove Ct
Humble, TX 77396

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Garner <dsgarner@swbell.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper re-allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am an avid recreational fisherman, and I spend countless hours and a substantial amount of money in my offshore fishing endeavors. I am still amazed that the council allows the majority of the red snapper quota to be given to the commercial interests involved. Recreational fishing, proven by in-depth study, provides a huge economic benefit to the coastal communities involved in fishing activities. Please allow we, the people, to continue to enjoy all the benefits of this dynamic fishery. Please approve Alternative 5, supported by many in and out of CCA. This is the best step forward in reallocation of the annual catch.

Many thank in advance for your consideration of my opinion in this matter.

Regards,

David Garner

Sincerely,

David Garner
13714 Burgoyne Rd
Houston, TX 77077

Phyllis Miranda

From: Sheryl Beck <sbheaven@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Bring in New Reallocation 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The Gulf of Mexico fishery Management Council has selected alternative # 5 and I'm in support of it . I'm send this request to Change OLD Allocation dated 1979 NOW THAT's OLD to NEW Reallocation #5 Sheryl Beck.

Sincerely,

Sheryl Beck
2706 Texas Laurel Dr
Katy, TX 77494

Phyllis Miranda

From: Blake Osgood <blakeozz@verizon.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It would mean a lot to us recreational anglers if Alternative 5 was approved. 30 year old data on a species that the population has exploded within the past few years cannot be allowed to dictate out limits. We could not catch Kingfish because of all the 12 inch snapper under the boat! The population has really taken off because of the low limits on snapper, and it has really helped! But now that the population is better off, it is time to up the limit on the plentiful population.

Sincerely,

Blake Osgood
1700 Gou Hole Rd
Baytown, TX 77523

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. Jim Curran <jmcurran37@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: SUPPPORT RECREATIONAL FISHING

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Keep recreational fishing strong. It is a better investment than commercial fishing.

Sincerely,

Jim Curran
PO Box 773006
Houston, TX 77215

Phyllis Miranda

From: Thomas Svehla <nltjsvehla@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I vote for alaternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Alternative 5 is good for fl. Rec. fisherman

Sincerely,

Tom Svehla
446 Valletta Ct
Punta Gorda, FL 33950

Phyllis Miranda

From: Raymond Keith <rw.keith@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper reallocate

Dear Chairman Boyd,

the last 3 years my wife and I go out on a party boat out of Galveston . we get to keep 4 fish . I go to the food market in friendswood tx and see unlimited amount of red snapper at $6.95 a pound.the cost of the trips at $200. will probabily be our last.

Sincerely,

Raymond Keith
207 Pine Willow Ct
Friendswood, TX 77546

Phyllis Miranda

From: Teresa Gaspard <teresagaspard@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 in the Reallocation of Red Snapper.

Sincerely,

Teresa Gaspard
PO Box 3172
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Chase, Jr <richchase@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:16 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5. There should be a change in the rules, so recreational fishermen have the opportunity to harvest more red snapper.

Sincerely,

Richard Chase Jr
3580 S M L King Jr Pkwy Apt 207
Beaumont, TX 77705

Phyllis Miranda

From: Phillip Herring <bren_phlip@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:18 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I also support alternative 5 and hope that the voices of the recreational fisherman will be heard wheather we are able to make it to a meeting or send support through our messages to our Council members.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Phillip Herring
831 Sunset Dr
Rockport, TX 78382

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bobby Ballard <bobbygballard@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:16 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Quota

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I think once the basic Quota is reached then the commercial interests should be satisfied and if the Quota is increased then commercial interests should not be greedy but leave the increased quota to sportsmen to enjoy catching. Sports fishermen spend a lot of money which also goes to the common good to insure that our fisheries are not abused by overfishing this resource.

Sincerely,

Bobby Ballard
11010 Arbor Wood
Beaumont, TX 77705

Phyllis Miranda

From: Fred Hornsby <cephus01@wildblue.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:09 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in 100% support of alternative # 5 on reallocation of the Red Snapper division between commercial fishing industry and the recreational anglers.

Fred Hornsby

Sincerely,

Fred Hornsby
474 County Road 406
Falfurrias, TX 78355

Phyllis Miranda

From: Keith Doty <k_doty@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The recreational fishermen have respected the very short limits for several years and have demonstrated responsibility in helping a serious recovery of the species. They represent a MUCH larger number of fishermen and a MUCH larger contribution to the local economy than the commercial fishermen EVER have. To continue to set aside the lion's share of the resource harvest to commercial interests that destroy such a huge number of undersize fish is foolish, unfair, and criminal in my eyes. I personally have seen what ONE commercial boat will do to a "spot". The commercial interests absolutely rape the resource with no thought about anything but short term profit and it is time to recognize this and put an end to it.

Sincerely,

Keith Doty
4437 Oleander St
Bellaire, TX 77401

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ann Bailey <abailey10@austin.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please change the Red Snapper allocation that is currently adverse to the recreational fisherman. We live in Austin, TX but own a home in Rockport, TX because we love to fish. The recreational fisherman provides needed stimulus to Rockport and the surrounding Texas Gulf Coast communities. The current limitations on Red Snapper for the recreational fisherman almost prohibit us from being able to catch any because of the limited window we are allowed. The current limits are based on 30 year old data. PLEASE don't punish the recreational fisherman for another 30 YEARS and punish those communities that depend on these fishermen! PLEASE update this allocation from outdated data and keep recreational fishing a viable commodity in the Texas Gulf Coast.

Sincerely,

Ann Bailey & Larry Wood
3509 Rip Ford Dr
Austin, TX 78732

Phyllis Miranda

From: William McClellan, III <whmcclellan@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:52 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please help update the ReAllocation of Red Snapper which is currently outdated. I would like you to help support Alternative 5 as it seems to be the best one being offered. Thanks for your support in this matter

Sincerely,

William McClellan III
24294 Linda Ln
Porter, TX 77365

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jerry Montgomery <jerrym@alltechfuel.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a life long resident of the Texas Gulf Coast, and my father before me, we are asking you to use better judgment in your assessment of the current quota in using 20 yr. old data to apply to today's condition.

I am requesting that you vote for Alternative #5

Thanks

Jerry Montgomery

Sincerely,

Jerry Montgomery
1115 Fleetwood Place Dr
Houston, TX 77079

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rex Clinton <clintonandy@texasbb.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative #5

Sincerely,

Rex Clinton
4751 FM 389
Brenham, TX 77833

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stephen Griffin <sgrifn@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I urge you to vote for and approve Alternative 5 in the reallocation of Red Snapper .

Sincerely,

Stephen Griffin
6725 FM 2782
Nacogdoches, TX 75964

Phyllis Miranda

From: Justin pool <ditkarulz34@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Don't take away my kids fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This is the start of a larger matter that public resources aren't public. I don't want my children to have to not have a RIGHT to and equal chance to go out and catch Red Snapper.

Sincerely,

Justin pool
136 Atlantis
Kyle, TX 78640

Phyllis Miranda

From: russell godwin <rusltn@aim.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

dear sirs

I AM WRITING IN REGARD TO THE RED FISH ALLOCATION IN WHICH I AM IN FAVOR OF ALTERNATIVE 5. IT IS NOT STRONG ENOUGH FOR ME, HOWEVER IT SEEMS LIKE THE ONLY VIABLE OPTION FOR THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE. PLEASE REMEMBER THE LONLY SPORT FISHERMAN IN THIS VOTE THANKS RUSSELL GODWIN

Sincerely,

russell godwin
20222 Linden Tree Dr
Katy, TX 77449

Phyllis Miranda

From: Johnnie Brown <jbrowngeologist@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5.

Johnnie B.Brown

Sincerely,

Johnnie Brown
PO Box 3343
Midland, TX 79702

Phyllis Miranda

From: Martin Harper <harper.martin@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Sirs; it is my opinion that alternative 5 would better serve the people.

Sincerely,

Martin Harper
PO Box 334
Cotulla, TX 78014

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dianne Wiltz <wiltz@mac.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider using updated information to base your decision on. Just doing things the same old way, without considering the impact on everyone, is an outdated method of decision making and does no one any good in the long run.

Sincerely,

Thank you.
124 Winding Path
Boerne, TX 78006

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Haas <jim.haas1@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

To State's Council - members please except this request to set it right the outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.
Regards,
James R Haas

Sincerely,

James Haas
11106 Creepline Glen Ct
Cypress, TX 77429

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ronald Litwornia <rlit@gvvc.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper fishery

Dear Chairman Boyd,

as an individual fisherman I feel left out in all votes to let me go offshore at considerable expense only to be limited to 3 or 4 fish while commercial fisherman catch tons and still complain they need me to retain fewer fish while they increase their quota! vote for alternate 5 to give me my small share since the recreational fisherman spend way more at the docks than the pros. It's the ECONOMY *****!

Sincerely,

Ronald Litwornia
1325 Lost Trl
New Braunfels, TX 78132

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ronald Thompson, MD <dai_fu@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Gulf Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5 of the red snapper proposals. The well funded commercials have the loudest voice, but the greatest economic benefit will come from the recreational fishing community.

We The People deserve more of a share of our resources than a small number of large scale harvesters.

Sincerely,

Ronald Thompson MD
2729 Oak Mountain Trl
San Angelo, TX 76904

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Geckles <james.geckles@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Aternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Alternative 5 for the Redfish Reallocation. If the commercial fishermen are successful in their endeavor it might be time to reallocate the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council.

Sincerely,

James Geckles
1504 Rockwood Dr
Keller, TX 76248

Phyllis Miranda

From: Trent Allen <talkaboutgood@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please take this opportunity to do the right thing and let the recreational fishermen actually get a chance to fish. When the limit was seven per person it was way too much. But getting 3 to 4 weeks a year to catch Snapper is a slap in the face. Mother nature takes care of a week or so do to inclement weather during the small season. Snapper have rebounded and it's mostly at the sacrifice and conservation of the recreational fishermen. There are more Red Snapper in the Gulf now than there was 12 to 15 years ago. I invite any council member to go on a catch and release Snapper trip and I'll pay the bill. I can take 6 people on a 42 foot Yellowfin. I promise you will get sick of catching fish in half a day. Fish will be caught on every drop and at every spot from 10 to 50 fathoms. In the last several years we even catch Snapper at deep water rigs 400 to 450 feet. Some folks say they aren't in water that deep. I know for a fact they are. We need conservation, no doubt. Have you ever been behind a commercial fishing boat anchored on a rock? They leave a trail of dead Red Snapper for as far as the eye can see. Culling through the fish to get the best size for whatever the market is driving. It's disgusting. They let more float of in a day than I can catch in 10 years of 30 something day seasons. Doesn't seem fare. It's not. Please take in to consideration the amount of money each and every recreational fisherman spends in his or her local community and give us our fare share. We are the ones conserving.

God Bless,

Trent D Allen

Sincerely,

Trent D Allen
2105 N Brazosport Blvd
Freeport, TX 77541

Phyllis Miranda

From: Corey Frank <ajandsnaps@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternate 5 Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of the Alternate 5 Red Snapper Reallocation along with 100% of the Recreational Fishing population. It is past time that we change the outdated, unfair, incorrect, and economically harmful laws surrounding the Red Snapper fishery.

Sincerely,

Corey Frank
5306 Novak Ln
Danbury, TX 77534

Phyllis Miranda

From: Barney Corbin, Jr. <bcorbin78@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

By changing the allocation on red snapper will help the Texas economy. Fishing create jobs from boat repair to the stores on the coast selling supplies.

With the trouble the U.S. is in we need to have as many people working as possible.

THANK YOU

Sincerely,

Barney Corbin Jr.
1031 Tiki Dr
Tiki Island, TX 77554

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ronald Brown <ronnieb@satx.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:03 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I urge you please vote for Alternative #5. Recreational anglers are so limited now, it is hard to justify paying for a trip to fish for red snapper. Longer season's or larger limits for recreational anglers would really help.

Sincerely,

Ronald Brown
13803 Crested Rise
San Antonio, TX 78217

Phyllis Miranda

From: albert hohlt <adhohlt@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

My thanks and agreement for considering option 5 as a fair measure between commercial and recreational. A lot of recreational gulf fishermen such as myself live a long ways from the coast and are having a hard time justifying the expense of a trip with small limits and usually rough seas.

Thanks

Bert Hohlt
Elkhart, Tx
903-764-5387

Sincerely,

albert hohlt
1639 W FM 861
Elkhart, TX 75839

Phyllis Miranda

From: Yolaine Wohlrab <ywohlab@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

There are not enough fish to go around, which obviously means we need to lay off the red snapper commercially for a while so that the numbers have a chance to come back. Since recreational fishing is as important to the economy as anything else, lets reallocate and give our recreational fishermen a chance at the bounty. I for one will only ever keep what I can eat within one day and will catch and release the rest.

Sincerely,

Yolaine Wohlrab
1385 N Ocean Dr
Port Lavaca, TX 77979

Phyllis Miranda

From: mark jurecek, s <msjurecek@dow.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:09 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper limits

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I feel the population of snapper in the past 5 years have exploded. I cant catch anything else. 50% of snapper I release become part of the food chain. We have been cutting back on limits for a good while I think its time to give back to the recreational anglers.

Sincerely,

mark jurecek s
20211 Deer Run Rd
Damon, TX 77430

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mark Dreith <mark.dreith@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper harvests

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Mr. Boyd / Mr. Riley / Mr. Riechers, As an avid sports-fisherman, I am very concerned about the allocation of the Red Snapper harvests in the Gulf of Mexico. My understanding is that "Alternative 5" is the best way to allocate the harvest, and I would like you to support and approve Alternative 5 as the fair and most practical way to allocate the Red Snapper harvests. I would appreciate if each of you would let me know if you support and approve this Alternative 5, and if not, why. I can be reached at mark.dreith@att.net.

Thank you for your time and consideration, on this important issue for the recreational anglers here in the Gulf of Mexico.

Sincerely,
Mark Dreith

Sincerely,

Mark Dreith
7818 Capri Cir
Houston, TX 77095

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kenneth Ellerbe <kenny@elitelandservices.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm a strong supporter of Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Ellerbe
16028 County Road 522
Guy, TX 77444

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jacob Worsham <mrluffer06@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Keep snapper going for residential fishermen its hard enough getting time and all the gas to go offshore and only bring home 2/3 fish

Sincerely,

Jacob Worsham
22710 Lantana Dr
Magnolia, TX 77355

Phyllis Miranda

From: Larry Millican <larrym@pegasusproperty.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:59 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have been fishing offshore & inshore in Texas since 1964 and have seen a lot changes. I believe that the current allocation for red snapper is incorrect. The current allocation does not use current data, proper science or make the most economic impact. The gulf council does not use current data or the proper science to create the quota/allotment. Figure the current price per pound for red snapper on the recreational side would much greater economic impact than any commercial application. To protect the fishery and create the greatest economic impact we should do the same thing that we did with the commercial redfish & speckled trout - stop the commercial fishing altogether until the fishery is restored completely.

Sincerely,

Larry Millican
934 Plantation St
League City, TX 77573

Phyllis Miranda

From: danny dorman <captaindorman@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Give recreational fisherman more quote than commercial guys.

Sincerely,

danny dorman
104 Poesta Dr
Portland, TX 78374

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lawrence Bonnette <lawrence.bonnette@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please set right this outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

LP Bonnette
9727 Haviland Ln
Missouri City, TX 77459

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Weist <weist33@msn.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:50 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of Alternative 5, sport anglers do not need more fishing opportunities taken away. It is frustrating to spend time and money to get to where the fish are, and then catch two and your done for the day.....this to me is taking away from people enjoying the environment to commercializing it....

Thank you.

Michael Weist

Sincerely,

Michael Weist
1702 FM 3036 Apt 9206
Rockport, TX 78382

Phyllis Miranda

From: bryanalex001@yahoo.com
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:57 PM
To: Gulf Council; CCANTL@JoinCCA.org
Subject: Amendment 28

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council member,
I understand the council has decided to go along with Alternative 5 as the preferred alternative and I want to go on record in support of that initiative. Alternative 5 is far better than no action.

If I had my first choice, I would go with Alternative 4 or a balance of economic benefits between recreation anglers and commercial fishing. Commercial fishing should pay the same percentage of costs to sustain the resource as they are allowed to take and the facts show they are not by a long shot.

Best Regards,
Bryan Alexander

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Robert Klus <robert.klus@parker.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:52 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 18, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Klus
14785 Fripp Island Ct
Naples, FL 34119-4817
(239) 331-4243

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Pineau <Bob_Pineau@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs

The data is old and flawed and needs to be changed. All the off shore fisherman say the same things, there are to many snapper. You can throw a line with out a hook and catch them

Let the small man catch some fish

Sincerely,

Robert Pineau
17231 Blackhawk Blvd Apt 104
Friendswood, TX 77546

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Walls, Jr <rwallsjr@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support and urge you to support Alternative 5 as your preferred alternative for reallocation. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. I believe that is a good thing.

In my view, this is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation, perhaps even too reasonable, but it is the most viable allocation option on the table. I urge you to set right this outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Robert Walls Jr
132 Park Hill Dr
San Antonio, TX 78212

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Brantley <wrbrant@swbell.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Give us back our red snapper.

Sincerely,

William Brantley
6230 Egypt Dr
Pasadena, TX 77505

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marty Meador <Mlmeador@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Fish

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I ask that you approve Art 5 for red fish fishing. I think that the anglers (vs commercial) are largely not considered in the decision making process.

Thanks very much....Marty

Sincerely,

Marty Meador
1034 Shorewood Dr
Seabrook, TX 77586

Phyllis Miranda

From: Harvey McFadden <mcfad@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate the red snapper !

Dear Chairman Boyd,

alternative 5 seems to be the one most fair to the the two schools of thought!

Sincerely,

Harvey McFadden
4813 Preston Trail Dr
Mesquite, TX 75150

Phyllis Miranda

From: Matt Elliott <matt.elliott@spawglass.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:43 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a lifelong recreational fisherman and the father of future recreational fisherman, I believe the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council should select Alternative No. 5 as the preferred alternative for Red Snapper reallocation. Alternative No. 5 is the most reasonable option for the long term health of the fishery and economic impact to the Gulf Coast. Your decision will have a long term economic impact on the fishery and those of us who plan our weekends, holidays and vacations fishing the Gulf Coast. This not only impacts those of us who engage in this type of fishing, but perhaps more importantly the countless communities and industries that we support in doing so. Please vote for Alternate No. 5.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Matt Elliott
9 Hilshire Oaks Ct
Houston, TX 77055

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joel Steirman, CPA <steirman@exp.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Return America's Fish to as many Americans you can.

Dear Chairman Boyd,

You have been given the facts. 400 commercial entities that hold red snapper permits get fifty-one percent of what is the Peoples' resource. That resource is G-d given gift to all people not a select few. I realize that recreational fishermen do not represent all Americans, but they represent more than 400 entities that reap the resource relatively for no better reason that they have a well financed, and very motivated lobbyists at there command.

More Americans will be touched in a good way if Option 5 is adopted. No one is wanting to put the thousands of people that depend on the red snapper fishery for their livelihood, I know not me. The choke hold that faces recreational fishermen can easily be resolved by election Option 5. I want my grandchildren to experience the beauty and wonder that landing a twenty pound red snapper is like. And most Americans, whether using a party boat or their own craft can only have that experience if you consider the PUBLIC good over a commercially viable industry that assures that the only red snapper they will ever know is served at the nearest seafood restaurant; and sold at a premium, even the undersized ones that sneak through inspection.

I earned my master's license the hard way, I took the exam.

Joel Steirman, CPA
Orange Texas
409 313-0673

Sincerely,

Joel Steirman CPA
PO Box 672
Orange, TX 77631

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jack Keller <jeksac@earthlink.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper regulations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Like the rest of CCA I support alternative 5, although in my opinion it still gives too much emphasis to commercial interests. Red snappers are a finite resource and they should be managed properly but for too long the commercials have been allowed to take the public's fish. There is no reason for me to support an extractive industry that is concerned only with satisfying its own greed.

Sincerely,

Jack Keller
117 Calle Conejo
Los Fresnos, TX 78566

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Phillips <mh.phillips@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:39 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The commercial interests will always say there are too few fish to share with the recreational anglers. That simply is not true. If the commercial folks are afraid they are hurting their occupational incomes, then split the take 51% commercial and 49% recreational. Let them have a larger share, just don't make it so onerous that the recreational crowd can't get but one fish each per outing. That's hurting the guide service folks who need a living too.

Sincerely,

MH Phillips
1009 N Sunset Dr
Pearland, TX 77581

Phyllis Miranda

From: Randy Steward <rcpl4531@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Randy Steward
241 Mitchell St
Corpus Christi, TX 78411

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lindsay Kersker <linker1@charter.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Have pity on the little guy

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Here's a historic opportunity to help the little guy, the recreational fisherman. Please loosen up the red snapper limits so that someone like me has a decent opportunity to catch and enjoy this fish. It seems way too lopsided in the commercial fisherman's direction . Please support Alternative 5 as it is a reasonable and viable allocation option. Thank you,

Sincerely,

Lindsay Kersker
431 Browning Loop
Mandeville, LA 70448

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Echols <rob.echols@siemens.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Reallocate of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Council member

I'm a Texas gulf coast resident that has a passion for offshore fishing for red snapper. Together my fishing partners and I spend over $20,000.00 a year offshore fishing. The money we spend goes to the local bait and tackle stores, marinas and boat launch facilities, plus the restaurants and hotel we stay at during trips. To support the local recreational fisherman and the local businesses that depend on us for their lively hood we request you supporting updates red snapper allocations. Basically we are asking you to support The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council's selection of Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Robert Echols
5018 Brigantine Cay Ct
Texas City, TX 77590

Phyllis Miranda

From: Frank Fishbeck <flfishbeck@prodigy.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper future allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please do new studies and research about the current status of the red snapper. When the new allocations are considered, remember that money made from red snapper catches by the commercial fishermen go to relative few people, but money spent by sportsmen go into many pockets. Sportsmen spend millions of dollars every year for boats, motors, trailers, tow vehicles, fuel, bait, rods, reels, food, drink and maintenance.

Thanks

Sincerely,

Frank Fishbeck
1955 County Road 206
Alvin, TX 77511

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jared Edwards <jarededwards01@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:31 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper - Please Help!

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The issue of Red Snapper Commercial vs. Recreational harvest desperately needs to be addressed. Currently, harvest is based on antiquated data from a time when this fishery was over fished. Today, the fishery has improved greatly to the point where it is hard to catch any fish other than large Red Snapper off the bottom in their common depths in all Texas Gulf waters. However, the limits are so tight that many people no longer go fishing for Red Snapper anymore. We have a chance to reinvigorate our coastal economy by allowing recreational anglers more access to this thriving fishery. Recreational Anglers will spend approximately 100x more dollars per pound of harvested Red Snapper than the commercial sector will. This means more money spent locally for fishing supplies, with local hotels restaurants filled during an extended Red Snapper season recreational season. By giving the Commercial fisheries a larger portion, we are affectively taking away income from much needed tourism dollars for our very seasonal coastal communities. Make the right decision and give recreational fishing more of the share than commercial!!!

Sincerely,

Thank you! Jared Edwards
727 Robinhood Pl
San Antonio, TX 78209

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joe Seltz <jcseltz@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:31 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Joe Seltz
140 Brendan Woods Ln
Conroe, TX 77384

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marcus Richards <m1f1k4r6@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper - Choose Alt 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am asking you to please choose Alternative 5 when deciding on the amendment for the reallocation of Red Snapper in the Gulf of Mexico. This alternative makes the most sense.

Sincerely,

Marcus Richards
22844 Brazos Dr
Porter, TX 77365

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stephen Shaw, Jr. <eyes_@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: option 5 please

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Red snapper should have a higher recreational limit.

Sincerely,

Stephen Shaw Jr.
8314 Terrace Wind Dr
Houston, TX 77040

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ryan Boudreaux <rlb2581@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs, I wish to convey my support of "Alternative 5" as it pertains to the excess distribution of the Red Snapper quota for recreational and commercial fishermen.

Thank you for your time.

R.L. Boudreaux
Recreational fisherman

Sincerely,

Ryan Boudreaux
1009 Janine Dr
Youngsville, LA 70592

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Barringer <jbarringer@tellepsen.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen please support and vote to adopt Alternative #5 in the allocation of Red Snapper. I feel that the commercial industry continues to put a drain on population of this species and we as , the sports fisherman , do not deplete the supply as much and alternative #5 will allow us to put a few more fish in our basket to help off set the expense of going offshore for such a fine dinner plate feast. thanks, John Barringer

Sincerely,

John Barringer
20263 Ann
New Caney, TX 77357

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eddie Morfin, Sr. <eddiemorfin@ymail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snaper right

Dear Chairman Boyd,

we as anglers love the catch of a red snaper and desire to keep on doing so also to pass this right to our future anglers its what we look forward to es anglers

Sincerely,

Eddie Morfin Sr.
108 Barcelona Dr
Rockport, TX 78382

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kenneth Coonrod <kcatx@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper: Lutjanus campechanus

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am with the Gulf of Mexico Fisheries Management Council in supporting Alternative 5 for red snapper reallocation. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Coonrod
5003 Smokey Mountain Dr
Austin, TX 78727

Phyllis Miranda

From: Norman Martens, Jr <bimbomartens53@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The red snapper allocation does need to be updated since it is decades old and outdated. Please update and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Norman Martens Jr
218 E Palfrey St
San Antonio, TX 78223

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Harpel <paulharpel66@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snaper allocation.

Dear Chairman Boyd,

You have to admit that the current allocation is based on data that is outdated. As a concerned member of the Coastal Conservation Association and resident of Texas I feel compelled to give you my opinion. So here goes. The financial impact of alternative 5 will be greater in and around the coastal communities than an allocation that favors the commercial fishermen. Please do not turn your backs on the hardworking people in the recreational fishing industry.

Sincerely,

Paul Harpel
4826 Flicker St
San Antonio, TX 78217

Phyllis Miranda

From: Glenn Jones <bjones694@verizon.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:17 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a Texas resident, conservationist, and recreational angler, I support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Glenn Jones
3911 Stedman Trl
Fort Worth, TX 76244

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chad Creecher <chad_a_creech@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Fishery

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This issue needs to be addressed the recreational fishermen are tired of being bent over on this topic.

Sincerely,

Chad Creecher
206 Avenue E
Brazoria, TX 77422

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Hobbs <hobbsrichard33@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:04 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I completely agree with the CCA Alternative 5 proposal for the Reallocation of Red Snapper. It has been long enough and the sportsfishermen need to be given a higher percentage.

Sincerely,

Richard Hobbs
5025 Glenview Dr
La Porte, TX 77571

Phyllis Miranda

From: Helen Karr <hlkarr6046@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:06 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Alternative 5 for the reallocation of Red Snapper fishing.

It is time to permit the recreational fishermen the opportunity to bring more of this fish home to their families to eat.

It is time to change this outdated ruling and give more back to the recreational fisherman. We are important too!

Thank you,
Helen Karr

Sincerely,

Helen Karr
1305 Mesquite St
Baytown, TX 77521

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Talbott <dtalbott001@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a long member of the CCA that I support Alternate #5.

Sincerely,

David Talbott
3039 Fairway Dr
Sugar Land, TX 77478

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Kraft, Jr <tomkraft234@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 4:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Who does the investigating on Snapper populations?

Why can commercial fisherman catch 8,000 lbs of Snapper per trip.....year round? We get FOUR!!! Fish The average weekend fisherman can't possibly hurt the snapper population with the limited amount of "legal" days. The weather will not allow it.

The Gulf is loaded with Snapper and you decision makers KNOW it.....PLEASE let us catch them!!!

Start asking real fisherman their ideas, not office pencil pushers.

There are not as many shrimpers in the Gulf resulting in much less by- catch.

Do the rite thing, open the season for a reasonable length of time and let us enjoy a portion of what the commercial boys get!

Sincerely,

Robert Kraft Jr
3506 Plum Brook Ln
Missouri City, TX 77459

Phyllis Miranda

From: Edwin Anders <edwinanders@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:50 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am for Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Edwin Anders
1166 County Road 210
Weimar, TX 78962

Phyllis Miranda

From: Butch Long <blong@idworld.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: RED SNAPPER ALLOCATION

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Alternative number 5 seems to be the most reasonable alternative on the reallaction of the Red Snapper quota. The commercial has had more than their fair share for the last 30 years.

Its time to use some new up to date data and science in the management of such an important resource.

Regards,
Butch Long

Sincerely,

Butch Long
PO Box 723
Charlotte, TX 78011

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Pledger <rpledger@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Allocation of Red Snapper Limits

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Sport fishing in the Gulf Coast is a multi-billion dollar business. Snapper fishing is one of the most attractive fishing venues for sport fisherman. The allocation of Red Snapper should be skewed to the benefit of Sports fisherman. I urge the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council to allocate the bulk of fishing to the sport fisherman. This is a key time for the future of business growth in the Gulf Coast!

Sincerely,

Robert Pledger
1210 Trace Dr
Houston, TX 77077

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steve Seymour <seymour0625@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:44 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5 red snapper allocation.

Sincerely,

Steve Seymour
2657 Seashore Dr
Seabrook, TX 77586

Phyllis Miranda

From: David McGinnis <david.mcginnis@clearwire.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational fisherman who occasionally goes fishing for red snapper on party boats out of Port Aransas, I support the updating of the snapper allocation via Alternative 5.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

David McGinnis
PO Box 40
Eddy, TX 76524

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. Mike Coxe <mikecoxe.flynn@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I need you to vote for alternative 5. All the data they have is old. The Snapper are getting over populated in federal waters. They are going to eat many other species. By using old data they will mess up the Eco system. The system is not working, new data is a must. The gulf states need to take over the mangement of the red snapper. They are the ones that will do a better job. They are working on reef programs for the snapper. They will do what best for the snapper. Crabtree & the council is about money not the snapper. They want the commercial sector to owne all the snapper for profit and leave the recreational with nothing. The recreational fishermen put millions of dollars back into the economy.

Thank you
Mike Coxe

Sincerely,

Mike Coxe
135 Sunrise Dr
Kyle, TX 78640

Phyllis Miranda

From: Hayden Gaspard <haydengaspard@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly support Alternative 5 for snapper reallocation. As a lifelong resident of the Texas Gulf Coast, I would much prefer an allocation that favors anglers more, but this seems the best we can do. I don't like playing politics, but I suppose this is a compromise.

Sincerely,

Hayden Gaspard
PO Box 3172
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gerald Weiss <gweiss@austin.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please help the fisherman! Vote for alt 5.

Sincerely,

Gerald Weiss
10612 Spicewood Pkwy
Austin, TX 78750

Phyllis Miranda

From: Albert Buentello <Albertbuentello@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Approve alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Approve alternative 5

Sincerely,

Albert Buentello
PO Box 57944
Webster, TX 77598

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ted Hume, Iii <trhchili@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please protect the interests of all recreational fishermen in Texas and vote to support Alternative 5. You are our voice. Please let us be heard!

Sincerely,

Ted R Hume III

Sincerely,

Ted Hume Iii
8335 Walnut Hill Ln Ste 110
Dallas, TX 75231

Phyllis Miranda

From: Warren Carlos <WARRENCARLOS2@GMAIL.COM>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The commercial industry contributes less than their share compared to the sports fishing industry to local coastal population. The quota for sports fisherman should be far greater than the commercial quota. I recommend 70 per cent for sports fisherman.

Sincerely,

Warren Carlos
20406 Chapel Glen Ct
Katy, TX 77450

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ben Johnston <benejohnston2905@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I respectfully request that the Council approve Alternative 5.

Ben E. Johnston DVM (Retired)

Sincerely,

Ben Johnston
21231 Laywood Ct
Richmond, TX 77406

Phyllis Miranda

From: Hugh Mood <gibbs@themoods.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support the fifth alternative in choosing an allocation.

Sincerely,

Hugh Mood
2304 Founders Cir
Spicewood, TX 78669

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Wilhite <mtwmps@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

First let me confess that I am by no means qualified to comment with any authority on what the Red Snapper allocation should or shouldn't be. But I am concerned that the opinions of all citizens interested in this subject should be heard. With that in mind I would ask that you not bend to any particular interest in making a decision on the allocation split between Recreational and Commercial interest. Please use all the data available and make the best decision you can based on sustaining this resource for everyone. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Michael Wilhite
2506 Gabriel View Dr
Georgetown, TX 78628

Phyllis Miranda

From: Peter Kolonko, Jr <pkolonko@satx.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I urge you to consider Alternative 5 as a path to red snapper reallocation. I believe Alternative 5 is a reasonable compromise especially considering the exceptional economic impact of recreational angling. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Peter Kolonko Jr
15719 Knolldown
San Antonio, TX 78247

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Key <keyhole3@verizon.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5.

Thank you, Richard Key

Sincerely,

Richard Key
PO Box 21
Menard, TX 76859

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Bryant <bigunbryant@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocatlions

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The sport fishermen in Texas contribute more to the conservation of this species than anyone, the current Federal allocation are old and based on 30 year old history, the recreatioal fisherman needs to reap his just reward. Your constituents expect you to represent them not big business, please vote to back the recreational fishing industry. Thank you, we will be watching!

Sincerely,

Michael Bryant
1802 36th Ave N
Texas City, TX 77590

Phyllis Miranda

From: roy satterwhite <roysatterwhite@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I approve Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I approve alternative 5

Sincerely,

roy satterwhite
PO Box 1181
Tomball, TX 77377

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Hays <john@jomarinc.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Its time for the red snapper allocation be updated.

Thanks,for all your help

Sincerely,

John Hays
1214 Tiki Dr
Galveston, TX 77554

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mac Hendricks <Machendricks@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm a seventy-two year life-long fisherman. The majority of my fishing has been in the Gulf. I strongly believe in fairplay concerning the rights commercial firhermen/shrimpers and recreational fishermen. Without going into great detail, please know that I strongly support Alternative 5 as the most equitable solution to reallocation. It is, in my opinion, overly generous to the commercial side; however, I support it as the "fariest to all sides alternative."

I appreciate all the work and countless hours you all spend in doing your jobs.

Sincerely,

Mac Hendricks
1804 Forest Hls
McKinney, TX 75070

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kristopher Anderson <bluegoosegs@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I support changes in snapper fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As an avid angler and a father to six children my kids and I are in full support to drastic changes in the recreational fishing. It's time for changes. We are being deprived from a wonderful resource. Limited on our red snapper fishing based on data from thirty years ago! Allowing majority percentage of the fish caught favor commercial fisherman. There needs to be changes!

Sincerely,

Kristopher Anderson
818 Mansfield Dr Unit 177
Port Mansfield, TX 78598

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bill Wilson <bilwilpst@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please help us recreational red snapper fishermen. We spend a lot of money on fuel, bait, hotel accomodations, food, etc. to go for red snapper. We need a better limit so as to justify these expenses. Thanks.

Sincerely,

Bill Wilson
5615 Champions Glen Dr
Houston, TX 77069

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dennis Bryant <dennis@southwestdispatch.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am an avid offshore recreational fisherman with a boat and part-time residence in Port Aransas, Texas. I spend an average of 75-90 days and nights in Port Aransas every year with many days fishing in the gulf. I always have family and friends on my boat while fishing. Most of my fishing partners travel from other parts of Texas to fish. Together we spend thousands of dollars per year pursuing our recreational fishin in the gulf. Red snapper are a major part of the total fish we catch and subsequently bring back and eat. I strongly support Alternative 5 as a reasonable approach to the reallocation of the red snapper fishery. Please approve this measure.

Sincerely

Sincerely,

Dennis Bryant
4441 County Road 1006
McKinney, TX 75071

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Foreman, Jr. <rforeman77@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I join with CCA in supporting Alternative 5 for the Red Snapper Reallocation.

Sincerely,

Robert Foreman Jr.
4702 Hickory Downs Dr
Houston, TX 77084

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Brock <billbrk@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I, Wm. Brock have been an avid CCA member and enjoyed fishing the Gulf Coast for 40 yrs.
If the allotment is not updated it will hurt the recreational fishing which is in the millions for the economy.
Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector.
Update the Allocation..!!

Sincerely,

William Brock
7250 W Greens Rd Apt 316
Houston, TX 77064

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bruce Cherry <Bruce.cherry1@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please review and renew this 30 year old allocation.

Sincerely,

Bruce Cherry
316 Krause Rd
Pipe Creek, TX 78063

Phyllis Miranda

From: Hugh Mood <gibbs@themoods.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly support alternative five.

Sincerely,

Hugh Mood
2304 Founders Cir
Spicewood, TX 78669

Phyllis Miranda

From: Carl Aasletten <caasletten@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Limits

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please protect our Recreational Red Snapper resources.

Thank You,
Carl Aasletten

Sincerely,

Carl Aasletten
3825 Glenwood Dr
Fort Worth, TX 76109

Phyllis Miranda

From: Margo Schulze-Haugen - NOAA Federal <margo.schulze-haugen@noaa.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:24 PM
To: Karyl Brewster-Geisz; Brad McHale; Randy Blankinship; Jenni Wallace - NOAA Federal; Emily Menashes; Alan Risenhoover
Subject: Atlantic HMS Advisory Panel Meeting April 3-4, 2014 - Draft Agenda
Attachments: CAMS Profile Form2013.pdf; AP Travel Request Form April 2014_Final.doc; AP Travel Guidance April 2014_031014.pdf; DRAFT AGENDA_HMS Advisory Panel meeting_April 2014_FINAL.pdf

Dear Atlantic Highly Migratory Species (HMS) Consulting Parties,

Please find attached a draft agenda for the April 3 - 4, 2014 HMS Advisory Panel meeting at the Sheraton Hotel at 8777 Georgia Avenue, Silver Spring, MD. The agenda, presentations, and materials will be uploaded to the HMS website at http://www.nmfs.noaa.gov/sfa/hms/Advisory%20Panels/Advisory_Panel.htm as they are finalized over the next week. We encourage attendees to bring laptops to the meeting to view the documents electronically (the room is internet accessible), or print the materials prior to coming to the meeting as we plan to provide limited paper copies of materials.

As previously announced, the intent of this meeting is to consider alternatives for the conservation and management of all Atlantic tunas, swordfish, billfish, and shark fisheries. At this meeting, we plan to discuss pre-drafts to the 2006 Consolidated HMS Fishery Management Plan (FMP) for Amendment 5b on dusky shark management measures and Amendment 6 on the future of shark fishery, as well as reviewing public comments on Draft Amendment 7 on bluefin tuna management measures. The meeting will also include progress updates on implementation of 2013 ICCAT recommendations, the HMS Research Plan, smoothhound shark management, and recreational issues for Atlantic HMS fisheries.

Hopefully, you have made your travel arrangements already. If not, the travel documents are also attached. If you have any questions or concerns regarding travel to the meeting, or for further information related to HMS, please feel free to call me at 301-427-8503 or see the HMS web page at <http://www.nmfs.noaa.gov/sfa/hms/>.

We look forward to seeing everyone in a few weeks. Thank you!

--

Margo Schulze-Haugen
Chief, Highly Migratory Species Management Division
NOAA Fisheries
U.S. Department of Commerce
Office: 301.427.8503
margo.schulze-haugen@noaa.gov

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Bruce Crocker <beccrocker@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 18, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bruce Crocker
10468 Euston Ave
Englewood, FL 34224-9403
(941) 474-3965

Phyllis Miranda

From: Trace Williams <trace_williams@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:15 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Approve Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 and hope you will too!

Sincerely,

Trace Williams
3110 Birch Landing Ct
Pearland, TX 77584

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ron McWilliams <ron.mcwilliams@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Do what's right for the future of all!

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The commercial interests limits should only apply when the fishery is again healthy! Since its almost in a critical state because other commercial interests who almost destroyed the Gulf and over fished in some areas, and needs to be protected from dangerous run-off! It's time to act on what's best for the Gulf & to look toward what's best for our children's children's children! NOT WHAT IS BEST FOR A FEW COMMERCIAL POCKETS!

Sincerely,

Ron McWilliams
710 E 8th St
Cameron, TX 76520

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joy Hartung <southpadrejoy@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative #5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The Port Isabel/South Padre Island Guides Association supports Alternative #5 on the Snapper Allocation. We have a membership of 35 anglers who all like their red snapper. Please don't take this away from us.

Sincerely,

Joy Hartung
PO Box 3858
South Padre Island, TX 78597

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joshua Jones <jjones@intertechflooring.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Hope whom ever finds this message is doing well. I am voicing myself on alternative 5 for the red snapper. Please support the CCA and recreational fisherman in this cause and get Alt. 5 pushed through.

Thank You,

Joshua O Jones

Sincerely,

Joshua Jones
855 Porter St
New Braunfels, TX 78130

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dudley Cole <dudleycole@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

My vote is for Alternate 7. Give more of the snapper population to the recreational sportsman. I hope your vote will be the same.

Sincerely,

Dudley Cole
5215 Contour Pl
Houston, TX 77096

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mike Ainbinder <mhainbinder@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:04 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Recreational fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a resident of Freeport Texas and have it saltwater fisherman I want to voice my opinion to keep recreational fishing open to the common man who works hard for a living and wants to spend his time as he chooses on the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico

Sincerely,

Mike Ainbinder
PO Box 2197
Freeport, TX 77542

Phyllis Miranda

From: Norman Oates <noates@cableone.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:09 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I attended the meeting last night in Corpus Christi. I am in support of Alternative 5. New research must be done, and it will positively allow for a larger TAC. It is time that recreational fishermen are able to fish longer than one month. Texas and Florida are not similar environments, and studies for the entire Gulf are not "apples to apples" for Texas. We should get larger limits (at least 4 fish per fisherman) and longer time (at least three months or longer) until research shows a decrease in snapper.

Sincerely,

Norman Oates
120 Sea Mist Dr
Aransas Pass, TX 78336

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Cutbirth, Jr <ccendo@prodigy.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:03 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

In this ongoing "battle" between commercial and recreational anglers, I urge you vote allocation 7 or five. I do not feel punitive to commercial fishermen, however I do believe they are the reason for the decline of the red snapper fishery. And i believe you know this for the assundry of reasons regarding most all commercial enterprises of public resources. The recreational sector dollars are far above and beyond that of the commercial sector. The overall benefit could be even greater to the economy of ailing Texans if the recreational sector is increased. The commercials would enjoy greater fees for their lessor amount of "product" while more Texans and their children get the benefit of fishing together. As it currently stands it is too expensive to fish for Red Snapper alone. This is a question of what is the greater good. It is obvious, it is the recreational fisherman.

Sincerely,

Dr William M. Cutbirth, Jr
2862 S Alameda St
Corpus Christi, TX 78404

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brad Alexander <brad0864@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Fishing is a vital part of my livelihood and I would appreciate your consideration in allowing the red snapper allocation to be updated.

We all have a duty to support the fisheries for the future and I am asking for your support.

Sincerely,

Brad Alexander
108 Sycamore Ct
Grapevine, TX 76051

Phyllis Miranda

From: Shawn Faris <shawn.faris@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:07 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: change the red snapper allotment

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please revisit how the commercial fishing industry is taking more than their share due to the old methods of counting catch for rec fishermen.

Sincerely,

Shawn Faris
2039 Arlington St
Houston, TX 77008

Phyllis Miranda

From: Thomas Lomonte <dr.tlomonte@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 3:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: RED SNAPPER

Dear Chairman Boyd,

PLEASE ALLOW ALLTERNITIVE 5 TO PASS

Sincerely,

Thomas Lomonte
12122 Murphy Rd
Stafford, TX 77477

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ronald Speir <ron@cscbrazosport.org>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 gets Our Vote

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am excited to hear that the opportunity to make significant change to the method of "Snapper Allocation" for Gulf Coastal waters is finally a reality after 30 yrs. I strongly support "Alternative 5" as an effort to allow the recreational anglers a fair portion of the annual snapper allocation...at least when the quota exceeds the 9 million mark. Please vote and support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

RonSpeir
105 Zinnia St
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Phyllis Miranda

From: Margaret Dodd <margaretwdodd@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:59 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28 - Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 to Amendment 28 as the most reasonable method to Red Snapper reallocation and I wish you would too. The current allocation method is outdated and Alternative 5 seems to be the best option on the table and in the best interest of conservation and recreational anglers. Conservation is an important issue and the financial interest of commercial fisherman should not be the deciding factor in this decision. Please hear my voice and represent me well. Thank you.

-Margaret D.

Sincerely,

Margaret Dodd
1124 Wynnwood Ln
Houston, TX 77008

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Soderquist <bigdaddywill38@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen,

There is one great joy in my life that provides me some alone quite time. That is fishing and of that my greatest joy is fishing our great waters of the Gulf of Mexico off the Texas coast. Please consider how you will allocate the percent of what commercial fishers and anglers will get to fish for Red Snapper. Let's be fare when it comes down to it.

Sincerely,

William Soderquist
9801 Kendal Dr
Austin, TX 78753

Phyllis Miranda

From: G. Todd Penick <fishnfrfun@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper realocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

First, I must say I do appreciate that the Gulf Council has a tough job. I would like for you to support alternative 5 and at least give sport fisherman a small chance to catch a few more fish. It's a crying shame the way NMFS has allowed the commercials to rape our fishery for so many years while turning a deaf ear to the people that make the largest impact to the economy, the SPORTFISHERMAN!!!!

Sincerely,

G. Todd Penick
655 Westwood Cir
La Marque, TX 77568

Phyllis Miranda

From: anthony jorgenson <tonyflo@omniglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

please support the recreational anglers.
they pay taxes, vote and should have first chance at fishing for public well being.
thank you

Sincerely,

anthony jorgenson
300 Rock Bottom Rd
Hunt, TX 78024

Phyllis Miranda

From: Frank Crapitto <crapitto@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I am definitely in support of Allocation 5. I have been fishing offshore for 40 plus years and it has become almost not worth it for the cost of a boat and fuel to even go offshore.

I am the owner of Mowdy Boats of Texas and have made it possible for the Houston Central Chapter to raffle off one of our boats on May 1. They should make at least $25,000 on this endeavor and I built the special edition for them at below cost. That is just one way I support the CCA and fishing.

I am lucky enough to be able to take my 25' Mowdy offshore now and am looking forward to more offshore fishing if we have a reason to go for just a few snapper. I appreciate your time and effort for all the work that you people do.

Sincerely,

Frank Crapitto
2 Crestwood Dr
Houston, TX 77007

Phyllis Miranda

From: Barry O'Brien <bobrien2@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:50 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

We need to have the Red Snapper allocations updated. This limited and shrinking pool of fish for recreational anglers to seek is already grossly low, but yet still unevenly divided towards commercial fisherman. For years as a child my father would take me on boats to fish for snapper. I continued that with my father in law and wife, but since my first years of marriage, the snapper limits have made it that it's not worth heading to sea with the price of gas, fishing license, bait and tackle all going up over the years. All for a measly 2-3 fish. The ocean's bounty has a way of reproducing at very quick speeds and with the past 10-15 years of stifling reductions the ocean has to be filling fast once again. I don't care what scientists say in fishery reporting, those reports can be influenced for political and economic gains for one side or the other, but common sense says this fishery has restocked and limits need to be lifted for all, but especially for recreational anglers. The old saying about teaching a man to fish and he'll eat for a lifetime is never more true than now as kids are increasingly drawn to video games, and it's now that parents need to be teaching their children to fish and hunt and fend for themselves to grow up good citizens that don't rely on the government, and they get a sense of accomplishment in fishing. Basically shutting down snapper fishing for the everyday man due to cost-benefit ratio (gas, bait, boat, etc VS 2-3 fish limits) is leaving a hole in man's great history of fishing and making the fishing industry as giant as the agricultural companies that put the small farmers out of business and drove people from the country to the cities early in the 20th century. What we are left with is probably 90% of the population doesn't know how to plant and maintain a garden for fresh home grown vegetables and fruit. The same is happening right now with fishing. So please, update the recreational angler's allocation to be more favorable than what the past has provided.

Sincerely,

Barry O'Brien
20802 Whitevine Way
Katy, TX 77450

Phyllis Miranda

From: Christopher Davis <csdavis1972@live.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in full agreement with the CCA's support of Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Christopher Davis
3206 Summer Bay Dr
Sugar Land, TX 77478

Phyllis Miranda

From: MacGregor Byers <macbyers5@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

To Whom It May Concern:

I fully support CCA and its support of Alternative 5. We recreational fishermen need snapper and we support the fish and the economy more than the commercial fishermen ever will!

Sincerely,

MacGregor Byers

Sincerely,

MacGregor Byers
1406 Pecan Trace Ct
Sugar Land, TX 77479

Phyllis Miranda

From: George Rolen <amos.rolen@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider the needs of the recreational anglers when revising the rules.

I support Alternative 5, such that we maintain the existing commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector.

Currently the recreational anglers can only fish a very limited time window which prevents many (including me) from being able to catch ANY snapper during most years. Allowing the increases to go to the public sector is the most viable solution as allocating the increases to the commercial sector would only impact wholesale sale prices negatively and would not positively benefit any particular group whereas increasing allocation to the public increases tourism and supports recreational angling for the current and also future generations.

Sincerely,

George A Rolen
17826 Choctaw Dr
Rosharon, TX 77583

Phyllis Miranda

From: Zachary Landry <zacharylandry@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing to express my opinion that Alternative #5 is the preferred alternative for reallocation of Red Snapper.

I am an avid fisherman and would respectfully ask that you vote for #5.

Kind Regards,
Zachary Landry

Sincerely,

Zachary Landry
2401 Never Bend Cv
Austin, TX 78746

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bob Mullins <BobM49@verizon.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper conservation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support CCA's stand on the Red Snapper issue and urge all to vote accordingly.

Bob mullins

Sincerely,

Bob Mullins
402 S Main St
Georgetown, TX 78626

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. Clinton Mesker <cbmgm@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs:

We support Alternative 5. We have a place on the Coast of Bolivar Peninsula, TX. We are avid fishermen and have many fisherman friends as well. We are retired and greatly enjoy fishing as a pastime. Please consider Alternative 5 and remember other fishermen like we are should have a voice as well as the Commercial Fishermen.

Thank you,
Merry Gay and Clinton Mesker

Sincerely,

Clinton Mesker
2723 Perryville Dr
Odessa, TX 79761

Phyllis Miranda

From: Troy Williamson <tbwlaw@swbell.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper reallocation

Categories: AP-CMP, AP-Ad Hoc Artificial Substrate, AP-Ad Hoc Private Recreational Data Collection

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I encourage you to vote in favor of Alternative Five.

Troy Williamson

Sincerely,

Troy Williamson
PO Box 967
Corpus Christi, TX 78403

Phyllis Miranda

From: Larry Tillick <ltillick@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Allocation of the Red Snapper fishery

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Sirs. I understand that it is time to address a reallocation of the US red Snapper fishery between commercial and recreational interests. I am in favor of alternative number five. Although I am not against commercial interests, it seems the commercial interests are against the recreational fisherpersons. Most cases of over fishing in the USA have been by commercial interests. It seems they never know when or how to stop. We recreational fisherpersons always seem to get the short end of the deal. It is time to be fair. Alternative Five is a decent start to be fair.

Thank You for listening.

Larry Tillick

Sincerely,

Larry Tillick
2229 Oak Vly
Schertz, TX 78154

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Teare <jbteare@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please record my desire to choose alternative 5 When harvest allocation is decided.

Sincerely,

John Barry Teare
1763 Diamond Head Dr
Tiki Island, TX 77554

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jean Fontenot, Jr. <swatsouth@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Doug ,

Please count my vote as an advocate for alternative 5 .

Thanks

Sincerely,

JD Fontenot Jr.
1120 Clover Ct
Adkins, TX 78101

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. Don Roberts <monaroberts3@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5. Don't leave the current allocations unchanged for another 30 years.

Sincerely,

Don Roberts
117 Lakeview Rd
Rockport, TX 78382

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jeffrey Sinda <return2sinda@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a recreational angler in the state of Texas. I am writing to voice my support for Alternative 5 in the proposed reallocation of Red Snapper.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Sinda
10115 Heron Meadows Dr
Houston, TX 77095

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brian Wyatt <brianw847@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: GOM Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear sirs, The total allowable catch of Red Snapper Should be reconfigured to 40% commercial and 60% Recreational. It is time to Allocate our resources back to the true recreational fishermen of the gulf states. adding another figure of math to the Total Allowable Catch as a means to fuzzy this up even more is absurd.

If there is an overage, it is a total Number which is defined as TAC=Total Allowable Catch.

40% Commercial

60% Recreational

And End these crazy headboat pilot programs.

Sincerely,

Big Pappa
6425 Cheyenne Pass
Bulverde, TX 78163

Phyllis Miranda

From: Edward Turner <ed.turner519@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5. Please do not allow commercial fisherman the opportunity to increase their allotment as the expense of the recreational fisherman.

Sincerely,

Edward Turner
18733 Egret Oaks Ln
Houston, TX 77058

Phyllis Miranda

From: Fred De Roode <fred@ppcloan.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper Quotas

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Mr. Boyd, Mr. Riley, and Mr. Riechers,

As a 62 year old Texan and life long fisherman, lifetime sponsor of CCA , and large business owner and large Federal Income Tax Payer I support Alternative 5 for allocating the supply of available Red Snapper between commercial fisherman and their interests and above all the individual man, woman and children sportspersons that enjoy fishing. I am a conservationist at heart and want to ensure that our country and others have plenty of fish to catch in the Gulf of Mexico for the next 100 years plus.

I want to see my tax dollars properly allocated and so I want to see that Alternative 5 is implemented.

Please, if you have any questions for me please call me at 281-419-0400 or email me at Fred@ppcloan.com. Thanks

Sincerely,

Fred De Roode
3 Wood Manor Pl
The Woodlands, TX 77381

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bret Barnett <bretandpam@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Save recreational red snapper fishing for my kids and grandkids and their kids!!!

Sincerely,

Bret Barnett
207 Crosswind Dr
Victoria, TX 77904

Phyllis Miranda

From: Becket Tanner <BecketTanner@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Becket Tanner
1402 Penny Lake Dr
Wallis, TX 77485

Phyllis Miranda

From: Charles Petzolt <charles@starcraft-interiors.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: alternative5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

alternative5

Sincerely,

Charles Petzolt
18008 E Cypress Hill Cir
Cypress, TX 77433

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Kay <james_kay@praxair.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 (Allocation for Recreation)

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This is a much needed change / addition. The recreation fisherman contribute many dollars to this industry. It is almost getting to pricey for captains and charters to stay in business.

Sincerely,

James Kay
13 Woodhaven Wood Dr
Spring, TX 77380

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jack Haire <jack.haire@edwardjones.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Please implement Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please continue your efforts to balance the commercial & recreational quotas by implementing Alternative 5.

The antiquated allocation model being used needs to be updated - but in the interim Alternative 5 provides the best remedy.

Thank you for your efforts & consideration.

Sincerely,

Jack Haire
357 Milner Rd
Livingston, TX 77351

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Lane <michael.lane1@va.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper reallocation.

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs, I support Alternative 5. Reallocation of the red snapper quotas is far over due. I am a SCUBA instructor for Houston Scuba Academy and I've done over 5000 dives in the Gulf of Mexico over the last 30 years. My personal observation is that the red snapper stocks are stronger now than they have been in the last three decades. Access to the gulf is becoming increasingly more expensive especially for recreational users and therefore it is simply not far to exclude them from such a bountiful fishery. I hope you can find a way to correct the inequity present allocations between recreational and commercial users.

Sincerely,

Michael Lane
16707 Bentfield Way
Houston, TX 77058

Phyllis Miranda

From: Nikki Garza <nikki.garza@lyondellbasell.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 as better option

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a fellow angler who has just recently (past few years) fallen in love with fishing Galveston's Bays - and someone who practices catch and release - I request that you do not take away any more of the recreational fishermen's bag limits and increase our allotment. While I understand the commercial fishing desires, it is recreational anglers who time and time again suffer the brunt of regulations. We take the fewest fish out of the bay system (what we do is not called catching). While the commercial fishermen haul in net after net of fish, day-in and day-out.

When my husband, daughter, and I go out for a fishing day on the Bay, we easily fork out $100 in bait and gas. While the joy of the experience with my family is priceless, lowering the bag limits makes it harder to justify "fishing". If I can't keep enough fish for dinner - then we will head out less and less, eventually giving up the boat for other family friendly adventures. Please vote to support your everyday family fisherman and let our wonderful memories last and be passed down to the next generation.

Sincerely,

Nikki Garza
322 Spencer Lndg W
La Porte, TX 77571

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jess Burditt <burditt.jess@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: RED SNAPPER

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I DON'T FISH THE DEEP WATERS OFF OF TEXAS. HOWEVER I DO FISH THE BAY SYSTEM WHICH FOR MANY THOUSANDS OF YEARS HAS BEEN TIED TO A HEALTH OF OUR GULF COAST.

I SUPPORT AMENDMENT 5 BECAUSE OF MY OWN CONVICTIONS THAT IT WILL BE OF BEST INTEREST.

QUITE FRANKLY I WISH THAT THERE WAS NO COMMERCIAL FISHING ALLOWED. AMENDMENT 5 SEEMS MOST REASONABLY

Sincerely,

Jess Burditt
PO Box 3667
Bryan, TX 77805

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Debes <billdebes@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Fifteen years ago I sold my offshore boat and move my fishing efforts inshore. Waters that I felt as a resident of Texas I had input in management. I do understand that at the time, snapper were seriously depleted and needed attention. However, today that scenario does not exist. For the last several years, snapper have almost become a nuisance offshore. You can not get a bait to the bottom for other species. For this reason I'm once again optimistic this current recreational allocation will change soon. The short season, with 2 fish allocation only keeps anglers from going offshore. It is not necessary as most anglers will attest, even our Texas Wildlife Agency concurs. I would hope that this Council will look at alternatives and reevaluate the restrictions. We need longer seasons and larger bag limits. This fishery is not for the commercial interest who lobby for greater shares, but for the citizens of this Country that pay taxes that supports the research and health of this resource. Every fisherman I know cull their catches and that is a direct result of the 2 fish limit. Unfortunately, most of the released fish never return to the bottom. Either predators or stress takes a large toll and this is not necessary. I do support Alternative 51 as a start in the right direction. I ask you to consider the majority of citizens, not the few who make a living exploiting our, citizens, resources.

Sincerely,

William Debes
415 Sunset Cir
Galveston, TX 77554

Phyllis Miranda

From: Darlene Cook <darlenec@knbt.fm>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:31 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a Texas CCA member I support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Darlene Cook
346 California Blvd
New Braunfels, TX 78130

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stephen Tanner <helisales@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Redfish Allocation Update

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a lifetime Saltwater Angler in the Gulf of Mexico, I wish to offer my support for Redfish Allocation Alternative 5, which is also supported by the CCA.

I strongly believe the current healthy conditions we find in the Gulf of Mexico are due DIRECTLY to the efforts of Sport Anglers and the CCA. You should listen when we speak - left to their own devices the Commercial Fishing Industry WILL again over fish the Gulf. They've done it before, and they will again if allowed to do so.

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions for me.

Sincerely,

Steve Tanner
512-985-5203

Sincerely,

Steve Tanner
110 Pine Ridge Dr
Bastrop, TX 78602

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Dunn <dunndj@swbell.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

David Dunn
611 S Upper Broadway St
Corpus Christi, TX 78401

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kimmy Huff <kimhuff@airmail.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please vote for Alternative 5 in this matter. Thank you

Sincerely,

Kimmy Huff
PO Box 173
Scurry, TX 75158

Phyllis Miranda

From: Blane Byler, S. <sbyler@cityoflg.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in favor of supporting Alternative 5.
Please consider approving Alternative 5.
Thank you!

Sincerely,

Blane Byler S.
4245 FM 154
West Point, TX 78963

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jack Kidd <jkidd001@austin.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Jack Kidd
3505 Fawn Creek Path
Austin, TX 78746

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gregg Bell <bell.gregg@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please choose Alternative 5 as the proper course of action regarding red snapper reallocation. It is a fair alternative.

Thanks,
Gregg Bell

Sincerely,

Gregg Bell
1019 Sunflower Trl
Austin, TX 78745

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Brown <jbrown549@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Redsnapper Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Alternative 5 seems to be the best way for this matter to be handled. The snapper season is just getting shorter and shorter, even with last years split season. Both were just not long enough. A safe offshore trip is not something that can always be thrown together in a moments notice, it takes time and money. 75 / 25 is a bit much but that seems to be the best offer because the commercial fleet refuses to give up anything for the recreational angler. They should realize just how much revenue is generated be US , The Recreational Anglers. Can't we ALL just get along....

Sincerely,

James A Brown
3309 E Country Club Dr
Shoreacres, TX 77571

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Miller <bjm1010@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Approve Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please accept this as my recommendation for Alternative 5 to be implemented by the Council. I endorse the CCA position in this matter as I am a recreational fisherman and have been most of my life, except when I wasn't big enough to hold a pole let alone bring in the big one. I hope others respond to this and encourage A-5 thus creating a reading turmoil for you so I won't take up your time. Life is about change and sometimes giving it a chance may better the situation. Of course, recreation VS commercial is based on the issues dollar value.

Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter for myself and my children, future fishermen.

Sincerely,

William Miller
2217 23rd Ave N
Texas City, TX 77590

Phyllis Miranda

From: gary hansen <gvisions@cableone.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snappers for recreational

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I appreciate your efforts to represent the recreational fisher persons in bring our needs to the attention of the powers in charge. Please continue this worthwhile effort.

Sincerely,

gary hansen
103 Tarpon Ct
Aransas Pass, TX 78336

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steven Fojtik <steven.fojtik@lyondellbasell.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Gulf Coast Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational fisherman I stand in support of Alternative 5. It is the most resonable and viable path to reallocation that is on the table for discussion.

I grew up fishing on the great Texas Gulf Coast and have many very fond memories and I as well as my as sons and daughter continue to fish there. As a result over the years i have seen bag limits continue to dwindle for the recreational fisherman in favor of the commercial fisherman. As state and federal tax payers I feel that the people should be entitled to there fair share instead of giving the lions share to the commercial fisheries and their lobbyists.

Sincerely,

Steven Fojtik
3518 Maverly Crest Ct
Katy, TX 77494

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chris Satterwhite <sattyboy4990@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Chris Satterwhite
26 Timber Ln
Conroe, TX 77384

Phyllis Miranda

From: Guy Humphrey, Jr. <ghumphrey@coseng.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternate 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

My household is in support of Alternate 5 to shift more of the resource to the residential sector on years when the quota exceeds 9.12 million pounds.

Sincerely,

Guy Humphrey Jr.
5143 Sugarberry Cres
Fulshear, TX 77441

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jeff Carley <jcarley@thekoehlercompany.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: RED SNAPPER - ALTERNATIVE #5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I STRONGLY URGE THAT YOU APPROVE ALTERNATIVE #5 CONCERNING THE RED SNAPPER FISHERY

THANKS

JEFF CARLEY

Sincerely,

Jeff Carley
203 Club Vw E
Seguin, TX 78155

Phyllis Miranda

From: Will Copeland <willxfs@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support the CCA. Please support Alternative 5. Please help sportsmen and women maintain their right to enjoy the terrific red snapper fishery here in Louisiana.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Will Copeland
216 General Gardner Ave Apt A
Lafayette, LA 70501

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ron Arbogast <ronarbo1946@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Common sense & fair play dictates that Alternative 5 is the ONLY equitable way to allocate our plentiful Red Snapper allocation.

Please Vote for alternative #5

Sincerely,

Ron Arbogast
PO Box 148
Port O Connor, TX 77982

Phyllis Miranda

From: Claude Heuring <claudeheuring@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper rules

Dear Chairman Boyd,

the people that fund more money to help preserve the fish population to grow, get the shot end of the regulations.

Sincerely,

Claude Heuring
12427 Logan Mill Dr
Houston, TX 77070

Phyllis Miranda

From: Zachary Small <zachsmall@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing to express my support for Alternative 5 for Red Snapper reallocation. As a recreational angler, it is important that our valuable Gulf Coast resources are protected and allowed to grow and thrive rather than become commoditized for commercial gain. Please consider these thoughts as you plan for the future of this valuable fishery.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Zach Small
2207 Chelsea Creek Ln
Spring, TX 77386

Phyllis Miranda

From: Greg Sims <greg.sims-1@nasa.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: approve #5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

approve #5 so the recreational fisherman will get 75% of the Red Snapper.

Sincerely,

Greg Sims
4505 Coronado St
Seabrook, TX 77586

Phyllis Miranda

From: Boyd Carr <bkcarr@utmb.edu>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Don't take away my rights to fish for my Red Snapper from my boat with rod and reel.

Sincerely,

Boyd Carr
RR 4 Box 225B16
Galveston, TX 77554

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dick Kemp <dick@kemp.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It is imperative that you change the allocation of quotas. The economic impact alone is enough to give additional quota to the recreational fishermen. Thanks for your action.

Sincerely,

Dick Kemp
3809 S 2nd St Ste D200
Austin, TX 78704

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Wilhoit, Sr <jwilhoit@unitracrail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support CCA effort to maintain and increase recreational fishermen's share of the Federal red snapper allocation at the minimum level outlined in alternative 5.

I live on the Gulf Coast and am amazed Grocery stores are able to sell red snapper smaller than the recreational limit of 15".

Sincerely,

John Wilhoit Sr
13818 Doubloon St
Corpus Christi, TX 78418

Phyllis Miranda

From: donald moskal sr <aggie59@earthlink.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a life-long sports fisherman I support allocation #5

Sincerely,

donald moskal sr
22307 FM 2556
Santa Rosa, TX 78593

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Boswell <trpaint@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Stop screwing the recreational fisherman!
The cronyism within the commercial fishing industry.

Sincerely,

David Boswell
3201 Clearview Dr
San Angelo, TX 76904

Phyllis Miranda

From: Tammy Graham <motagra@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a recreational fisherman, boat owner and business owner from Corpus Christi, and I fully support reallocation. I have children, elderly and disabled folks in my family who enjoy offshore red snapper fishing, but are often unable to do so due to the NMFS unpredictable seasons and regs. We are also business owners who enjoy taking our out-of-town customers and friends out for a day of offshore snapper fishing, but that has been very hard to plan. I don't believe that it's right for some boats to fish while others cannot (gulf head boat cooperative). I believe the recent exempted fishing permits are unnecessary and sending the wrong message. I am very much opposed to sector separation, catch shares or IFQs in the rec sector. I also understand the importance of conservation and believe it is necessary for our children's fishing futures. Thank you for your efforts, and I hope CCA will continue to fight even harder for recreational offshore fishermen.

Sincerely,

Tammy Graham
PO Box 850
Mathis, TX 78368

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mark Harrison <mrh8301@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28 - Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to express my support for Alternative 5 on Amendment 28 - the Red Snapper Reallocation.

This is the best alternative for committing our resources because it is the most viable. Recreational anglers are better long term stewards of our resources. Therefore if we want red snapper to have the best long term outlook, Alternative 5 should be the choice.

Sincerely,

Mark Harrison
8301 Osborne Dr
Austin, TX 78729

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Eledge, Sr. <toyoman3@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:15 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to lodge a vote for "Alternative 5 ". My grandchildren deserve it and yours as well guy's.

Sincerely,

James Eledge Sr.
12503 Maxim Dr
Houston, TX 77065

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ray Willims <raydeanna@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Once again I would like to lend my support to recreational fishermen. I think those making the decisions are not recreational fishermen. If they were they would realize that most of us don't get much of a chance to catch any snapper because we don't have that much opportunity to fish because of having to work weekdays, family commitments, and the WEATHER. Last summer we had two trips cancelled because of rough seas; we did not get out even once. The last time we did fish offshore there were a LOT of really big snapper around the rigs. I don't believe the snapper population is hurting. Also, we spend a lot of money on boats, fuel, bait, lodging, food, tips, contributing a lot to local economies. Please give us a break. If we only have few days allowed I'd rather see the season restricted to Friday thru Sunday; at least we'd have a better chance of having some good weather days.

Sincerely,

Ray Willims
PO Box 349
Simonton, TX 77476

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mike McClelland, Jr <mlmdoc@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5 - please support

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a sportsman, father of 3 young boys, avid fisherman, and business owner I am very much in favor of CCA's position on snapper fishing.

Alternative 5 is a fair way to help the snapper population remain strong both commercially and for future fisherman such as my son.

Thanks for your time,

Dr. Mike McClelland

Sincerely,

Mike McClelland Jr
3503 Sacred Moon Cv
Austin, TX 78746

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rob Richards, III <rrichards-58@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5. I am a recreational fisherman and if commercial fisherman keep doing what they are doing we will not have any fishing for my grandchildren.

Sincerely,

Rob Richards III
4301 Neuhaus Dr
McAllen, TX 78503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Harold Crawford <hwaynec@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I feel as an individual fisherman and my wife and I enjoy fishing on our own boat. The Red Snapper controls make no sense to me and I feel the rules are made to benefit the commercial interests and NOT the people who fish for fun and family. I feel it has been controlled by commercial interests and outdated information. The area around here has had more snapper and larger ones the past 3 years than ever before. It was bad enough to destroy the many rigs which were home to many fish but the controls are wrong..I hope you will think ahead and give more consideration to recreational fishing. I only ask for fair treatment and the use of accurate data rather than old numbers. One more thing. One size does not fit all and there are many areas in the Gulf that differ. Hundreds of miles away from this part of the Gulf can be a lot different than here. Change some rules to reflect common sense. Thank You.

Our boat is a 24 foot boat not a yacht.

Harold W. Crawford Jr.

Sincerely,

Harold Crawford
613 Sandpiper Cir
Port Aransas, TX 78373

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joseph Pollard <jlp6la@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper quota

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative #5.

Joe Pollard
Pearland, TX

Sincerely,

Joseph Pollard
2809 Marble Brook Ln
Pearland, TX 77584

Phyllis Miranda

From: Daniel Mellen <daniel.mellen@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5 - Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please accept my heartfelt request for your support of Alternative 5 - updating the allocation of red snapper along our Gulf Coast.

I urge you to set right this outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5 for all the many recreational anglers that live in your jurisdictions and make up your constituencies.

I appreciate your support, in advance,

Sincerely,

Daniel Mellen
2420 Mountain Falls Ct
Friendswood, TX 77546

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Lindley <richard-lindley@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:17 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

51% of the fishery given to commercial interest is not fair to the recreational anglers. We are members of CCA and donate our time and money to save the coast for our kids to enjoy

Sincerely,

Richard Lindley
5102 Mimosa Dr
Bellaire, TX 77401

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Petit <mpetit@gt.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support reallocation of red snapper to at least alternative 5

Sincerely,

Michael S. Petit
1095 20th St
Beaumont, TX 77706

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Trott, Jr <btrott65@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support of Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As an avid recreational sport fisherman in Texas, please approve Alternative 5 with regard to the Ried Snapper catch allocation.

Thnkyou.

Sincerely,

William Trott Jr
9802 Redbud Dr
Corpus Christi, TX 78410

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jerrel Carman <jerrel.carman@compressor-systems.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:07 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am for Alternative 5 and each one of you need to support it

Sincerely,

Jerrel Carman
293 Chaparral Rd
Victoria, TX 77905

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jim Lipscomb <JLipscomb6@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:09 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a 55 year old offshore fisherman who has been enjoying this hobby since I was 10 years old I want to emphasize my support for Alternative 5. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. That is a good thing. Given my station in life, I am typically only able to go a couple of times a year now, so any increase in my chance to catch Red Snapper and keep them is a valued treasure.

Best regards and hopes that you will do the right thing,

Jim Lipscomb

Sincerely,

Jim Lipscomb
124 Redbud St
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chuck Cadenhead <cbcadenhead@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As an recreational angler who has been fishing on the gulf coast for the last 35+ year we have seen increasingly more restrictions of fish harvesting. Most anglers have embraced the restrictions and worked through CCA to improve fish populations for the good of everyone. The commercial industry only want more of a dwindling resource and takes from the recreational anglers every chance they get. From Red Snapper in the gulf coast to Alaska salmon & halibut.

Please vote for Alternative 5!

Thank you,
C.B. Cadenhead

Sincerely,

Chuck Cadenhead
2303 County Road 582A
Brazoria, TX 77422

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Kluttz <jeff@andriel.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:06 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Quota

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It is inexcusable in the internet age that we still make allocations to our fisheries using data from 1979. Those numbers were likely first documented in a yellow legal pad with a number 2 pencil. It is past time to reallocate our red snapper quotas based on current data which reflects the true state of our fisheries and demonstrates the success of conservation efforts over so many years of increased quota restrictions.

The state finds time and invests great expense toward updating my home appraisal values every single year. I would like to see the same commitment to detail concerning the management of our natural resources.

I further think it prudent to give recreational fishermen a greater slice of the reallocation than the commercial fisherman. We all know - every one of us - that our snapper deficit is NOT the result of recreational fishing, but the over zealous harvesting of commercial boats - particularly in the years prior to the current quota system. How ironic it is that the lowly recreational fisherman gets to pay the price in equal share with those who created the snapper deficits in the first place.

Sincerely,

Jeff Kluttz
12739 Roesler Rd
Needville, TX 77461

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lonnie Miller, IV <clopster@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am for Alternate 5 Suggested by CCA to be fair to both recreational and commercial fisherman. Please vote accordingly.

Thanks,
Lonnie Miller

Sincerely,

Lonnie Miller IV
15606 Lakeview Dr
Houston, TX 77040

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rodger Anderson <randerson@ucr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:06 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support For Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Council Members, Please approve Alternative 5 Reallocation of the Red Snapper Quota ! I have fished offshore out of Port O 'Connor since 1986 (28 yrs).I started with a small 18' boat and have gradually increased my investment in recreational fishing to include a 2nd home in POC a 28 ' offshore boat. I have watched the snapper population dwindle in the 1990's and then FINALLY, rebound to its current levels sometime around 2007. I , and many other recreational fishermen, made numerous sacrifices to help the biomass recover ,only to be met with further limitations/restrictions. We spend thousands of dollars EACH year supporting the entire coastal community to pursue a recreational hobby that we love.Its not right that commercial for profit enterprises get 49 % of a public resource for "free". Why does this hapens with Red snapper and not other wildlife manged resources such as deer or dove ? I'm sure HEB would like to sell "wild shot venison " as well as fresh gulf snapper ? PLEASE, at a minimum, recognize the tremendous economic impact that recreational fisherman contribute to the coastal economies and SUPPORT Alt 5. Thanks you.

Sincerely,

Rodger Anderson
4505 Charles Ave
Austin, TX 78746

Phyllis Miranda

From: Christine Rhodes <cjrhodes@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternate 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This is a request to set right this outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Christine Rhodes
136 Houston St
Angleton, TX 77515

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jim Boyd <jimboyd@tisd.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:06 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5.

Thank you

Jim Boyd

Sincerely,

Jim Boyd
80 Blue Heron Dr N
Port Lavaca, TX 77979

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stryker Emmerton <stryker.emmerton@strykerfuels.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: commercial verse recreational snapper catch

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have been and continue to be a recreational fisherman in the Gulf Coast waters. I fish with at least 3 other people at all times and enjoy the waters that the Gulf has to offer. Snapper fishing has improved quality (size) during the past 4 years, however I do not see the need to limit the recreational fisherman at the expense of the commercial teams. I also fish for amberjack, kingfish, grouper, tuna, and an occasional marlin in these same gulf coast waters. It would be most helpful to increase the catch for the recreational fisherman.

Sincerely,

Stryker Emmerton
922 Huntington Cv
Houston, TX 77063

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jeff Flasiak <jeffflasiak@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I used to get invites to go offshore fishing from friends several times a year and always enjoyed it. But with the limits on snapper in the Gulf, along with other restrictions, several of my friends have sold their boats. Last year I went out of Freeport and the four of us caught our limit of snapper in less than 30 minutes. There were tons of snapper. My friend that owned the boat said this happened every time. He sold his boat last fall and bought a bay boat...

I think regulating the Texas coast the same way as Florida is wrong. We have plenty of snapper off the Texas Gulf coast. Please do something to help the recreational fisherman continue to enjoy this sport!

Sincerely,

Jeff Flasiak
1818 Vail Ct
Missouri City, TX 77459

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joseph Alderson <kilroy714@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational fishermen I'd like you to consider option #5 for the reallocation of Red Snapper. Thanks for all that you do and for reading my email on this matter.

Sincerely,

Joseph Alderson
14434 Red Mulberry Ln
Houston, TX 77044

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jeff Ogle <jsogle@dow.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 2:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Vote Yes for Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As an recreational angler who has been fishing on the gulf coast for the last 35+ year we have seen increasingly more restrictions of fish harvesting. Most angles have embraced the restrictions and worked through CCA to improve fish populations for the good of everyone. The commercial industry only want more of a dwindling resource and takes from the recreational anglers every chance they get. From Red Snapper in the gulf coast to Alaska salmon & halibut.

Please vote for Alternative 5!

Thank you,

Jeff Ogle

Sincerely,

Jeff Ogle
128 Pearl Dr
Lake Jackson, TX 77566

Phyllis Miranda

From: Charles Martin <c.todd.martin@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'd like to voice my support for alternative 5 on the red snapper allocation decision. It seems like a reasonable step in the right direction to me. Please do your part to support the recreational angler.

Sincerely,

Charles Martin
3912 Knollwood Dr
Austin, TX 78731

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Norton <johnnorton@valornet.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please note that as an individual that enjoys recreational fishing with my sons has been a yearly event that we enjoy. We get to go once a year and hate to see regulations that favor the commercial fishermen infringe on this activity. Preserving the lifetime of this activity for the recreational angler can best (in my limited wisdom) be served with Alternative 5. Please take this in consideration in making your recommendations.

Sincerely,

John Norton
3501 Skyline Blvd
Texarkana, TX 75503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Deborah Acosta <debbie@sell-satx.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 on RED Snapper

debbie acosta

Sincerely,

Deborah Acosta
104 Kendall Ln
Boerne, TX 78015

Phyllis Miranda

From: Clarence Meade <cgarymeade@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Vote for alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Clarence Meade
3422 Pebble Beach Dr
Harlingen, TX 78550

Phyllis Miranda

From: Randy Boenigk <rb-bmi@suddenlinkmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:59 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternate 5

Sincerely,

Randy Boenigk
4724 Williamsburg Dr
Bryan, TX 77802

Phyllis Miranda

From: George Blackmon <gblackmon1@gt.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Council Members

I write to beg you to realocate the Red Snapper fish quota according to Alternative 5. The federal government has shown that it's incapable of making reasonable decisions on many different levels. PLEASE do not let the feds sway your decision NOR let the interest of commercial fisherman sway your vote. Those people would be happy to destroy a fishery in the name of profit, as shown by the near destruction of the Red Fish with Purse Seines during the Blackened Red Fish craze. Recreational fishermen will put more money in the states treasury and will try to perpetuate the species, not wipe it out. CCA has fought many battles to keep Redfish, Trout, and Flounder available to the weekend and other recreational fishermen. I love to fish, I understand the need to drop limits at times, but I understand also that if a fish species is wiped out, there will be no limits necessary, nor will I be making trips to the Gulf and buying gas, bait, licenses, boats or boat repairs, trailers, tires, or spending money for motels, food, entertainment, etc while on a trip to the coast. Multiply me by millions and you see many dollars going to many different areas of the economy, not just to some commercial fisherman selling his catch. My funds will spread far and wide to help keep the state of TEXAS the great state it is. Thank you for your time and please vote FOR ALTERNATIVE 5.

Sincerely

Sincerely,

George Blackmon Lumberton Tx
120 Parkway Dr
Lumberton, TX 77657

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gary Bushman <gary.bushman@jpmorgan.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper and Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I appreciate your attention to the concerns of recreational anglers and our interest in supporting the red snapper Alternative 5 proposal.

One of my fondest memories is my dad and brothers out on the Texas coast fishing for red snapper. We rarely go anymore. With the restrictions on the season and the often turbulent gulf in the early summer months, the season is often closed before we have even had a chance to safely go out.

The voice of the recreational angler needs your support.

Sincerely,

Gary S Bushman
3158 Waters Lake Bnd
Missouri City, TX 77459

Phyllis Miranda

From: harvey weil, jr. <charlie.weil@transwestern.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I wanted to communicate my suport of Alternative 5. please do all you can to help get this alternative through.

Sincerely,

harvey weil jr.
303 Tamworth Dr
San Antonio, TX 78213

Phyllis Miranda

From: Derek DeZell <ddezell@consolidated.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I understand that everyone needs to make a living. Please understand that business deals get done on golf courses, dinners and fishing trips as well. I am the GM of a deep hole drilling company and a life member of CCA, I have sealed more than one deal on the open water fishing for snapper. When you make your decision all I ask is that you make it a fair one for everyone!

Sincerely,

Derek DeZell
10114 Winding Glen Dr
Katy, TX 77494

Phyllis Miranda

From: Malcolm Boucher <tensionondeck@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:52 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I stand with CCA in supporting alternative 5 for red snapper allocation.

Sincerely,

Malcolm Boucher
10309 Peck Rd
Lumberton, TX 77657

Phyllis Miranda

From: Charles Zube <czube57@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

How about a little relief on the snapper issue for recreational guys.

Dolphin eat most of the under size snapper we throw back on the Texas coast. If you want to preserve populations then tell us to keep the first fish we raise. Culling through a bunch of under size fish to take 2 back to the dock is waste full since everything we raise either dies from improper venting or the dolphin sit behind the boat an eat em all.

Sincerely,

Charles Zube
57 Marlin Ln
Freeport, TX 77541

Phyllis Miranda

From: Larry Orr <lorr3@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, i am in favor of Red Snapper Reallocation Proclamation # 5 passing with a majority yes vote. Please let my voice be heard by voting yes when it comes tr for you to cast your vote. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Larry Orr, member CCA Texas
15122 Forest Lodge Dr
Houston, TX 77070

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bob Mace <bmace@tekellbook.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Council Members, I fully support alternative 5. I urge you to protect the millions of recreational fishermen. Thank you.

Bob

Sincerely,

Bob Mace
3729 Plumb St
Houston, TX 77005

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stanley Nevill <snevill@mdanderson.org>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to vote for alternative 5, seems like the best choice to me.

Sincerely,

Stanley Nevill
17503 Saxon Dr
Houston, TX 77095

Phyllis Miranda

From: Patrick Wolter <pwolter@dakpc.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:51 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please go with alternative 5. Thanks for your service.

Sincerely,

Patrick Wolter
417 Coral Pl
Corpus Christi, TX 78411

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Priesmeyer <james.priesmeyer@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper vote

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am not able to fish as much as I want but when I can I want to fish for snapper. I would love to take my children to enjoy the snapper fishing I have loved so I support the CCA with option 5. Thank you.

Sincerely,

James Priesmeyer
6055 County Road 456
El Campo, TX 77437

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Martin, SR <rmartinsvp@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider reallocating more Red Snapper to the recreational fishermen. We don't put a dent in the overall Snapper population with the small amount we keep. I realize this has turned political but it would be nice to see some common sense based on catch. I sold my offshore boat because of low catch regulations, I can't afford to run 85 miles for two Snapper. If things improved I would definitely look at buying another boat. This helps the economy in many ways.

Sincerely,

Robert Martin SR
7539 Patterson Rd
Beaumont, TX 77705

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marc Lubin <marc@starwalkofdallas.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Gulf Red Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, it's becoming painfully obvious that the commercial lobby has much more pull even though our (recreational fishermen) numbers are greater! Alternative 5 seems like a great way to keep the antiquated quota numbers (from 1979 no less) while throwing us a bone as well. Please get behind this as it will potentially bring much economic relief to the entire Gulf Coast!!!! Thank you for your consideration.

Marc Lubin

Sincerely,

Marc Lubin
7302 Sand Pine Dr
Rowlett, TX 75089

Phyllis Miranda

From: ricky stecher <ramsmech@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

please consider alternate 5, if you do I'll take you all fishing ricky stecher

Sincerely,

ricky stecher
9094 Elk Rd
Axtell, TX 76624

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joseph Fredrick <joeypfredrick@icloud.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Good afternoon, my name is Joey Fredrick. I am 27 years old and I enjoy fishing for red snapper on the Texas gulf, as do many other native Texans. There is a need for an update to the red snapper allocation to allow anglers greater opportunity when quota for these fish is in abundance to commercial fisherman. The current allocation is based on dated and possibly inaccurate information from the 1970s. Please help update the red snapper allocation to reflect the proposition set forth in Alternative 5, which would allow 75% of the excess of snapper to recreational fisherman and allocate the remaining 25% for commercial. Please vote Alternative 5. Thank you for your time,

Sincerely,

Joseph Fredrick
928 Heritage Springs Trl
Round Rock, TX 78664

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eddie Sera <eddiesera@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Please support alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support alternative 5 in the upcoming hearings. As a responsible Texas angler I believe this is the best way to promote and conserve our red snapper fisheries. Thank you for your help in preserving our children's inheritance.

Warmest Regards,

Eddie Sera

Sincerely,

Eddie Sera
1611 Lynnview Dr
Houston, TX 77055

Phyllis Miranda

From: Anna Howard <anna@bpequipment.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like for you to know that I support Alternative 5 for red snapper allocation. As a recreational fisherman and a conservationist I feel that is the most equitable allocation and will help preserve the fishery.

Thank you,
Anna Howard

Sincerely,

Anna Howard
2107 Victoria Ct
League City, TX 77573

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jay Rogers <jrogers@ibc.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear, Representative.

I urge you to support alternative #5 regarding the reallocation of red snapper.

Thank You

Jay Rogers

Sincerely,

Jay Rogers
5615 Kirby Dr
Houston, TX 77005

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joe Bergner <jbb@coastalsecurities.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Approve Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector

Sincerely,

Joe Bergner
4418 Ingersoll St
Houston, TX 77027

Phyllis Miranda

From: Charles Cherrington <charlescherri@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Texas Recreational Angler Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly support the choice of alternative 5 as the most viable allocation option/plan. Red Snapper fishing by recreational anglers generates millions of dollars throughout the gulf coast for a diverse segment of businesses, much more so than the money generated by commercial anglers.

Please consider what is best for texas and make the right choice by choosing alternative 5.

Sincerely,
Charles Cherrington

Sincerely,

Charles Cherrington
1603 Seven Maples Dr
Kingwood, TX 77345

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jim Boldt <jboldt@boldtcpa.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:44 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I Support Alternate #5

Sincerely,

Jim Boldt
6800 Park Ten Blvd Ste 149E
San Antonio, TX 78213

Phyllis Miranda

From: Arthur Garza, Jr. <art530gar@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Request your action and support in providing more recreational red snapper allocations. Many retired persons as myself will continue to enjoy fishing and the red snappers are a reward. Thanks and Have A Great Day!

Sincerely,

Arthur Garza Jr.
530 Cloudcroft Dr
San Antonio, TX 78228

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stan Stanley <coralstan1@stx.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs.

As a recreational angler and SCUBA diver in the Gulf of Mexico, I would like to see some affirmative action taken on the management of the Red Snapper resource.....efforts to date have been less than satisfactory. As a Life Member of CCA I am urging you to support Alternative 5. Commercial interests have dominated this resource for too long.

thank you for your time,

D. B. Stanley Lcdr USN (ret)

Sincerely,

Stan Stanley
2001 Red Oak Dr
Corpus Christi, TX 78418

Phyllis Miranda

From: Patricia Gonzalez <Patsy@olympiaintl.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snappers

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Could you please be so kind in giving the Recreational Sector favor.

Sincerely,

Patricia Gonzalez
418 Lake Nakuru
Laredo, TX 78041

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kyle Stone <kyle.stone.legrandna@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: ALTERNATE 5 - I SUPPORT THIS

Dear Chairman Boyd,

After years of being pushed around by commercial interests it's time that recreational fisherman have a chance to have a right to what is there's for generations of young outdoors people.

Please vote for Alt 5

Kyle Stone
Pearland TX

Sincerely,

Kyle Stone
2531 Griggs Ct
Pearland, TX 77584

Phyllis Miranda

From: Clayton Klutts <cmklutts@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Allocation 5! It is a common sense approach to a very heated debate. It is time to get behind this alternative and get it approved. As Texans and fishermen, we love our fisheries and want to make certain that our future generations love them too.

Regards,
Clayton

Sincerely,

Clayton Klutts
3112 Windsor Rd Apt A221
Austin, TX 78703

Phyllis Miranda

From: Albert Fried, Jr <bandcfried@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper Quotas

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a conservationist and avid inshore fisherman on the Texas coast, I would like to see the recreational red snapper fishermen have more input in the reallocation process. Even though I rarely fish offshore for red snapper, I support Alternative 5 recommended by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. I would also hope the Council use much more current data of red snapper quotas as the population has cycled greatly making the old data look obsolete and definitely out of touch with reality.

Sincerely,

Bob Fried

Sincerely,

Albert Fried Jr
909 Oak Ridge Dr
Angleton, TX 77515

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mark Garrison <bloozeharp@suddenlink.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, as a long time member of CCA, and an avid saltwater fisherman, I would like to make known my support for CCA's support of Alternative 5 as the preferred alternative for reallocation of the red snapper stocks. It is time that the recreational fisherman has more say in the goings on in our fisheries. Thank You. Mark Garrison, Kilgore, Tx

Sincerely,

Mark Garrison
119 Barnett Rd
Kilgore, TX 75662

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bruce Brown <bruce@workflowfiling.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: RED SNAPPER

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen,

The demands of job and family makes it virtually impossible to carve out the hours to participate in the current red snapper hearings. With that said, I ask that you share in my support for Alternative 5. It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation, and it is the most viable allocation option in my opinion. In ending, I ask that support the updating of the current red snapper allocation is shared among the board members.

Cordially,

Bruce Brown
CEO / President
WorkFlow Filing & Office Solutions
281-652-5331

Sincerely,

Bruce Brown
319 Watercrest Harbor Ln
League City, TX 77573

Phyllis Miranda

From: Tim Dooley <tim.dooley@shell.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:39 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support CCAs position supporting Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Tim Dooley
2206 Plantation Bend Dr
Sugar Land, TX 77478

Phyllis Miranda

From: Elizabeth LeMoine <lizlemoine@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of Alternative 5, as opposed to the current allocation. Please keep this in mind when voting on this.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth LeMoine
6365 Ironwood Dr
Orange, TX 77632

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Neal <bneal@stx.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Robert Neal
324 California St
Corpus Christi, TX 78411

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Marsh <dmarsh@3dmarine.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Alternative 5.
This is the only sensible alternative when renewing the 30 year allocation.

Sincerely,

David Marsh
6643 Trebeck Ln
Spring, TX 77379

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Carlson <jrc@braswellofficesystems.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of alternate 5 for reallocation

Sincerely,

John Carlson
5250 Saint Andrews Dr
Corpus Christi, TX 78413

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lindy Honish <lynchandler@live.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: ALT 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please confirm Alternative 5 on the topic of RedSnapper allocation. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Lindy Honish
334 County Road 373
Shiner, TX 77984

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dillard Grasty <dillard@graphtecinc.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please select allocation #4.

I am a recreational fisherman that is about to give up on fishing if we don't get some relief. That means no more spending money on boats, gas, bait, or all the other businesses supported by the recreational fishing industry.

Sincerely,

Dillard Grasty
16013 Saint John Ct
Houston, TX 77040

Phyllis Miranda

From: DAVID O'DONNELL <d_donnell@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:39 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider selecting the Alternative 5 for the reallocation program. It is definitely time to use more current data in determining the allocations.
Please vote for Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

DAVID O'DONNELL
14702 Sandalfoot St
Houston, TX 77095

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dennis Blaine <dennis.blaine@wrstx.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:31 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Dennis Blaine
160 Vermillion Marble Trl
Buda, TX 78610

Phyllis Miranda

From: Leah Sachitano <lsisbell@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Fisheries

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing to urge you to consider Alternate 5 regarding the red snapper reallocation. As an angler myself, I urge you to consider the recreational value this adds to our gulf coast, not only for all of the individuals that enjoy this pastime, but also for all of the small businesses that comprise our rich culture of fishing in the area.

I know the decision will not be easy, but I urge you to try to find a true balance in the allocation of this valuable resource.

Sincerely,
Dr. Leah Isbell Sachitano

Sincerely,

Leah Sachitano
525 19th St
Beaumont, TX 77706

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Suomela <robert.suomela@siemens.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a taxpayer and a fisherman I would prefer the Fisher Management Council use new data to set the Red Snapper quota and I also would like to see Alternative 5 adopted when the Red Snapper quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds.

Thank you.
Bob Suomela

Sincerely,

Robert Suomela
22034 Summer Shower Ct
Cypress, TX 77433

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kevin Rothbauer <kevin_rothbauer@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I believe that new data needs to be considered by the feds before they can even begin to rule on the matter at hand. I know from first hand experience that it is hard not to catch Red Snapper when fishing for other species in the gulf. I hope that new population data will be presented before a decision is made so that we all may share in the joys of catching Red Snapper for years to come. I also believe that the gulf states should be in charge of the gulf waters in order to govern the allocation of said resources.

Sincerely,

Kevin Rothbauer
1508 Farik Rd
Port Lavaca, TX 77979

Phyllis Miranda

From: Alan Parchman <alan@balcomagency.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve alternate 5. So few shouldn't benefit so greatly at the expense of the majority.

Sincerely,

Alan Parchman
3600 Park Hill Dr
Fort Worth, TX 76109

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steve Voges <svoges@arnoldoil.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

For the sake of future generations of fisherman, please approve Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Steve Voges
16023 Scenic Oaks Trl
Buda, TX 78610

Phyllis Miranda

From: Peter Markey <aransaspete@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council has selected Alternative 5 as its preferred alternative for reallocation. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. That is a good thing.

I support this plan.

Pete Markey
Aransas Pass

Sincerely,

Peter Markey
115 Angelfish Ct
Aransas Pass, TX 78336

Phyllis Miranda

From: Walter Fondren, IV <wfondren@poco-bueno.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation Updated

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I wanted to drop you a short note letting you know that I strongly support Alternative 5 for the updated allocation of Red Snapper along the Gulf Coast. This is long overdue in my opinion and I hope we can get Alternative 5 passed.

Thanks for your time and efforts.

Sincerely,

Walter W. Fondren IV

Sincerely,

Walter W. Fondren IV
3 Riverway Ste 120
Houston, TX 77056

Phyllis Miranda

From: Melvin Crissey <crisseym@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Protecting red snapper recreational fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

To basically close out recreational fishing for Gulf red snapper is NOT an option. Already recreational anglers are very restricted by season, species and daily limits, location, weather, etc. as to how they can enjoy fishing for this sport fish. The amount of dollars that flow into and through the coastal towns from which a recreational angler can go into the Gulf for snapper fishing is astronomical. It is in the millions of dollars. Anglers are far more conservation motivated than most commercial fishing operations. The by-catch from those commercial operations is very damaging.

Sincerely,

Melvin Crissey
16331 Old Stable Rd
San Antonio, TX 78247

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Tenenbown <rtenenbown@me.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 as a remedy for the Red Snapper debate. I, in fact, would support a stronger version that would reduce the commercial catch to a greater extent.

Sincerely,

Richard Tenenbown
5222 W Bellfort St
Houston, TX 77035

Phyllis Miranda

From: william dunn <bdunn@gsamfg.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:19 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper limits

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative #5

Sincerely,

william dunn
22556 Glendale Rd
Porter, TX 77365

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joseph Livergood, DC <drjlivergood@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:17 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational angler and active CCA board member in my area, I am in support of Alternative 5. Please support recreational anglers by limiting the big commercial fishermen's access to red snapper.

Sincerely,

Dr. Joseph A. Livergood
2500 Tyler St
Lake Charles, LA 70605

Phyllis Miranda

From: Christopher Tiemann <ctiemann@archdiv8.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Last Chance to Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 as I would like my children and grandchildren to be Red Snapper anglers for many years to come.

Sincerely,

Christopher Tiemann
948 County Road 233
Falls City, TX 78113

Phyllis Miranda

From: Albert Bustamante <albertbustamante@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:16 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Protecting Recreational Fisherman's Rights

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would beg you to protect the ordinary citizens access to the Red Snapper Fisheries in the Gulf Coast. While we do not have the resources and lobbying efforts of the fishing industry, I feel that our access should be protected and even expanded. I fail to understand why commercial fisherman are allowed to perform fishing practices that are harmful to the ecosystem but also do it all year round while recreational fisherman are limited to when we can fish. Please consider helping our environment and the rights of the ordinary citizens and taxpayers of the Gulf. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Albert Bustamante
126 Rouff St
San Antonio, TX 78209

Phyllis Miranda

From: Elizabeth Richter <lrichter@drhorton.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 1:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I'm a recreational Red Snapper angler

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a Texan who enjoys coastal fishing along with my husband and three children, I urge you to support Alternative 5 for the reallocation of Red Snapper between commercial and recreational fisherman.

My oldest two children (6 and 4) are still talking about their big snapper catches last year. The recreational fishing we did last year provided nearly a fourth of our food supply for the entire year. Your support of Alternative 5, could help ensure that their younger brother will get to experience a big fish catch in future years and more importantly, continue to put food on our table.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Richter
PO Box 958
La Vernia, TX 78121

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steve Brazda <sbrazda@caldive.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 11:52 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a strong proponent of developing a management program for Red Snapper based on area specific data: Populations, habitat, angling pressure, etc. The USGOM needs to be separated from the broad brush Atlantic Regional plan. The Gulf should be managed in three distinct areas: Eastern, Central, & Western. Additionally, I think Red Snapper should be afforded Game fish status. At the very least, commercial harvest should be limited to 30% of the available annual quota, and commercial seasons reduced and enforced.

Sincerely,

Steve Brazda
1020 True Friend Rd
Saint Martinville, LA 70582

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chris Trapani <trapanic@eaganins.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 11:27 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I support the recommendation of many for the passage of Alt 5.

Thanks!

Chris Trapani
116 A Felicity Street
Bay St Louis, Ms. 39520.
504-390-8625
trapanic@eaganins.com

Sincerely,

Chris Trapani
116 Felicity St Apt A
Bay Saint Louis, MS 39520

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bruce Kuhse <bkuhse40@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 11:26 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This email is to encourage you to support a greater reallocation of the red snapper harvest to recreational anglers. My wife and I are recreational anglers, but due to work, family, and travel constraints are limited to weekend fishing opportunities when the weather is cooperative. The limited allocation to the recreational sector has resulted in very brief seasons, which has been further limited by poor weather conditions on many of the weekends the last two years.

Pending improved fish population survey methods for the recreational sector, increasing the allocation for recreational anglers should result in longer seasons and greater flexibility to compensate for the weather limited opportunities.

Each time my wife and I venture out, our activities put money in the local economies of the areas we fish. Please support greater reallocation for the recreational anglers to let us enjoy more fishing opportunities.

Thank you!

Sincerely,

Bruce Kuhse
405 Holly Hill Ct
Tallahassee, FL 32312

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jeff Mire <jeffm@pneumaticandhydraulic.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:58 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen,

The time is now to get this right once and for all. Please support alternative #5 in the red snapper allocation. I am!

Thank you!

Sincerely,

Jeff Mire
17185 Aimee Dr
Prairieville, LA 70769

Phyllis Miranda

From: Trey Williams <trey@latterblum.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:45 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen - as someone who has followed this issue as closely as a lay person with a real life job and family can, I would like to express my support for Alternative 5 with regards to the Red Snapper reallocation. After review, this seems to be, hands down, the most reasonable approach and I hope that our Louisiana delegation will express support for this alternative.

Sincerely,

Trey Williams
1141 Woodstone Dr
Baton Rouge, LA 70808

Phyllis Miranda

From: Leander Frey <leanderfrey@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:37 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have been fishing the gulf coast most of my life and it is harder and harder to justify the money I spend on fishing. One of the most enjoyable fish to pursue is the red snapper. Not only is it fun to catch but the cooked product is both delicious and healthy.

Going out 40-100 miles to catch 2 red snapper per person with a 30 day window is not encouraging. As you know, out of those 30 days, maybe 5 are fishable.(seas, schedule, time, other commitments) I would like to see a season and catch limit more fairly distributed to the recreational angler.

Thanks for your consideration

Leander Frey

Sincerely,

Leander Frey
168 Conway Rosteet Rd
Ragley, LA 70657

Phyllis Miranda

From: Salvadore Ruffino <fishmaster49@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:38 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It is very important that the red snapper limits be set fairly between commercial and recreational fisherman, since the economic impact of both is equal.

Sincerely,

Salvadore Ruffino
3208 Marietta St
Chalmette, LA 70043

Phyllis Miranda

From: Hugo Holland, Sr. <hugoholland@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:04 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

30 years is to long. Please change if only a limit of 3.

Sincerely,

Hugo Holland Sr.
10026 Alondra St
Shreveport, LA 71115

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Bouchereau <pbouchereau@wm.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:01 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation Update

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current Red Snapper Allocation is over 20 years old and needs to be updated. I am in support of Alternative 5 and urge you to approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

P.L. Bouchereau
13497 L Landry Rd
Gonzales, LA 70737

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mac Atteberry <macaberry@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 10:00 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

We really need to update the red snapper allocation between commercial fishing and anglers! Alternative 5 seems to me to be a better temporary solution to an outmoded one! Please consider trying something different for a while!

Sincerely,

Mac Atteberry
1265 Atteberry Rd
Eunice, LA 70535

Phyllis Miranda

From: Daniel Franz <franzdanielp@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:55 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Recreational Red snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please review current data and vote with science on the serious overpopulation of Louisiana's Red Snapper artificial reef (O&G) structures.
It's the right thing to do.

Sincerely,

Daniel Franz
255 Tulip Dr
Houma, LA 70360

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ted Beaulieu, Jr <tedbeau@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:53 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper Harvest

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve Alternative 5 to reallocate more of the snapper harvest share to recreational fishing interests when the allowable quota exceeds 9.12 million pounds.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Ted Beaulieu Jr
101 Gerriewood Ln
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: Johnny Conrad <jpconrad1@earthlink.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:53 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to see the Red Snapper allocation updated.

Sincerely,

Johnny Conrad
150 Fairview Dr
Berwick, LA 70342

Phyllis Miranda

From: Scott Foster <scottf@dsaengineering.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 8:50 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: updating Red snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a member of CCA Louisiana, I wish to ask the council to support Alternative 5 in re-allocating the Snapper quotas.

There are thousands of recreational snapper fishermen across the Gulf coast and only a few hundred commercial snapper operators.

Please support Alternative 5 and re-visit the Snapper allocation.

Sincerely,

Scott Foster
1012 Gallet Rd
Youngsville, LA 70592

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Gaspard, R <constructionpro01@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:50 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper quota

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5

Sincerely,

James Gaspard R
308 Carrera Ln
Eunice, LA 70535

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steve Ashy, Sr. <sashy@dougashy.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:21 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support the allocation for snapper as outlined in Alternative 5.
It is fair for all parties.

Steve ashy

Sincerely,

Steve Ashy Sr.
4950 Johnston St
Lafayette, LA 70503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chuck Weaver, Jr. <chuck@slfsllc.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 7:14 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please represent all of us fairly as you were appointed to do, recreational and commercial interest and support option 5 as the new allocation method. My family appreciate what you do and I am hoping that my young boys will witness fairness and honesty by the Council in the more than fair and reasonable choice.

Thanks,
Chuck Weaver Jr
Houma, LA

Sincerely,

Chuck Weaver Jr
405 Central Ave
Houma, LA 70364

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Hughs, III <william_hughs@ajg.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:57 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Allocation Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have been reading about the reallocation of the redsnapper being contemplated. It seems only fair and reasonable that recreational anglers get their fair share of the pie. I wholeheartedly support Alternative 5 and hope you see things the same way I and many other recreational anglers do.

Best Regards,

Bill Hughs

Sincerely,

William Hughs III
1459 Calhoun St
New Orleans, LA 70118

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gary Plum <gary.plum@verizon.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 6:05 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I respectfully request you consider Alternative 5 as the most equitable way to allocate the Red Snapper quota in this and future seasons. As a recreational fisherman on the Gulf Coast of FL, I have seen the Red Snapper disappear and then return when good management is in place. The past two seasons, I have not boated one Red Snapper due in some cases to weather and the other to the convoluted season and regulations. Please consider a more reasonable approach to conserving not preserving the resource for all to enjoy.

Sincerely,

Gary Plum
1622 4th St W
Palmetto, FL 34221

Phyllis Miranda

From: Celine McIlveene <celinamac1@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 5:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As an avid fisher woman and grandmother of nine I feel compelled to write the council members on changing the allocation process and approve Alternative 5 as the plan forward. I understand the plight of the commercial fisherman and their push for more but, I have a vested interest to make sure that we preserve a future for young recreational fishermen. Using old data from 1970's to make decisions is really ridiculous. Please consider this request to approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Celine McIlveene
14619 Pace Rd
Clinton, LA 70722

Phyllis Miranda

From: Keith Bryan <kbryan49@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 12:10 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It is time to update the quotas on red snapper. Alternative 5 looks right to me.

Sincerely,

Keith Bryan
43041 Moody Dixon Rd
Prairieville, LA 70769

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. Skip Schexnayder <Skip_1099@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 11:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I encourage you to support Amendment 5. The current allocation is outdated and does not make best use of this resource.

Sincerely,

Skip Schexnayder
209 Vincent Rd
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lana Medrano <gistorm3@ymail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 11:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm standing with CCA on this one !

Sincerely,

Lana Medrano
2415 W Prien Lake Rd
Lake Charles, LA 70605

Phyllis Miranda

From: Craig Matherne, sr. <craig.matherne@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 11:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

We are catching red snapper 2-6 miles offshore in 45-60 ft of water where we have traditionally never caught them. and not just one or two but more red snapper then mangrove, and I used to call those mangrove rigs. I believe the Red snapper population has grown to the point they are pushing the mangrove snapper out of the way. We need realistic stats to base our policies on. We don't have that right now. Sincerely Capt. Craig Matherne

Sincerely,

Craig Matherne
224 Laurel Ct
Luling, LA 70070

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marilyn Moore <jeanmoorerealtor@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 11:04 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in favor of Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Marilyn J. Moore
PO Box 86882
Baton Rouge, LA 70879

Phyllis Miranda

From: michael kleamenakis <v.s@gentilly.nocoxmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 10:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Here is a different look at recreational and commercial management. I believe the Red snapper allocation needs to not have the two fisher groups against each other.

Commercial fisherman measure by the pound and Recreational measure by the fish.

Have on sight accounting studies for recreational fisherman to get real numbers. Follow commercial as in the past by the pound from the fish market.

I believe the recreational season can be much longer than in recent years.

Sincerely,

michael kleamenakis
4700 Toby Ln
Metairie, LA 70003

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marshall Mahoney <smahoney@cmaaccess.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 10:18 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5. As you know, recreational fishermen spend millions on offshore fishing. It is getting increasingly difficult to justify offshore trips targeting red snapper due to short seasons and low creel limits. Recreational fishermen are entitled to their fair share of this fishery resource.

Sincerely,

Marshall Mahoney
207 Demandre St
Belle Chasse, LA 70037

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brandon Gaspard <gaspardbrandon@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 10:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please renew the allocation standards.

Sincerely,

Brandon Gaspard
12308 Grosse Isle Rd
Abbeville, LA 70510

Phyllis Miranda

From: Harry Chapman <captainharryc@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 9:19 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: alternative #5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Alternative #5, for the sake of our commercial and recreational interests

Sincerely,

Harry Chapman
100 FELICITY ST
BAY SAINT LOUIS, MS 39520

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ron Flak <rmf1assoc@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 8:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Respected Council Members, I am a recreation fisherman and member of CCA and urge you to support Alternative 5 allocations. Our natural resources are being depleted at an alarming rate and it is important to conserve. One can argue the statistics but when fishermen talk about the good old days it is apparent that the numbers and size of fish caught today is not the same. Maybe if we plan for today there will be hope for tomorrow. Thank you for giving my voice an opportunity to be heard. Sincerely, Ron Flak

Sincerely,

Ron Flak
4453 Willow Cove Ct
Orlando, FL 32835

Phyllis Miranda

From: Scott Payn <spayn@excoresources.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 8:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I support option 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support, with the CCA, option 5 for the allocation of the red snapper harvest.

Sincerely,
Scott payn

Sincerely,

Scott Payn
408 Myra St
Mansfield, LA 71052

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Logan, MD <spinefish@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 8:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear sir

Please support Alternative 5 for the management of red snapper in the Gulf of Mexico. Of the options this is best for both commercial and recreational fishermen. Thank you

Sincerely,

John Logan MD
539 Shiloh Ln
Covington, LA 70435

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ann Taylor <Fishqueen4@att.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 7:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper for Louisiana

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm writing to ask you to please consider reallocate the red snapper quotas so that Louisiana anglers can have a season that better represents the fish we have available along our coast. We have so many fish on our rigs that often it is impossible to fish for other species because of the abundance of red snapper. I prefer alternative 5 out of the options under consideration. Thanks.

Sincerely,

Ann Taylor
11 Michael Dr
Luling, LA 70070

Phyllis Miranda

From: Casey McLaurin <caseymclaurin@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 7:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

PLEASE update allocation of Red Snapper quota per alternative 5!!!! This is a must considering we have been under the same tired regulations of allocation for 30 years!!

As a small business owner I have seen first hand the devastating effects the Red Snapper debacle is having on our economy!!!! Updating allocation would finally be a positive step in the right direction!!!!

Sincerely,

Casey J. McLaurin
7349 Enis Rd
Maurice, LA 70555

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Landry <mike@mikelandrydesign.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 7:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5.
Thanks, Mike Landry

Sincerely,

Michael Landry
1720 Kaliste Saloom Rd Ste B9
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Cornell <john_cornell@hotmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 7:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Amendment 5 and hope it is confirmed.

Sincerely,

John Cornell
6827 Woodlawn Rd
Maurice, LA 70555

Phyllis Miranda

From: Carol Hebert <carolhebert@hotmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 7:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5. The recreational angler needs input in our direction.

Sincerely,

Carol Hebert
128 Fanny St
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ricky Fife <jfife10363@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 7:03 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please set right this outdated allocation of red snapper and approve Alternative 5.

Thank you for all you do.

Sincerely,

Ricky Fife
649 Highway 869
Winnsboro, LA 71295

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Dodick, CDR, USN retired <buckdodick@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:52 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to ask you to consider very strongly two main points surrounding the American Red Snapper allocation in your hands. Number one, the lack of current and viable data on the fishery. The second point is that the I believe recreational anglers are underrepresented in fishing opportunities as gauged by days and allowable catch.

Please consider raising the allowable recreational catch in the northern Gulf of Mexico and increasing the length of the season there as well.

Buck

Sincerely,

Michael "Buck" Dodick
310 Scotchpine Dr
Mandeville, LA 70471

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gus Schram, III <gschram3@jlawton.cc>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:59 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Thank you for your consideration of this important item.

As you know, the current recreational allocation was set using 4 of the lowest years of recreational landings in the entire 30+ year time series.

In addition, the commercial sector has been restored to its 4.65 million pound quota in 2013 and is now at the highest point while under federal management.

Therefore, I want to speak out in support of Amendment 28, Alternative 5, which is set up so as to allocate increases only. As a result, the commercial sector's income would not decrease.

However, by adopting Alternative 5, the recreational sector would be able to begin to crawl back away from the deepening hole caused by ever-shortened seasons and unexplainable decreases in bag limits.

The past situation is grossly unfair to the recreational fishermen who make a very large economic impact through all of their expenditures at marinas, hotels, tackle and bait stores, fuel stations, etc.

Please vote in favor of Amendment 28, Alternative 5 when it is brought to a vote by the Gulf Council.

Thank you again for your conscientious consideration.

Sincerely,

Gus Schram III
241 W SALLIER ST
LAKE CHARLES, LA 70601

Phyllis Miranda

From: Tim Kane <kanetw@airproducts.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support of Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please pass Alternative 5 since it will replace a 30 year old allocation that is no longer supported by the recreational fisherman of the Gulf.

Thank you for your consideration and your support in voting for Alternative 5 to be put in place.

Have a great day!

Tim Kane

Sincerely,

Tim Kane
2828 W Deborah Dr
Monroe, LA 71201

Phyllis Miranda

From: Tim Lott <tlott@rfoods.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation along the Gulf Coast

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It is my understadnign that public hearings on how to divide red snapper between the commercial fishing industry and recreational anglers are underway along the Gulf Coast.

As you are probably aware, the current allocation is more than two decades old and it is based on 30-year-old data. Therefore, it is not unreasonable to suggest that it is time to re-evalute this allocation and use more relevant data.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council has selected Alternative 5 as its preferred alternative for reallocation. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector.

I believe that Alternative 5 is a reasonable path to reallocation, and perhaps the most viable allocation option.

Therefore, I support Alternative 5 and hope you will consider Alternative 5 also.

Sincerely,

Timothy J. Lott
640 Magazine St
New Orleans, LA 70130

Phyllis Miranda

From: Talmage Duplessis <tag8286@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Rellocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider alternative 5 when voting on the issue of snapper relocation.

Sincerely,

Talmage Duplessis
9366 S Hodgeson Rd
Gonzales, LA 70737

Phyllis Miranda

From: Terry Hodges <ask4terryh@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red fish Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please use your common sense and vote for Alternative # 5. Try making the little guy who spends his hard earned (after tax) dollars to try to do a little fishing.

Thanks and I pray you "good ole boys" do the right thing.

Sincerely,

Terry Hodges
104 Warwick Dr
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gregory Leger, Jr <glegerjr@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Far more local anglers would snapper fish if the limit wasn't so small and the seasons so short. On average we spend about 300-500$ every trip on fuel, bait, and gear.

Sincerely,

Gregory Leger Jr
120 S Arlington Dr
Lafayette, LA 70503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Arthur Bagwell <arthur@bagwelllaw.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

i respectfully request that you vote in favor of Alternative No. 5.

My grandchildren and sons look forward to catching red snapper every year. It is a tradition that we have enjoyed for years.

Sincerely,

Arthur Bagwell
58840 Hymel St
White Castle, LA 70788

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rusty Bellard <rustybellard@lusfiber.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:50 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Amendment 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen:

I have participated in the Red Snapper controversy as a passionate recreational angler for many years. I have observed on land and water the negative issues brought about by your works.

The answer is state control of our reef fish; no to sector separation; and acceptance of Amendment 5 by your council to start "righting the ship".

Any other vote will be a huge slap in the face of the recreational fishermen and a greater harm to our economy.

Sincerely
Rusty Bellard
Lafayette, la.

Sincerely,

Rusty Bellard
638 Crestlawn Dr
Lafayette, LA 70503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ronnie Jinks <louzianajones@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please adopt Alternative 5 for Red Snapper allocation. The current allocation is more than two decades old and it is based on 30-year-old data. It is grossly outdated.

Sincerely,

Ronnie Jinks
1754 Templeton Bend Rd Lot 19
Columbia, LA 71418

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gerald Sander, III <sanders-gerald@att.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational fishermen I spend thousands of dollars every year in Louisiana's marinas and local buisnesses! Fishing offshore 2 times a month is expensive but it's my choice of recreation. Red snapper allocation is crucial to our gulf coast as a RECREATIONAL FISH!!!! Support action 5!

Sincerely,

Gerald Sander III
58446 Hillcrest School Rd
Amite, LA 70422

Phyllis Miranda

From: Charles Willis <ceclwillis@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Congrats, Mr. Camp for beginning chosen as Volunteer of The Year. Thank to all of you for serving on the council and sharing you time to protect the interest of all parties. Commercial Fisherman who make a living and recreational fisherman who can have a way to send time and teach their children and grandchildren to enjoy our great fisheries and preserve them. It seems that the decisions have been based on 1979 data and if that is the truth would you consider Alternative 5. I am not a fisherman but I've been auctioneering for CCA for the last 30 years raising money's to help preserve this wonderful resource for all concerned. May God Bless You and Yours. Thanks

Sincerely,

Charlie Willis
1557 Siouxan Dr
Lake Charles, LA 70611

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Overall, Jr <overallb@coastalbridge.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I hope you will support what appears to be a sane and logical answer. There never will be a perfect answer to satisfy everyone. I used to do a lot more snapper fishing with the family, but due to such reduced bag limits, we have reduced our trips tremendously. What trips we have taken, have been fantastically successful.

Thanks for your time and consideration

Sincerely,

Robert Overall Jr
1111 Claiborne Rd
Baton Rouge, LA 70810

Phyllis Miranda

From: Wesley Babin <wesley@aipsi.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Gulf of Mexico Red Snapper Fishery

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have been fishing offshore for less than 10 years now as a recreational fisherman, but I truly believe that the Red Snapper fishery is being managed very poorly. This is why I support Alternative #5. With such a large red snapper population, other fisheries, like grouper, that compete for the same food may actually decline in population and we will have the same issues with that fishery as we had with the snapper years ago. When the quota increases as it should based on the abundance of snapper present today, recreational fisherman should be given the opportunity to harvest more as the season is incredibly short. With bad weather conditions occurring on many weekends during the season, it is only possible to make a couple of trips to fish for snapper. This has also increased the pressure on other fish in the gulf which have not received the same attention and could pose problems for those fisheries in the near future. It would be wise that all parties come together behind Alternative 5 to ensure that we, as well as future fisherman, can enjoy the red snapper fishery and others for years to come.

Sincerely,

Wesley Babin
16193 Highway 431
Prairieville, LA 70769

Phyllis Miranda

From: Roderick LaCombe <rick@bayoufab.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:17 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen

Needless to say there is much change needed to fix the rules and regulations governing our red snapper resources. That being said Please support proposal number five in your upcoming meetings.

I would also like to see our fine state in charge of our red snapper south of our coast out to the edge of protected waters.

Sincerely,

Roderick LaCombe
PO Box 391
Grosse Tete, LA 70740

Phyllis Miranda

From: Raymond Reiser <raymondreiser@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:09 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: alternative 5 red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I am an avid recreational angler and asking for your support to vote yes for alternative 5. thank you.

Sincerely,

Raymond Reiser
3744 Lake Aspen Dr W
Gretna, LA 70056

Phyllis Miranda

From: Laurence Favolora <lfavolora@favcon.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, I just wanted to let you know that I am a recreational fisherman and reside in Coastal Louisiana, I am in favor of Alternative 5 and am asking for your support of this measure! Thanks you!!!

Sincerely,

Sincerely, Laurence P. Favolora
52 Metairie Ct
Metairie, LA 70001

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Everett <deverett@keystoneengr.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 5:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm sending this message to inform you that I support Alternative 5 as the preferred alternative to updating an outdated red snapper allocation process.

Sincerely,

David Everett
1493 Rue Bayonne
Mandeville, LA 70471

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bobby Guidry <bobguidr@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:59 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I too am supporting alternative 5 as CCA supporting it

Sincerely,

Bobby Guidry
1305 E Bayou Pkwy
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: J. Hammond <john.hammond@lapigment.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a Louisiana resident, a recreational fisherman and CCA member, I support Alternative 5 for Red Snapper Allocation. I respectfully ask that you maintain Alternative 5 as your preferred outcome as you continue in this important work and push for its passage by the larger council.

Sincerely,

J. Hammond
4604 Sheryl Ln
Lake Charles, LA 70605

Phyllis Miranda

From: ROBERT MUSSO <rmusso@cfirstbank.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current allocation method is simply a scam between the commercial fishermen and the Resturant association to keep red snapper supply at a low level so most people can only get snapper at resturants. There is a danger of over population of the red snapper species in the Gulf. Take the special interest out of the equation and thier counting methods and surprise we have plenty of snapper to go around

Sincerely,

ROBERT MUSSO
100 Habersham Dr
Youngsville, LA 70592

Phyllis Miranda

From: ErroL Unruh <eunruh@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a recreational fisherman and would like to keep as much of the snapper for recreational fishing persons as possible
thanks Errol Unruh

Sincerely,

ErroL Unruh
285 Jenkins Rd
Deridder, LA 70634

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gary Krouse <1rangerangler@cox.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Sirs, I wish for you to also support Alternative 5 for red snapper. The commercial fishermen have no more right to this species than anyone else. God put fish here for everyone to enjoy, not one mismanaged group over the other. If this species was abused, it was more by the commercial industry than by any states recreational fishermen. If the Commercial fishermen are worried that the good folks in Nebraska won't have red snapper for supper, well, people in Nebraska eat BEEF !

Sincerely,

Gary Krouse
9823 Shoe Creek Dr
Baton Rouge, LA 70818

Phyllis Miranda

From: Philip Breaux <philip@mecom.cc>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm in favor of Alternative 5. It is about time recreational fishermen get some increase since the amount of fishing days are limited by weather.

Sincerely,

Philip Breaux
1010 9th St
Lake Charles, LA 70601

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lance Wagner <hwyhogrk@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Lance Wagner
256 Blackfin Cv
Slidell, LA 70458

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Crawford <revredfish@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:52 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider new allocations in regards to the red snapper in Gulf waters. It is clear to every angler that the current limits of 2 fish per person are ridiculous. On a recent trip we couldn't avoid catching red snapper. I hope you will remember that your local anglers spend millions of dollars too in pursuit of their passion for game fish and our southern communities depend upon the money from tourism as well as industrial fishing.

May God bless you as you weigh this important decision.

Rev. Bill Crawford

Sincerely,

William Crawford
203 Ridgefield Rd
Thibodaux, LA 70301

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lannie Buteau, J. <lannie.buteau@halliburton.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:51 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Rreallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I ask you to please select Alternative 5 as our preferred Alternative for reallocation. I am a firm believer in being fare and reasonable and I think by selecting Alternative 5 it is a win win for all parties.

Sincerely,

Lannie J. Buteau
3219 Patoutville Rd
Jeanerette, LA 70544

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Shaddock, Jr <bill@shaddock.cc>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please vote to update the Red Snapper allocation from the existing one based on outdated data. Alternate 5 is requested.

Sincerely,

William Shaddock Jr
1451 Shell Beach Dr
Lake Charles, LA 70601

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Barrett <michaeltbarrett@me.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I forgot to say which alternative I would support. I would favor #5 or #6 since commercial industry is doing just fine with the price/lb they are capturing today and recreational fishermen can't afford to fishing for snapper with a limit of 2 fish for some totally limited time period. Since most of the commercial fishermen are from the Eastern Gulf divide the Gulf into East and West and define the allocation by region so recreational fishermen can be able to really fish for red snapper which is totally out of reach today as cost/fish when the limit is 2. Again with the populations we see from charter fishing trips the western gulf is dense with red snapper and could support a game fish limit at 10/person/day like red fish. Get that done and then revisit the allocation in 3 years.

Sincerely,

Michael Barrett
11436 The Gardens Dr
Baton Rouge, LA 70810

Phyllis Miranda

From: Wayne Laurent <Lauctol@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I believe that the reallocation of the Red Snapper percentage is way overdue.

If we the taxpayer is going to pay taxes to fund the record keeping of such populations in wildlife, than adequate measures should be taken to fairly distribute the results of these finings back to the tax payer. That being said these results cannot be accomplished justly by the use of outdated data.

So I beg you as a taxpayer and an angler to PLEASE do the right thing and reallocate the red snapper population as Alternative 5

Thanks Again

Wayne J. Laurent

Sincerely,

Wayne Laurent
26590 Greenwell Springs Rd
Greenwell Springs, LA 70739

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Barrett <michaeltbarrett@me.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:37 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

My apology for not being able to attend the Kenner meeting. I attended the Baton Rouge meeting a month or so back. It was clear to me, a new member to CCA, that there is huge political actions being taken by commercial industry and that average recreational fisherman is not a priority with federal departments. The commercial industry is driving the politics here and we need a much stronger voice for the average recreational fisherman. Making Red Fish a game fish in state and federal waters with a catch limit like Red Fish would be the best solution for us all and fix the commercial fishermen to 40% and nothing more. Having commercial fish boats with 30 people going out fishing for red snapper with little to no effective limit is totally unfair. How many of these boats with 30 people fishing on them get cited by enforcement....none. The Red Snapper are so plentiful outside in western Gulf that there is hardly room for other fish. It is clear that commercial interests are driving these decisions so our challenge is how to get more power to determine outcomes. It does not appear that CCA has leverage but please advise if we do and how is that possible when what I see is that all we do is consult. Commercial industry is organized and has lobbyist that fork over money for campaigns etc. How are we fighting this?

Sincerely,

Michael Barrett
11436 The Gardens Dr
Baton Rouge, LA 70810

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steven Ellender <steve.ellender@grace.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please update the Red Snapper allocation. My family and I love to fish and have a bay boat which limits our fishing time. Red snapper is one of the fish we like to catch and share with our grandchildren. We are located in Southwest La. and we all know to catch snapper we have travel more than 3 miles and the best time to do this the season is closed. So please update the allocation.

Sincerely,

Steven Ellender
4101 Thompson Rd
Sulphur, LA 70665

Phyllis Miranda

From: john Discon <garydiscon@att.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Prop 28

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am for alternative 5. The commercials do not need more than 51%. The system needs to be revamped. I am not happy with 30 days of fishing. CCA also needs to get involved with the state season and tell the feds to back off and observe the new federal lines!!!!

Sincerely,

john Discon
1041 Nursery Ave
Metairie, LA 70005

Phyllis Miranda

From: dean angelle, michael <dangelle@ep-er.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

We seeing a over supply of snapper now , we dive a lot, an the snapper population is very high around any production platform we dive at . we need a longer season , and a least 4 per person per day .the sports fisherman are not being treated fare in this situation , it cost us a small fortune to get out their and back , an also they close down the amberjack season while snapper season is open , an if we don't have good weather like last year we only get 1 or 2 weekends to fish , because we work it makes it hard for us to go during the week , and I know its like that with most of the sports fishingman

Sincerely,

Dean Angelle
100 Blue Ridge Dr
Carencro, LA 70520

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brian Young <briankeithyoung@reagan.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Louisiana fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am an avid offshore fisherman. Current legislation is making it more and more difficult to even enjoy the sport anymore. I find it absolutely mind boggling that our legislators have done this. It is TIME to fix it.

Sincerely,

Brian K Young
15269 Bluff Rd
Prairieville, LA 70769

Phyllis Miranda

From: charles moore <cmoore1953@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper with Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a concerned US Citizen regarding the utilization of our marine resources, I am writing this email requesting your support and approval of Alternative 5. This is a much fairer allocation of our marine resources. Your consideration of this request is greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

Sincerely,

Charles Moore, Baton Rouge, LA
PO Box 86882
Baton Rouge, LA 70879

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rod Resweber <resweber@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs: As a recreational fisherman, I have spent a great deal on gear, boats and fuel in the last 20 or so years. I refuse to get excited over 2 red snapper. It's just too much $ to spend. I support CCA and ask that you consider all the $ we recreationals spend. If you don't allocate us a fair share, we quit spending. I already have. Sold my boat, too. Sold it to a man in California. Louisiana loses.

Sincerely,

Rod Resweber
317 Titan Dr Apt B
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marcus Jeansonne <mjeansonne@tmcontractors.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational snapper fisherman, it has become more and more difficult to justify a boat trip to catch 2 snapper per person. With amber Jack season closed during the same period that snapper is open, catching other fish on the same trip is more and more difficult. Please reallocate the limits otherwise recreational snapper fishing will become a sport of the past for me, and others like me.

Sincerely,

Marcus Jeansonne
15766 Philemon Thomas Dr
Baton Rouge, LA 70810

Phyllis Miranda

From: George Huye <Hondo681@cox.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen and Harlon, I support option 5 of amendment 28 for the reallocation of Red Snapper. For far to long recreational fishermen have gotten the short end of the stick regarding the harvest of Red Snapper. I its time to reallocate and give the recreational angler a larger piece of the pie.

Sincerely,
George Huye

Sincerely,

George Huye
11604 Villa Ave
Baton Rouge, LA 70810

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dwight Andrus, III <iii@andrus.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen, While I can appreciate all of the political agendas related to the above subject matter, I do believe it is high time that current up to date data be used in calculating the availability and catch for Red Snapper. I have owned many boats in my time and have been an avid offshore fisherman over the past 40 years. I most recently owned a 35 footer and fished every weekend I could for the past 7 fishing seasons. There isn't much I don't know about catching Red Snapper and I can tell you I could have sunk the boat 100's of times. Your data is simply old and outdated. We don't use old data to calculate the money supply, gasoline usage, electricity usage, water usage which are among the few necessities we have and use. Food is a necessity and we should employ the same current day data for this item as well. Step up to the plate like men. Vote for a good and fair system. Vote out the god ole boy network in favor of a fair system. Vote proposition number 5 as supported by cca. The fish were put there for all of us to enjoy. The laws were put there for all of us to abide by.

Sincerely,

Dwight Andrus III
141 Shannon Rd
Lafayette, LA 70503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Thomas Jones <thomasj9@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve alternative 5 and make decision regarding red snapper on updated data. Recreational fisherman deserve serious consideration.

Thank you,
Tom Jones

Sincerely,

Thomas Jones
4020 Cypress St
Zachary, LA 70791

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Suttle <billsuttle22@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allotments

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5 on allocating red snapper. Economically it is hard to justify going offshore fishing when all the fish are for commercial fishermen. It just doesn't make any sense. I have not enjoyed the sport I love for many years because of this. Louisiana is sport man's paradise and it should always stay that way. Thanks for your time.

Sincerely,

William Suttle
209 Quelqueshue St
Sulphur, LA 70663

Phyllis Miranda

From: Carl Abshire <ceabshire@forestoil.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Public hearing.

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I will not be present at the meeting due to work but would like to express my concerns. I have seen the population increase due to regulatory but feel the commercial sector should not continue to receive the quota % as this will not help the snapper population. I feel we should follow the CCA recommendations on limiting their fishing to help keep the population growing.

Thanks!

Carl Abshire

Sincerely,

Carl Abshire
12526 Crabapple Rd
Kaplan, LA 70548

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brandon Moss <bmos2588@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:20 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Pass alternative 5!!!!

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This has gone on to long please pass alternative 5 an let us fish! The fishery is healthy an bountiful! Pass alternative 5!

Thanks

Sincerely,

Brandon Moss
305 Oak St
New Iberia, LA 70563

Phyllis Miranda

From: James O'Neill <jasoneill@earthlink.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:18 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: RED SNAPPER ALLOCATION

Dear Chairman Boyd,

VOTE CCA'S POSITION

Sincerely,

James O'Neill
2306 E Pinhook Rd
Lafayette, LA 70501

Phyllis Miranda

From: Roy Geesey <rgeesey@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:19 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider Alternative 5 for Red Snapper quotas.

Sincerely,

Roy Geesey
521 SW Court Cir
Crowley, LA 70526

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Hyatt, Jr <jhyatt@pinoakoperating.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:18 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5--Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a sport fisherman and a member of CCA I support the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council Alternative 5 as a preferred alternative for reallocation. Alternative 5 will maintain the commercial and recreational red snapper allocations, but when the quota is greater than 9.12 million pounds, 75% of the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. That is a good thing.

It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation, perhaps even too reasonable, but it is the most viable allocation option on the table and it is still hanging by a thread.

As stated above I support Alternative 5.

Thank you,

John H. Hyatt, Jr.

Sincerely,

John Hyatt Jr
5200 Dixie Garden Dr
Shreveport, LA 71105

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jason Broekman <jason.broekman@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:16 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support the Alternative 5 proposal for Snapper allocation. I would appreciate your support in voting for this proposal.

Thanks

Sincerely,

Jason Broekman
618 Dodge Ave
Jefferson, LA 70121

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rusty Vincent <jrv@centurygrp.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:16 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I ask that you support Alternative 5 when it comes to the allocation of red snapper in the Gulf of Mexico. If the quota is to be raised over 9.12 million pounds then 75 percent of the increase will go to recreational fishermen and 25% to the commercial industry. The recreational fishery along the gulf coast is huge to the coastal communities and its citizens.

Sincerely,

Rusty Vincent
308 Oakley Dr
Sulphur, LA 70663

Phyllis Miranda

From: Don Marx, Donald <poppadon39@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Rec. Fishing & Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

It is about time to Man Up to the commercial fisheries and take proper care of the Rec. fishermen as it applies to seasons, limits, distance from shore, methods of catch, etc. We pay your salaries yet the commercial fisheries get all of the goodies. Allocate fairly and use accurate statistics in your calculations. The commercial guys can still make a good living with fair allocations. Plus it will eliminate the tendency to cheat the system on both sides of the table!!

Sincerely,

Don Marx
6972 Keel Rd
Sulphur, LA 70665

Phyllis Miranda

From: ros shirley <rosshirley@comcast.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a life member of CCA I am supporting alternative #5. Please make sure our vote is counted.

Sincerely,

ros shirley
276 Pine Hills Dr
Calhoun, LA 71225

Phyllis Miranda

From: Terry Kaufman <tkaufman@phihelico.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:09 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Commercial vs. Recreational fishing quota's based on 1979 information is just not right. I would like to see the Red Snapper allocation updated and feel that Alternative 5 is a fair and viable way forward.
Thank you.

Terry Kaufman

Sincerely,

Terry Kaufman
301 Perkins St
Saint Martinville, LA 70582

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jerry Armand <jerrysappac@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:06 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

my vote is YES for the reallocation, ALTERNATIVE 5 IS MUST FOR RECREATIONAL FISHERIES.. thank you

Sincerely,

Jerry Armand
274 Highway 1187
Mansura, LA 71350

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ed Laurent <ed.laurent@live.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:07 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational fisherman I am in favor of Alternative #5 for snapper reallocation. Please cast your vote and support to this alternative

Sincerely,

Ed Laurent
227 Bayou Blue Bypass Rd
Gray, LA 70359

Phyllis Miranda

From: Haller Jackson, III <hjackson@bradleyfirm.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Fish regulations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I fish recreationally for Red Fish and I believe we are a diverse and important group. I also believe we spend quite a large amount of money on equipment, food and lodging pursuing reds, and I think that should be an important part of your decision in allocating the resource.

I support Alternative 5 and hope you will vote for it.

Thank you,
Haller Jackson

Sincerely,

Haller Jackson III
401 Edwards St Fl 10
Shreveport, LA 71101

Phyllis Miranda

From: Carroll Goulas <cgoulas@thecrossgroup.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in favor of alternative 5 which pertains to the red snapper reallocation but we need your support even more than ever and i am counting on you to do the right thing.

Carroll

Sincerely,

Carroll Goulas
1164 Mulberry Rd
Houma, LA 70363

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ron Bartels <rbartels@eagle-facilities.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs: As residents of coastal Louisiana and recreational red snapper fishermen, when the weather will permit us to get out, my family and I are respectfully requesting that you approve Alternative V for the red snapper allocation. Hopefully this will provide more opportunity for us to enjoy these great game fish and wonderful table fare. Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of our request. Ron and Jackie Bartels & family

Sincerely,

Ron Bartels
108 Isle of Cuba Rd
Schriever, LA 70395

Phyllis Miranda

From: Charles Hebert <fch101549@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternate 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternate 5 for approval. Remember that week end fisherman pump in more money into the private sector than commercial fisherman. We all have jobs and only can fish on week ends or the holiday. It is time to listen to the majority rather than the minority. Thank you for your time concerning this matter.

Sincerely,

Charles Hebert
2211 Patton St Trlr B18
Sulphur, LA 70665

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Levin <levinendo@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28:Red Snapper Re-Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing you to ask that you support Alternative 5 of Amendment 28. Thank you.

Sincerely,

John Levin
107 Mount Hope Ave
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Coatney <r.coatney@coastaldrilling.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I see that alternative 5 will be a positive alternative for the recreational fisherman; Which i am.

The allotment from comercial to recreational has been lopsided for way too long.

Sincerely,

Richard Coatney
221 Archangel Dr
Lafayette, LA 70508

Phyllis Miranda

From: A.J. Rosenbohm <ajrosenbohm@att.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing this to urge the Council to vote for Alternative 5 of the Red Snapper Reallocation program. I believe that this gives the resource the best chance of long term sustainability while best serving the interests of recreational fishermen as well as fairly treating the commercial fishing industry.

Sincerely,

A.J. Rosenbohm
5013 Rebecca Blvd
Kenner, LA 70065

Phyllis Miranda

From: Norvin Schexnaildre <nschex35@cox.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I urge you to support Alternative #5 for the reallocation of red snapper

Sincerely,

Norvin Schexnaildre
1608 Francis Ave
Metairie, LA 70003

Phyllis Miranda

From: Keith Roberts <rambo@workstrings.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing to ask you to promote Altrrnative 5 to allow the recreational fisherman more opportunities to catch more red snapper in the future. The recreational fishing industry contributes millions of dollars in tax revenues to the state in everything from fuel taxes to hotel taxes. I would think the state would benefit more from the reallocation of limits to allow fisherman to catch more than 2 red snapper per person which would make it more worthwhile to go out. The red snapper population that I have personally seen on trips offshore can more than handle an increase in the limits. Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Keith Roberts

Sincerely,

Keith Roberts
215 Presbytere Pkwy
Lafayette, LA 70503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jay Poche <jaypoche@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Mr Fischer,

As a long time charter captain I am sure you understand that Alternative 5 is the preferred method of distribution of the snapper quota. please represent all anglers by supporting #5

Sincerely,

Jay Poche
2116 N Woodchase Ct
Baton Rouge, LA 70808

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Dill <jdill@dillfirm.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please let this serve as my suport for Alternative 5 on Reallocation. I grew up in this Sportsman's Paradise and want to pass the traditions on to my son so that he can do the same. Your efforts to preserve our tremendous resources is greatly appreciated. I hope that you keep our recreational fishing in mind as we are not unified and funded like the commercial fisherman. We rely upon you and your good judgment to do what is right for our stocks and our citizens.

THANK YOU!

Sincerely,

James Dill
608 Farmington Dr
Lafayette, LA 70503

Phyllis Miranda

From: jimmy fisackerly, jr <jimmy@boatstuf.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider the Alternative 5 Plan in re-allocation the Red Snapper quota. It appears to be a reasonable solution to an outdated allocation. This not only affects the Snapper Fishery, but also affects the recreational boating industry, including boat dealers, marinas, tackle stores, etc.

Without a reasonable recreational Snapper allocation, all of these businesses are affected.

Sincerely,

Thank you, Jimmy Fisackerly
1212 Copperman Ct
Covington, LA 70433

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Scala <jim@getgordon.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Re allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please review this outdated allocation method and do what is right for the recreational anglers of Louisiana. Alternative 5 seems like the right choice.

Thank you

Sincerely,

James Scala
6126 Riverbend Lakes Dr
Baton Rouge, LA 70820

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jake Lambert <jakelambert12@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5!!!!

Sincerely,

Jake Lambert
10485 Springdale Ave
Baton Rouge, LA 70810

Phyllis Miranda

From: Guy Bratton <gbratto@entergy.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Please support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like you to please look at Alternative 5 and approve this approach. I am an avid angler with a camp in Port Fourchon and fish Red Snapper when the season allows. Please keep the Rec Anglers in mind when making this decision.

Sincerely,

Guy Bratton
40091 Drude Rd
Ponchatoula, LA 70454

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stephen Peltier <stephenpeltier@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

please adopt option 5 to allocate more of the potential red snapper harvest to the recreational sector. The recreational sector provides more commercial activity through boat, tackle and other purchases so as to provide more value to each fish taken.

Sincerely,

Stephen Peltier
106 Estate Dr
Thibodaux, LA 70301

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lori Dean <ldean@comcast.net>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:51 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I urge the support alternative 5 for the snapper allocation - it allows current holders of commercial allocation to continue their current income while allowing the rec sector to benefit more from future benefits realized from current management efforts.

John Dean
318-422-4152

Sincerely,

John and Lori Dean
2909 Long Lake Dr
Shreveport, LA 71106

Phyllis Miranda

From: JOSEPH REGARD, MR <jregard12@hotmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Alternatives

Dear Chairman Boyd,

For The Good Of Both Recreational and Commercial Red Fish Survival
Please Support:

Alternative 5

Sincerely,

JOSEPH T REGARD
407 Wildwood Dr
New Iberia, LA 70560

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gary Long <gl5948@att.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support the alternative 5 allocations. It doesn't make sense to have a law that uses 30 year old data. Please support the Alternative 5 allocations with me. Thanks, Gary

Sincerely,

Gary Long
1552 Queens Dr
Slidell, LA 70458

Phyllis Miranda

From: JOEY RUSSO <jdr8250@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28 Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational red snapper fisherman I support alternative #5 to allocate 75% of the total allowable catch limit that exceeds 9.1 million pounds to go to the recreational sector.

My thoughts are that as the number of recreational fisherman continue to grow the need for additional pounds of fish allocated to this sector should grow also. Since the number of commercial fisherman is static it stands to reason to keep that sector static as well.

Sincerely,

JOEY RUSSO
PO Box 52486
Lafayette, LA 70505

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brian Elrod <Brian@imsupplyco.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Support Alternative 5. It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation.

Sincerely,

Brian Elrod
21410 Stonebridge Ct
Denham Springs, LA 70726

Phyllis Miranda

From: Rob Pourciau <robert.pourciau@jbace.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I fully support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Rob Pourciau
8 Mary St
Madisonville, LA 70447

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lindsey Torbett <lt@torbett.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support a more equitable allocation for red snapper for recreational purposes.

Please approve alternative 5.

Thanks for your consideration and service.

Cincerely

Sincerely,

Lindsey Torbett
425 Tealwood Dr
Alexandria, LA 71303

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mike Coullard <mike@panolapepper.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Recreational Allowance

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please follow the advice of CCA Leadership on this important issue.

Follow the money! - The recreational sector provides vital income and jobs for a host of people in and around the Gulf Coast States.

Your consideration is greatly appreciated.

Mike Coullard
President/CEO
Panola Pepper Corporation
Lake Providence, LA

Sincerely,

Mike Coullard
3630 Highway 65 N
Lake Providence, LA 71254

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jean Marmande <jean@slfslc.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:44 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please use alternate 5 as a path for the Snapper allocation. Most Recreational fisherman are so limited in time to be able to participate in the abundant fishery. By the time a normal recreational guy can make time to go snapper fishing and get the weather right, he can only make 1-3 trips per season. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Jean Marmande
315 S Hollywood Rd
Houma, LA 70360

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Maritza Lopez <happybunny543@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 2:19 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Maritza Lopez
2771 Taft St
Apt 410
Hollywood, FL 33020-2957
(954) 801-8938

Phyllis Miranda

From: walter Hackett <walt.hackett4@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 12:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please let this notice serve as an vote for allocation 5 in the red snapper controversy. Although not perfect, it seems as the best in a tough situation thank you Walt Hackett

Sincerely,

walter Hackett
2408 SW 39th St
Cape Coral, FL 33914

Phyllis Miranda

From: CMT LAB SERVICES <cmt39576@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 12:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I Vote to increase allocation for recreational fisherman

I support a limit of five red snapper per person per day or more based on the number of red snapper that I catch each time I visit offshore platforms when I Fish. There are so many red snapper that I cannot get to other fish that I am targeting such as grouper and other bottom dwellers. I do not support Giving the commercial fishermen such a large allocation and giving us recreational fisherman who only are able to fish a few times per year is not fair to us who pay for licensing for offshore species just as a commercial fisherman paid for their license. It is obvious that the allocations need to be shifted in favor of the recreational fisherman. A decrease in commercial fisherman allocations is needed.

Phyllis Miranda

From: Don King <d.king@ammexproducts.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 12:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

I vote yes on alternative 6 concerning Amendment 28.

Don King
3007 North Bryan Road
Mission, Texas 78574

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bernadette Allard <beallard@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 10:21 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation Update

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to see the Red Snapper allocation updated.

Please support Alternative 5. It is a reasonable path to reallocation and the most viable allocation option on the table.

Sincerely,

Bernadette Allard
1180 81st St S
Saint Petersburg, FL 33707

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Donald Thorne <rubberface1957@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 10:15 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 17, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Donald Thorne
PO Box 962
Crystal Beach, FL 34681-0962
(727) 288-6849

Phyllis Miranda

From: BRACKIN, KEVIN N GS-12 USAF ACC 82 ATRS/OPS <kevin.brackin.1@us.af.mil>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 9:46 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I want to vote - Form not uploading

I vote yes on Alternative 6 concerning Amendment 28.

Mr. Kevin "Neuticle" Brackin
Assistant Director of Operations
Watercraft Program Manager
82d Aerial Targets Squadron
Com (850) 283-3808 DSN 523-3808
Fax (850) 283-4465 24-Hour Cell (850) 381-2958

Phyllis Miranda

From: rob brown <rbrown@atlasinsuranceagency.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 9:39 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Gulf Red Snapper re allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I write to you in hopes you will support Alternative 5 for the re allocation of Gulf Snapper stocks. I appreciate both commercial and recreational viewpoints but know from experience that the stock assessment needs to be updated and better science applied. Fortunately, this stock has rebounded very well in recent years. It is time to recognize the economic driver of the recreational fishery as well as basic, reasonable fairness in the resource allocation. Again, Please support Alternative 5 updated Gulf Red Snapper allocation.

Thank you,
Rob Brown

Sincerely,

rob brown
2320 Wason Rd
Sarasota, FL 34231

Phyllis Miranda

From: Reod Martin <reid9098@gmail.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 6:53 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Reid Martin
585 S Indigo Rd
Altamonte Springs, FL 32714

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Fuller <cfcap10@yahoo.com>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 11:30 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please vote to reallocate the Red Snapper annual quota to more reflect the available resource. We need more fish in the recreational/charter for hire side of this issue.

Sincerely,

James Fuller
2012 Clay Ave
Panama City, FL 32405

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard L Moore <rlmoore@verizon.net>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 10:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I agree with the CCA and support Alternative 5. I would also support an alternative that allows the recreational angler more days on the water. Recent seasons have been far too short.

Sincerely,

Richard L Moore
7705 112th Ave E
Parrish, FL 34219

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of David Turner <dtcarpentry@aol.com>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 10:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 16, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Turner
8140 Fortworth St
Navarre, FL 32566-9188
(850) 376-4641

Phyllis Miranda

From: Andrew Smith, Sr. <aasmith824@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 2:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a life member of the CCA, I agree with it's support of Alternative 5 as a badly needed amendment to our old Snapper rules in the Gulf. I hope the Council will give this amendment very serious consideration.

Andrew A. Smith, Sr.

Sincerely,

Andrew Smith Sr.
22475 Sea Cliff Dr
Fairhope, AL 36532

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lisa Santucci <jdunphy@earthlink.net>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 11:05 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Vote Alternative 5. Its the best of the options on the table.

While I believe that reallocation of a greater portion of the snapper fishery to recreational anglers is the better outcome, Alternative 5 appears to be the best option currently under consideration.

Recreational anglers contribute far more to the economy that the lucky few commercial anglers that control such a huge share of the fishery. Recreational anglers are a significant portion of the citizenry that get great enjoyment out of this public resource. Fisheries managers should seek to assure this group's access to the resource is maximized.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Lisa Santucci
797 Boulevard of the Champions
Shalimar, FL 32579

Phyllis Miranda

From: john dunphy <fnpairadice@gmail.com>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 10:55 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support reallocation. I am an avid recreational angler and believe the current allocation system in place for the last three decades unwisely and unfairly allocates an excessive portion of the fishery to a small elite group of commercial fisherman. The greatest public benefit, both in terms of enjoyment and financial impact to the economy is provided by the recreational sector.

Of the options on the table, I support Alternative 5, but believe an even more significant reallocation to the recreational sector is warranted and advisable.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

John Dunphy
797 Boulevard of the Champions
Shalimar, FL 32579

Phyllis Miranda

From: Don Roberts <droboters@rothinvestmentrealty.com>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 10:20 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support the reallocation of the red snapper fishery. Amendment 5 is the most reasonable and effective amendment offered. It keeps the commercial sector at its present level and allows the recreational sector to improve as the fishery improves.

Sincerely,

Don Roberts
PO Box 273956
Tampa, FL 33688

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dale Humphrey <daleehumphrey@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 9:42 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support CCA's position on updating the Red Snapper allocation with Alternative 5, allowing recreational fishermen additional opportunities to harvest some snapper after expending cost's to the reach those area's. I am sure all recreational fishermen would appreciate those opportunities.

Sincerely,

Dale Humphrey
10215 Old Fort Bayou Rd
Vanceleave, MS 39565

Phyllis Miranda

From: Adelle Blackman <xeriscapelady@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Sunday, March 16, 2014 5:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Re:Fishing rights

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please let recreational fishermen have an opportunity to fish for one of Florida's most favorite fish---Red snapper. I realize that commercial fishermen need to make a living, butitis not to let them get the fish we want for our family and have to pay huge prices at restaurants

Sincerely,

Adelle M Blackman
324 Wood Chuck Ave
Tarpon Springs, FL 34689

Phyllis Miranda

From: steve lima <captainwonderful@mchsi.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 11:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

28 sucks and will hurt people that work for a living.

steve lima
pobox495
apalachicola, FL 32320

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bill Houston <bill@familymg.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 10:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gulf Council:

Decades old data is not reliable.

Adopt article 5. Better yet, table and conduct current study for present condition of stocks before any decisions.

I am a recreational fisherman.

Sincerely,

Bill Houston
6233 Linneal Beach Dr Apt Dt
Apopka, FL 32703

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eddy Hebert <abearsden@verizon.net>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 7:48 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of Alternative 5. As an avid sport fisherman the dollars spent in pursuing offshore fishing is tremendous and I feed my family mainly red snapper filets caught in gulf waters. Any increase in opportunity to catch additional fish is appreciated. Having fished for red snapper the past 25 years I have witness the overall improved numbers and size of the fish we catch. Please look at current data that is real and make your decision accordingly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Eddy Hebert
5717 Riva Ridge Dr
Wesley Chapel, FL 33544

Phyllis Miranda

From: Luan Morgan <morganmooselip52@yahoo.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 7:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Luan Morgan
308Lula Belle Ln NW
Ft Walton Bch, FL 32547

Phyllis Miranda

From: philip benvenuto <bennyben@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 4:31 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

please back Alternative 5 and allow the florida recreational fishers a chance to catch more of these fish. I believe allowing rec fishers more of these fish will help the stocks of fish and also help w/recreational fishing tourism. Also using 30 year old data for todays' conditions should warrant an update for our further reegulations for now and near future.

Sincerely,

philip benvenuto
6732 E Grayson St
Inverness, FL 34452

Phyllis Miranda

From: Larry Mock <lmock7@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 3:19 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allotment

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I think it is remiss to use data that is almost 40 yeras old to make such monumental decisions that affect so many. We recreational fishermen are totally disapointed in the current and past structure of Red Snapper allotments and closures. I favor amendment 5 and hope you will use sound, current data, and good judgement to make your decisions. Thanks for reading this. Please take it to heart.

Sincerely,

Larry M. Mock
4543 Hoffman Ave
Spring Hill, FL 34606

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Sue Taylor <suetaylor@andycable.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 2:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Sue Taylor
195 Durango Rd
Destin, FL 32541-3099

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Lockwood <jglock47@yahoo.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 1:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5 for the reallocation of Red Snapper in Florida

Sincerely,

John Lockwood
13309 Sea Breeze Ln
Grand Island, FL 32735

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bradford Brightman <brightman@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 11:17 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Recreational Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider consider the pro;posed reallocation for recreational anglers. With the rising costs of fuel, equipment and bait it is becoming impractical for recreational fishing to survive. Past catch data and population counts ON ARTIFICIAL STRUCTURE show that the population is healthy and growing while commercial demand is stagnant. Let the recreational fishing industry survive through reallocation.

Sincerely,

Bradford Brightman
2109 Dorchester Dr
Mobile, AL 36695

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mickey Lambert <mickeylambert44@comcast.net>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 11:07 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

My family spend a lot of money each year snapper fishing and truly enjoy it, however we can only keep two per person. I lot of trips it is only 2 or 3 of us on the boat and we can only keep two per person while we only may catch a lot more. My sons and I stop fishing for snapper once we get our limit to insure none are injured. PLEASE INCREASE THE LIMIT.
Thank you, Mickey Lambert

Sincerely,

Mickey Lambert
73 Wildwood Trl
Petal, MS 39465

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Holland <billholland@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 10:34 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Why do you keep giving so much to the commercial interest? The recreational group puts so much more money into the system, boats, restaurants, hotels, condos, tourism and all the people needed to keep them running.

Sincerely,

William Holland
567 Thorngate Ct
Brandon, MS 39047

Phyllis Miranda

From: Peter Domiziano <peterd@domiziano.net>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 9:03 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Fishery Management- Shares

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a VERY Small member representative of the recreational fishing public (that is about six to ten time per year with a line in the water and maybe twent-five perceent of THAT with a fish on the line that MIGHT try to exit the water) Yet I feel it is time for my two cents worth to be added to the fray.

Government data and statistics just don't add up (oh surprise under this federal administration) and CAN'T be trusted to give reliable data.

I trust the data supplied by those that have the MOST to lose (the commercial fisherman) before I trust anything gathered by the government.

Let's get good data and make better decisioins BEFORE becoming asset grabbing bureaucrats.

Trust the Commercial Fisherman FIRST.

Sincerely,

Peter Domiziano
1341 Bayview Dr
Clearwater, FL 33756

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mark Houghtaling <magicfin@aol.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 8:15 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please approve alternative 5. Lets drop an oudated allocation and do whats right for the fishing community.

Sincerely,

Mark Houghtaling
80 Driscoll Dr
Santa Rosa Beach, FL 32459

Phyllis Miranda

From: Wally Thurman, Jr <tbone39576@yahoo.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 8:00 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I think the red snapper season would be for the recreational fishermen there's not that many commercial fishermen in Mississippi good fishes red snappers so why wouldn't we be allowed to get the majority of the snapper recreational fishermen spending a lot of money in this industry

Sincerely,

Wally Thurman Jr
407 Jeff Davis Ave
Waveland, MS 39576

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Gilbert <mgilbert008@cfl.rr.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 7:57 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

i fully support alternative 5

Sincerely,

Michael Gilbert
124 Virginia St
Edgewater, FL 32132

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Rick Luddeke <ricktheroofer8@yahoo.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 7:39 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 15, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Rick Luddeke
5982 Heather Vw
San Antonio, TX 78249-3110

Phyllis Miranda

From: Richard Younger <richardyounger02@comcast.net>
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 6:30 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to see the red snapper allocation updated. And set right this outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Richard Younger
6905 Highland Park Cir
Fort Myers, FL 33966

Phyllis Miranda

From: Hank Roberts <hankr@cableone.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Certainly the commercial fisheries should be allowed to catch a fair allotment of Red Snapper, however, will the Snapper go the way of many "overfished" species that are not properly controlled? I support #5 on your suggestions as to the new allocations. A hook and line fisherman could not have possibly been able to wipe out the Blue Fin tuna, or the Pacific Salmon, or the great whales. Commercial fishing must continue, but only at a controlled pace.

Hank Roberts

Sincerely,

Hank Roberts
1201 Sunset Dr
Ocean Springs, MS 39564

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Sutton <jdrews83@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm outraged at the policies being proposed to end recreational snapper fishing. The big business that is commercial fishing has too much control on our government and governments around the world. We must not allow private interests to control our rights to the world's oceans.

Sincerely,

John Sutton
PO Box 1896
Santa Rosa Beach, FL 32459

Phyllis Miranda

From: Peter Steckbeck <steckbec@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 9:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I used to catch red snapper as a high school kid off of cape Canaveral with my now deceased father. we had a great time bringing home red snapper for mom to cook for dinner. please do what u can to preserve this great species for future recreational anglers. sincerely , pete steckbeck. Sportfisherman of Broward

Sincerely,

Peter Steckbeck
101 SE 6th Ct
Pompano Beach, FL 33060

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bob Encinosa <drbobenc@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 9:43 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The demand for store bought Red Snapper is a very, very, small part of this issue. The preservation of this resource is foremost. Beyond that, the financial impact of recreational fishing to coastal states is many times the dollar value of the snapper caught. Gas, food, lodging for anglers, boating and fishing supplies, fuel, jobs for guides and mates.....the list goes on and on.

Pleas do what's right for the communities involved.

Sincerely,

Bob Encinosa DVM
12406 Wexford Hills Rd
Riverview, FL 33569

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Watts <johnpwatts@mac.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 9:06 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Council

As a recreational angler and life long Florida resident I am writing to express my support for alternative 5. Please do the right thing and support this alternative as it offers the most reasonable path to reallocation. It is about time that someone sticks up for our recreational anglers and what is best for OUR fishery. I trust that you will.

Sincerely,

John Watts
109 Poquito Rd
Shalimar, FL 32579

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Galaher <dgalaherjr@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 6:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5 in order to fairly handle the red snapper control problem.

Sincerely,

David Galaher
101 24th Ave
St Pete Beach, FL 33706

Phyllis Miranda

From: Leo Smith, PhD <lasrms@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 6:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Good afternoon.

I commented to you previously with respect to the outrageous sector idea by which certain head boat operators, a.k.a. commercial fisherman who sell both fish and entertainment, would be given a portion of the recreational fisherman's red snapper allocation. Unfortunately my concerns and suggestions regarding that issue seem to have been disregarded during your collective decision making.

This present communication is a request that you adopt "Alternative 5" when you make a final decision relative to red snapper reallocation. I have reviewed the alternatives and believe that number 5 most fairly represents the interests of all concerned and recognizes, in the "in excess" distribution plan, the financial benefits derived by local business communities by increased recreational fishing activity.

Thank you for your time and effort expended in considering my opinion.

Leo A. Smith, PhD

Sincerely,

Leo Smith PhD
1927 Smugglers Cv
Saint George Island, FL 32328

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chip Smith <chipsmith@dependablegagage.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 6:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support Alternative 5.

Thank yiu.

Sincerely,

Chip Smith
147 Gulfstream Dr
Jupiter, FL 33469

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Powell <vpowell@cableone.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 5:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I understand that the Fishery Management Council is using data from 1979 to allocate red snapper between commercial and recreational fishermen. 35-year-old information? Is this the state-of-the-art?

I believe that the recreational fishermen should have a much larger percentage of the allocation than the proposed Alternate 5 specifies.

Sincerely,

William Powell
31 37th St
Gulfport, MS 39507

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Shaw <tobefitt@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 5:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support for alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please consider voting for alternative 5 to ammend the outdated and unfair current red snapper allocation. I am 71 years old and have been a recreational salt water angler in the state of Florida for most of my adult life. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Robert Shaw
5210 Boyle Ter
Port Charlotte, FL 33981

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Sturgis <bhsturg@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 5:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I don't understand why so few (commercial fishers) can take so much. Who pays the taxes etc to keep these waters viable yet can not use them to feed their families and friends. I want to take my son & daughter fishing but they can't keep a fish because a commercial yahoo has a quota. The tax payers pay more per capita than any commercial interest yet they always receive the lion shares. I don't agree with Alt 5 because the disproportionate share goes to the commercial sector but I am forced to because it is the best our lackluster politicians can put together. I wish you could do better for the little man but at least we get something. Do your job and make sure we can keep a few to bring home for our family.

Thanks

Sincerely,

Michael Sturgis
2800 8th St
Vero Beach, FL 32968

Phyllis Miranda

From: Wayne Brown <callwaynebrown@comcast.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 5:17 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Our Natural resources should be made available to all parties involved in a fair and equitable manner. The data used for your studies dates back to 1979. This is data that is 35 years old. This was a time when shrimp nets destroyed millions of juvenile red snapper. in hard bottom areas all over the gulf. We have improved and learned from our past mistakes in fisheries management. The recreational fishery for these stocks gleans far more revenue and employs vastly more people than the few commercial fisherman with the proper reef permits. DO NOT skew this allocation towards the commercial segment Thank you, Wayne Brown

Sincerely,

Wayne Brown
28361 Winthrop Cir
Bonita Springs, FL 34134

Phyllis Miranda

From: Geoff Borden <rx_hogan@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 5:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Quota

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please allow us, the recreational angler, to enjoy this plentiful game fish. It is a shame how the weekend fisherman suffers. We had 29 whole days to fish last season. How generous! Please fix this!

Sincerely,

Geoff Borden
1011 N Wright Ave
Long Beach, MS 39560

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kyle Osman <kyleosman@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 4:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of alternative 5. Listen to the recreational sector over those who are financially motivated.

Sincerely,

Kyle Osman
581 N Sonora Cir
Indialantic, FL 32903

Phyllis Miranda

From: Bobby Tyson <bobbytysonauto@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 4:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please see it clear about the recreational fisherman point of view and why alterative 5 is the right way to go. We work hard during the week and have only a short period of time to enjoy the out doors like fishing. We pay large amounts of taxes and when we get a chance to go fishing its better than seeing a shrink its spending a ton of money to go and to catch a favorite Red Snapper. The limits and the lengths of time for the season is already so short makes it tough to enjoy. Besides the commercial guys have their own reefs and we use, for the most part, oil rigs. most of us abide by the law, how about giving us a break by considering alternative 5. Thanks so much for seeing this issue updated for the good of all of us.

Sincerely,

Bobby Tyson
2701 Bienville Blvd
Ocean Springs, MS 39564

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Bruce Solana <bsolana@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 4:07 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bruce Solana
2526 Pelican Bay Dr
Panama City, FL 32408-7046
(850) 230-4784

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kash Ramsdale <kramsdale@pertree.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 3:43 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Honored Council Members

I am writing you to voice my support of alternate 5 on the Red Snapper reallocation. It is my opinion that the recreational use of the fishery is far better for the state and the fishery. Due to the fact that recreational fishermen treat the fishery with more care than the commercial fishermen due to the reduced amounts of by catch and concern for future generations rather than pure profit. The dollars spent per fish by the recreational anglers far outweigh that of the commercial angler there by benefiting local economy's.

Sincerely,

Kash Ramsdale
32123 Wolf Branch Ln
Sorrento, FL 32776

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jesse Read <flatsnut@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 3:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Mr. John Sanchez
Ms. Pam Dana
Ms. Martha Bademan
Chairman Doug Boyd
Council Member Roy Williams

CCA is supporting Alternative 5.
AND SO AM I
Jesse Read

Sincerely,

Jesse Read
180 Broadmoor Ln
Rotonda West, FL 33947

Phyllis Miranda

From: Douglas Macke <dpm726@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 3:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreation fisherman I believe that option 5 is the fairest option to all parties involved. Your vote should represent an unbiased vote for all fishermen and not those that have a special interest such as the Commercial interests

Sincerely,

Douglas Macke
2649 Bayview Dr
Fort Lauderdale, FL 33306

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ralph Humphrey, Jr <ralphhumphrey@cableone.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 3:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The Red Snapper allocation data is way past due for reexamination. Snapper stocks appear healthier then any time in the last 40 years that I have fished for them. Please do what's right for everyone, not just a select few.

Sincerely,

Ralph Humphrey Jr
4039 Brandon James Dr
Biloxi, MS 39532

Phyllis Miranda

From: scott warbritton <swarbritton@elkhartbrass.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 3:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I'm in favor of Alternate 5

Sincerely,

scott Warbritton
1012 Symphony Isles Blvd
Apollo Beach, FL 33572

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dennis Matherne <dmatherne11@att.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 3:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please take time to review Alternate 5 for the new accepted Red Snapper allocation plan. The present allocations are not correct and are based on 30 year old data.
Please make this change now.

Sincerely,

Dennis Matherne
25 Starfish Dr
Vero Beach, FL 32960

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of DAVID ROGERS JR. <drogers465@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 3:07 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. DAVID ROGERS JR.
1096 N US Highway 1
Ste 106
Ormond Beach, FL 32174-1911

Phyllis Miranda

From: Doug Foster <dfcons1@comcast.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

While on an offshore trip out of Naples 2 weeks ago, we released many red snapper in two different areas from 150 ft to 120 feet deep. Please allow more access for recreational fishermen. Thank you, Doug Foster

Sincerely,

Doug Foster
4253 Tarpon Ave
Bonita Springs, FL 34134

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mac Rusling <mac@brewhahasupply.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please adapt the Alternative 5 proposal.
Thank you for your consideration on this matter.

Sincerely,

Mac Rusling
PO Box 12416
Jackson, MS 39236

Phyllis Miranda

From: Steve Orman <scorman9929@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:35 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

This is the opportunity to fix he problem. Continuing to use 30 year old data to justify these closures is a travesty, and Amendment 5 is the way to fix it.

Please pass it.

Sincerely,

Steve Orman
11809 Wordsworth Ct
Jacksonville, FL 32223

Phyllis Miranda

From: Thomas Truman, MD <trumant@comcast.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Fishery

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a Floridian and avid recreational fisherman, I strongly encourage you to vote in favor of Alternative 5 as the preferred reallocation strategy in regards to the Florida Red Snapper Fishery. Countless Floridians and tourists enjoy this privilege to catch and keep a few Red Snapper each season, and Alternative 5 keeps this privilege intact.

Respectfully submitted,

Thomas L. Truman
Tallahassee, FL
home: 850-386-7930

Sincerely,

Thomas Truman MD
2820 Cline St
Tallahassee, FL 32308

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joe Rester <joerester@att.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: gulf fisheries

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Gentlemen;

for over 30 years I have been a sports fisherman and boat owner in the gulf of Mexico, fishing in Florida, Alabama, Mississippi & Louisiana, and hold current valid fishing licenses in all of these states.

Every time that I bottom fish for any species we always hook up on red snapper whether they are in season or not, and if they are thrown back in after being vented they are always eaten by dolphin or sharks immediately.

Such a waste of a great fish.

I propose that the entire fishing regulation be re written to allow a maximum of a certain number of fish per person regardless of species mix omitting of course all species that are no take 100% of the time. this would enhance the fishing experience for all persons and insure that the throw backs are not available to the predators. this would apply only to bottom fishing as most other fish are targeted successfully ie: tuna, wahoo, dorado and many other pelagic species. Of course this system would eliminate size constraints on bottom dwellers, but eliminate the throw backs being eaten and would count on the total take.

This is one mans opinion, however with the cost of fuel and licenses it would certainly enhance the fishing experience.

Sincerely,

Joe Rester
68221 Diamondhead Dr E
Diamondhead, MS 39525

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Rosetti, III <john@wellingtonassociates.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly ask for the support of the council to approve Alternative 5 Having been an active fishermen for mor than 30 years i have always questioned the data.

I would recommend that a current and accurate data system be implemented so that we can truly see how one sided the harvesting of red snapper truly is.

It is hard to make decisions based upon bad data. We know the data is incorrect. We know the commercial landing data is incorrect. We know the economic impact of recreation fishing versus commercial fishing is truly overwhelming in favor of the recreation fishermen but the council still continues to favor the commercial sector.

I appreciate your efforts and commitment to the marine resources and ask for your support of Alternate 5 Thanks, John Rosetti

Sincerely,

John Rosetti III
998A Highway 90
Bay Saint Louis, MS 39520

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Tenewitz <jhtenewitz@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:15 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 for the red snapper reallocation. Recreational fishing is dying in Florida because of reduced bag limits. People do not want to by a $50,000 boat and only be able to use it to catch fish a few time a year. Please do something to give a break to the recreational fishermen.

thank you

Sincerely,

John Tenewitz
41 Walker Creek Dr
Crawfordville, FL 32327

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ralph Alspach <ralph@sovrان.us>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to see the red snapper allocation updated in order to provide a longer recreational season. I, like many others, have a lot of money invested in a boat, trailer and tackle so that I may spend time with my family enjoying the great outdoors. It is frustrating to know that the commercial allocation, along with the flawed snapper assessments, have cut the season to such a short amount of time.

Sincerely,

Ralph Alspach
1840 Vineland Ln
Tallahassee, FL 32317

Phyllis Miranda

From: Wes Williams, Jr <w.williams@wiltew.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of Alternative 5,

Sincerely,

Wes Williams
627 Tuthill Ln
Mobile, AL 36608

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ladislav Baloun <ladabay@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 2:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snaper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like to see the red snapper allocation updated. A the amount in excess will go to the recreational sector and 25% to the commercial sector. That is a good thing.

Sincerely,

Ladislav Baloun
116 E Azalea Dr
Long Beach, MS 39560

Phyllis Miranda

From: Russ Thompson <rthompson17@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I go for alternative 5 please this is the better alternative.

Sincerely,

Russ Thompson
9602 Conservation Dr
New Port Richey, FL 34655

Phyllis Miranda

From: Andrew MacGill <andrew.macgill@ampf.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please add me to the group supporting Allocation 5. I believe that recreational fishermen have gotten the short end of the (fisheries) stick in recent years.

Sincerely,

Andrew MacGill
13509 Hollow Cv
Tampa, FL 33613

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kay Williams <Hkaywilliams@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Vote No to amendment 28. Why allocate any additional quota to a user group that does not support accountability. It like putting it in a black hole. They have not contributed by having a shorter season and reduced bag limits because those measures have not worked in keeping them within their ACL. The commercial Industry that feeds American citizens and provide jobs in the USA and has products produced in the USA and Sells in the USA provides economics that have never been collected to show their value chain to the USA are the ones that should be rewarded any increase in allocations. They are the ones that have rebuilt this fishery. Amendment 28 was developed to reward those that have over-harvested their ACL and want no controls placed on their activities. This is about greed not growth. Read your own reports. In 2011 there were less anglers and less trips, yet they went over their ACL. So it can't be about more fishermen. Your own report states they used 2003 data on 2012 dollars . That season was 198 days. That is why it was used. They did not do that to commercial. They even stated the information wasn't readily available . Whatever that is suppose to mean. If you have done your homework as a member that is representing me then I do not need to tell you what is wrong and how to vote. I can tell you I would vote No.

Sincerely,

Kay Williams
9905 Wire Rd
Vanceleave, MS 39565

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ron Sprinkle <ron23sprinkle@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Update our Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Our Red Snapper allocation needs to be updated to alternative #5. Your help to make this happen would be appreciated.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Ron Sprinkle

Sincerely,

Ron Sprinkle
172 Lake Mannsdale Dr
Madison, MS 39110

Phyllis Miranda

From: Randell Carroll <rcarroll1@cfl.rr.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Accept Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please accept Alternative 5 to reallocate red snapper harvesting.

Sincerely,

Randell Carroll
2082 Judith Pl
Longwood, FL 32779

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ray Campbell <campr05@comcast.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing this letter to inform you that it is about time for the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council used some up to date data in their management of Red Snapper. It is time for them to stop bowing to commercial interests. It is time for them to fairly allocate the Quota according to which is more valuable. It is obvious by the dollars spent that the recreational fisheries is much more valuable than the commercial fisheries.

It's time for the commercial allotment to be severely restricted, and the recreational allotment greatly increased.

We will be watching!

Sincerely,

Ray Campbell
5995 Venetto Way
Vero Beach, FL 32967

Phyllis Miranda

From: Billy Nobles <bigsnookbilly@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I as being a full time Charter Captain, permit holder, TV and Radio host in the Tampa Bay area think that the way the snapper are allocated is a slap in the face. Our red snapper are healthier than I have seen and in shallower as well. we need a longer season and should allow for the taking of Gag grouper to overlap with the red snapper. Gag grouper should not be closed as we have record numbers of those as well. On the other hand our snook season was reopened when every reputable captain was screaming to keep it closed for a few more years. Please go with Alternative 5 as this seems to be the only viable plan but not the best by far but it seems the only option available.

Thank you for your time

Sincerely,

Billy Nobles
716 Spanish Main Dr
Apollo Beach, FL 33572

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jim Gieges <upsidedownjag@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I ask, on behalf of myself and all fellow recreation fishermen your strong consideration of the issue on your table concerning Reallocation of Red Snapper, a lopsided law which has been in existence for all too long. I wish not to take money out of the pockets from commercial fishermen, they work hard and put in long hours. We recreational fishermen have no disagreement when it comes to making a fair living. But recreational fishermen spend vast millions of dollars annually in the fishing industry, add many more jobs than commercial fishermen to the US economy and add millions in tax dollars to federal, state and local governments. We deserve your consideration on this matter for all the right reasons and only you can do the right thing. Please give us a fair shake this go around.

Sincerely,

Jim Gieges
4728 Starboard Dr
Bradenton, FL 34208

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ron Faber <rfabercpa@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:18 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support alternative 5. Please vote for it and help your recreational anglers and the millions of dollars they spend.

Thank you -

Sincerely,

Ron Faber
1470 Minnesota Ave
Winter Park, FL 32789

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Castoro <bob@baymarina.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear Sirs and Madams

I am in the recreational fishing business!

I have attended three red snapper hearings. My personal impression from the beginning was to have data from recreational fishing. Assuming catch counts can not be fair to anyone. Some system has to be implemented and of course it would be an honor system with enforcement. At least it would be start. There are some good workable ideas out there lets take this on!

I will support # 5

Sincerely,

Bob Castoro
100 Bay Marina Dr
Bay Saint Louis, MS 39520

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robley Langlinais <cgpsramjet@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:00 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I strongly support Alt. 5 let's give the little guy a better chance at our great fishing here on the Gulf Coast of Mississippi.

Sincerely,

Robley Langlinais
7015 McCann Rd
Biloxi, MS 39532

Phyllis Miranda

From: Scott Nunn <scott@ultimatetennis.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 1:03 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please vote for Alternative 5 as the responsible solution for Gulf coast red snapper management. Once the quota has been met the bulk of the excess should go to the recreational section. The recreational sector supports so many more industries than the commercial sector. Tourism, boating, tackle and dive shops, charter services and more. Providing fishing opportunities to the public and our kids should always be treated as the highest order. The commercial industry will always be dedicated to stripping all allowable quota "as fast a possible" with the bulk of the money going into the hands of a very few businessmen. Please protect the future of our fishery by providing the recreational fisherman and chance to participate.

Sincerely,

Scott Nunn
8488 35th Ave N
Saint Petersburg, FL 33710

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eric Weimer <ericweimer@alliancebusgroup.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please help the recreational fisherman have a fair shot with the Red Snapper. I request your support for Alternative 5.

Thank you for Consideration,

Sincerely,

Eric Weimer
106 Woodburn Way
Pearl, MS 39208

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Buchli <jbuchli2004@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper fishing allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

First, I thank you for your interest and dedication in insuring all fishermen have access to a healthy and robust fishery. Option 5 seems reasonable. In the long term, we must be more knowledgeable of what is the true distribution of the fish population and what is the health of the various geographic habitats. It makes no sense to increase the population if the habitat won 't support --- conversely, we need to know when we are overfishing an area. Not easy subjects, but we can do better.

Sincerely,

James Buchli
14761 Innerarity Point Rd
Pensacola, FL 32507

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Ross <dross@firstam.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5. I don't often get the chance to fish for Red Snapper. But, when I do, I believe that my right to harvest one should exist, within sustainable and manageable limits.

This resource should not be squandered so that a relative few can make a profit, while exploiting and damaging the population, leaving a depleted resource for the remaining sector groups.

I believe that modern science and information should be considered when determining fair allocations for all sectors and that should we err, it be on the side of caution.

I am a native Floridian and have been a devoted recreational fisherman for 32 years. I practice catch and release most of the time, but I believe in the right to harvest a fish from time to time to enjoy as table fare.

I spend thousands of dollars annually on fishing and boating equipment, licenses, resorts, etc. and I vote.

Please consider the intelligent, concerned and caring voices of the recreational sector and citizens of the State of Florida, the fishing capital of world.

Sincerely,
Dave Ross

Sincerely,

David Ross
15037 Moultrie Pointe Rd
Orlando, FL 32828

Phyllis Miranda

From: Mr. & Mrs. James Albin <dannylenbodyshop@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:57 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would you to support Alternative 5.

I believe it would bring more moneys to the state of Florida,and I believe that the data gather about the Red Snapper is not correct.

As a deep sea fishing couple we can not hardly go fishing without catching red snapper.Just trying to get to the bottom to catch Sea bass more times then not we pull up a Red snapper.

The freedom to go fishing has almost been lost with all the regulation put on the receational fisherman/woman.

Sincerely,

James Albin
17605 US HIGHWAY 441
MOUNT DORA, FL 32757

Phyllis Miranda

From: Phillip Dennis <pdennis73@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

I am a recreational fisherman that enjoys taking my daughter out to fish with me when time permits. I am in support of alternative 5, because it seems fair to all parties. Also, I couldn't fathom telling my daughter that we can't fish for red snapper anymore because of old data that the government thinks is current!

Thank you,
Phillip

Sincerely,

Phillip Dennis
279 Marinero Ct
Coral Gables, FL 33143

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dave Lear <silverking@comcast.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Re-Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a former guide and avid recreational angler, I urge you to consider the importance of the red snapper re-allocation issue. The economic benefit from sport-fishing has not been fairly considered in the past and I hope you will take this opportunity to make the proper adjustments for an equitable allocation of this key resource.

I fully support Alternative 5 among your proposals as a way to rectify the current imbalance. Thank you very much for the consideration.

Sincerely,

Capt. Dave Lear
1510 Dove Rd
Tallahassee, FL 32317

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kelly MacDonald <kam84@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5. It is an exceptionally reasonable path to reallocation for Red Snapper. Set right the outdated allocation and approve Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Kelly MacDonald
4217 Centergate Ln Apt 101
Orlando, FL 32814

Phyllis Miranda

From: RANDY FULLERTON <NFAHRANDY@EMBARQMAIL.COM>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: SNAPPER ALLOCATION

Dear Chairman Boyd,

IT IS HIGH TIME CHANGES ARE MADE TO THE CURRENT ALLOCATION. ALTERNATIVE 5 IS THE BEST OF THE OPTIONS HOWEVER IN MY OPINION, THE SNAPPER BELONG TO EVERYONE JUST LIKE TERRESTRIAL GAME SUCH AS DEER, TURKEY, DUCKS, ETC. IF IT WERE UP TO ME I WOULD GRANT SNAPPER AND GROUPER GAME FISH STATUS AND STOP COMMERCIAL HARVEST.

Sincerely,

RANDY FULLERTON
662 Scotland Rd
Havana, FL 32333

Phyllis Miranda

From: Aldine Heard <aldineheard@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please do not change the allocation of red snapper. Leave it at 51% commercial, 49% recreational. The general public does not even know you are considering taking fish away from them.

Sincerely,

Aldine Heard
4118 Holley Ln
Panama City, FL 32404

Phyllis Miranda

From: Greg Craddock <gregcrad@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support this option. Please protect the fishery and the recreational angler. Better allocation toward Rec equals more dollars spent and the better and highest use of the marine resource.

Sincerely,

Greg Craddock
1363 Morvenwood Rd
Jacksonville, FL 32207

Phyllis Miranda

From: Marcel Kasten <mkasten@cannons.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Hello council memebbers,

I feel the current Red snapper allocation is out dated and doesn't make sense anymore. I am favor of increasing the catch of Red Snapper for the recreational angler that produces lots of income for the state of Florida instead of the commercial fishery that continues to rape the waters and takes away from our resource.

Sincerely,

Marcel Kasten
2516 Monterey St
Sarasota, FL 34231

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kathryn Kelly <kkelly@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please select alternate 5.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Kelly
11910 Seabreeze Cove Ln
Fort Myers, FL 33908

Phyllis Miranda

From: Harvey Nixon, Jr. <Hnixon@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation of Red Snapper Harvest

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please do every thing you can to get the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council to implement alternative 5 as the method for reallocation of the catch. This proposal is long overdue and should be passed.

Sincerely,

Harvey Nixon Jr.
762 Sharon Hills Dr
Biloxi, MS 39532

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Putnam <jimputt@cableone.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper quotas

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Experts say that habitat and recruitment are the critical determinants to snapper populations. The economic value of a snapper is greater when caught by sports fishermen. The poundage caught by sporters is woefully incorrect and overestimated.

Sincerely,

James Putnam
11204 Hidden Creek Dr
Gulfport, MS 39503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gary Beidelman <gmcbman@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Re-allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I would like my opinion to be accounted for. As an avid fisherman in the MS Gulf Coast, I support the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council Alternative 5, as a way to proceed.

Sincerely,

Gary Beidelman, GMC(Ret) US Navy
7820 Clamshell Ave
Ocean Springs, MS 39564

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chuck Carr <ccarr@cmpdd.org>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 12:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocations

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear GoM Fisheries Management Council,

I am very concerned about the current allocation of red snapper for recreational fishermen in the Gulf. I feel strongly that the 6 week/2 fish season is unreasonable and cost prohibitive in terms of justifying an expensive offshore trip for red snapper. Frankly I cannot find fishing partners willing to share gas expenses with such low catch regulations and I cannot afford but a few such trips alone with my family. Also, the short 6 week season combined with adverse weather considerations the majority of the allowable weekends results in only 2-3 fishable weekends for small boats during the season. Please, please change regulations to relax the limits and extent the seasons so that my friends and I can enjoy this fishery more often and thereby provide needed economic benefits to area business.

Sincerely,

Chuck Carr
229 Williams Cir
Jackson, MS 39232

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kellie Crowder, Pharm.D. <klcrowder@cableone.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:55 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a health care professional, I have very little free time for anything outside of working. But one of my favorite things ever is to go deep sea fishing. Sure, there are other fish in the sea, but red snapper is a favorite of my household. The time and expense of going deep sea fishing is too great for only 2 fish. And to base the current limitations on data from 1979 is absurd. Please do what you can to help us, non commercial fisherman (and women) have a voice on this very important issue.

Thank you for your time.
Kellie Crowder, Pharm.D.

Sincerely,

Kellie Crowder Pharm.D.
7520 Fountainbleau Rd
Ocean Springs, MS 39564

Phyllis Miranda

From: John Zimmerman <johnz@gulfcoastpwr.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:57 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper re-allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in support of updating the extremely out dated allocations. In particular I am in favor of Alternative 5 for the reallocation. Please show your support and vote for Alternative 5.

Best regards,

John Zimmerman

Sincerely,

John Zimmerman
102 Helen Dr
Bay Saint Louis, MS 39520

Phyllis Miranda

From: Terry Saucier <tsaucier@cablone.net>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5

Sincerely,

Terry Saucier
1020 Pascagoula St
Pascagoula, MS 39567

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Walters <medicwalters@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:36 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As a recreational salt water fisherman, I am in support of alternative 5 regarding Red Snapper allocation. I would like to ask for your support in this issue.

Sincerely,

James Walters
105 Ada D Dr
Ovett, MS 39464

Phyllis Miranda

From: larry russum <jlr72153@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:37 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

i support reallocation

Sincerely,

larry russum
122 Forrest Hill Dr
Hattiesburg, MS 39402

Phyllis Miranda

From: Tim Lawrence <tim.lawrence@mssb.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:34 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am in favor of Alternative 5 allowing for 75% of the catch to go to recreational fishermen after the quota has reached 9.12 million pounds.

Thank you for your objectivity in my request. I don't envy your position.

Tim Lawrence
Flowood

Sincerely,

Tim Lawrence
804 Woodland Pne
Flowood, MS 39232

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ben Curry, Jr. <curryb@nctv.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:14 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Rec. fishing

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Just do the right thing. Do what's morally right not what is politically correct. It amazes me that this dialogue even exist. Recreational fisherman need a fair share of the pie. We pay taxes too. The fish belong to alabama citizens.

Don't make things difficult. Make a decision and make a fair desision. The rest will take care of itself. Then the meetings and hearings will stop. No anxiety for anyone and only good will come to those who fish.

Don't make a decision based on who attends the meetings.

Thanks
Ben Curry

Sincerely,

Ben P. Curry, Jr.
660 Spring St
Carrollton, AL 35447

Phyllis Miranda

From: Thomas Duncan <Duncantj43@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 11:13 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

The current allocation for red snapper is outdated.

Please approve Alternative 5 to update it.

Sincerely,

Thomas Duncan
37 Village Main St
Spanish Fort, AL 36527

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dave Ryals <davis.ryals.jr@gmasail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:52 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Limiting the catch to 2 legal fish per day, per person with the short season simply makes it cost prohibitive to enjoy one of the gulf's most popular activities. However long the season is, there are always numerous days unacceptable for recreational fishing so (like last year) the actual season is much shorter. With Alabama's abundance of artificial reefs there are so many snapper from from bottom to directly under the boat that it's sometimes hard to catch anything but snapper. What is not legal and thrown back many times gets eaten by dolphins/porpoises. Spending $250 a person to catch 2 fish in 5 minutes is not worth it to me.

Sincerely,

Dave Ryals
713 Tannahill Dr SE
Huntsville, AL 35802

Phyllis Miranda

From: Zachary Wolf <zachary.d.wolf@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:51 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Call to approve Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

As I was unable to attend the recent public hearing in Mobile, AL due to my work obligations as a CPA, I wanted to send this message to voice my support for the reallocation of red snapper through Alternative 5. I urge you to vote "yes" and pass Amendment 28 and the Alternative 5 allocation. The current allocation is based on 30-year old data and is not meaningful to the management of the fishery. I firmly believe and agree with all supporters of Alternative 5 that an updated allocation will not take anything away from the commercial sector, but will prove more meaningful to the management of the fishery and actually result in a more positive economic impact through increased recreational fishing than can be achieved through the current allocation. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Zachary D Wolf
8 Audubon Pl
Mobile, AL 36606

Phyllis Miranda

From: Shane ONeal <poolboy074@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:51 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Make the playing field even between the rec and commercial fisheries.

Sincerely,

Shane ONeal
453 Dune Dr Apt 203
Gulf Shores, AL 36542

Phyllis Miranda

From: Chris Russell <fcrussell92@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:38 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

As a recreational fishermen, I am completely discouraged by the quota system that unfairly provides the commercial fishing industry more annual Red Snapper poundage allocations as compared to recreational fishermen. I respectfully request that you support Amendment 28. Supporting Amendment 28 will support the vital local economies. As a resident of Wakulla County, Florida, I can attest the the economic benefits that recreational fishing provides our small County. Your consideration in this matter is greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

Chris Russell

Chris Russell
92 Pimlico Drive
Crawfordville, FL 32327

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jill Carraway <jcarraway@gradywhite.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:35 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Jill Carraway
5121 Martin Luther King Jr Hwy
Greenville, NC 27834-8613

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Hoffman, MD <mhoffmanmd@aol.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 10:22 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Allocatiion of red snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I wnat to support and would requestmthatmyou choose option 5 in the allocation of red snapper catch.
Hoffman, MD

Mike

Sincerely,

A recreational fisherman in the Gulf of Mexic
16710 Danne Rd Apt Rdrd
Fairhope, AL 36532

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Bill Miller <bmillier@eagleclaw.com>
Sent: Friday, March 14, 2014 5:34 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 14, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bill Miller
4245 E 46th Ave
Denver, CO 80216-3219
(720) 941-8713

Phyllis Miranda

From: johnny curry <jcurryii@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 11:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I wholeheartedly supporting Alternative 5!

For far too long commercial fishermen have gotten their way on all fishing fronts, with little regard for us the sports fishermen.

Sincerely,

JOHNNY CURRY
4467 Apple Grove Rd
Somerville, AL 35670

Phyllis Miranda

From: Sidney Cox <sscox@comcast.net>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 11:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28) and request the Governor and Gulf Council Members to oppose it.

Sidney Cox
8404 Woodbriar Dr.
Sarasota, FL 34238

Phyllis Miranda

From: Duncan Smith <DS49@mac.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 9:21 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: selection alternate 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support alternative 5 for reallocation.

Sincerely,

Duncan Smith
25293 Perdido Beach Blvd Apt 15
Orange Beach, AL 36561

Phyllis Miranda

From: THARB333@aol.com
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 8:22 PM
To: Charlene Ponce; Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28 Alternative 6

The recreational sector is far larger than the commercial sector. As such, the 51/49 % allocation is way off to begin with.

the current 51/49 allocation does not allow the recreational red snapper fishery to expand and draw new participants into the fishery which is essential for a healthy and vibrant recreational fishing industry.

since the IFQ holders have exclusive ownership of the commercial component of the resource, they actually need fewer fish to make the same amount of money. With a capped number of participants in the commercial fishery already providing enough red snapper to meet demand by American consumers, the biggest demand for red snapper access today is from the recreational sector where allowable fishing days have been reduced by upwards of 70% since 2006. RFA fully supports the Gulf Council moving forward with an allocation scheme that provides 100% of any red snapper quota above 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The recreational sector should be given equal opportunity to enjoy the benefits of a rebuilt fish stock

The recreational segment fully supports our RFA in supporting Amendment 28, Alternative 6 which sets a 9.12 million pound baseline with 100 % of the allowable harvest above the baseline going to the recreational sector.

The 51/49% ratio is economically crippling the state of Florida. The potential economic impact of a real red snapper recreational season on the state's economy, a state that depends on tourism, is not being realized. The vast majority, the recreational fisherman, spends hundreds of dollars more per fish than the very few IFQ holders. Yet, with a 51% allocation, a small commercial segment is given more opportunity to catch more fish and add far less to the state's economy.

Bob Harbison A concerned native Florida recreational fisherman

Phyllis Miranda

From: James Link <bamalinks22@aol.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 7:58 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please keep the recreational red snapper allocation as it is.

Sincerely,

James Link
2414 Preston Ridge Dr SE
Brownsboro, AL 35741

Phyllis Miranda

From: David Piche <davidpiche2@msn.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 7:44 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Sir,

It's way past time that recreational fishermen had a fair shake. See to it !

David J. Piche
CCA Member 1360838

Sincerely,

David Piche
292 Travellers Ct
Satsuma, AL 36572

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stephen Kirkpatrick <skirkpatrick@dese.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 6:05 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Please increase the share of red snapper resource allocated to recreational fisherman

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Historically meat hunting was outlawed to preserve the resources (waterfowl, deer, etc) when the number of animals harvested exceeded the lands capacity to sustain market hunting. I believe the same thought process applies here. The resource should be managed for the recreational fisherman just like wild game resources are managed.

Sincerely,

Stephen Kirkpatrick
1546 Riverfront Rd
Rogersville, AL 35652

Phyllis Miranda

From: ryan reaux <reauxconst@aol.com>
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 4:36 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Last Chance to Reallocate Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Last Chance to Reallocate Red Snapper

Sincerely,

ryan reaux
105 Balmoral Ct
Lafayette, LA 70503

Phyllis Miranda

From: Darryl Frank <dfrank93@cox.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:40 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing to express my support for Alternative 5 in the reallocation of the red snapper harvest. Please support this reasonable, responsible alternative when casting your vote. Thank you for your service and consideration.

Sincerely,

Darryl Frank
649 Phosphor Ave
Metairie, LA 70005

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael Bergeron, II <mlbergeron2@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 18, 2014 9:44 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a recreational Red Snapper fisherman and I am in favor of alternative 5.

Sincerely,

Michael Bergeron II
9113 Ormond Pl
New Orleans, LA 70123

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Outlaw <outlaw@chinadollrice.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 5:34 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Pick alternate 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am for alternate 5 as the best allocation for snapper fishing. It is time we stopped using outdated allocations. Thank you.

Sincerely,

A. Robert Outlaw, Jr.
18463 Scenic Highway 98
Fairhope, AL 36532

Phyllis Miranda

From: Samuel Bowen, II <bbowen@bnspsc.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 5:28 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I have lived and fished in the northern Gulf for years and have never seen so many Snapper. The current 40 day season is way too short, for those of us who work other jobs during the week. We need a longer season, or even make half the season only weekends so we can fish all summer break when kids are out of school. There are so many red snapper we can't catch grouper or trigger or other reef fish and it is not even worth trying when the red snapper season is out. Some one with some common sense can improve this for all I hope.

Sam Bowen

Sincerely,

Samuel Bowen II
4224 Caldwell Mill Rd
Birmingham, AL 35243

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ted Poston <poston@southalabama.edu>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 5:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper allocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Dear council members,

I write to urge you to reevaluate the Red Snapper allocation for the gulf coast. As every saltwater angler knows there is an over abundance of red snapper. One cannot reliably catch other species of fish because of the red snapper population. Please approve Alternative 5 as a new allocation.

Best,
Dr. Ted Poston
University of South Alabama

Sincerely,

Ted Poston
5991 USA DR N
MOBILE, AL 36688

Phyllis Miranda

From: Russell Cunningham, IV <russell@cunninghamfirmllc.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 5:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reallocation

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I support Alternative 5 as a reasonable compromise between recreational and commercial interests in the reallocation of the snapper catch. The 51%/49% allocation was arrived at in the early/mid 1980s based on 3 or so years of catch data at that time. The allocation has not been updated at all since then. Recreational snapper fishing is a HUGE economic engine on the Gulf Mexico--even though the season is so brief. Economic data is clear that there should be a reallocation to the recreational side due to the huge economic benefit generated. Accordingly, the Gulf Council should adopt Alternative 5. The idea that this reallocation will jeopardize the amount of healthy protein available to US citizens is ridiculous. Gulf Red Snapper is a luxury food that costs over $20/lb.

Sincerely,

Russell Cunningham IV
3411 Windsor Blvd
Birmingham, AL 35209

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Kent Grose <grose_w_kent@lilly.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 5:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Review of Amendment 28 to explore options for reallocating Gulf of Mexico red snapper among commercial and recreational fishermen.

To Whom It May Concern,

Specific to Amendment 28, I support Alternative 6 which would set a 9.12-million-pound baseline with 100 percent of the allowable harvest above the baseline going to the recreational sector. I believe this alternative will prevent the recreational red snapper season from decreasing as the stock rebuilds, thereby giving the recreational sector more access to the red snapper resource while providing improved socioeconomic output throughout the Gulf region.

Thank You,

Kent Grose
Recreational Fisherman

Phyllis Miranda

From: William Cable <vcable@yourtpa.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 4:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28, Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

Please support our local fishing communities and the recreational sector by voting in favor of Alternative 5.

Sincerely,

William V Cable
2336 Altadena Crest Dr
Birmingham, AL 35242

Phyllis Miranda

From: Robert Singleton <bob.singleton@walterenergy.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 4:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: I support Alternative 5

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am a recreational angler and I support Amendment 28's Alternative 5. Red snapper regulations have restricted fishing to the point where I am seriously considering selling my boat. Snapper season in recent years have been so short that it is not worth keeping a boat. Selling my boat will save me money at the expense of tackle and bait dealers, fuel sales, marina charges and all services that support the recreational fishing industry.

Sincerely,

Robert F. Singleton, Tuscaloosa, AL
3080 Yorktown Dr
Tuscaloosa, AL 35406

Phyllis Miranda

From: Scott Smallwood <scott@eddleman.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 4:48 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Dear Chairman Boyd,

I am writing in support of Alternate five in regards to the Red Snapper quota. Recreational fisherman need to have some relief to the restrictions on this hugely abundant fishery.

Sincerely,

Scott Smallwood
2848 Canterbury Rd
Birmingham, AL 35223

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of carl liederman <carl@captharry.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 4:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. carl liederman
8501 NW 7th Ave
Miami, FL 33150-2503
(305) 374-4661

Phyllis Miranda

From: Gurney King <gking@gurneyking.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 2:54 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I oppose reallocation because it will not solve the problems in the recreational fishery, it will result in further overharvesting by the recreational sector, and it will cause instability in the commercial sector.

I support the Status Quo alternative in Amendment 28.

The Council needs to work with recreational fishermen to give them real solutions to promote stability in their fishery.

The Council needs to follow the law and protect the red snapper resource for all users and future generations.

Gurney King
10007 Eagles View
Spring Branch, TX 78070

Phyllis Miranda

From: Tony Marra <tonytke@yahoo.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.
Please say "No" to the Gulf of Mexico Amendment 28.
Thank You.

Tony Marra
42 Terrapin Trail
Crawfordville, FL 32327

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Kenny Redin <kredin14@yahoo.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 1:02 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kenny Redin
2320gracyfarmslane
Austin, TX 78758

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Bruce Kuechmann <bkuechmann@aol.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 11:31 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bruce Kuechmann
27194 San Marco Dr
Punta Gorda, FL 33983-8745
(941) 380-3648

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Kris Goodman <goodmank11@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 10:48 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kris Goodman
109 Audubon Dr
Havana, FL 32333-3813

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Mark Crow <mvjrcrow@yahoo.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 9:18 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

thank you for considering this amendment 28....

as a recreational fisherman, we would like to see more available catch for the recreational sidewhich will serve more of your constituents.

i'm sure commercial folks will have alot of money backing their sides, but its also very important for kids and families to enjoy catching red snappers....its a great way to ensure they love the outdoors too.

and there has got to be a huge economic benefit to the local economy in the coastal areas where folks go off shore reef fishing....motels, restaurants, gas, convenience stores, tackle stores and more i'm sure.

dont let those big companies over rule the folks that keep this country alive and well....the recreational folks....

thanks a bunch

mark crow

1664 nw lower spgs rd

lake city, fl 32055

Sincerely,

Mr. Mark Crow

1664 NW Lower Springs Rd

Lake City, FL 32055-7079

(386) 755-0084

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Hansel Mabile
<hansel.mabile@placidrefining.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 7:18 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Hansel Mabile
308 Bayou Dr
Pierre Part, LA 70339-4604
(985) 513-8348

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of George Ballard <captgeo5555@aol.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 13, 2014 6:48 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 13, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. George Ballard
1422 E Hatton St
Pensacola, FL 32503-4651
(850) 346-8346

Phyllis Miranda

From: Carol & Jeff Tandler <ten3180@fairpoint.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 11:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: amendment 28

I vote YES for Alternative 6, Amendment 28

Jeff Tandler
Mexico Beach, FL 32456

Phyllis Miranda

From: sylvia r <lrpm22@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 11:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

sylvia r
5500 nw 69th ave
lauderhill, FL 33319

Phyllis Miranda

From: Carol & Jeff Tandler <ten3180@fairpoint.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 11:23 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Amendment 28

I vote YES for Amendment 28.

Jeff Tandler
Mexico Beach, FL 32456

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Laura Parker <acr4057@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 11:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Laura Parker
1402viscaya drive
Port charlotte, FL 33952
(941) 626-0840

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Judson A. Conley <judson2023@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Judson A. Conley
2023 Greenway Dr
Sebring, FL 33870-4716
(863) 471-3041

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Edward Haller <edwardhaller@netscape.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edward Haller
6241 Maisie Rd
Zephyrhills, FL 33542-3288
(813) 715-9096

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Carla Atkinson <carlaatkinson@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Carla Atkinson
100 celeste Court
Palm Coast, FL 32137-1420
(386) 254-4045

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Carl Grunwald <hooke2@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Carl Grunwald
4104 Belle Rd
Lake Worth, FL 33461-2705
(561) 968-3236

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of David Carroll <dadspool@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 6:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Carroll
430 Belle Point Dr
St Pete Beach, FL 33706-2619
(727) 422-8127

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Steve Patterson <stevep@shreve.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 4:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Steve Patterson
4099 Fern Ave
Shreveport, LA 71105-2007
(318) 868-4373

Phyllis Miranda

From: tom adams <4tomadams@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 3:33 PM
To: 'Pam Dana'; Gulf Council
Subject: allocation

Due to a surgery yesterday I will not make the meeting in Panama city tonight But we--55,000 members of the Recreational Fishing Alliance and myself as a Fl. citizen and business owner believe that the only FAIR alternative offered is alternative 6. The commercial fishermen were gifted a much larger allocation in the beginning and have reaped the benefits. for several years now. The recreational fishermen and the general public have put out millions upon millions of dollars worth of reefs and have cut down our seasons from 6 months a year to (generally speaking) one month. We are the ones that have rebuilt the Red Snapper fishery and it is past time for the recreational sector to reap the benefits. Capt Tom Adams Mexico Beach Charters RFA Chairman

Thanks,

Capt. Tom Adams- Mexico Beach Charters
Recreational Fishing Alliance- Chairman- Forgotten Coast Chapter
311 Nutmeg St, Port St Joe, Fl 32456
850 -381-1313 www.mexicobeachcharters.com or .net

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Burt Moritz <burtmoritz@earthlink.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 3:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Burt Moritz
802 Lake Rd
Lake Jackson, TX 77566-4921
(979) 415-4875

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Sandy MCMullen <cubsrcubs@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 2:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Sandy MCMullen
2737hempstead dr
Lakeland, FL 33801
(863) 665-0138

Phyllis Miranda

From: Clyde Daughtry <811wcd@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 2:32 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

I oppose Amendment 28. There are other methods that can help all parties. Rather than open the season for 40 days straight, open it on the weekends - Fri, Sat., Sun for 13 weeks which should give more fishing time for those that work. I believe that is one of the complaints - not enough fishing time. Make a slot limit. Sports fishermen tend to keep throwing back the smaller fish in an effort to catch the bigger one - that leads to higher fish mortality. If the slot limit were 16-20 inches, there would be no need to continue fishing for the "big" one. The large breeders do not need to be kept anyway in order to assure future fish stock. That would also negate the need to increase quota since they would be keeping smaller fish. Based on "dock" talk, these would be preferable choices. Most sport and commercial fishermen I've talked with agree that Amendment 28 as it is would not help the situation.

Clyde Daughtry
43 Christy Lane
Sopchoppy, FL 32358

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Andre LeBlanc <andrecleblanc@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 2:13 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Andre LeBlanc

Sincerely,

Mr. Andre LeBlanc
143 Willow Bnd
Youngsville, LA 70592-5160

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of John Owen <owenjoh@auburn.edu>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 1:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

I enjoy fishing in both fresh & saltwater. I live some 4 hours from the Gulf of Mexico and make an average of 6 trips a year to fish in the Gulf. I have fished for Snapper in Gulf waters since the early 1960's. Red Snapper appear to be far more abundant & larger than in the 60's, 70's, & 80's.

The current 2 fish limit on Red Snapper, the very short seasons, & cost of each day's fishing plus overnight stay(s), meals, fuel etc make these 2 fish extremely expensive.

For some time now, I have been putting parties together to share costs of the Snapper trips. With a 2 fish limit, it is getting difficult to find recreational fishermen who can & are willing to pay these costs for a 2 fish daily limit. The cost of 2 Snapper is prohibitive.

The irony of this is that we catch an abundance of nice sized Snapper, quickly filling limits, & frequently leave sites because all we can catch are 6 to 20 lb Snapper.

I believe the recreational fisherman puts more money into the local coastal economy on these trips than commercial fishermen making large catches that are sold commercially.

Red Snapper have been the bread & butter of the Gulf charter fleet for years. This limited quota & short seasons are financially damaging to the Charter Fishing Industry

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Owen
275 Loblolly Ln
Alexander City, AL 35010-5825
(256) 215-4134

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of William Blocker <sales@eaglefountains.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 12:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Blocker
8 Winchester Rd
Ormond Beach, FL 32174-2526
(386) 437-5915

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Julius Mabile <juliusm@performance-br.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 12:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Julius Mabile
4200 Highway 70 S
Pierre Part, LA 70339-4466

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Michael Seifert <seifsocci@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 10:10 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Seifert
7426 Mint Julep Dr
Riverview, FL 33578-8839
(813) 741-1484

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lee Hutton <leejameshutton@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:50 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I hope you will oppose reallocation of stocks away from Commercial Fisherman.

Lee Hutton
197 Irwin St. W.
Safety Harbor, FL 34695

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of David Deprospero <daviddeprospero@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:40 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Deprospero
55 Dixie Dr
Crawfordville, FL 32327-1314
(850) 559-8000

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Randall King <rking7@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:10 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Randall King
225 Sotir St NW
Fort Walton Beach, FL 32548-4263
(850) 862-7833

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Anthony Kaylor <anthonykaylor@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 9:10 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Anthony Kaylor
2016 Allyson Dr
Heartland, TX 75126-8295
(214) 422-2891

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Thomas Dammrich <tdammrich@nmma.org>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 8:40 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Dammrich
7915 Lorel Ave
Skokie, IL 60077-2720
(312) 946-6220

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Ralph Bales <iamfishing@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 8:10 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ralph Bales
113 Summer Breeze Rd
Panama City Beach, FL 32413-2086

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Roland Campbell <rolnglenda@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 8:10 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Roland Campbell
706 Anchor Dr
Sanibel, FL 33957-4904

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Joseph Gauta <joegauta@comcast.net>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 7:10 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Joseph Gauta
5822 Spanish Oaks Ln
Naples, FL 34119-1154
(239) 269-0502

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Ronald Melanson <racm30@hotmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 3:39 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ronald Melanson
1251 SE 27th St Unit 101
Homestead, FL 33035-2315
(786) 339-8961

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Charles Grana <charlieg50@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 2:09 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 12, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Charles Grana
3704 Hyde Park Dr
Fort Myers, FL 33905-7756

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Gerald Burleigh <geraldbur@aol.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 12, 2014 12:39 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Gerald Burleigh
7167 Tulane Rd
Orange, TX 77630-8357
(409) 988-4540

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of James Arias <retiredltarias@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:39 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Arias
3120 N Buckhorn Dr
Beverly Hills, FL 34465-4619
(352) 270-8225

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of greg duplessis <gpd cane@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. greg duplessis
2700 Bahama Dr
Miramar, FL 33023-4742

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Arthur Fokakis <allergy4@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Arthur Fokakis
120 Wildwood Trce
Hattiesburg, MS 39402-2350

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Richard Jones <jonesrw3@cox.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

I don't think there is any doubt that recreational fisherman pump FAR more money into the local economies than commercial.

A commercial fisherman buys some diesel and maybe some boat maintenance.

Rec fisherman buy gas, tackle, bait, hire charters, stay in hotels, eat out, shop, etc. Just look at the Port St Joe area when scallop season is open. You can't touch a hotel room in the area.

If we had a year round red snapper season, and a gulf full of snapper, we would not need any tourist development counsel. Our area would be packed with tourists ALL YEAR LONG.

I implore you to do what is best for the largest sector. Give the rec fisherman their fair share of the snapper. My recommendation would be 80% rec and 20% commercial.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Jones
1801 Valparaiso Blvd
Niceville, FL 32578-2952
(850) 678-6463

Phyllis Miranda

From: Brian Lewis <blewis131@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 8:49 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

My name is Brian Lewis, I am a member of the gulf fisherman's association and I fish for America.

I would like to address re-allocation

It just doesn't make any sense to me why we are trying to create an amendment to reallocate any fish to the recreational sector as they continue to go over their quotas.

4 out of 5 of the last years this has occurred.

The recreational fishery can go target other fish, but for the commercial sector that is not as easy.

Let's not forget the commercial sector lost red fish and so did the American consumer.

When economist analyze data from the commercial fishing sector they are using accurate records to validate how many fish were caught, what they are worth at the dock and throughout the chain of distribution.

The trip tickets and other federal reports are not manipulated.

These records accurately describe the transactions of the harvesting and first receiver sectors of the seafood industry.

Conversely, there are not adequate catch records for recreational anglers.

We believe the only way to manage and enforce the red snapper fishery in the recreational sector is to make accountability and enforcement equitable amongst the sectors.

The American consumers deserve equitable access to sustainably harvested seafood.

American consumers of domestically produced seafood have not been adequately considered by the GMFMC as is required by the MSA.

The MSA requires all Americans are to be evaluated in the consideration to assess the "benefit to the nation" our fisheries have on this country.

The GMFMC and NMFS has a fiduciary duty to uphold the MSA and all of its provisions

In closing please do not take away allocations from the commercial sector just to give a couple extra days of fishing to a sector that continues to overfish their quota, when the commercial sector continues to stay under their quota .

Thank you for listening and I look forward to positive changes in the management of our fish stocks.

Brian Lewis
102 south nimbus ave
Clearwater, FL 33765

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Sandra Kline <sklinej@cox.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 8:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Sandra Kline
817 Blvd of The Champions
Shalimar, FL 32579-2154
(850) 651-5020

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Doug Foster <dfcons1@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 8:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Doug Foster
4253 Tarpon Ave
Bonita Springs, FL 34134-4026
(239) 947-1508

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jonathan Kline <jklines@cox.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 8:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jonathan Kline
817 Blvd of The Champions
Shalimar, FL 32579-2154
(850) 651-5020

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Douglas Drennan II <douglas@beadfilters.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 8:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

I am unable to attend the March 13th Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council meeting in Kenner, LA due to a prior out of town commitment so I would like to submit my comments here electronically.

As I testified at the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council meeting in New Orleans, LA on October 30, 2013 I believe that the current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Douglas Drennan II
1817 Calhoun St
New Orleans, LA 70118-6201
(504) 837-5575

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jerome Ince <sales@meatandpotatoes.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 7:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jerome Ince
1306 Palm Ridge Ct
Canton, GA 30115-9374

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of JC Williams <thejcwilliams@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 7:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. JC Williams
37669 Pine St
Hilliard, FL 32046-6801

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of James Bonnette <scubapsd@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 7:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. James Bonnette
6931 Alvin York Ln
Shreveport, LA 71107-9684
(318) 455-7939

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Joe Alexander <jalex7557@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 7:08 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joe Alexander
7318 S Lagoon Dr
Panama City Beach, FL 32408-5402
(850) 890-4968

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Denny Evans <dennyev@cox.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 6:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Denny Evans
800 E Lake Dr
Shalimar, FL 32579-2249
(850) 651-5653

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Tom Berg <thomas.berg@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 6:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Tom Berg
2142 Nondorf St
Dyer, IN 46311-1829

Phyllis Miranda

From: Stella Collins <stelfla@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 6:26 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please oppose Amend 28!

Thank you,
Stella Collins

Stella Collins
3030 Tanglewood Dr
Clearwater, FL 33761

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of DealyDealy
Blackshear <dealyblackshearsocialworker@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 5:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The last four paragraphs are copied from a pro fishing organization.

My personal opinion is that limiting sportsmen and allowing commercial fishing equal take is outrageous. This was not appropriate when it was enacted, and is still not. Sportsmen do not take as much (fish) as commercial fishers, and should not be grouped with them. Make changes.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. DealyDealy Blackshear
PO Box 307
Big Spring, TX 79721-0307
(432) 270-4877

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Bradford Daignault <brad.brick@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 5:38 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Bradford Daignault
10369 Lightner Bridge Dr
Tampa, FL 33626-1810
(813) 777-2126

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Lee Mayer <schnickleemayer@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 5:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lee Mayer
16972 Laramie Ave
Oak Forest, IL 60452-4430
(708) 465-8688

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Walter Kuna <wastewater11@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 5:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Walter Kuna
3375 NW 47th Ave
Ocala, FL 34482-8327
(352) 732-8674

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Rebecca Azuara <beccaazuara@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 5:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Rebecca Azuara
6011 Dryad Dr
Houston, TX 77035-4129
(281) 772-8597

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Walter Kuna <wastewater11@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 5:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Walter Kuna
3375 NW 47th Ave
Ocala, FL 34482-8327
(352) 732-8674

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Rebecca Bilokurtobias <beckybt1231@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 4:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Rebecca Bilokurtobias
19221 Ventana Ct
Pflugerville, TX 78660-5023
(512) 704-6517

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Roger Devivo <rdevivo@cfl.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 4:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Roger Devivo
2594 Marietta St NE
Palm Bay, FL 32905-4713
(321) 725-1125

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of I vote yes to Alternative 5 Beach <nbeach@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 4:12 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. I vote yes to Alternative 5 Beach
6296 Old Water Oak Rd
Tallahassee, FL 32312-3861
(850) 906-0169

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Joshua Matthews <joshnsam4ever@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 3:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joshua Matthews
180 Lofton Rd
Pollock, LA 71467-4446
(318) 623-6033

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Donald Harrison <don.harrison@dnr.state.ga.us>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 3:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Donald Harrison
PO Box 2089
Waycross, GA 31502-2089

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of charles Barrontine <marysb08@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 3:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Charles Barrontine
2534 Ashburn Ln
Foley, AL 36535-1137
(256) 638-5916

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Melvin Crissey <crisseym@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Melvin Crissey
16331 Old Stable Rd
San Antonio, TX 78247-4416
(210) 496-5647

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Drew Scatizzi <andrewscatizzi@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Drew Scatizzi
320 SE 3rd St
Apt C8
Gainesville, FL 32601-6595
(321) 474-0470

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Thomas Walker <seareach@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Walker
481 W Tarpon Blvd NW
Port Charlotte, FL 33952-7839

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Tim Moen <inquireherenow@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

I am a family of 4 who all fish. We have relatives and friends that come in from all over the country and world to fish during the short snapper season. They and we spend a considerable amount of money on the sport. Having such a short season I believe causes people to try to acquire more fish than they would if the season was longer or open all year. Call it the grab all you can before it is over thinking. Charter vessels and bait/tackle shops would not have to make their money in six weeks. A one fish per person year round would be a better alternative in my opinion. Everyone has known that the sport fishing industry generates much more revenue per fish than the commercial industry. Commercial fishing is not a right and the citizens should take priority over a small group of fishermen who consider it their birth right.

Regards,

Timothy Moen & friends
3172 Runnymede Road
Pensacola, FL 32504

Sincerely,

Mr. Tim Moen
3172 Runnymede Rd
Pensacola, FL 32504-8320
(850) 341-9732

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Lee Roberts <reeledinsite@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lee Roberts
2724 Temple St
Sarasota, FL 34239-2632

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of mike kurtz <mike.mkurtz@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. mike kurtz
14059 SW 142nd St
Miami, FL 33186-5563
(305) 235-0270

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of ERICK WAKEFIELD <onesurge6@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. ERICK WAKEFIELD
PO Box 22894
West Palm Beach, FL 33416-2894
(561) 656-5205

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of David Pfeiffer <dpfeiffer@shimano.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Pfeiffer
One Holland
33892 Calle Conejo SJC, CA
Irvine, CA 92618
(949) 470-4240

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Barbara Petz <seadove45@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 2:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Barbara Petz
6007 Beneva Rd
Sarasota, FL 34238-2506
(941) 927-3251

Phyllis Miranda

From: Howard Skinner <mhlakeside@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 1:45 PM
To: Gulf Council
Cc: mhlakeside@bellsouth.net; 'KeepAmericaFishing'
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Dear Gulf Council Members,

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Howard
Skinner

254 County Road
319

Crane Hill AL
35053

(256) 747-
1549

mhlakeside@bellsouth.net

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of james smyly <jsmyly@prystup.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 1:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. james smyly
405 south magnolia street
myrtlewood, AL 36763
(334) 295-5394

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Stephen Hogan <stephen.hogan@eglin.af.mil>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 1:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Stephen Hogan
6563 Redfield St
Navarre, FL 32566-8262
(850) 936-7194

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Roger Johnson <redfish7@verizon.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 1:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Roger Johnson
5026 Magnolia Ln
Old River Winfree, TX 77535-1686
(281) 576-6764

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Tracy Deen <tracy.c.deen@jci.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 1:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Tracy Deen
10230 Beam St
Jacksonville, FL 32218-5004
(904) 924-1450

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jimmie Nolen <jnolen1421@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 1:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jimmie Nolen
6117 Bougainville Cir
Pensacola, FL 32504-7401
(850) 293-7487

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Celeste Thurne <quantok9@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

It isn't fair that some people can take ridiculous amounts of fish in one day just because they have a permit to sell fish commercially.

Commercial fisherman do more damage to fishing and do not boost the economy like recreational fisherman. Please help out recreational fisherman.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Celeste Thurne
2645 Parrish Cemetery Rd
Jacksonville, FL 32221-2050

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Brian Gaffigan <briangaffigan@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Brian Gaffigan
17219 Fir Rd
Alvin, TX 77511-8401
(713) 470-8466

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Allan Meeks <ameeks7293@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Allan Meeks
217 Mitchell Dr
Quincy, FL 32352-0980
(850) 627-2356

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Kenneth Steeg <ken@ksteeg.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kenneth Steeg
7100 Ulmerton Rd Lot 436
Largo, FL 33771-5148
(727) 535-4063

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of perry matherne <strikeking44@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. perry matherne
186east116street
galliano, LA 70354
(985) 258-1732

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Nicholas Morettin <mack730@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:41 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation. AND REVERSE RULE TO ALLOW CHARTER CAPTAINS TO KEEP CUSTOMERS CATCH - BAD RULE CHANGE!

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Nicholas Morettin
17311 SW 7th St
Pembroke Pines, FL 33029-4205
(716) 445-2304

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Hector Santana <tropicalbodyshop@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Hector Santana
1850 Carambola Rd
West Palm Beach, FL 33406-5200
(561) 966-0751

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Charles Jackson <iwasanengineer@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Charles Jackson
3851 Stirling Rd
Fort Lauderdale, FL 33312-6216
(954) 894-7896

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Barry Vaughn <bdv@pandv.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Barry Vaughn
101 Maple Dr
Sylacauga, AL 35150-3603
(256) 245-6776

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of John Kimball <jhkimball_1@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates. In reality most recreational anglers have not fished as much as prior years due to the economy and the high price of fuel.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Kimball
16614 NW 40th Pl
Newberry, FL 32669-2000
(352) 472-4293

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of chad chapman <cchapman@brownwatermarine.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. chad chapman
434 Olympic Dr
Rockport, TX 78382-6834

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Lawrence Rossi <larossi@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lawrence Rossi
1812 Oak Forest Dr W
Clearwater, FL 33759-1823
(727) 249-3350

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of John Kimball <jhkimball_1@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 12:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Kimball
13504 NW 56th Ave
Gainesville, FL 32653-2561
(352) 745-3590

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Michael Setzer <mike.setzer@cell1fl.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Setzer
8950 NE 107th Ct
Bronson, FL 32621-3750
(352) 514-4998

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of George C Atkinson <chiefatk517@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. George C Atkinson
22791 Hwy 195
Killeen, TX 76542-4876
(254) 793-8077

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of John Vatter <captvatter@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Vatter
160 Casora Dr
Crawfordville, FL 32327-4156
(850) 926-3503

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Donna Hicks <dehjax@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Donna Hicks
10554 Osprey Nest Dr E
Jacksonville, FL 32257-1035
(904) 608-9178

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Aaron Gray <aarongray1010@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Miss Aaron Gray
216 Jack Crum Rd
Crawfordville, FL 32327-4217
(850) 528-3095

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jim Fortson <jim@fortsonlaw.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jim Fortson
10034 Winding Ridge Dr
Shreveport, LA 71106-7684
(318) 797-3377

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Stanley Shenker <stanleyshenker@ymail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Stanley Shenker
1128 Royal Palm Beach Blvd
Royal Palm Beach, FL 33411-1607
(561) 333-9250

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Debbie Wilhite <captjack@zebra.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28
Categories: AP-Data Collection

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

To eliminate a hardship and gain approval by the commercial sector why not buy out any future allocation to the commercial sector and pay for this with a federal fishing license.

Example: Buying 2 million pounds at $40 lb would only mean a $25.00 license for 1 year for each saltwater angler.

But the problem is even bigger than 2 million pounds.

MRIP shows the recreational anglers caught nearly 10 million pounds (adding est, headboats and texas to the last year 9.12M pounds) ...that would mean we needed about a 5 million pound purchase not 2 million JUST to keep the snapper season the same as 2013.

The Data shows the recreational anglers overfished almost double their allocation in 2013 in just 42 days. (take away bad weather days and its more like 30-35 days)

Its easy to do the math and see we are in trouble if the TAC stays at 11 million.

So to me buying some or all of their future allocation if they would agree to it would be a better choice and start a federal snapper license to pay for it.

AND develop a plan that involves better data collection that includes a way to identify who is snapper fishing and how many are landed...maybe a daily permit where each angler registers online or by phone and then reports the number of fish landed before the next permit is obtained.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Debbie Wilhite
136 W 5th Ave
Gulf Shores, AL 36542-6444
(251) 948-3474

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jimmy Fisackerly <jimmy@boatstuf.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jimmy Fisackerly
1212 Copperman Ct
Covington, LA 70433-5064
(985) 649-9044

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Raymond Edwards <redwards@edwardsroofing.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

I hope you will consider this appeal, I feel sure it is time to readjust the quotas between recreational and commercial. I don't make any of my living based upon the fishing industry, but I know this change would greatly help those that do and give a real boost to recreational fisherman's spirit to continue fishing and purchasing the items needed to fish.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Raymond Edwards
1322 Soundview Trl
Gulf Breeze, FL 32561-4717
(888) 888-8888

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Mike Coullard <mike@panolapepper.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 11:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Mike Coullard
3630 Highway 65 N
Lake Providence, LA 71254-5557

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Donald Brazelton <fishguts@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Donald Brazelton
25440 Pinson Dr
Bonita Springs, FL 34135-8843
(239) 947-4086

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Pete Umbdenstock <peteselectric@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28
Categories: AP-Habitat MS/LA, Recreational

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Pete Umbdenstock
202 Oakwood Dr
Gulfport, MS 39507-1918
(228) 863-5672

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Thomas Mouton <tmouton@prideoilandgas.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Mouton
107 Hawthorne Rd
Lafayette, LA 70508-5606
(337) 177-1976

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Thomas Heath <gradyreelmagic@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Thomas Heath
226 Quay Assisi
New Smyrna Beach, FL 32169-5112
(386) 334-5495

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Tammy Hayes <tammyhayes@centurytel.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Tammy Hayes
4007 Cogswell Ave
Pell City, AL 35125-2605
(205) 368-9407

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of William Cole <gene@sellmywireless.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 6 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 6, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Cole
4970 Lazy Oaks Way
Saint Cloud, FL 34771-8843

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of RICH BALEZENTIS <krupiekid@netzero.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. RICH BALEZENTIS
1126 Wards Pl
Fruit Cove, FL 32259-2875
(904) 287-2247

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of David Larsen <dave_larsen@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

I'm a boat owner that incurs significant expenses while contributing thousands of dollars a year to the local economy via high and dry storage fees, on water fuel, tackle, bait etc trying to enjoy the gulf waters with my 8 year old daughter. As the rules currently stand, seeing my daughter catch a red snapper under recreational angling rules is a pie in the sky dream.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. David Larsen
602 S Albany Ave
Tampa, FL 33606-2406
(813) 418-2015

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jason LeBeouf <jlebeouf@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jason LeBeouf
1313 Bonnabel Blvd
Metairie, LA 70005-1006
(504) 444-4084

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Joseph Urbanovich <joeurbo@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joseph Urbanovich
239 Lexington Blvd
Apt 11
Clark, NJ 07066-1456
(908) 472-2395

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Miguel Vasquez <mvasquez@mevpro.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Miguel Vasquez
14561 SW 95th Ln
Miami, FL 33186-1039
(305) 505-1680

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jason Pate <jbpate70@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jason Pate
28399 Burkart Dr
Orange Beach, AL 36561-4341
(205) 229-9342

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Edwin Goode <ergoode3@mediacombb.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edwin Goode
2418 Pineneedle Ln
Navarre, FL 32566-7858
(850) 684-3089

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Lawrence Pendleton <lrpendleton@att.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lawrence Pendleton
1256 Holly Cove Dr
Jupiter, FL 33458-4053
(954) 801-1591

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of William Dent <dillbent3@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. William Dent
953 Bates Rd
Fort Deposit, AL 36032-4505
(334) 227-4078

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Jesse Kreinbrink <jesse_brink@msn.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jesse Kreinbrink
10851 Mangrove Cay Ln NE
Apt 515
St Petersburg, FL 33716-4218

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Byron Clark <byronclark55@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Byron Clark
5596 Shadow Shore Pl
Gulf Breeze, FL 32563-9640
(850) 275-6935

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Walter Melton <wmelton413@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Walter Melton
413 Old Dirt Rd
Tallahassee, FL 32317-8503
(850) 545-3771

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Steve Samaha <stevesamaha11@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 10:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Steve Samaha
3200 W Lawn Ave
Tampa, FL 33611-1929

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Stephen Bird <sbird@birdinsagency.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Stephen Bird
PO Box 253
Gulf Hammock, FL 32639-0253
(352) 486-2683

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Michael Karkheck <mkarkheck@techie.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Karkheck
8696 94th St
Seminole, FL 33777-2512
(727) 686-7683

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Lovett Harris <tevol24@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lovett Harris
PO Box 342301
Tampa, FL 33694-2301
(813) 390-4097

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Richard Bell <richard.m.bell@navy.mil>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard Bell
3217 Country Club Dr
Lynn Haven, FL 32444-5117
(850) 248-0010

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Mary Valentine <naplesbeachbum@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ms. Mary Valentine
488 W Valley Dr
Bonita Springs, FL 34134-7313
(239) 287-9185

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Harry Garber <hgarber@garbercc.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The fact that the 51/ 49% quota was set when red snapper populations were at an all time low 30 years ago needs to be updated and rectified with alternative 5.

There are several studies that state the positive economic benefits that would be gained by adopting alternative 5. As a property owner in a community with a marina on Mobile Bay I can personally attest to the huge increase in tourism that takes place during Red Snapper season. I never have any vacancies during Red Snapper Season, but once the season closes our rental success falls dramatically. This hurts not only rentals but also restaurants and retail as well.

I am not asking to take anything away from the commercial sector even though they were given a huge portion of the Red Snapper Stock. I am asking as one of millions of recreational anglers to give us what we feel we are due so we can take our kids and grand kids fishing.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Harry Garber
11262 Mathis mt. Rd.
Huntsville, AL 35803
(256) 881-9995

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Michael Mcweeny <mcnique@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Mcweeny
121 Sea Horse Dr SE
Apt C
St Petersburg, FL 33705-6428
(305) 484-7585

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Calvert Campbell <vchild11@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Calvert Campbell
5316 Pointe Vista Cir Apt 207
Orlando, FL 32839-8451
(407) 257-1636

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Lee Nelson <lnelson@shutts.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

I read and now support Alternative 5. kindly ask that the Gulf Council approve Alternative 5.

Thank you for your hard work and attention on this issue.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lee Nelson
4705 W Lowell Ave
Tampa, FL 33629-7630
(813) 229-8900

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Doug Olander <doug.olander@bonniercorp.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Doug Olander
7665 Clementine Ct
Orlando, FL 32819-4606
(407) 718-2661

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Stephen Hartley <steve@hartleybrothers.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Stephen Hartley
15829 NW 32nd Ave
Newberry, FL 32669-2845
(352) 472-5053

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Tyson Richmond <tysonr@tysonr.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Tyson Richmond
5010 Bayshore Blvd Unit 7
Tampa, FL 33611-3859

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Todd Eliassen <todd@eliasenenvironmental.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Todd Eliassen
PO Box 5601
Lakeland, FL 33807-5601
(863) 559-6241

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Devan Chamberlain <tchamberlain@lunz.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Devan Chamberlain
502 Hunter St
Lakeland, FL 33803-1030
(863) 559-2187

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kirby Klys <captnkirby@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:23 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please oppose any change to Red Snapper allocation in the Gulf of Mexico.

recreational fishermen harvest close to 75% of all seafood now.

97% of Americans depend on a steady supply of fresh gulf seafood to enjoy at home and out dining.

According both to testimony given at council meetings, plus common sense, with the huge number of recreational registrations, there will be at best a negligible increase in recreational seasons coming at a huge expense to the rest of the nation.

A better economic model would more correctly address the overall benefit to all Americans by preserving the status quo.

Don't reward 3% of the population at the expense of everyone else.

Kirby Klys
586 SW Shiloh St.
Ft. White,, FL 32038

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of JAMES BROWNE <jbbasschsr@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. JAMES BROWNE
44 Winans Ave
Cranford, NJ 07016-3145

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Robin Deen <rdeen@jaxbank.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Robin Deen
10230 Beam St
Jacksonville, FL 32218-5004
(904) 924-1450

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Michael Natale <stickitman@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, March 11, 2014 9:11 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 11, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Michael Natale
7777 Grand Oak Cir
Sebastian, FL 32958-1644
(772) 388-0044

Phyllis Miranda

From: KeepAmericaFishing <info@keepamericafishing.org> on behalf of Mike Leonard <mleonard@asafishing.org>
Sent: Monday, March 10, 2014 4:39 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

Mar 10, 2014

Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council

As one of the Gulf of Mexico region's 3 million saltwater recreational anglers, I strongly support Alternative 5 of Reef Fish Amendment 28, which would allocate 75 percent of quota in excess of 9.12 million pounds to the recreational sector. The current red snapper allocation is based on information from 30 years ago and does not distribute the resource in the best interest of the nation.

The current allocation of 51 percent to the commercial sector and 49 percent to the recreational sector was based on historic catch at a time when red snapper abundance was at an all-time low and recreational participation was therefore disproportionately low due to poor fishing success rates.

Several studies, including from the Gulf Council's Socio-Economic Science and Statistical Committee, conclude that substantial economic benefits would be gained by shifting a greater share of the red snapper quota to the recreational sector.

Alternative 5 is a very reasonable approach that does not take any fish away from either sector, but rather apportions future increases in stock biomass in a way that recognizes the tremendous demand among recreational anglers for this important fish stock.

While reallocation discussions are inherently contentious and difficult, there is too much at stake for the Gulf Council to continue inaction on this issue. By moving forward with Alternative 5, the Gulf Council would make significant progress towards rectifying the flawed initial red snapper allocation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Mike Leonard
1 Amara Dr
Fredericksburg, VA 22405-1350

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ricky Lloyd <315gotwaves@gmail.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 08, 2014 8:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Ricky Lloyd
315 S. Iowa Ave
League City, TX 77573

Phyllis Miranda

From: Don Thrasher <thrashfish@gmail.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 08, 2014 6:39 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper Allocation

Concerning amendment 28, I am in support of alternative 5. It is important to get this allocation correct based on current user and harvest information. Commercial interests and lobbying efforts should not inappropriately sway this decision; accurate data should. Alternative 5 provides a way to maintain commercial operation without any harm, while starting to get the unacceptable allocation for recreational anglers up closer to where it should rightfully be. When a user group represents 90% of the economic value, 50% allocation of that resource is inappropriate.

I am appalled, as are other stakeholders, that commercial party boats in Port Aransas, Texas have been given tags to harvest over 12,000 Red Snapper before recreational fisherman get to catch their first Red Snapper. These are just the tags given to party boats in our area that we are aware of.

Phyllis Miranda

From: Edward Kern <amazinggrace3@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Saturday, March 08, 2014 3:23 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Edward Kern
1310 Crumpet
San Antonio, TX 78253

Phyllis Miranda

From: Tanya Kroeber <tanyack@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 9:33 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please oppose any reallocation scheme for red snapper and please refocus your efforts on new management options for recreational fishermen that will actually improve fishing opportunities for Gulf fishermen. Maintaining fair and sustainable access to Gulf seafood is important to me.

Amendment 28 would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Tanya Kroeber
929 Arkenstone Dr
Jacksonville, FL 32225

Phyllis Miranda

From: Clarence <clarence1141@att.net>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 5:12 PM
To: Gulf Council; ccantl@joincca.org
Subject: Reef Fish Amendment 28

I support alternative 5 in reef fish amendment 26

Phyllis Miranda

From: Terrie Williams <yarddawg_1@att.net>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 10:13 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Terrie Williams
850 Laura Lane
Vidor, TX 77662

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lisa LeBlanc <1619austin@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 9:51 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Lisa LeBlanc
4620W. Wm. Cannon Drive No. 5
Austin, TX 78749

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jennifer Scott <jjscott9@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 9:08 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Jennifer Scott
15930 Bayside Pointe West #703
Fort Myers, FL 33908

Phyllis Miranda

From: Wendy H <mommadocjax@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 6:35 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

We need your support to protect access to local, sustainable Gulf fish for restaurants, consumers and seafood businesses.

While the vast majority of fishermen believe in sharing the Gulf's resources with everyone, a few powerful interest groups are angling for changes to regulations that would result in popular Gulf seafood disappearing from the plates of millions of Americans. They want to pass new fishing regulations that reserve more and more red snapper and other reef fish for recreational fishing. In fact, we've seen this happen before; in the 1980's commercial fishermen (and chefs) were shut out of the Gulf red drum and speckled trout fisheries.

If popular Gulf of Mexico seafood is increasingly set aside for recreational anglers, then supplies of fresh, wild and sustainably managed fish will be harder to come by. That means chefs, restaurant owners and consumers will have to rely more heavily on farmed and imported fish at a time when the popularity of local seafood is at an all-time high.

We believe that all Americans – sportsmen as well as restaurants and seafood lovers – deserve to enjoy the Gulf's bounty. And they shouldn't have to catch it themselves to do so.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council is currently considering an action, called "Amendment 28" that would permanently shift allocation of red snapper from the commercial fishery to the recreational fishery.

You need to consider the needs of ALL the people, not just those rich enough to go fishing for themselves.

Wendy H
Starshine Cave
Jax, FL 32257

Phyllis Miranda

From: MARC TASLIT <marctaslit@verizon.net>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 5:51 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

For all the reasons cited above, reallocation is wrong for Florida residents, businesses and recreational fisherman. Say NO to reallocation. PLEASE!

MARC TASLIT
11523 Hidden Cove Ct.
Trinity, FL 34655

Phyllis Miranda

From: irene grubbs <itgrubbs@bellsouth.net>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 1:41 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I grew up on the coast. Amendment 28 will do more harm to the unique asset that is our Gulf Coast. Please think long term and of the delicate balance of that ecosystem and do what's right. As we've learned repeatedly, ill-conceived environmental "improvements" can rarely be undone.

SINCERELY,
Irene Grubbs

irene grubbs
607 Renaissance Dr
Hoover, AL 35226

Phyllis Miranda

From: Ana Herrero <aherrero1@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 12:51 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Ana Herrero
1410 Peacock Haven
San Antonio, TX 78260

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lisa Stone <lestone@aya.yale.edu>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 12:47 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Lisa Stone
8902 Birdwood Ct
Houston, TX 77096

Phyllis Miranda

From: foster creppel <spiritsofwood@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 07, 2014 12:03 AM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

My business caters to fisherman, tourists, oil industry personnel, weddings, retreats, political functions and Eco- tourists, to name a few.

Sixty-five percent of my business is recreational fisherman travelling from around the world to catch fish. Whether in the shallows on a fly just to release it and catch another or spin fishing for trout and reds in the marsh to bring home or off shore fishing for red snapper, tuna, grouper, triple tail, cobia, etc.. to bring home. And what all of my guests have in common is that they come here to eat fresh caught gulf fish. It is what has made New Orleans famous for it's food, of course along with our wonderful, restaurants and chefs. We have to keep it on our menus or else the only tourists we'll have are fisherman harvesting our bounty and taking it home to eat. That won't do much for our economy, history, culture or future.

Foster A. Creppel
Innkeeper, Woodland Plantation

foster creppel
21997 Hwy. 23
Myrtle Grove, LA 70083

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eleanor Schwank <e.joy@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 11:50 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Eleanor Schwank
P.O. BOX 552
Matagorda, TX 77457

Phyllis Miranda

From: frank gomez <frankgomez@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 11:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Cc: James Clements
Subject: Reference Amendment 28

I am in disagreement with the Gulf Council's decision to implement Alternative 5 in the Red Snapper fishery. I am president of Abal Seafood Corp. and a commercial fisherman, we have struggled dealing with all the new requirements placed on the commercial fishery under the IFQ program, it has cost us time and money, but we have adapted and complied. Every year we have to leave a small portion of our quota at sea to avoid persecution for exceeding established limits.

The Recreational fishery on the other hand has no accountability requirement and consistently overfish their quota by culling fish until they catch the size fish they want, increasing mortality rates. If the intent of the ruling under Alternative 5 is to give the Recreational Fishery more days to fish, why don't we just give them more fishing days without hurting the Commercial Fishery and the amount of fish they catch would still be guesswork. They get to fish all yearlong for Red Grouper, which is the bread and butter of the Commercial Fishery in the Eastern Gulf, with no accountability measures, they get 61% of the Gag quota and an 8-month fishing season, with no accountability measures and now we are going to give them the majority of the Snapper quota, again with no accountability measures. This makes absolutely no sense from the stock management stand point.

If we must relinquish 75% of the quota increases in the future to the Recreational Sector, then lets increase the base line to 10 million lbs. as proposed on Alternative 7, introduced after the last vote. It will please the Recreational Sector without seriously reducing the quota of those who make a living catching fish and hurting the many businesses that depend on the commercial fishery for existence and the many tourists that drive to our coastline cities to sample gulf fresh Red Snapper.

Many of my colleagues share the same concerns and I would appreciate it the Council would give my suggestion consideration.

Frank Gomez
President
Abal Seafood Corporation

Frank Gomez
4601 Barclay Lane
Tallahassee, FL 32309
850-893-9221 ofc
850-893-4629 fax

Phyllis Miranda

From: Paul Barger <pwbarger@flash.net>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 11:46 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015 -- and even more in the future. Currently commercial and recreational fisherman share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Paul Barger
3101 Wildflower Court
Bedford, TX 76021

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lois A. <spring007@embarqmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 11:39 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Lois A.
Waycross
Orlando, FL 32726

Phyllis Miranda

From: Arkady Vyatchanin <armadyv84@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 9:53 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Arkady Vyatchanin
501 SW 75th St.
Gainesville, FL 32607

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lisa Hughes <lisa.hughes54@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 9:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Lisa Hughes
1713 21st Street
Galveston, TX 77550

Phyllis Miranda

From: SL Vinas <slvinas@yahoo.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 9:40 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Amendment 28 only sounds good but in practice will be very harmful to our red snapper population.

We rely on tourism and sport fishing. This is a short sighted solution that will cost us our future.

Please do not pass this amendment.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

SL Vinas
4001 SW 103
Davie, FL 33328

Phyllis Miranda

From: Esther Garvett <Egarvett@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 9:10 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I am against the reallocation of the red snapper. Please oppose Amendment 28 and let's come up with real solutions.

Esther Garvett
10431 sw 143 ave
Miami, FL 33186

Phyllis Miranda

From: Lyn Leeuw <lleeuw2002@yahoo.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 9:01 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Lyn Leeuw
3070 Claudia Ln
Marianna, FL 32448

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eric Hensgen <ehensgen@hotmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 8:44 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Eric Hensgen
4632 W. Lamb Ave.
Tampa, FL 33629

Phyllis Miranda

From: Karen Neubauer <smallfry78@y7mail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 8:29 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future.

Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change.

Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Karen Neubauer
303 Williams Ave SW Ste137
Huntsville, AL 35801

Phyllis Miranda

From: Colleen McGlone <crmcglone@moose-mail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 8:03 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Colleen McGlone
3540 Hartland Dr
New Port Richey, FL 34655

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dorothy Doyle <ddoyle1962@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:59 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Dorothy Doyle
6800 Park St S #1500
South Pasadena, FL 33707

Phyllis Miranda

From: Kelly Epstein <kepstein1@earthlink.net>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:42 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Kelly Epstein
18319 Champion Forest Dr.
Spring, TX 77379

Phyllis Miranda

From: Laurence McNamara <laurencemcnamara09@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:25 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Laurence McNamara
422 N.Lakeside Drive
Lake Worth, FL 33460

Phyllis Miranda

From: James A Langham <Langham.jamesa@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

James A Langham
9603 Powhatan
J2
San Antonio, TX 78230

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jenna Matheny <jenna.nicole@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:22 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Jenna Matheny
2522 General Pershing Street
New Orleans, LA 70115

Phyllis Miranda

From: david hollister <ddhollister@yahoo.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:14 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

david hollister
357 41st ave
st pete beach, FL 33706

Phyllis Miranda

From: Joe Abdo <Gulffresh@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:11 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Hello, I am a 31 year old commercial fishermen, I run one boat and currently employ 6 other captains and mates with my other boats. We risk our lives week in and week out to bring this beautiful state of Florida the domestic seafood it is known for. I am asking the council and whom ever it may concern to not consider the reallocation of the red snapper, simply put there needs to be more effort made in the accountability of the recreational sector, it is hard to imagine that taking from the very accountable and well managed commercial sector, to put a temporary bandaid on the recreational interests, as a feasible action. We have worked hard to get our commercial fishery to the sustainable levels that it has now reached and our system supports families and a significant portion of the seafood demand of this state and country. Let's be smart and do the right thing, GET RECREATIONAL PROGRAM OF FISHING MORE ACCOUNTABLE.
Thank You, Joseph Abdo

Joe Abdo
5610 interbay blvd unit F
Unit f
Tampa, FL 33611

Phyllis Miranda

From: Vivian Griffin <vgriffin12@tampabay.rr.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 5:03 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

All fish in the Gulf belong to everyone..

Vivian Griffin
2425 Harden Blvd., Lot 27
Lakeland, FL 33803

Phyllis Miranda

From: Jeffrey Bains <jebains@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 4:55 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Jeffrey Bains
1721 Myrtle Beach Drive
The Villages, FL 32159

Phyllis Miranda

From: Eric Mercadante <Ecmercadante@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 06, 2014 12:47 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

"Amendment 28" would hurt small businesses and families along the Gulf coast by cutting nearly half a million pounds of popular red snapper from the consumer market in 2015– and even more in the future. Currently, commercial and recreational fishermen share the red snapper catch roughly 50-50 and there is no good reason to change that. Commercial and recreational fishing in the Gulf are both important economic drivers and we do not have to choose one at the expense of another.

Amendment 28 is a false promise to recreational fishermen who will not experience long-term stability or longer seasons as a result of this change. Even the American Sportfishing Association, a group that supports the amendment, admits that reallocation, "will not result in a significant increase in allowable days to fish" for recreational fishermen. Better solutions for recreational fishermen exist, but policymakers have refused to try them.

This "reallocation" proposal is divisive, unfair and comes at a time when demand for local and sustainable seafood is at an all-time high. The National Restaurant Association lists locally sourced seafood as the #1 menu trend for the past four years in a row.

Please oppose Amendment 28 and focus on real solutions for recreational fishermen that will actually extend seasons for anglers over the long-term instead of schemes that hurt the seafood industry and consumers. Hundreds of chefs, restaurant owners, seafood companies, trade associations, conservationists, fishermen and seafood lovers from all across the Gulf have already united in opposition to reallocation and decision makers should, too.

Eric Mercadante
854 180th ave e
Redington shores, FL 33608

Phyllis Miranda

From: Michael T Barrett <michaeltbarrett@me.com>
Sent: Wednesday, March 05, 2014 4:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: comment for setting Red Snapper limits and allocation

It is time to put Red Snapper in the same class as Red Fish - a sport fish with similar limits. The over fishing of Red Snapper has been due to over fishing by commercial fisherman especially in Florida not in the west gulf - LA and TX. The appropriate policy is to limit where the damage is being done not have the entire Gulf of Mexico border states pay for the abuse of a few. The science being applied here is out of balance with the realities of behavior for the commercial verses the sport fishing citizenry.

Michael Barrett

Baton Rouge, LA
225.262.9822

Phyllis Miranda

From: Patricia Davis <imteacher@sbcglobal.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 04, 2014 10:56 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

Please add your comments here.

Patricia Davis
3301 Stardust Dr.
Austin, TX 78757

Phyllis Miranda

From: Salihbegovic, Zlatko X. <Zlatko.Salihbegovic@weatherford.com>
Sent: Monday, March 03, 2014 3:27 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red snapper facts
Attachments: GiantRedSnapper1.jpg

To whom it concerns

1. Red snappers are back, big time, thanks to very harsh limits last several years, among other circumstances.
2. Current federal open season is way too short.
3. Two fish bag limit is way too low and causes more damage to red snapper population than for example 5 fish bag limit. Why? Because all recreational fisherman are trying to catch other fish since it makes no sense to spend $500-800+ for offshore fishing trip for two red snappers. Every time one drop line catches red snapper. Every 10th or 15th fish is something else. So, we vent and release these red snappers that we are not allowed to keep and actually 90% or so of them die. This is a fact.
4. Professional fishermen are killing all fish they catch and then select legal sizes throwing away everything else. They are killing hundreds of thousands of fish causing unbelievable damage to the eco system. Everybody knows this.
5. Oil companies are allowed to kill as much as they want no consequences. Google dead red snappers. You know this very well. But pay attention, there was approximately 10,000 snappers when only one platform was demolished. Now multiply by number of platforms and you will see that red snappers are really recovered.
6. Quota for recreational fishermen should be increased to 85%. Professional red snapper fishing creates approximately 1000-1500 jobs for entire GOM.
7. Recreational fishing produces many times over more jobs and revenues for communities and businesses than professional fishing, no facts are needed to support this claim.
8. Proposal: Recreational fishermen should be issued 40 daily fishing permits and be allowed to fish 40 days per year per their choice. We are all hard working and don't have time to fish several days in a row during short open season. Or season should be open weekends only as per Louisiana proposal. Actually season should be open longer and daily permits issued. One somehow use daily fishing permit for fishing trip. Very often fishing is impossible due to the weather.
9. I am curious regarding statistics? How many recreational offshore fishing boats actually go fish in GOM and how many in each state?

I am fishing Grand isle area last three years and can fish 10-15 times per year. I don't see very many boats out there. I am not sure from where these millions of Lb. of red snapper harvest statistics are coming from. I estimated that last year I and my friends caught 320 Lb. of red snapper during 4 fishing trips we made. That is it.

How many boats fish offshore in LA? Say 400. If they catch 320 Lb. per season this is 128,000 Lb. Where is 9 million Lb. GOM annual catch coming from? I would really like to see this statistics. Actually, there are many times more boats in Florida than in LA. Hence, we in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama Florida and Texas should have different bag limits and different length of open fishing season.

Attached is picture of large red snapper we caught last year of Grand Isle. Since season was closed I ventilated this fish properly, released it, and latter saw it floating dead. What a waste.

Thanks

Zlatko Salihbegovic

Chief Engineer
Gas lift Systems
125 Southpark Rd.
Lafayette LA 70508 USA
Tel. 337 837 1299
Cell. 337 288 8751
Weatherford
Gas&plunger lift systems
Zlatko.salihbegovic@weatherford.com

CONFIDENTIAL & PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATION

The information contained in this message is privileged, confidential, and protected from disclosure. This message is intended for the individual or entity addressed herein. If you are not the intended recipient, please do not read, copy, use or disclose this communication to others. Also please notify the sender by replying to this message, and then delete it from your system. The sender totally disclaims, and will not accept, any responsibility or liability for the unauthorized use, or the consequences of any unauthorized use, of this communication or message.

This message may contain confidential and privileged information. If it has been sent to you in error, please reply to advise the sender of the error and then immediately delete it. If you are not the intended recipient, do not read, copy, disclose or otherwise use this message. The sender disclaims any liability for such unauthorized use. PLEASE NOTE that all incoming e-mails sent to Weatherford e-mail accounts will be archived and may be scanned by us and/or by external service providers to detect and prevent threats to our systems, investigate illegal or inappropriate behavior, and/or eliminate unsolicited promotional e-mails (spam). This process could result in deletion of a legitimate e-mail before it is read by its intended recipient at our organization. Moreover, based on the scanning results, the full text of e-mails and attachments may be made available to Weatherford security and other personnel for review and appropriate action. If you have any concerns about this process, please contact us at dataprivacy@weatherford.com.

Phyllis Miranda

From: Dennis Gagnon <dennisjr@ahifl.com>
Sent: Monday, March 03, 2014 2:04 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Red Snapper

Gulf Council

Please consider my support of Alternative 5 for the Red Snapper quota discussions occurring later in the month. Unfortunately, I will not be able to attend.

Thanks,

Dennis P. Gagnon, Jr.
Affordable Home Insurance, Inc.
3999 Commons Dr. W, Suite F
Destin, FL 32541
850-654-1567 PH
850-654-4124 Fax

www.ahifl.com - for a homequote simply logon!

Please remember coverage cannot be bound, amended or cancelled via the email system. Coverage cannot be assumed to be bound without confirmation from an authorized representative of Affordable Home Insurance, Inc.

2ND ANNUAL GOLF TOURNAMENT ON APRIL 4TH, 2014 - CLICK HERE FOR DETAILS - WWW.AHICF.INFO

Phyllis Miranda

From: Andy Egeland <abegeland@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, February 28, 2014 2:24 PM
To: Gulf Council
Subject: Oppose the Red Snapper Reallocation Scheme (Amendment 28)

Dear Governor and Gulf Council Members:

I have fished in the Gulf of Mexico for 20 years and witnessed many changes in fishing and regulations some good and some bad. I dont believe amendment 28 has anything to do with helping the rec fisherman. I think it has alot more to do with money. When ifq programs where instituted and big business and goverment became owners and wachtdogs of the fisheries pockets got fat and mom and pop fisherman went to laying bricks.

Andy Egeland
1177 Duquesne Rd
Venice, FL 34293

K&L GATES

K&L GATES LLP

925 FOURTH AVENUE

SUITE 2900,

SEATTLE, WA 98104-1158

T +1 206 623 7580 F +1 206 623 7022 klgates.com

February 28, 2014

J. Timothy Hobbs
tim.hobbs@klgates.com

T (206) 370-7664

By Electronic Mail and Overnight Delivery

Doug Boyd, Chairman
Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council
2203 North Lois Avenue, Suite 1100
Tampa, FL 33607

Doug Gregory, Executive Director
Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council
2203 North Lois Avenue, Suite 1100
Tampa, FL 33607

Re: SESSC Approval of the Analytical Methodology Supporting Amendment 28

Dear Messrs. Boyd and Gregory,

This law firm represents several commercial red snapper IFQ holders in the Gulf of Mexico and their associated businesses.¹ We write to request that the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council (“Council”) cure certain procedural improprieties that place a cloud over the Council’s consideration of Amendment 28 to the Reef Fish Fishery Management Plan.

The Council’s plans to proceed to public hearings and to take final action on Amendment 28 must be reconsidered because they are predicated, in large part, on the acceptance by the Council’s Socioeconomic Scientific and Statistical Committee (“SESSC”) of the analytical methodology for evaluating the change in economic benefits associated with reallocation of red snapper.

The action taken by the SESSC is invalid and must be revisited because the deciding vote accepting the analytical methodology was cast by a member of the SESSC, Mr. Brad Gentner, who is ineligible to serve under the Council’s own administrative guidelines because of an obvious conflict of interest. The record establishes that Mr. Gentner was an active participant in the SESSC's discussions, that he aggressively advocated for reallocation to the recreational sector, and that his vote in the SESSC's deliberations was dispositive.

¹ See plaintiffs listed in Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief, Guindon, et al. v. Pritzker, No. 14-cv-45 (D.D.C. Jan. 10, 2014).

Mr. Gentner's conflict of interest is not tolerated by Council policy and was material. Corrective action must be taken before the Council proceeds with final action on Amendment 28.

Accordingly, we respectfully request that the Council immediately suspend the planned public hearings pending a review of the validity of the SESSC's prior actions by regional National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration ("NOAA") General Counsel. The Council should reconvene the SESSC – without Mr. Gentner – so that it can reexamine the issues and conduct another vote. Only after the SESSC is given the opportunity to reconsider these issues in a forum without procedural improprieties should the Council determine whether to proceed with final action on Amendment 28.

Mr. Gentner is Ineligible to Serve on the SESSC Under the Council's Rules

The Council's Administrative Handbook states:

It is the Council's policy that a person is ineligible to serve [on the Scientific and Statistical Committee ("SSC")] if that person receives personal remuneration directly from any recreational or commercial fishing organization, environmental organization, or similar interest that currently advocates to the Council or its members a position on the management of fishery resources. This policy also applies to the Socioeconomic SSC and SAPs below in Section C. For purposes of this policy, personal remuneration received by a person from an institution or agency contracting with or receiving a grant from such an interest is not considered direct remuneration.²

Mr. Gentner is ineligible to serve on the SESSC because he receives personal remuneration from a recreational fishing organization and an interest that currently advocates to the Council a position on the management of fishery resources. Specifically, Mr. Gentner receives personal remuneration from the Coastal Conservation Association ("CCA") and from his own business, Gentner Consulting Group, Inc. ("GCG"). Both CCA and GCG have taken advocacy positions before the Council prior to and during Mr. Gentner's appointment to the SESSC, including specifically supporting reallocation of red snapper quota from the commercial sector to the recreational sector.

In particular, on June 12, 2013 – after Mr. Gentner was appointed to the SESSC in April 2013³ – CCA issued a press release calling on the Council to "fix the mistakes of the past" by ² See Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, Administrative Handbook (June 2013), available at <http://gulfcouncil.org/Beta/GMFMWeb/downloads/Administrative%20Handbook.pdf>, Section VI, at pp. 31-32 (Tab 1).

³ See Tab 2.

reallocating “the entire available increase in red snapper annual catch limits to the recreational sector.”⁴ CCA’s press release expressly references a “Report by Gentner Consulting Group” that “looked at the increase in potential economic value and total sales” from reallocation and purportedly made “an overwhelming case for the recreational sector.”⁵ The report itself – linked to from CCA’s website⁶ – is titled, “Comparison of different red snapper allocation levels across recreational and commercial sectors,” and is authored by “Gentner Consulting Group – June 2013.”⁷ The GCG report recommends reallocation of “all of the current proposed increases in harvest limits to the recreational sector.”⁸ The GCG report also expressly takes a position on behalf of CCA, stating that “CCA believes that” all of the quota increase should be allocated to the recreational sector.⁹

These documents demonstrate that Mr. Gentner is an advocate who is paid by CCA to advance CCA’s objectives before the Council, including specifically CCA’s objective of reallocating red snapper quota from the commercial sector to the recreational sector. If Mr. Gentner receives remuneration to perform these tasks – either directly from CCA or through his own business, GCG, both of which have taken advocacy positions before the Council – he is ineligible to serve on the SESSC under the Council’s policy.

Other evidence supports Mr. Gentner’s ineligibility to serve on the SESSC. CCA has retained GCG to perform numerous studies on reallocation, all of which – regardless of species or geographic location – purport to show economic benefits from reallocating quota away from the commercial sector to the recreational sector.¹⁰ For example, a CCA newsletter declares that a “CCA-funded study shows value of 100 percent recreational allocation” and cites a study “conducted by Brad Gentner.”¹¹ A CCA press release contains a quote from Mr. Gentner, who admits that “[w]e have often produced economic studies for various clients, including CCA, to make cases for reallocation....”¹² Mr. Gentner also represents CCA in other capacities, such as

⁴ See Tab 3.

⁵ Id.

⁶ See CCA, A Unique Opportunity For Gulf Red Snapper: New stock assessment a chance for Gulf Council to fix mistakes of the past, available at <http://www.joincca.org/articles/614>.

⁷ See Tab 4, p. 1.

⁸ Id. at p. 2.

⁹ Id. at p. 1.

¹⁰ See Tab 5 (cover pages). One of these reports is titled, “Economic Impact of the Estuarine Striped Bass, Red Drum and Spotted Seatrout Fisheries by Sector: An Update for House Bill 983.” See id. It was prepared by “Gentner Consulting Group, Incorporated” and is dated May 28, 2013, also after the date on which Mr. Gentner was appointed to the Council’s SESSC. It concludes that “[b]alancing the needs of commercial and recreational sectors does not mean maintaining a commercial fishery for a few harvesters when doing so reduces the potential economic benefits that could be realized by managing the fishery for solely recreational purposes.” See id.

¹¹ See Tab 6.

¹² See Tab 7.

on the National Fish Habitat Board.¹³ In addition, Mr. Gentner testified before the Council in February and August 2013, representing “Gentner Consulting Group.”¹⁴ In that capacity, Mr. Gentner urged the Council to allocate more red snapper to the recreational sector.¹⁵

Mr. Gentner cannot avail himself of the exception to the Council’s policy on SESSC ineligibility for persons who receive personal remuneration “from an institution or agency contracting with or receiving a grant from” a fishing or environmental organization or similar interest. First, neither CCA nor GCG qualifies as an “institution or agency.” CCA and GCG are not neutral actors; because both CCA and GCG have taken advocacy positions before the Council favoring recreational interests, they are properly categorized as a “recreational fishing organization” or “similar interest” under the Council’s policy. Second, even assuming CCA or GCG could somehow be deemed an “institution or agency” (neither could), Mr. Gentner is an employee of GCG, serving as both its “President” and “Chief Economist.”¹⁶ Thus, the possibility that CCA might contract with GCG instead of with Mr. Gentner himself does not sanitize the arrangement, because Mr. Gentner is an employee of GCG and GCG itself has taken an advocacy position before the Council.¹⁷ That fact alone renders Mr. Gentner ineligible to serve on the SESSC.

Mr. Gentner’s Conflict of Interest is Material

In November 2013 the SESSC narrowly voted to accept the analytical methodology developed by the Southeast Fishery Science Center for evaluating the change in economic benefits associated with reallocation of red snapper as proposed in Amendment 28. The record establishes that Mr. Gentner was an active participant in the SESSC’s discussions, that he aggressively advocated for reallocation to the recreational sector, and that his vote in the SESSC’s deliberations was dispositive.¹⁸

Because application of this methodology to Amendment 28 is controversial, in that it is based upon insufficient data and fails to account for broader net benefits, community impacts, equity, and resource conservation, the SESSC previously had rejected it as a basis for reallocation and has repeatedly cautioned the Council regarding its limitations for analyzing the reallocation options in Amendment 28.¹⁹ Reflective of these concerns, the initial vote among SESSC members to accept the analytical methodology in November 2013 was a tie: four votes in favor, four votes opposed. The Acting Chair of the SESSC had to vote to break the tie.

¹³ See Tab 8. Mr. Gentner also appears to be a member, and to have served on the Board, of a state CCA chapter. See id.

¹⁴ See Tab 9.

¹⁵ See id.

¹⁶ See Tab 10. It appears that Mr. Gentner is the only employee and sole owner of GCG. See id.

¹⁷ See Tab 7, Tab 9.

¹⁸ See Tab 11 (records from November 2013 and January 2014 SESSC meetings).

¹⁹ See id. (Council and SESSC records from October 2012 to January 2014).

Mr. Gentner voted in favor of accepting the methodology. But for the vote of Mr. Gentner, who is ineligible to serve on the SESSC because of his conflict of interest under Council policy, the vote would have failed. Therefore, the SESSC's vote to accept the methodology is null and void.

The Procedural Improprieties at the SESSC Require Deferral of the Council's Consideration of Amendment 28

The procedural improprieties in the SESSC proceedings are significant because the Council's recent decision to proceed to public hearings and take final action on Amendment 28 was predicated largely upon the SESSC's approval of the underlying analytical methodology.

The Public Hearing Draft of Amendment 28 states that "the SESSC reviewed and accepted the findings and conclusions of the study."²⁰ Prior to the Council's vote on February 5, 2014 to hold public hearings on Amendment 28 and take final action in May, the Reef Fish Committee informed the Council that "the Socioeconomic SSC reviewed the study twice and approved the methodology used."²¹ One Council member who voted in favor of proceeding with Amendment 28 stated that, "I am not going to try to refute this analysis . . . Our Socioeconomic Panel has accepted it and so I'm not going to substitute my judgment for theirs."²²

Allocation decisions are controversial because "[i]nherent in an allocation is the advantaging of one group to the detriment of another." 50 C.F.R. § 600.325(c)(3)(i)(A). The Council should not proceed with considering reallocation under Amendment 28 on the basis of an improper SESSC process. As one Council member appropriately cautioned the SESSC:

If you take this [methodology] and apply it to the real world, and I mean real lives that it's going to affect, it is a big decision and we need to know that okay, this data and this analysis is excellent when you're looking at marginal changes, but when you extrapolate it to something greater than that, do we still feel good enough to make a decision on people's livelihoods, based on this information?²³

The issues involved are too important to have a cloud of procedural impropriety create uncertainty regarding what constitutes the best available science.

²⁰ See Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, Red Snapper Allocation: Public Hearing Draft for Amendment 28 (Feb. 2014) at p. 13 (Tab 12).

²¹ See Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, Transcript of the 246th Meeting, Houston, Texas (Feb. 5, 2014) at p. 103 (Tab 13).

²² Id. at p. 114 (Tab 13).

²³ See Transcript of Council's SESSC Webinar (January 13, 2014) at p. 31 (Tab 11).

For the reasons stated above, we respectfully request that the Council immediately suspend the planned public hearings pending a review of the validity of the SESSC's prior actions by regional NOAA General Counsel. The SESSC should reexamine the issues and conduct another vote without Mr. Gentner. Only after the SESSC is given the opportunity to reconsider these issues in a forum without procedural improprieties should the Council determine whether to proceed with final action on Amendment 28.

We ask that this letter be included in the administrative record for Amendment 28.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "J. Timothy Hobbs", written in a cursive style.

J. Timothy Hobbs

cc: Dr. Roy Crabtree, Southeast Regional Administrator, National Marine Fisheries Service
Mara Levy, NOAA General Counsel
Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council Members (via email only)

TAB 1

GULF OF MEXICO FISHERY MANAGEMENT COUNCIL

ADMINISTRATIVE HANDBOOK

June 2013

2203 North Lois Avenue, Suite 1100
Tampa, Florida 33607
813-348-1630
813-348-1711 (fax)

<http://www.gulfcouncil.org>

Authorized under the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976, Public Law 94-265 as amended. This is a publication of the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council pursuant to National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Award No. NA10NMF4410011 possible. Such assessments will provide the Council advice on the relative uncertainty associated with basing its decisions on such data reports.

Structure:

Members appointed by the Councils to the scientific and statistical committees shall be Federal employees, State employees, academicians, or independent experts and shall have strong scientific or technical credentials, and experience. Each member of the SSC shall be treated as an affected individual for purposes of financial interest disclosure and recusal provisions for SSC members as specified in the Act. Financial interest disclosures for SSC members will be reviewed annually by the Council prior to appointment, and when updated by an SSC member reporting any substantial changes in financial interest. Financial interest disclosures will be kept on file by the Secretary

The Council may establish a peer-review process, utilizing the SSC or other scientific groups, for scientific information used to advise the Council about the conservation and management of the fishery. The review process is deemed to satisfy the guidelines of section 515 of Public Law 106-554. The SSC shall be composed of a standing committee whose members are experts in biological, statistical, economic, social, legal, or other appropriate disciplines and may also include a number of smaller special committees whose members are especially knowledgeable of each specific fishery being or to be managed by the Council. The standing committee and one or more of the special committees shall be periodically convened to provide the Council with expert advice on specific fisheries or on fisheries related management plans or amendments. Requests by the Council for SSC reviews will be addressed to the Chair of the SSC. The standing committee shall consist of 16 persons unless otherwise specified by the Council. The SSC members may not appoint designees to represent them at meetings.

A Chair and vice Chair for the Standing SSC shall be elected by its members or may be designated by the Council at its discretion from the membership of the Standing SSC. The Chair or vice Chair shall preside when the SSC is convened by the Council and will be responsible for summarizing committee consensus when advice is requested through the mail by the Council.

Members and officers of the SSC shall be appointed for a period of two years and may be reappointed at the pleasure of the Council. Membership on an SSC is determined by the Council during a closed session of its Council meetings and is based on the application provided by the applicant as well as the Council members' knowledge of the applicant. Consideration for appointment may include the appropriate interest, experience, and past performance as well as other factors such as a record of fishery violations (among other factors). SSC members serve at the pleasure of the Council and may be removed at any time without cause. It is the Council's policy that a person is ineligible to serve if that person receives personal remuneration directly from any recreational or commercial fishing organization, environmental organization, or similar interest that currently advocates to the Council or its members a position on the management of fishery resources. This policy also applies to the Socioeconomic SSC and SAPs below in Section C. For purposes of this policy, personal remuneration received by a person from an institution or agency contracting with or receiving a grant from such an interest is not considered direct remuneration. Reappointments shall be made at the Council meeting falling on a date nearest to April 1st. Appointment of new members may be made at any Council session.

C. Other Scientific Advisory Groups or Panels:

The Council has formed Finfish and Crustacean stock assessment panels (SAPs) to provide a pool of expertise in support of Southeast Data, Assessment and Review (SEDAR) benchmark and updates assessments. These panels may also be called upon to review other relevant information and provide recommendations to the SSC or Council, as requested.

The Council has also formed the Socioeconomic SSC to provide advice on the social and economic implications of the current regulatory structure and potential management changes for all fisheries under the jurisdiction of the Council. The Council may form additional advisory groups as needed to provide recommendations for management consistent with the Act and other applicable federal laws and regulations. Several major tasks are assigned to the Socioeconomic SSC.

Socioeconomic SSC Process

First, the SESSC reviews economic and social assessments prepared by NMFS for the fisheries, including related materials available in the literature. They also review reports prepared by SEDAR stock assessment and review panels, particularly ABC recommendations and regulatory measures recommended or proposed by these panels. Based on their reviews, they prepare a report to the Council that examines the economic and social implications of various fishing levels including, but not limited to OFL, ABC, ACL, and ACT, and of specific fishing measures necessary to attain or constrain fishing at that level. The SESSC report may contain recommendations on a specific ACL for the stock and preferred regulatory measures. In addition, the report may identify economic and social data collection and analyses necessary to improve the assessments.

Second, the Socioeconomic SSC reviews plan amendments which propose limited access systems. They prepare a report indicating their preferred structure for limited access system or any part thereof and the economic and social rationale for such choice. The report may contain suggestions on the necessary data and analyses to be incorporated in the plan amendment.

Third, the Socioeconomic SSC addresses other economic and social issues referred to them by the Council. These issues are generally associated with a regulatory change the Council is or will consider for any of the fisheries under its jurisdiction.

The reports of the Socioeconomic SSC prepared for the Council will be reviewed by the Standing SSC and appropriate Special SSC, who shall report their findings to the Council via their minutes or verbally by the Standing SSC Chair.

TAB 2

Gulf Council Motions Report
April 15–18, 2013
Gulfport, Mississippi

Data Collection

Motion: To submit the Modifications to the Federally-Permitted Seafood Dealer Reporting Requirements to the Secretary of Commerce and deem the regulations necessary and appropriate.

Motion carried by roll call vote.

Mr. Sanchez	Yes	Mr. Riley	Yes	Mr. Pearce	Yes
Dr. Shipp	Yes	Mr. Boyd	Yes	Mr. Diaz	Yes
Mr. Fischer	Yes	Mr. Riechers	Yes	Mr. Anson	Yes
Dr. Dana	Yes	Dr. Crabtree	Yes	Ms. Bademan	Yes
Mr. Matens	Yes	Mr. Greene	Yes	Mr. Perret	Yes
Dr. Abele	Yes	Ms. Williams	Yes

Motion: To develop a plan amendment for implementation of a red snapper quota monitoring system for private recreational anglers.

Substitute motion: To develop a scoping document for looking at enhancements, revisions, or new options for estimating or quantifying private recreational landings.

Substitute motion carried with no opposition.

Joint Artificial Reef/Habitat Protection

Motion: That staff continue development of an options paper regarding the status of artificial structures in the Gulf of Mexico.

Motion carried.

Motion: That the Council direct staff to develop a letter to the Secretary of the Interior objecting to the removal of petroleum platforms with the use of explosives.

Motion carried with no opposition.

Mackerel

Mackerel Amendment 20

Motion: To move Action 1 to the considered but rejected section.

Motion carried with no opposition.

SSC Selection List
Effective 4/15/13

Last Name	First Name	State	Affiliation
-----------	------------	-------	-------------

Standing SSC

Barbieri	Luiz	FL	FFWRI
Blanchet	Harry	LA	LDWF
Blount	Benjamin	Wash, DC	Retired
Cass-Calay	Shannon	FL	NMFS
Gill	Bob	FL	Comm. (other)
Hendon	Read	MS	USM
Keithly	Walter	LA	LSU
Lorenzen	Kai	FL	UF
Patterson	William	AL	UWF
Powers	Sean	AL	USAL
Stunz	Greg	TX	TX A&M
Tolan	Jim	TX	TPWD
Ward	John	VA	VA Inst. Marine Sci.
Whorton	Elbert	TX	U of TX

Ecosystem SSC

Ainsworth	Cameron	FL	NWFSC
Browder	Joan	FL	NMFS
Brown	Columbus	GA	Retired
Froeschke	Bridgette	FL	U of Tampa
Holiman	Stephen	FL	NMFS
Kimbrell	Tristan	LA	Env. Law Atty.
Mahmoudi	Behzad	FL	FFWRI
Matherne	Alan	LA	LSU Ag. Ctr.
Schirripa, PhD	Michael	FL	NOAA
Simons	James	TX	TPWD
Thomas	Glenn	LA	LDWF
Wu	Wei	MS	USM
Yoskowitz	David	TX	TX A&M

Socioeconomic SSC

Anderson	Lee	DE	UDE
Freeman	Matthew	MS	MSU
Gentner	Brad	MD	Gentner Cons.
Holiman	Stephen	FL	NMFS
Holland	Stephen	FL	UF
Jacob	Steve	PA	York PA
Jepson	Mike	FL	NMFS
Keithly	Walter	LA	LSU
Larkin	Sherry	FL	UF
Miller	Alexander	MS	GSMFC
Ogunyinka	Ebenezer	LA	LDWF
Roberts	Kenneth	LA	LSU/Ag Ctr
Schnier	Kurt	GA	GA State U
Ward	John	VA	Va. Inst. Marine Sci.
Yoskowitz	David	TX	TX A&M

Special Red Drum SSC

Adriance	Jason	LA	LDWF
Fisher	Mark	TX	TPWD
Hill	Matt	MS	MDMR
Lowerre-Barbieri	Susan	FL	FWRI
Tolan	Jim	TX	TPWD
Rose	Ken	LA	LSU
Whorton	Elbert	TX	UTMB

Special Reef Fish SSC

Adriance	Jason	LA	LDWF
Broussard	Erik	MS	MDMR
Ellis	Robert	FL	FSU
Mareska	John	AL	ADNR
Shipley-Lozano	Brooke	TX	TPWD

TAB 3

A Unique Opportunity For Gulf Red Snapper

New stock assessment a chance for Gulf Council to fix mistakes of the past

POSTED ON JUNE 12, 2013

HOUSTON (6-12-2013) - In a LETTER TO THE GULF OF MEXICO FISHERY MANAGEMENT COUNCIL, Coastal Conservation Association cites the new red snapper stock assessment as an opportunity for federal managers to fix the mistakes of the recent past by allocating the entire available increase in red snapper annual catch limits to the recreational sector.

"Though this action will not account for the harm that federal mismanagement of the red snapper resource has imposed on anglers across the Gulf, it will begin to repair the damage and begins to recognize the needs and potential of the recreational sector," said Chester Brewer, chairman of CCA's National Government Relations Committee.

While the shortest recreational red snapper seasons on record have cost jobs and revenue for Gulf Coast economies, the commercial sector has thrived under its catch share program in which a handful of businesses own the right to harvest 51 percent of the annual quota of red snapper in the Gulf. The greatly expanded catch limits that have been proposed present a unique opportunity for the Gulf Council to also address the outdated allocation of red snapper, which was last set in the mid-1980s. A REPORT BY GENTNER CONSULTING GROUP that looked at the increase in potential economic value and total sales from allocating 75 and 100 percent of the increases available makes an overwhelming case for the recreational sector.

"The Council has shown little willingness to address reallocation of this or any fishery for a variety of reasons, but primarily because reallocating usually means one side wins and the other loses. Allocating increases in annual catch limits (ACL) avoids that scenario," said Brewer. "In this case, the commercial sector, which is operating under a catch share system that has dramatically decreased the number of participants in the fishery, is not impacted while the recreational sector, which has increased significantly in size and economic significance since the fishery was allocated in the mid-1980s, is given the resources to fulfill its role as an economic engine for the Gulf states in 2013 and beyond."

The Gulf Council's Science and Statistical Committee has endorsed an annual catch limit (ACL) of 13.5 million pounds of red snapper for 2013, an 11.9 million pound ACL for 2014 and a 10.6 million pound ACL for 2015. However, CCA is advocating that the Council average the ACL at 12 million pounds for the next three years to avoid the "yo-yo" regulations that have characterized the fishery in the recent past.

"The track record speaks for itself - we don't believe the federal government has the ability to manage this fishery with any degree of accuracy or reliability. Averaging the increase to 12 million pounds over the next three years presents the best opportunity for stability in this fishery for the first time in a very long time," said Brewer. "Ironically, the recreational sector has been criticized repeatedly and vigorously for not being 'accountable.' The lack of accountability seems to lie with the federal management regime that has forced the most severely limited fishing seasons ever seen in the Gulf of Mexico that we now see were largely not based on good science."

The new assessment shows the significant increases are the result of fishing mortality rates that have averaged about 56 percent of what would have been a sustainable rate consistent with the rebuilding plan over the past six years.

"The federal management methods of the past - infrequent and inadequate monitoring of stock health and efforts to count every fish caught recreationally to produce an undependable harvest estimate in pounds - have been shown to be unworkable and grossly inaccurate," said Brewer. "There is no indication that federal management is willing or able to do anything different, which is one of the reasons CCA supports moving management responsibility of red snapper to the individual states as a way to ultimately correct a management process gone awry. Combined with the efficiency and efficacy of state management, this increased allowance for the recreational sector should begin to repair the damage created by past mismanagement of this resource."

ISSUES: Gulf Council, Gulf red snapper, red snapper, Gulf of Mexico Fisheries, Stock Assessment, Stock Assessment, Gulf of Mexico

Tweet Like Share

POPULAR ISSUES

- ATLANTIC COAST
- GULF OF MEXICO
- PACIFIC NORTHWEST
- SOUTH ATLANTIC
- BLUEFIN TUNA
- CATCH SHARES
- MAGNUSON-STEVENS ACT
- OBAMA NATIONAL OCEAN POLICY
- RIGS TO REEFS

TAB 4

Comparison of different red snapper allocation levels across recreational and commercial sectors

Gentner Consulting Group – June 2013

Management of red snapper in the Gulf of Mexico (GoM) faces a unique opportunity to fix the mistakes of the recent past. During rebuilding, the downward spiral of ever tightening regulation in the face of rebounding stocks has all but crushed the recreational sector and the businesses supported by recreational red snapper fishing. With the new stock assessment, it is clear that NMFS and the Council have been far too precautionary with red snapper management. This precaution has been born solely on the backs of the recreational sector costing the industry jobs and income through the ever decreasing season while the commercial sector has thrived under rationalization. As a result, CCA believes that all of a 3.5 million pound increase should be allocated to the recreational sector.

Table 1 details both the potential economic value and total sales of various allocation scenarios. These results show that value and economic activity are both maximized with all 3.5 million pounds of increase allocated to the recreational sector. When the recreational sector receives all of this increase, economic value for all owners of this public trust resource is over 16 times higher and total economic activity is three times higher. Economic values for both sectors are from Agar and Carter (2012). These are strictly upper bound estimates because NMFS has yet to estimate a bioeconomic model for this fishery. If a bioeconomic model were used, both commercial and recreational value estimates would be lower, as the laws of demand state that the more supply there is, the less consumers are willing to pay for it.¹ Economic impacts (total sales) for the recreational sector were calculated using a similar effort projection method as SERO (2013) using current harvest and CPUE to estimate the number of trips that would be taken to catch the additional fish. Harvest levels are from SEDAR (2012). Recreational expenditure estimates and multipliers for both sectors were taken from FEUS 2011 (NMFS 2012). The economic impact calculation for the recreational sector includes only trip expenditures and, on the commercial side, include all economic activity from the fisherman to the consumer's plate.

Table 1. Comparison of the increase in potential economic value and total sales from different allocation levels across recreational and commercial sectors, 2012.

Sector	75% of Increase		100% of Increase
	Value (Upper Bound)	Total Sales	Value (Upper Bound)	Total Sales
Recreational	$194,593,853	$268,960,667	$216,503,853	$303,555,407
Commercial	$16,137,080	$181,409,942	$13,310,830	$110,819,800

¹ This is the law of diminishing marginal returns and it applies to both sectors and is why demand curves slope downward. On the commercial side, the more red snapper is available in the market, the less it is worth. If commercial trip costs remain the same, producer surplus rates will fall as quotas increase. It is also important to point out that quota purchase and lease prices will also fall with increasing allocations. However, both commercial demand (Park et al 2004, Carter and Liese 2012) and recreational demand are relatively price inelastic. That is prices change little when demand moves proportionally more. Consumer surplus and producer surplus are linked to the shape of the demand curve. The more inelastic demand is, the less likely it is for marginal surplus values to vary much as quantities supplied increase.

Even in the face of several NMFS studies suggesting the current allocation is inefficient, the Council has taken no action to reallocate the stock. This failure to take action on allocation reduces economic value and disadvantages the recreational sector and the coastal communities dependent on recreational fishing businesses.

It is widely understood that fishery management is plagued by status quo bias. Managers do not want to take action because they are averse to loss and would rather make no change than one that improves overall value in the fishery. Besides loss aversion, reallocation is further stymied by the collective action problem. The commercial sector is small and tightly organized around a privatized allocation to this public resource. Therefore, losses are spread across relatively few individuals creating strong collective action bonds leading to strong and organized lobbying against reallocation and last minute deals that stop progress. On the other hand, the recreational sector is represented by a large and diffuse base and their individual increment of value is small. When you pit a small number of individuals with a lot at stake against a large number of individuals with less at stake individually, the country, that ultimately owns the resources, loses as shown in Table 1. Because this proposal does not take anything away from any sector, there are no losses for the Council to be averse to and it should limit the collective action problem.

This proposal represents a workable solution. Allocate all of the current proposed increases in harvest limits to the recreational sector. The Councils would not be taking anything away from the commercial sector to move in a direction that enhances the economy, which should make the change far more palatable. Commercial quota prices will not change, nor will asset values. Recreational value, and therefore overall value of the red snapper fishery to the nation, will increase as will recreational flexibility and the economic sustainability of coastal communities.

References

- Agar, J. J. and D.W. Carter. 2012. Is the 2012 allocation of red snapper in the Gulf of Mexico economically efficient? National Marine Fisheries Service. Southeast Fisheries Science Center. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. 34pp.
- NMFS. 2012. Fisheries Economics of the United States, 2011. US Dept. of Commerce, NOAA Tech. Memo. NMFS-F/SPO-118. 175pp. Available at: <https://www.st.nmfs.noaa.gov/st5/publication/index.html>.
- SEDAR. 2012. SEDAR 31. Section II: Data Workshop Report Gulf of Mexico Red Snapper. December 2012. 367 pp.
- SERO. 2013. Updated 2013 Gulf of Mexico Red Snapper Recreational Season Length Estimates. NOAA Fisheries Service. Southeast Regional Office. St. Petersburg, FL. May 21, 2013; updated June 4 2013. SERO-LAPP-2013-02 Addendum. 12 pp.
- Park, H., W.N. Thurman, and J.E. Easley, Jr. 2004. Modeling Inverse Demands for Fish: Empirical Welfare Measurement in Gulf and South Atlantic Fisheries. Marine Resource Economics. 19:333-351.
- Carter, D.W. and Christopher Liese. 2012. The Economic Value of Catching and Keeping or Releasing Saltwater Sport Fish in the Southeast USA, North American Journal of Fisheries Management, 32:4, 613-625

Brad Gentner, Economist, Gentner Consulting Group

For eight years, Gentner ran the recreational economics data collection program for the National Marine Fisheries Service. As an Economist in the Division of Economics and Social Analysis, he specialized in survey design, recreational fisheries demand and welfare analysis, non-market valuation, and economic impact modeling for recreational fisheries. He managed all facets of NMFS recreational economic data collections including procurement, survey design and deliverable quality control.

Additionally, Gentner chaired the NMFS Economic Impact Working Group, coordinating the development of agency impact models for commercial and recreational fisheries and training NMFS staff in how to build and use custom IMPLAN models. His work for NMFS concentrated on the development and implementation of new methodologies for estimating the benefits, costs, and economic impacts of fisheries policies. His experience includes the design and analysis of revealed and stated preference valuation surveys, expenditure surveys, and industry cost and return surveys using in-person, mail and telephone surveying modes.

TAB 5

Allocation Analysis of the Gulf of Mexico Gag and Red Grouper Fisheries

Prepared for: Coastal Conservation Association

By:
Brad Gentner
Principal
Gentner Consulting Group

Comparison of the Economic Impact of the Striped Bass, Red Drum and Speckled Trout Fisheries by Sector in North Carolina

Prepared by Gentner Consulting Group, Incorporated
For

Brad Gentner is uniquely qualified to analyze the impacts of commercial and recreational fishing with over 17 years of experience in fisheries and natural resource management. Before starting GCG in 2007, Brad Gentner worked for the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) as a Senior Research Economist in the Office of Science and Technology. While employed by NMFS, Brad Gentner ran the recreational economic data collection program designing and conducting expenditure surveys, demand surveys, and industry surveys to supply the data necessary to fulfill NMFS policy analysis mandates. Brad Gentner also chaired the economic impact working group for NMFS developing national standards for fisheries economic impact modeling; for both commercial and recreational sectors. As chair, Brad Gentner was responsible for agency training on the use and construction of economic impact and computable general equilibrium models and producing the annual value-added and price indices for the commercial seafood sector for NMFS' annual publication Fisheries of the United States.

Brad Gentner has a M.S. in Agricultural and Natural Resource Economics from Oregon State University, has a B.S. in Forestry from Northern Arizona University and has completed the Ph.D. core at the University of Maryland. Brad Gentner has published over 27 journal articles, book chapters, and technical reports on commercial and recreational fisheries in the United States. Brad Gentner is currently a member of the North American Association of Fisheries Economists, the International Institute of Fisheries Economics and Trade, and the American Fisheries Society. Brad Gentner has reviewed articles for; Marine Resource Economics, North American Journal of Fisheries Management, Human Dimensions of Wildlife Management, Fisheries Research, Journal of Fisheries Management, Marine Policy, Ecological Economics, and the Journal of Environmental Management.

Economic Impact of the Estuarine Striped Bass, Red Drum and Spotted Seatrout Fisheries by Sector: An Update for House Bill 983

Prepared by Gentner Consulting Group, Incorporated

May 28th, 2013

The Fisheries Economic Development Act (HB 983) seeks to create gamefish status for estuarine striped bass, red drum and spotted seatrout in the state of North Carolina and to compensate commercial harvesters for their lost revenue. This bill removes oceanic striped bass from the gamefish designation as proposed in HB 353. This document was produced to update the previous HB 353 fact sheet to show that the removal of oceanic striped bass fishing from consideration and compensating commercial harvesters only strengthens the case for HB 983 and gamefish status for these three important recreational species managed in the public trust.

Table 1 details the economic impacts of the recreational fisheries for these species. Overall anglers in North Carolina took 1.4 million trips that generated $131.4 million in total sales^[1], $42.6 million in income^[2] and supported 1,267 jobs^[3] in 2012. This is even higher effort and economic impact than the previous report, even with the removal of oceanic striped bass, as red drum and spotted seatrout effort has increased considerably. This has significantly increased the divide between the economic activity generated by each sector.

Table 1. Recreational Impacts, 2012.

Species	Trips	Expenditures ^c	Jobs ^d	Output (Total Sales) ^e	Income ^e
Red Drum ^a	788,814	$29,315,650	701	$72,569,869	$23,648,464
Spotted Seatrout ^a	746,150	$26,250,445	686	$71,244,325	$23,048,399
Estuarine Striped Bass ^b	29,246	$1,660,002	26	$2,707,321	$860,647
Total^f	1,402,613	$79,998,867	1,267	$131,384,480	$42,644,377

^aDirected effort estimates from online MRIP query, 2012

^bDirected effort estimates from NCDMF. John Hadley personal communication from NCDMF creel survey 2012

^cExpenditures estimates from NCDMF. John Hadley personal communication 2012.

^dEmployment multiplier from Fisheries Economics of the United States 2011. <http://www.st.nmfs.noaa.gov/Assets/economics/documents/feus/2011/FEUS2011%20-%20South%20Atlantic.pdf>

^eOutput and income multipliers from NCDMF. John Hadley personal communication 2012.

^fColumns do not sum because trips that landed or targeted both species were adjusted to avoid double counting

Table 2 details the economic contribution of commercial fisheries in the state of North Carolina from net to plate. In 2012 commercial harvesters in North Carolina harvested $934,654 worth of these three species. Harvesting contributes less than half of the overall impact supporting 28 jobs and generating $1.6 million in total sales and $498,024 in income. Across harvesters in 2011 less than three fishermen caught more than $10,000 worth of these three species and only six fishermen caught more than $10,000 worth of these three species in 2012 indicating that very few individuals depend on these species to make their living.^[4] Summing across all seafood sectors, estuarine striped bass, red drum and spotted seatrout supported 67 jobs and generated $3.3 million in total sales and $1.1 million in income for the state of North Carolina. Almost half of all the jobs in the seafood sector arise out of the retail sector. Because restaurants and markets will readily substitute for other fish species, it is unlikely that passing HB 983 will impact retail or wholesale sectors at all.

Table 2. Economic Activity Generated by the Commercial Seafood Industry from the Net to the Plate. 2012^[5]

Sector	Output
	Jobs	(Total Sales)	Income
Harvesters	28	$1,580,955	$498,024
Dealers/Processors	5	$357,306	$102,179
Wholesalers/Distributors	2	$173,755	$46,113
Retail	32	$1,147,580	$439,767
Total	67	$3,259,595	$1,086,083

HB 983 will compensate commercial fishermen up to $1 million based on their average harvests across the 2010-2012 period. Since the average landings across this period are $998,064, the commercial harvesting sector will not suffer any negative economic impacts.^[6] Table 3 details the impacts of HB 983 after harvester compensation. With compensation, only 38 jobs, $1.7 million in total sales and $588,060 in income across dealers/processors, wholesalers/distributors and retail sectors are potentially at risk. However, in competitive and open markets supply chains will rapidly adjust and substitute to other species and products and it is unlikely that retailers, wholesalers and distributors would realize any loss from the passage of HB 983. If no impacts accrue to these sectors, potential negative impacts should be limited to the dealer/processor sector which includes five jobs, $357,306 in total sales and $102,179 in income.

Table 3. Economic Impacts to the Commercial Seafood Industry, Net to the Plate, from HB 983 After Compensation. 2012²

Sector	Output
	Jobs	(Total Sales)	Income
Harvesters	0	$0	$0

Dealers/Processors	5	$357,306	$102,179
Wholesalers/Distributors	2	$173,755	$46,113
Retail	32	$1,147,580	$439,767
Total	38	$1,678,640	$588,060

Recreational effort has been shown to increase when catch rates increase for most species that have been studied, including red drum.[7] If recreational effort increases by as little as 0.3%, all potential losses in the dealer/processor sectors would be completely offset. Even if all uncompensated impacts in the wholesale/distributor and retail sectors cannot be reclaimed through normal market function, recreational effort would only need increase 1% to offset all potential impacts. It is not hard to believe that the passage of this bill will increase effort by such a modest amount.

The conclusions from the original comparison do not change overall but are made stronger by this new bill, HB 983. Recreational fishing for these species supports more economic activity than the commercial sector. In terms of total sales, the recreational sector generates 83 times more activity than the harvesting sector and supports 45 times more employment. If the entire seafood industry in North Carolina is included, the recreational sector generates 40 times more sales and 19 times more jobs than the seafood sector across these species. Again this comparison relies on recreational impact estimates that tend to be conservative while the commercial economic impact model, particularly across retail tends to be optimistic.[8]

Estuarine striped bass, red drum and spotted seatrout are resources managed in the public trust for the benefit of all North Carolinians. Typically that means that management should seek to maximize the benefits from the management of those resources, regardless of what sector benefits. While this study focuses on economic activity and not the more appropriate metric economic benefit, income has been used as a proxy for economic benefit in allocation decisions.[9] This analysis shows that recreational income, even including sectors that will not feel any negative impact, is 73 times higher than the income produced by the entire seafood supply chain from net to plate, after harvesters are fully compensated. Commercial harvester will be compensated not just for their loss of income, but their loss of revenue. This is an important point. Landed value does not go into a harvester's pocket. Before a harvester can call landings income, he has to pay for his expenses. As a result, harvesters will be far better off taking their old revenue as income under HB 983, likely by nearly double.[10]

It is really hard to argue that all North Carolinians would be better off by continuing commercial fisheries for these species when even the slightest increase in effort would increase benefits. Public trust means the public trusts that these resources are managed to provide the most benefit to the most people. Balancing the needs of commercial and recreational sectors does not mean maintaining a commercial fishery for a few harvesters when doing so reduces the potential economic benefits that could be realized by managing the fishery for solely recreational purposes. Balancing those needs certainly does not mean favoring a small group of commercial interests at the expense of a larger, more diversified industry that directly benefits more North Carolinians and indirectly provides more benefit to all North Carolinians.

[1] Output represents the value of industry production. For manufacturers this would be sales plus/minus change in inventory. For service sectors production = sales. For Retail and wholesale trade, output = gross margin and not gross sales. http://implan.com/v4/index.php?option=com_glossary&Itemid=12

[2] Income refers to the total household income due to the business activity. This includes the household income from the employees of the manufacturing facility, the wages of the employees of the suppliers, and wages of people employed in providing goods and services to the direct and indirect employees.

[3] A job in IMPLAN equals the annual average of monthly jobs in that industry (this is the same definition used by QCEW, BLS, and BEA nationally). A job can be either full-time or part-time. Information on converting between IMPLAN jobs and Full time equivalents can be found here. http://implan.com/v4/index.php?option=com_glossary&Itemid=12

[4] NCDMF. 2013. N.C. Division of Marine Fisheries' Initial Review of the Game Fish Designation Aspect of the 2013 Fisheries Economic Development Act (House Bill 983).

[5] Landings from NCDMF, John Hadley personal communication. 2012. Multipliers from Fisheries Economics of the United States and IMPLAN. <http://www.st.nmfs.noaa.gov/Assets/economics/documents/feus/2011/FEUS2011%20-%20South%20Atlantic.pdf>

[6] John Hadley, NCDMF personal communication, 2012.

[7] Oh, C., R. Ditton, B. Gentner, and R. Reichers. (2005). A Stated Preference Choice Approach to Understanding Angler Preferences for Management Options. Human Dimensions of Wildlife. Vol. 10. Number 3. Pp 173-186.

[8] Personal Communication, Scott Steinback, National Marine Fisheries Service. May 23, 2013.

[9] Edwards, S.F. 1990. An Economics Guide to Allocation of Fish Stocks between Commercial and Recreational Fisheries. NOAA Technical Report NMFS 94. November; and Kirkley, J.E., K.E. McConnell, and W. Ryan. 2000. Economic Aspects of Allocating Striped Bass among Competing User Groups in Virginia. Virginia Sea Grant Technical Report VSG-00-08

[10] Gentner, B, J. Kirkley, P.R. Hindsley, and Scott Steinback. 2010. Summer Flounder Allocation Analysis. U.S. Dep. Commerce, NOAA Tech. Memo. NMFSF/SPO-111, 93 p. <http://spo.nwr.noaa.gov/tm/TMSPO111.pdf>

~~~~~

TAB 6

SPRING 09

Sea Watch

Abandoned Crab Traps
Lifetime Achievement
New State Sponsor:

Bill Bird
Chairman, CCA FL

Top comments

We Are Making a Difference!

On the heels of a difficult year for our marine resources and the interests of the angling public, some recent good news is cause for optimism and a renewal of your faith in the efforts of our association.

First, the annual manatee survey conducted by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission in January resulted in a tally of 3,807 animals across the state. That number represents an increase of more than 500 manatees over the previous record high number counted in 2001! Despite disclaimers that came with the issuance of the count that the survey does not constitute a population estimate, this news is important not only for the gentle sea cows themselves, but also as the best evidence that, as previously determined by the FWC and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, manatees are not in fact endangered, that the existing manatee management scheme is working and that greater restrictions on the boating public's access to Florida's waterways are not needed.

In addition, a recent economic study funded by our national office concluded that, with respect to gag and red grouper in the Gulf of Mexico, a 100% allocation to the recreational sector would provide the maximum economic value to society! The study was conducted by Brad Gentner, a respected economist who was employed by the National Marine Fisheries Service for 8 years before starting his own company. As many of us have believed for years, the study reveals that recreational fishing in Florida is an economic and employment juggernaut that benefits many and far exceeds the commercial sector, which benefits few. At long last, the angling public now has official, substantial evidence of the economic and employment benefits that we provide, and we intend to make sure that it will not be ignored.

Yet more good news – albeit the result of very bad news – has come after NMFS observers on commercial long-line bottom fishing vessels in the Gulf of Mexico reported an alarming number of deaths and injuries to loggerhead turtles caught on hooks intended for fish. The report led the Gulf of Mexico Fisheries Management Council to impose an emergency rule prohibiting bottom long-line gear inside of a depth of 50 fathoms. Interestingly, the Council had voted years ago to prohibit bottom long-lines inside of 50 fathoms, but NMFS refused to implement that rule. Who knows how many loggerhead turtles (whose numbers have been declining in recent years) and other vital sea creatures have been lost due to that negligent bow by NMFS to the commercial fishing interests. Hopefully, the tragedy suffered by the loggerheads and notice of intent to file a lawsuit sent by at least one environmental group will persuade the Gulf Council and NMFS that this destructive gear has no place inside of 50 fathoms in the Gulf of Mexico.

Notwithstanding this recent spate of good news, our plate is full of difficult and contentious issues. Most of them are in federal waters, which means that our national office, and not CCA Florida, is in charge of our strategy. Your CCA Florida staffers and volunteer officers will continue to work with our national office to prioritize the importance of red snapper and grouper on both coasts among our many other issues, and we trust that some good news will provide you the impetus to continue (and hopefully increase) your support of CCA Florida with your time and ever-decreasing dollars. The future of our marine resources demands it, and we need all that you can give of both.

But for right now, celebrate and be proud that you are making a difference!

Over 30 years of innovation, quality & dependability.

TIBOR REELS

The World's Finest Fishing Reels
Since 1946

All Tibor Reels are Manufactured, Finely Worked and Lubricated for Life - They are made in the U.S.A.

is published quarterly by CCA Florida, a non-profit state affiliate of the Coastal Conservation Association.

Editorial/business inquiries and information requests: Dan Askin, P.O. Box 568886, Orlando, Florida, 32856-8886 (407) 854-7002

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to CCA Florida, P.O. Box 568886, Orlando, Florida, 32856-8886 (407) 854-7002

www.ccaflorida.org

Managing Editor
Dan Askin

Editor
Ted Forsgren

Creative Director
Debbie Dewell
Great Minds, Inc.
850-386-7401

Printer
Durrprint
Tallahassee

CCA FLORIDA STAFF

Ted Forsgren
Executive Director

Brian Gorski
Chief Operating Officer

Dan Askin
General Manager

Tom Wiles
Accountant

Trip Aukeman
Deputy Director

James Holdar
Regional Director

Mike Modisett
Regional Director

Amy Harilee
Executive Assistant

Marcia Dunfee
Event Coordinator

Lawmakers Review Shoreline Exemption

By Trip Aukeman

For the past 20 years Florida residents fishing in saltwater have been purchasing a saltwater fishing license. The licenses have generated over 200 million dollars which has been dedicated to marine research, management, and law enforcement. Since 1990 Coastal Conservation Association (CCA) and Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWCC) have been working together to remove an exemption put into the bill at its inception. This exemption is known as the shoreline exemption, which allows Florida residents to fish in saltwater from the shoreline without a license.

Supporters believe that a recent amendment to the federal Magnuson - Stevens Fisheries Management Act, requiring states to "register" all saltwater anglers by 2010 and require payment for the license by 2011, should provide the push needed to eliminate the shoreline exemption in Florida. Florida's current saltwater license would likely qualify for the federal angler registration program if the shoreline exemption was removed. If the exemption is not removed by 2011 recreational fisherman in Florida will have to purchase a federal fishing license that will cost between $15 and $20 on top of your Florida fishing license.

Currently, the Florida saltwater license brings in about 15 million dollars annually. The FWC has estimated that removal of the shoreline exemption would require an additional 208,000 to 302,000 anglers to obtain a license. Using the current base price on the resident license an additional 1.7 to 2.5 million dollars would be generated for marine fisheries research, management, and law enforcement. Also, every certified fishing license holder helps Florida obtain approximately $7 in Federal sport fish restoration funds.

Please contact your State Legislator and ask them to support the removal of the shoreline exemption in the saltwater fishing license. The removal of the exemption will start in the committee on Environmental Preservation and Conservation on the Senate side and Agriculture and Natural Resources policy committee on the House side. The Senate Chairman for the Environmental Preservation and Conservation committee is Sen. Lee Constantine and the House Chairman for the Agriculture & Natural Resources Policy committee is Rep. Trudi Williams.

Senate

Environmental Preservation and Conservation
Chairman Lee Constantine constantine.lee.web@flsenate.gov

House

Agriculture and Natural Resources
Chairwomen Trudi Williams
trudi.williams@myfloridahouse.gov

Short-Term Gain, Long-Term Loss

Gulf Council tackles longlines, but fumbles future of grouper fishery.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council engaged in buffet-style fisheries management at its latest meeting in Mississippi, picking and choosing data to plot a dubious course of action for the Gulf grouper fishery.

Faced with evidence that longline gear used in the grouper fishery is causing an unacceptable number of sea turtle deaths, the Council opted to pass an emergency rule prohibiting the destructive gear in water depths less than 50 fathoms. However, the Council opted to ignore equally compelling economic data over the value of grouper as a 100 percent recreational fishery and skirted questions about the impact of the new emergency rule on the future of the commercial grouper fishery. Instead, the Council proceeded with an Individual Fishing Quota (IFQ) program that may well permanently lock a significant portion of the fishery into the commercial sector.

"This is a classic case of tunnel vision. The Council was so locked in on implementing an IFQ program that it couldn't even acknowledge anything that might contradict it," said Dr. Russell Nelson, Gulf fisheries consultant for Coastal Conservation Association (CCA). "At the very least the Council should have delayed action on the IFQ program until this new information was properly evaluated."

CCA recently released an economic study by Gentner Consulting Group which revealed that the maximum economic value of the Gulf grouper fishery to our nation as a whole would be achieved by allocating 100 percent of the fishery to the recreational sector. Brad Gentner, author of the study, ran the recreational economics data collection program for the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) for eight years before starting his own company. As a NMFS Economist in the Division of Economics and Social Analysis, Gentner specialized in survey design, recreational fisheries demand and welfare analysis, non-market valuation, and economic impact modeling for recreational fisheries.

"That economic study raises some very serious questions about the wisdom of proceeding with a management program that gives a sizeable percentage of the grouper fishery to a very few commercial fishers, possibly forever," said Patrick Murray, CCA vice president. "At the same time, no one can even predict what the commercial grouper fishery will look like in a few months as a result of an emergency rule prohibiting their primary fishing gear in their prime fishing areas. The foundation of this entire IFQ program is on very shaky ground, yet the Council chose to forge ahead. It doesn't make any sense."

The economic study, Allocation of the Gulf of Mexico Gag and Red Grouper Fisheries, may be viewed on the CCA web site, www.JoinCCA.org/Grouper\_Economics\_2009.pdf.

www.bassproshops.com

5156 International Dr.
Orlando, FL 32819
Phone: 407-563-5200

10040 Gulf Center Drive
Ft. Myers, FL 33913
Phone: 239-461-7800

200 Gulf Stream Way
Dania Beach, FL 33004
Phone: 954-929-7710

World Wide Sportsman
4301 Legendary Drive
Destin, FL 32541
Phone: 850-269-6200

World Wide Sportsman
81576 Overseas Hwy.
Islamorada, FL 33036
Phone: 305-664-4615

Study Reveals Economic Reality For Gulf Grouper

CCA-funded study shows value of 100 percent recreational allocation.

In an important development in the debate over the proper management of gag and red grouper in the Gulf of Mexico, a newly released economic study of the fishery finds that a 100 percent allocation to the recreational sector would yield maximum economic value to society.

Gulf grouper has been a hotly debated issue in the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, which is meeting this week in Mississippi to discuss grouper management among other issues. The study's economic findings should add a new twist to the management of this intensely debated fishery.

"Most in the recreational community would not be surprised by these results, but I think many federal managers have ignored this reality," said Frederic Miller, chairman of the Coastal Conservation Association National Government Relations Committee. "This fishery would yield more jobs and economic output from a 100 percent recreational allocation."

The study was conducted by Brad Gentner, who ran the recreational economics data collection program for the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) for eight years before starting his own company, Gentner Consulting Group. As a NMFS Economist in the Division of Economics and Social Analysis, he specialized in survey design, recreational fisheries demand and welfare analysis, non-market valuation, and economic impact modeling for recreational fisheries.

Gentner's study used economics to analyze grouper allocations in the Gulf of Mexico. Among other findings, his analysis revealed that recreational gag grouper fishing generates $107 million in value added, $60.8 million in income and supports 1,513 jobs while red grouper fishing generates $35.2 million in value added, $20 million in income and supports 501 jobs. Commercial gag grouper fishing generates $16 million in value added, $7.7 million in income and supports 322 jobs while red grouper fishing generate $49 million in valued added, $23.7 million in income and supports 988 jobs. The majority of the economic impacts occur in the retail and restaurant sectors, and Gentner concludes that those sectors would experience very few losses with a 100 percent recreational allocation.

"This study cannot be ignored. More than ever allocation is a critical component of virtually every fishery management system," said Chester Brewer, vice chairman of the CCA National Government Relations Committee. "With this information in hand, it is outrageous that the Gulf Council should establish an Individual Fishing Quota system for Gulf grouper without first addressing the allocation issue."

Looking For A Guide?

Log on to ccaflorida.org and choose from our regionalized directory of Florida guides who support CCA's conservation initiatives.

TAB 7

Fisheries Managers Take Huge Step Toward Righting Allocations

Anglers applaud precedent-setting move to examine outdated allocation for scup

POSTED ON NOVEMBER 10, 2010

CHARLESTON, SC – The Mid-Atlantic Fisheries Management Council and the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Committee met jointly today, and in response to a request from Coastal Conservation Association voted to begin an analysis of the scup fishery to determine whether a modification of the current allocation is needed. The current scup allocation, set back in the 1990s, gives 78 percent of the resource to the commercial sector, leaving only 22 percent available for public access. The analysis commissioned today will look at current economic/social/biological aspects of the fishery, which will be used to determine the proper allocation.

"This is a precedent-setting development, and managers should be commended for taking the first steps to reallocating a fishery based on relevant current factors rather than outdated historical catches," said Richen Brame, director of CCA's Atlantic Fisheries Committee. "Demographics change, economics change, everything changes, but fisheries allocations have been frozen in time for decades. CCA has long called for federal managers to conduct this type of analysis for every fishery to determine where the greatest economic and conservation benefits lie today."

CCA raised the issue of scup reallocation during the Mid-Atlantic Fishery Management Council meeting in August, citing a suggestion from the Council's own Scup Monitoring Committee. Commercial fishing interests immediately objected to revisiting the allocation issue and a motion recommending that the National Marine Fisheries Service conduct an economic study to determine the optimum allocation was indefinitely tabled. At the request of one Council member, however, the matter was finally referred to a Council committee for further consideration.

"For years, CCA has made the rebuilding of depleted stocks such as scup our first priority. Now, with the stock at 170 percent of target levels, it is time to assure that the public has adequate access to this public resource, and that the great majority of the fish aren't reserved for the private profit of a handful of individuals," said Charles A. Witek, chairman of CCA's Atlantic States Fisheries Committee. "The lopsided allocation, which grants the public a mere 22 percent of overall landings, is a travesty that must be remedied."

"This is the first time that I can recall a fishery management council seeking economic information to determine the allocation for a fishery," said Brad Gentner, president of Gentner Consulting Group which conducts economic studies of various marine fisheries. "We have often produced economic studies for various clients, including CCA, to make cases for reallocation, but this is dramatic shift for a Council to begin this process on its own."

###

CCA is the largest marine resource conservation group of its kind in the nation. With almost 100,000 members in 17 state chapters, CCA has been active in state, national and international fisheries management issues since 1977. Visit WWW.JOINCCA.ORG for more information.

Issues: scup, reallocation, ASMFC, Atlantic Coast Fisheries, reallocation, Atlantic Coast, Press Releases

Tweet  |  | Like Share

POPULAR ISSUES

- ATLANTIC COAST
- GULF OF MEXICO
- PACIFIC NORTHWEST
- SOUTH ATLANTIC
- BLUEFIN TUNA
- CATCH SHARES
- MAGNUSON-STEVENSON ACT
- OBAMA NATIONAL OCEAN POLICY
- RIGS TO REEFS

TAB 8

National Fish Habitat Board Meeting, October 22-23, 2013 – Charleston, S.C. - SCMRD

Members present:

|                                |                        |                            |
|--------------------------------|------------------------|----------------------------|
| Kelly Hepler, chairman (ADF&G) | Leroy Young (NEAFWA)   | Stan Allen (PSMFC)         |
| Gary Whelan (MAFWA proxy)      | Ron Regan (AFWA)       | Sam Rauch (NMFS) – day one |
| Chris Moore (MAFMC)            | David Hoskins (FWS)    | Stan Moberly (AFS)         |
| Krystyna Wolniakowski (NFWF)   | Mike Andrews (TNC)     | Steve Moyer (TU) – day one |
| Brad Gentner (CCA)             | Gordon Robertson (ASA) | Tom Champeau (SEAFWA)      |

Members participating by telephone:

Larry Riley (AZ GFD) proxy for Mike Stone WAFWA

Members absent:

Doug Boyd (SFBPC)
Fred Matt (NAFWS)
Ellen Gilinsky (EPA)
Chris Horton (CSF)
Forest Service representative

Motions approved:

- June 2013 Meeting Minutes

Updates and discussions:

- 2014 Meeting Schedule: The Board will have a call on January 15 to approve the 2014 budget and priorities, followed by a March meeting in Denver. The summer meeting will be either a web or video conference, and the Fall meeting will be in November in Washington, D.C.
- Chair Updates: The Chair shared with the Board that at the AFWA annual meeting the State Directors passed a resolution that reaffirmed their commitment to NFHP. The Board agreed to have the Board Chair remain as the representative to the Landscape Conservation Cooperative National Council, with the understanding that the Vice-chair will attend as proxy, and that Gary Whelan may serve as an alternate.
- Executive Leadership Team Update: The ELT informed the Board that they will seek NRCS' interest in filling the fifth federal Board seat.
- Board Performance Evaluation: The Board requested that additional information be added to the evaluation, and suggestions were provided to strengthen the document. Board staff will revise the evaluation based on the feedback received during the meeting, and the Board will have one more opportunity to review the evaluation by email before it is sent to respondents. Brad Gentner will assist in reviewing the evaluation.
- Conservation Committee Report: A possible approach for setting conservation targets based on USFWS performance measures was presented. The Board provided a diverse array of perspectives on the approach and the appropriate level of information needed for setting national conservation criteria. The discussion shifted between how best to communicate the information, the strength of the performance measures used to measure progress, and how best to set targets. Another discussion theme that surfaced was the potential need to improve performance measures before setting national conservation targets. No action was taken.
- Presentation on Habitat Degradation: Gary Whelan provided a brief presentation on the estimated cost of U. S. habitat degradation. Based on hatchery data, the estimate is approximately $2.6 trillion.
- Funding Committee Report: In 2013 the Committee looked into the capacity of FHPs to do their own fund raising and noted that progress has been made by the ad-hoc subcommittee looking at improving corporate engagement.
- Partnership Committee Report: The Committee Chair indicated that FY 14 work for the Committee should include combining FHP conservation priorities with Board national conservation strategies and cost estimates, and the development of standard business plans for

National Fish Habitat Board Meeting Summary: October 19-20, 2012

Members Present:

|                                                |                                                 |
|------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Kelly Hepler (AK DFG- Chair)                   | Brad Gentner (Gentner Consulting Group/CCA rep) |
| Steve Perry ( NH FGD/ NEAFWA rep– Vice Chair ) | Bill Taylor (AFS) – for Stan Moberly            |
| Greg Siekaniec (US FWS)– for Dan Ashe          | Doug Boyd (SFBPC)                               |
| Ron Regan (AFWA)                               | Mike Andrews (TNC)                              |
| Mike Stone (WY GFD/WAFWA rep)                  | Krystyna Wolniakowski (NFWF)                    |
| Stan Allen (PSMFC)– for Randy Fischer          | John Frampton (SC DNC/SEAFWA rep)               |
| Gordon Robertson (ASA)                         | Eric Schwaab (NOAA Fisheries)                   |
| Bob Mahood (SAFMC)                             | Karen Abrams – for Eric Schwaab (Day 2)         |
| Amy Unthank (US FS)– for Anne Zimmerman        | Steve Moyer (TU) – for Chris Wood (phone)       |
| Joe Larscheid (IA DNR/MAFWA rep)               |                                                 |

Members Absent:

Fred Matt, Chris Horton

Key Discussion Items:

- Science and Data (S&D) Committee proposed structure changes. Board members expressed support for terms of reference for the S&D committee and also recommended:
  - Clarifying the expertise needed on the committee and requested the inclusion of socio-economic expertise.
  - Clarifying the role of the committee in ensuring conformity and coordination between partnerships and national S&D committee.
  - Including a description for the membership selection process.
  - Requesting Fish Habitat Partnership representation.
  - Identifying a Board liaison to provide Board leadership and coordination back to the Board. (Joe Larscheid agreed to fill that role).
  - Ensuring that the direction, purpose and needs for the 2015 National Assessment are well defined to better inform the membership and structure of the S&D Committee.
- Strategy to complete 2015 National Assessment. Board members generally supported the draft timeline and also recommended:
  - Cross-walking the 2015 National Assessment strategy with the new Action Plan objectives and sub-objectives.
  - Including approaches for linking coastal and inshore assessments in the draft strategy.
  - Clarifying proposed purpose and need of National Assessment in the draft strategy.
- Proposed revised Action Plan Objectives. At least two Board members believed the draft objectives were at the appropriate level and addressed the full suite of necessary points. Some Board members also recommended:
  - Including "enhance" to draft Objective #2.
  - Broadening to all people (vs. "young people") in draft Objective #3. Others preferred defining youth as "under 18".
  - Clarifying that the objectives are not hierarchical.
  - Revise or combine Objectives #1 and #2 to make the work of FHPs to leverage resources around the best set of conservation outcomes more prominent, with the Board in support.
  - Using draft Objective #4 to more clearly recognize the role that science and data play in empowering action and making that information more broadly available.
  - Strengthening Objective #4 from "improve understanding" to a more active outcome.
  - Clarifying the roles between Board and Fish Habitat Partnerships beyond Action Plan objectives and connecting many of the moving pieces including the Board's role in "protecting the Brand".

NATIONAL FISH HABITAT ACTION PLAN

2ND EDITION

COOPERATION

INVESTMENT

STEWARDSHIP

NATIONAL
FISH HABITAT
PARTNERSHIP

Appendix 3: 2012 National Fish Habitat Board and Committees

NATIONAL FISH HABITAT BOARD MEMBERS

Kelly Hepler - Chair

Assistant Commissioner
Alaska Department of Fish and Game

Stephen G. Perry - Vice Chair

Chief, Inland Fisheries Division
N.H. Fish and Game Department
Representing the Northeastern Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies

Mike Andrews

Vice President
The Nature Conservancy

Dan Ashe

Director
U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service

Douglass Boyd

Vice Chair
Sportfishing & Boating Partnership Council

Randy Fisher

Executive Director
Pacific States Marine Fisheries Commission

Brad Gentner

President and Chief Economist, Gentner
Consulting Group
Representing Coastal Conservation Association

Chris Horton

Midwestern States Director
Congressional Sportsman's Foundation

Joe Larscheid

Fisheries Bureau Chief, Conservation and Recreation Division
Iowa Department of Natural Resources
Representing the Midwest Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies

Bob Mahood

Executive Director
South Atlantic Fishery Management Council

Donald Fred Matt

D. Fred Matt

Executive Director
Native American Fish & Wildlife Society

Stan Moberly

Stan Moberly

Past President
American Fisheries Society

Ron J. Regan

Ron Regan

Executive Director
Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies

Gordon C. Robertson

Gordon Robertson

Vice President
American Sportfishing Association

Samuel D. Rauch III

Samuel D. Rauch III

Acting Assistant Administrator for Fisheries
NOAA

Michael D. Stone

Mike Stone

Chief of Fisheries (Retired)
Wyoming Game and Fish Department
Representing the Western Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies

Nick Wiley

Nick Wiley

Commissioner
Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission
Representing the Southeastern Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies

Steven A. Moyer

Steve Moyer

Vice President for Government Affairs
Trout Unlimited

Krzysztof Wolniakowski

Krzysztof Wolniakowski

Director, Western Partnership Office
National Fish and Wildlife Foundation

Anne Zimmermann

Anne Zimmermann

Director, Watershed, Fish, Wildlife, Air and Rare Plants
U.S. Forest Service

OFFICERS

Andy Hughes
Chairman of the Board
Ed Liccione
Vice Chairman
Edward H. Roach
Secretary
Larry Jennings
Treasurer

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Larry Albright
Chris Armiger
Lew Armistead
Diane Baynard
Sherman Baynard
Mike Benjamin
Paul C. Bramble
Keith Campbell
Timothy B. Campbell
Joe Capazzoli
Allen C. Clark, III
Brian K. Coakley
Sean Crawford
Bill Curry
Terry Detrich, M.D.
Rich Dobry, Sr.
Dennis Doyle
Gerald Eldreth
Joe Evans
Patrick Flanigan
James Flannery
Richard Frantyo
Mark Galasso
Brad Gentner
Bob E. Glenn
D. L. Goddard
Jim Greene
Gene Hansen
Michael Hill
Tom Hughes
Jim Inglesby
Edward F. Kilduff
Mike Killelea
George Krantz
Bernard "Lefty" Kreh
Kenneth B. Lewis, M.D.
Vicki Lines
Don McDougal
Scott A. McGuire
Michael J. Medinger
Sean Meyer
Jeff Minderlein
Michael Nussman
Brian O'Hare
Larry Pendleton, IV
Keith C. Pitchford
Crae Ramsey
Don Silliman
Scott Singleton
Cyrus Smith
Frank A. Smith
William H. Smith
Charles L. Stout
John Streb
Mark Susinno
Sam Teague
Tony Tochterman
Ray Wasdyke
Stanley P. Watkins, Jr.
Eric Whisenhunt
John Page Williams
Trent Zivkovich

Staff

Tony Friedrich
Executive Director

CCA Maryland

Coastal Conservation Association

ANNAPOLIS • BALTIMORE • GREATER WASHINGTON • KENT Narrows • LOWER SHORE • MID-SHORE • NORTH ANNE ARUNDEL • PATUXENT RIVER • UPPER BAY

August 31, 2010

Secretary John Griffin
Maryland Department of Natural Resources
580 Taylor Avenue
Annapolis, MD 21401

RE: Yellow Perch Management Considerations

Dear Secretary Griffin:

I am writing on behalf of the approximately 1700 members of the Coastal Conservation Association Maryland (CCA MD) to communicate our recommendations for specific management actions for the 2011 yellow perch fishery.

CCA MD would like to congratulate the Department for its successes in managing yellow perch and its continued interest in managing the species in a sustainable manner. This framework has yielded a better understood fishery and increased stakeholder satisfaction. We are also pleased to see the Department develop regulation that allows a closure of the commercial Yellow Perch fishery on shorter notice to prevent harvesters from surpassing their yearly quota. It should be noted that the commercial fishery exceeded their quota in each of the past two years and we encourage the Department to react earlier, with even more caution, in order to avoid this situation in the future.

Based on creel survey results, yellow perch populations in some tributaries are doing quite well. It has been remarked that the upper bay experienced the best yellow perch fishing anyone has seen in the last 40 years. I personally experienced the fishery at the Northeast Town Park and was pleased to see parents teaching their kids to fish and showing them the value of our natural resources. As the first recreational fishery of the season, the tradition of yellow perch fishing is once again becoming a family value.

Dedicated to the Conservation and Protection of Marine Life

101 Ridgely Avenue, Suite 12A • Annapolis, MD 21401
(410) 280-8770 • (888) 758-6580 • fax (410) 280-1432

www.ccamd.org • info@ccamd.org

TAB 9

1 GULF OF MEXICO FISHERY MANAGEMENT COUNCIL

2
3 240TH MEETING

4
5 FULL COUNCIL SESSION

6
7 Mobile Marriott

Mobile, Alabama

8
9 FEBRUARY 7-8, 2013

10
11 February 7, 2013

12
13 VOTING MEMBERS

14 Doug Boyd ..... Texas
15 Larry Abele ..... Florida
16 Kevin Anson (designee for Chris Blankenship) ..... Alabama
17 Martha Bademan (designee for Nick Wiley) ..... Florida
18 Roy Crabtree ..... NMFS, SERO, St. Petersburg, Florida
19 Pamela Dana ..... Florida
20 Dale Diaz (designee for William Walker) ..... Mississippi
21 Myron Fischer (designee for Randy Pausina) ..... Louisiana
22 Johnny Greene ..... Alabama
23 Campo Matens ..... Louisiana
24 Harlon Pearce ..... Louisiana
25 Corky Perret ..... Mississippi
26 Robin Riechers ..... Texas
27 Patrick Riley ..... Texas
28 John Sanchez ..... Florida
29 Bob Shipp ..... Alabama
30 Kay Williams ..... Mississippi

31
32 NON-VOTING MEMBERS

33 Jason Brand ..... USCG
34 Dave Donaldson (designee for Larry Simpson) ..... GSMFC
35 Larry Simpson ..... GSMFC

36
37 STAFF

38 Steve Atran ..... Population Dynamics Statistician
39 Steve Bortone ..... Executive Director
40 Assane Diagne ..... Economist
41 John Froeschke ..... Fishery Biologist
42 Shepherd Grimes ..... NOAA General Counsel
43 Karen Hoak ..... Administrative Assistant
44 Ava Lasseter ..... Anthropologist
45 Phyllis Miranda ..... Secretary
46 Charlene Ponce ..... Public Information Officer
47 Carrie Simmons ..... Deputy Executive Director

1 that's trying to invigorate the consumer and I think you will be
2 hearing a lot more about that. I think it would absolutely be a
3 good time to table this until we get to some sane decisions.
4 Thank you.

5
6 MR. ANSON: Thank you. We have Brad Gentner, followed by 7 Russell Nelson.

8
9 MR. BRAD GENTNER: I am here representing myself and Gentner
10 Consulting Group, Incorporated. My background is in fisheries
11 management all over the world. I have worked in this industry
12 for a number of years and have examined allocation issues for 13 National Marine Fisheries Service, various fishery management
14 councils, all sorts of private clients.

15
16 I am really glad to follow Mr. Spaeth with his discussion of 17 best available science. My main comment is we have excellent 18 science on allocation and it's unfortunate that the 19 socioeconomic panel doesn't sort of view it as that way.

20
21 We've got guidelines that have been developed, as early as 1990,
22 from NMFS and developed further throughout the years. The 23 council has produced their own set of guidelines. We had a
24 recent publication last year out of NMFS by Plummer and Morrison
25 talking about how allocation should be approached and what kind
26 of analyses we should be doing.

27
28 We have several studies that use those guidelines to look at 29 allocation in this fishery and finding it inefficient. We've 30 got a MARFIN study that came out a number of years ago, funded
31 by NMFS, by Griffith and Woodward, two established and well-
32 recognized scientists from Texas A&M.

33
34 They used these guidelines and the state of the art in economics
35 to look at allocation in this fishery and they estimated a
36 bioeconomic model. They got away from some of the criticisms
37 the socioeconomic panel had with the point estimate in the Agar
38 and Carter paper. They found that the allocation should be 100
39 percent recreational and nothing was done with that information.

40
41 Then along comes Agar and Carter and they used those same
42 guidelines and they come to the conclusion that the change
43 should be small and incremental. They talk about marginal
44 changes, but actually, if you read their study, they have no
45 more scientific support for small, quote, unquote, or 46 incremental as they do for actually recommending what the 47 efficient allocation is. They should have just left it at we 48 have a point estimate.

1
2 I recognize that point estimates are not good for estimating
3 non-marginal changes and that's what the panel got hung up on,
4 this idea of a non-marginal allocation shift. They didn't
5 define what non-marginal is and they didn't define why non-
6 marginal changes aren't acceptable to look at with a point
7 estimate.

8
9 However, they did come out with the fact that recreational
10 willingness to pay for allocation is three to eight times more,
11 which suggests a significant shift. Right now, NMFS has the 12 horsepower to take their analysis that step further and get 13 beyond the point estimate.

14
15 It would take an estimated bioeconomic model linked to their 16 behavioral work and you could find the optimal allocation and 17 that could be done in relatively little time. We just finished 18 a project for the Mid-Atlantic Council doing the same thing with 19 scup.

20
21 MR. ANSON: Brad, you're going to have to wrap it up.

22
23 MR. GENTNER: I am wrapping it up right now. We should have 24 looked at allocation before the catch share was put in place and 25 we didn't. We should have done it at the first five-year review
26 and we didn't. Here we are at the second five-year review and 27 we've got to do something about it now.

28
29 MR. ANSON: Thank you. Next, we have Russell Nelson.

30
31 MS. WILLIAMS: Could I ask him a question?

32
33 MR. ANSON: Yes, you may ask a question.

34
35 MS. WILLIAMS: Thank you. I went back and was reading some of 36 the papers and I read something referring to benefit cost
37 analysis and you were just talking also about willingness to 38 pay.

39
40 If the willingness to pay numbers are true and you're saying
41 they're 6 or 8 percent or even higher than what was originally 42 estimated, then do you feel the same way that that's going to 43 show that with this inter trading that this council has been 44 talking about? If someone is willing to pay something --

45
46 MR. GENTNER: I think that's a really good question. The 47 Griffiths and Woodward paper actually simulated an intersectoral
48 trade model. They didn't estimate willingness to pay. They

1 didn't come up with some hypothetical potential willingness to
2 pay for this quota. They simulated what would happen if 3 recreational anglers were allowed to trade quota with the 4 commercial sector and that analysis showed that the recreational
5 sector would buy 100 percent of that quota.

6
7 MR. ANSON: Thank you. Next is Russell Nelson, followed by 8 Larry Huntley.

9
10 DR. RUSSELL NELSON: I am Russell Nelson and I am here as a
11 scientific consultant to the Coastal Conservation Association.
12 I don't have a lot to say. We do support the two fish. 2008
13 was when Amendment 28 was started, with the intent to look at 14 reallocation, in 2008.

15
16 We've been a little bit frustrated that it's taken so long to 17 get here, but we're happy that you're moving forward with it
18 now. We, again, propose for that amendment -- We say that we 19 think the preferred alternative and the final action should be 20 that increases in TAC go to the recreational sector and that 21 nothing is taken from the commercial sector.

22
23 I applaud this council for having done a really good job in 24 managing half of the red snapper fishery and I didn't know until 25 this morning that actually that's going to generate more taxes, 26 but we would like you to take a look at the other half of the 27 red snapper fishery.

28
29 You've seen the data and you know what's going on in your own
30 states. You see what happens with seatrout and with redfish.
31 Please go forward with it and take a very close look at it.
32 That's really all I've got to say and I'm going to help save
33 some time.

34
35 MR. ANSON: Thank you, Russell, for doing that.

36
37 MR. MATENS: Russell, I am kind of confused. I hear so many 38 conflicting numbers about the number of Americans who do or do
39 not have access to their own harvested fish and do you have any 40 opinion or data on that?

41
42 DR. NELSON: Mr. Matens, I was looking at that yesterday when I
43 saw the latest pop-up organization, this Fish for America site.
44 They claim that only 3 percent of the people in the United 45 States fish.

46
47 The American Sportfishing Association in a study, and they do it
48 every few years and it's released in the fall, show that there

1 GULF OF MEXICO FISHERY MANAGEMENT COUNCIL

2
3 244TH MEETING

4
5 FULL COUNCIL SESSION

6
7 Hilton Palacio del Rio

San Antonio, Texas

8
9 AUGUST 28-29, 2013

10
11 August 28, 2013

12
13 VOTING MEMBERS

- 14 Doug Boyd.....Texas
- 15 Kevin Anson (designee for Chris Blankenship).....Alabama
- 16 Martha Bademan (designee for Nick Wiley).....Florida
- 17 Leann Bosarge.....Mississippi
- 18 Roy Crabtree.....NMFS, SERO, St. Petersburg, Florida
- 19 Pamela Dana.....Florida
- 20 Dale Diaz (designee for Jamie Miller).....Mississippi
- 21 Myron Fischer (designee for Randy Pausina).....Louisiana
- 22 Johnny Greene.....Alabama
- 23 Campo Matens.....Louisiana
- 24 Harlon Pearce.....Louisiana
- 25 Corky Perret.....Mississippi
- 26 Robin Riechers.....Texas
- 27 Patrick Riley.....Texas
- 28 John Sanchez.....Florida
- 29 Bob Shipp.....Alabama
- 30 Roy Williams.....Florida

31
32 NON-VOTING MEMBERS

- 33 Jason Brand.....USCG
- 34 Dave Donaldson.....GSMFC

35
36 STAFF

- 37 Stephen Atran.....Population Dynamics Statistician
- 38 Assane Diagne.....Economist
- 39 Doug Gregory.....Executive Director
- 40 Karen Hoak.....Administrative and Financial Assistant
- 41 Ava Lasseter.....Anthropologist
- 42 Mara Levy.....NOAA General Counsel
- 43 Phyllis Miranda.....Document Editor/Executive Assistant
- 44 Emily Muehlstein.....Fisheries Outreach Specialist
- 45 Mark Mueller.....GIS Analyst
- 46 Ryan Rindone.....SEDAR Coordinator
- 47 Carrie Simmons.....Deputy Executive Director

1
2 MR. THIERRY: For years, I feel like I have stood up here and
3 other fishers and said we will be more than glad to have 4 observers on our boat. If it costs us more money or if we have 5 to pay for part of this program, we will be glad to do it, ten
6 or twelve or fifteen years ago. I really don't know of any data
7 collection that we were against and said we would not do.

8
9 MR. FISCHER: Okay, because one of the things that we have found
10 is we're looking at considerably more fish than what you used to 11 have when people sample you in Alabama and so there is a burden.
12 We have to touch more of your fish, but the accuracy and the 13 precision is getting better and we're getting the feeling of if 14 Louisiana is inconsistent on three-day weekend seasons, we're 15 not taking fish away from you. We are counting them better and 16 actually, we're catching less fish than we ever thought. It's 17 all in the data.

18
19 MR. THIERRY: Yes, sir. We said that for years, that we always 20 felt like there was more fish being caught than what's been 21 accounted. It's pretty simple. Put a pencil to it with the 22 number of boats and the number of days and it adds up a good bit
23 more than what --

24
25 MR. FISCHER: Well, ours is inverse. We feel we're not catching 26 the fish that's been accredited to Louisiana throughout the 27 years.

28
29 MR. THIERRY: Right. I don't know.

30
31 DR. CRABTREE: How many snapper do you have in state waters in 32 Alabama?

33
34 MR. THIERRY: Very few.

35
36 DR. CRABTREE: Could you book red snapper trips if you only 37 could fish in state waters?

38
39 MR. THIERRY: I could book the trips. I wouldn't catch many 40 fish. Can you move our state waters out about twenty miles?
41 That would be nice. We would love to see that and then I would 42 change my tune on the 30B.

43
44 CHAIRMAN BOYD: Thank you, Mike. Brad Gentner and then Skipper
45 Thierry.

46
47 MR. BRAD GENTNER: My name is Brad Gentner, representing the 48 Gentner Consulting Group. I am an economist. I ran the

1 recreational economics data collection program for NMFS for a
2 number of years before I started my own firm and I want to thank
3 the council today for giving me the time to talk and express a
4 few things.

5
6 The council is facing an enormous array of very contentious and 7 difficult issues. Unfortunately, they're the same difficult and 8 contentious issues we've been battling for years and we're stuck
9 in sort of this deadlock and why is that?

10
11 I want to thank Doug Gregory yesterday for bringing up the idea
12 of behavior and incorporating behavior and what do we see when 13 we don't use behavior and angler behavior to manage the 14 recreational fishery? What we see is seasons set incorrectly
15 and what we see is anglers being set up to fail.

16
17 We don't want to be unaccountable and I'm going to talk about 18 how much I hate that word and how folks are using that word. We 19 want to fish within our limits, but we aren't given a system in 20 which we can.

21
22 We can't set optimal allocations and we can't manage to maximize
23 economic value in this fishery and for the American public.
24 This is the essence of the accountability problem. It's not 25 recreational anglers not wanting to behave and fish within the 26 limits, but it's they're trapped in a system where they can't 27 and that's why we have this deadlock and that's why we need to 28 start incorporating behavior.

29
30 We need to start building models and incorporate the biological 31 components and the economic components. We can answer these 32 questions we keep punting on because we say we don't have the 33 information at the time. We need to demand that the Center
34 estimate these models. We have the data, we have the 35 intellectual horsepower to do so, and we should be doing it.

36
37 I am sick and tired of people talking about this accountability
38 problem. I am sick and tired of people talking about too much 39 effort or having to rationalize effort or any sort of concept of 40 capacity in recreational fishing. They don't really exist.

41
42 We have fisheries that are perfectly sustainable and have been 43 for years that don't have these problems and it's not because of 44 the angler. It's because of the system they're trapped within 45 and we have a situation where it's about opportunity and it's 46 not necessarily about harvest and that's why there's no such 47 thing as capacity or excess capacity in these fisheries.

48

1 It's not the same thing as the talk about capacity in the
2 commercial context, where it's about profit and where it's about
3 the inefficiencies that come from the race to fish. There are 4 no inefficiencies and as many recreational anglers out there as 5 sustainably possible enjoying the resource and we can do that 6 without needing to be called unaccountable.

7
8 We can do that with a few more fish. We can do that with being 9 allocated an amount of fish that will improve the value of this
10 resource to the United States and not just 350 fishermen.

11
12 We have a duty here in this room to manage this public trust
13 resource for all the citizens of the United States, anglers,
14 non-anglers, and commercial fishermen. I want to thank 15 everybody. That's all I've got to say and we need to start
16 looking at behavior and incorporating it into our management
17 decisions.

18
19 CHAIRMAN BOYD: Brad, we've got a couple of questions from Mr.
20 Pearce and Mr. Williams.

21
22 MR. PEARCE: Brad, thank you for coming and I do agree with you
23 that it's not the recreational fishermen's fault that its 24 overfishing and it's caught in the system, but I don't agree
25 with you that they can't become accountable. Why do you think
26 they can't become accountable?

27
28 MR. GENTNER: I didn't say they can't become accountable. I am 29 saying this term we throw around about them not being 30 accountable has nothing to do with the angler. It has to do
31 with the management system we've wrapped around their ability to 32 fish and their opportunity to access the water.

33
34 MR. PEARCE: But don't you think the private recreational should 35 step up to the plate and find a way to get that done?

36
37 MR. GENTNER: Certainly and I think you would find every 38 recreational angler, down to a one, willing to step up to the 39 plate and willing to do what it takes to keep the opportunity
40 alive and have access to the resource.

41
42 We've heard people say they're ready for one fish and we've 43 heard people say they're ready for long closed seasons so that 44 we can keep longer seasons open and we've heard people say let's
45 all go to just weekends, so we can spread this opportunity
46 around.

47
48 These very short seasons are destroying businesses and

1 communities and we sit here and we get involved in talking about
2 fishing communities and anyone only brings that up in reference
3 to commercial communities. We have recreational fishing
4 communities.

5
6 One would argue that all of our coastal communities are now
7 recreational fishing communities, but nobody mentions them.
8 Nobody mentions the fact that just in the handful of comments
9 that talked about canceled trips because of a lack of an October
10 season, we're getting pretty close to $300,000 or $400,000 of 11 lost revenue and out-of-pocket costs because they're going to 12 have to now cancel those trips. How is that fair and equitable?

13
14 MR. WILLIAMS: I am intrigued when you said that this fishery is 15 not overcapitalized and there's not too much effort in it. the 16 boats that we have, the recreational fishing boats we have,
17 collect the whole quota in twenty-eight days and if we gave them
18 the entire total allowable catch, it would only last two months.
19 How can you say that the effort doesn't need to be rationalized
20 and that it's not overcapitalized?

21
22 MR. GENTNER: There are plenty of fisheries where we have -- You
23 could argue every fishery, inland or saltwater anywhere, we've 24 got more rods and more hooks than we need to catch the quota.
25 The majority of those, all of them in the inland sphere, are 26 managed sustainably and we don't have problems.

27
28 MR. WILLIAMS: But those are all catch-and-release fisheries
29 too, sure.

30
31 MR. GENTNER: Not necessarily, no. Is the crappie fishery a
32 catch-and-release fishery?

33
34 MR. WILLIAMS: I don't know if you can overfish a crappie
35 fishery.

36
37 MR. GENTNER: Be that as it may, you can imagine a situation
38 where it is possible. However, there is no such thing as 39 capacity. If you're going to use that term, it has no standing
40 with regards to a recreational activity and so you can talk
41 about the fact that there may be more hooks than there are 42 necessary, but when you've got people who are there and generate 43 their value and the value to society based on opportunity and 44 not harvest, the word has no meaning. Certainly no meaning in 45 the same sense as it does for the commercial industry.

46
47 MR. WILLIAMS: You're talking over my head, but if you're going 48 to have unlimited opportunity, you're also going to have

1 overharvest, are you not? We can't do that.

2
3 MR. GENTNER: Nobody said unlimited opportunity. I am not
4 asking for unlimited opportunity and I don't think any angler in 5 this room is asking for unlimited opportunity. We're asking for 6 opportunity that maximizes the value of this resource to the 7 country.

8
9 MR. WILLIAMS: But doesn't that lead to overfishing?

10
11 MR. GENTNER: No. There is no reason it should.

12
13 MS. BOSARGE: Good afternoon and thank you for your testimony.
14 You said that the recreational sector is based on the 15 opportunity versus the harvest and the commercial sector you
16 referenced is about the harvest.

17
18 If the recreational side is all about the opportunity, then 19 would a catch-and-release program work? You have the 20 opportunity to catch it, but the harvest is left up to the 21 commercial and do you think that that would also help the 22 recreational side, because there still has to be a quota. You
23 still have to make sure you have enough fish out there to 24 reproduce.

25
26 Then you would only be dealing with the mortality of the 27 released fish and so would catch and release work in your idea
28 for the recreational?

29
30 MR. GENTNER: It does work. It does work for some species.
31 Whether that's right for red snapper I think is very much an 32 open question. I think you could very much say that it is what 33 we call, in the study of human behavior in recreational
34 fisheries, a meat fish.

35
36 People like to keep red snapper. People go out with the 37 intention to catch those fish, but we also have a situation
38 where the stock is so thick that it's limiting the harvest and 39 limiting the opportunities for other species and I think there's 40 ways to think about how anglers interact with the environment
41 that makes that more sustainable and makes it such that we can 42 enhance opportunity without having problems with the stock and 43 that's been shown to happen in other fisheries.

44
45 MR. PEARCE: One more follow-up question. The for-hire sector
46 has been begging for an electronic logbook and accountability
47 and would you support that effort?

48

1 MR. GENTNER: Certainly. I don't have anything against that. I
2 think anything that sort of speeds up data, the flow of data and
3 the use of data, can't hurt.

4
5 DR. SHIPP: Brad, you mentioned earlier behavior. From a
6 theoretical point of view and not necessarily the red snapper
7 fishery, but from a theoretical point of view, do you think
8 there's a point where a derby fishery could be replaced by a
9 fishery with longer duration, eliminating the derby behavior and 10 yet ending up with essentially the same basic harvest?

11
12 MR. GENTNER: I certainly think we can and I think that's borne 13 out in our experience with other fisheries, inland and in 14 saltwater, where we have increased allocations or purely 15 recreational fisheries that don't have any problem with the 16 sustainability, but may have very long closed seasons or very 17 limited harvest regimes and we're perfectly happy with those.

18
19 I think incorporating this behavior gets us away from using 20 these blunt instruments. We're trying to do heart surgery with 21 a hammer. It's going to be bloody and it's not going to work
22 and we really need to get away from that. We really need to 23 know what the impact of our decisions are going to have and not 24 box this sector into a corner that they're always going to be 25 having trouble with.

26
27 I don't know all the answers. That's why we're here, but we 28 have better information than we're using. We have more
29 intellectual horsepower. I know NMFS has it. There are really 30 bright people in the economics within NMFS Fisheries.

31
32 New England is doing some of this work with behavior and looking 33 at bioeconomic models to solve very similar very complex
34 problems and they are making headway. My point is we've got to 35 get away from this deadlock and we've got to start making
36 headway.

37
38 CHAIRMAN BOYD: Thank you, Brad. Skipper Thierry and then 39 Michael Miglini.

40
41 MR. SKIPPER THIERRY: I am Skipper Thierry and I'm a charter
42 headboat operator and owner out of Dauphin Island, Alabama. I
43 would like to support state management. I would like to see 44 charter headboats have their own sector with an IFQ within that 45 plan.

46
47 This council always says bring us a plan and right now, I know
48 of two. The charter and headboats both have a pilot program

TAB 10

Economics & Public Opinion Research Curriculum Vitae for Brad Gentner

QUALIFICATIONS

Eight years experience conducting economic analysis in the field of recreational and commercial fishing. Strong skills in all phases of fisheries policy analysis including: economic valuation, economic impact modeling, international trade, seafood demand modeling, survey design and implementation, statistical analysis of survey data, focus group moderation, outreach and oral and written communications for technical and lay audiences.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

President and Chief Economist. Gentner Consulting Group. Silver Spring, MD. 2007 to present.

- Gentner Consulting Group is a full service consultancy in natural resource economics and public opinion research specializing in policy analysis, non-market valuation, demand analysis, economic impact analysis, human dimensions analysis, survey design, event management, and interpretation planning, training and evaluation.
- Current projects include:
  - Examination of the economic importance of fishing tourism in selected island nations in Oceania as part of a fisheries development grant.
  - Volunteer coordinator American Fly Fishing Trade Association Family and Youth Casting Call and National Casting Call, April 27th and 28th, 2008.
  - Examination of international markets for billfish including the domestic production and importation of billfish into the United States. Estimation of the economic impacts of domestic production and imports.
  - Estimation of US national Expenditures and Economic Impacts from Marine Recreational Fishing using data from the 2006 national marine recreational expenditure survey.
  - Regulatory analysis, including regulatory impact review, regulatory flexibility analysis, and NEPA economic analysis, of the international provisions in the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Reauthorization Act (MSRA). Federal Register notice of proposed rule posted Monday June 11, 2007 (Volume 72, Number 111, page 32052).
  - Analysis of Hawaii stated preference choice experiment data on angler preferences for billfish regulations.
  - Assisted in the development of the event evaluation, visitor expenditure and vendor cost and earnings survey for the Newmarket, New Hampshire Heritage Festival. Estimated total visitor expenditures and economic impacts.
- Gentner Consulting Group's goal is to supply decision makers with the economic and human dimensions information necessary to make better natural resource management decisions through providing turn key data collection and analysis products

Economist. National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS). Silver Spring, MD. 1999 to 2007.

- Responsible for the recreational economic data collection and analysis program.
  - Developed methodologies to support the Agency's development of management plans and impact assessments.
  - Conducted research on bio-economic modeling, natural resource valuation, economic impacts of natural resource policy, recreational demand analysis, sample design efficiency, and stated preference choice experiments.
  - Designed and administered expenditure, revealed preference commercial cost and earnings, and stated preference valuation/recreational demand surveys.
- Chaired National Economic Impact Working Group
  - Developed national standards for economic impact modeling.
  - Produced the commercial fisheries price index and the commercial fishing value added table annually for Fisheries of the United States.
  - Hosted the 2004 IMPLAN User's Conference to establish and maintain contacts with other agency's, academics, and consultants using input/output models for policy analysis.
  - Organized an agency wide training in the construction of computable general equilibrium models.
- Responsible for strategic planning, budgeting, procurement and all other phases of project management.
- Coordinated multidisciplinary teams to assist NMFS and its state, local, and federal partners.
- Regularly presented research to scientific, management council, and lay audiences.

- Initiated outreach campaign aimed at academics, agency personnel, state cooperators, and agency constituents.
- Proficient in the use of SAS (PC and Unix), Limdep, IMPLAN Pro, Mathematica, Adobe Pagemaker, Adobe Photoshop, PCMiller, Microsoft (MS) Access, MS Excel, MS Powerpoint, and MS Word.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE cont'd:

District Manager. James M. Vardaman & Co., Inc., Forest Management Specialists. Raleigh, NC. 1994 – 1997.

- Responsible for all phases of non-industrial private forest management including forestland appraisals, timber sales, land sales, timber management plans, economic analysis and regeneration management.
- Responsible for the supervision of contractors including logging contractors, herbicide application contractors, and tree planting contractors.
- Responsible for office management, including client database management, work scheduling, procuring new business and supervising two technicians.
- Brokered over $7 million in timber and recognized as a leading income generating manager.
- Developed and administered a company wide digital mapping program, FORSmap.
- Developed and administered a company wide Global Positioning System(GPS) data collection program.

EDUCATION

No Degree Sought. Agricultural and Natural Resource Economics, University of Maryland, Fall 2001 and Spring 2002. 20 semester credits.

M.S. in Agricultural and Natural Resource Economics. Oregon State University, Corvallis, Oregon. 1999.

B.S. in Forestry. Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, Arizona 1993. GPA 3.54.

PEER REVIEWED PUBLICATIONS

Wallmo, Kristy and Brad Gentner. (in press). The Use of Stated and Revealed Preference Data to Understand Catch and Release Behavior of Saltwater Anglers. North American Journal of Fisheries Management.

Gentner, Brad (2008). Do Angler's Tell the Truth? Examining Revealed and State Preferences for Conservation. Proceedings of the 4th World Fisheries Congress. May 2004. Vancouver, B.C., Canada.

Gentner, Brad and Stephen Sutton. (2007). "Substitution in Recreational Fishing." In: Global Challenges in Recreational Fisheries. Øystein Aas editor. Blackwell Science, Oxford.

Gentner, Brad. (2007). Sensitivity of anger benefit estimates from a model of recreational demand to the definition of the substitute sites considered by the angler. Fishery Bulletin. 105:161-167.

Massey, Matt, Steve Newbold, and Brad Gentner. (2006). Valuing water quality changes using a bioeconomic model of a coastal recreational fishery. Journal of Environmental Economics and Management. Volume 52 Issue 1. pp 482-500.

Massey, Matt, Steve Newbold, and Brad Gentner. (2005). The Effects of Water Quality on Coastal Recreation Flounder Fishing. EPA National Center for Environmental Economics Working Paper Series. Working paper number 05-03. March 2005.

Oh, Chi-Ok, Robert Ditton, Brad Gentner, and Robin Reichers. (2005). A Stated Preference Choice Approach to Understanding Angler Preferences for Management Options. Human Dimensions of Wildlife. Volume 10 Number 3. pp173-186.

Steinback, Scott, Brad Gentner, and Jeremy Castle. (2004) Economic Impacts of Marine Recreational Angling in the United States. NOAA Professional Paper NMFS 2, 169 p.

Gentner, Brad and John Tanaka. (2002). Classifying Federal Public Land Grazing Permittees. Journal of Range Management. Vol. 55. No.1. pp. 2-12.

Gentner, Brad and Alan Lowther (2002). "Evaluating Marine Sport Fisheries in the USA." In Recreational Fisheries: Ecological, and Economic, and Social Evaluation. T.J. Pitcher and C.E. Hollingsworth eds. Blackwell Science, Oxford. Pp. 186-206.

Hicks, R.L., A.B. Gautam, D. Van Voorhees, M. Osborn, and B. Gentner (2000). Thalassorama: An Introduction to the NMFS Marine Recreational Fisheries Statistics Survey with an Emphasis on Economic Valuation. Marine Resource Economics. Vol. 14 pp.375-385.

GREY LITERATURE/PROCEEDINGS

Gentner, Brad (2005). Using Stated Preference Choice Experiments to Forecast the Impacts of Recreational Fisheries Policy. Proceedings 2004 IMPLAN User's Conference, October 2004. Eastern Management Development Center, Shepherdstown, West Virginia.

Kirkley, James E., John Duberg, and Brad Gentner (2004). The Economic Contributions of the Commercial Fisheries of the United States: A User's Guide to the National Input/Output Model. Final report, contract DG133F-02-SE-0908.

Gentner, Brad (2004). Examining target species substitution in the face of changing recreational fishing policies. In: What are Responsible Fisheries? Proceedings of the Twelfth Biennial Conference of the International Institute of Fisheries Economics and Trade. July 20 – 30, 2004. Tokyo, Japan.

Gentner, Brad and Sminkey, Tom (2003). Puerto Rico: Trends in Recreational Catch and Effort for Coral Reef Species. Report prepared for Coral Reef Task Force 2003 Annual Meeting.

Gentner, Brad (2002). Economic Impacts of Marine Recreational Angling in the U.S.; Selected National Results. Proceedings of the 2002 biennial IMPLAN User's Conference.

Gentner, Brad (2002). Economic Impacts of Marine Recreational Angling in the U.S.; Selected Results. In: Fisheries in the Global Economy: Proceedings of the Eleventh Biennial Conference of the International Fisheries Economics and Trade.

Gentner, Brad, Scott Steinback, and Michael Price (2001). Marine Angler Expenditures in the Pacific Coast Region, 2000. U.S. Department of Commerce, NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-F/SPO-49.

Gentner, Brad, Scott Steinback, and Michael Price (2001). Marine Angler Expenditures in the Southeast Region, 1999. U.S. Department of Commerce, NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-F/SPO-48.

Steinback, Scott, and Brad Gentner (2001). Marine Angler Expenditures in the Northeast Region, 1998. U.S. Department of Commerce, NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-F/SPO-47.

Tanaka, John A., and Brad Gentner (2001). Responses of Public Land Ranchers to Policy Changes. Proceedings of the 2001 Annual Meeting of the Western Regional Coordinating Committee on Rangeland Economics: WCC-55.

Gentner, Brad, Robert Hicks, and David Van Voorhees (2000). Economic Data Collection for Marine Recreational Angling: The U.S. Approach. In: Microbehavior and Macroresults: Proceedings of the Tenth Biennial Conference of the International Fisheries Economics and Trade (IIFET).

SELECTED PRESENTATIONS

Bioeconomic Models Reborn for Ecosystem Based Management of Fisheries. Poster presentation. American Fisheries Society 2007 Annual Meeting.

Attitudes and Opinions of Fishery Management Stakeholders Towards an Ecosystem Approach to Management. Paper presentation. American Fisheries Society 2007 Annual Meeting. Kristy Wallmo co-presenter.

Economics 101: Using Economics for Policy Analysis. Invited presentation at the Grouper Forum hosted by the NMFS Southeast Regional Office and Florida Marine Research Institute. 2007

Economics 101: Using Economics for Allocation Decisions. Invited presentation at the South Atlantic Fisheries Management Council winter meeting. 2006.

Invited Discussant for the workshop Evolving Approaches to Managing Marine Recreational Fisheries hosted by the Property and Environment Research Center (PERC) and the Austin, Texas, office of Environmental Defense. 2006.

Economics 101: Using Economics for Allocation Decisions. Invited presentation at the Coastal Conservation Association's workshop entitled Saltwater Fisheries Management for the Twenty-first Century. 2006.

Economics 101: Using Economics for Allocation Decisions. Invited presentation for the Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission. 2006.

Economics 101: Using Economics for Allocation Decisions. NOAA Fisheries State Director's Meeting. Crystal City, Virginia. 2006.

Recreational Data Collection Program Overview. Invited presentation at the NOAA/IFREMER High Level Workshop. Brest, France. 2006.

Economics 101: Using Economics for Allocation Decisions. Invited presentation at the Coastal Conservation Association's National Board Meeting. Dallas, Texas. 2006.

Examining Target Species Substitution in the Face of Changing Recreational Fisheries Policy. Presentation at the 4th World Recreational Fisheries Conference, Trondheim, Norway. 2005.

National Marine Fisheries Service Experience Using Stated Preference Choice Experiments to Examine Angler Behavior. 135th Annual Meeting of the American Fisheries Society. Anchorage, AK. 2005.

Introduction to the Theory and Application of Stated Preference Choice Experiments for Fisheries Management. Presentation to Atlantic Coastal Cooperative Statistical Program. Washington, DC. 2005.

Introduction to Stated Preference Choice Experiments and Their Use at NOAA Fisheries. NOAA Office of Science and Technology's Division of Economics and Social Analysis 2006 Seminar Series. Silver Spring, MD. 2005.

Economic Importance of Marine Recreational Angling to North Carolina's Economy. Invited speaker, N.C. Department of the Environment and Natural Resources sponsored workshop on the economics of commercial and recreational fisheries. 2004

Examining Target Species Substitution in the Face of Changing Recreational Fisheries Policies. IIFET. 2004.

Using Stated Preference Choice Experiments to Forecast the Impacts of Recreational Fisheries Policy. 2004 IMPLAN User's Conference, October 2004. Eastern Management Development Center, Shepherdstown, West Virginia.

Stone, Holly, David Carter, and Brad Gentner (2004). The Distribution of Recreational Fishing Effort and Harvest in the Waters Around Puerto Rico. Poster presented at the 57th Gulf and Caribbean Fisheries Institute. November 2004, St. Petersburg, FL.

NOAA Fisheries Recreational Economic Data Collection Program: Collecting Data to Estimate the Value and the Economic Impact of Marine Angling in the U.S. Brown Bag Seminar for the Environmental Protection Agency's National Center for Environmental Economics. 2003.

Do Anglers Tell the Truth: Comparing Revealed and Stated Preferences for Conservation. Southern Chapter of the American Fisheries Society. 2003.

Economic Importance of Marine Recreational Angling in the U.S. Invited Speaker. Sport fishing Leadership Conference. 2003.

Economic Impacts of Marine Recreational Angling in the U.S.; Selected Results from Virginia. North American Association of Fisheries Economists (NAAFE). Biennial Conference 2003.

NOAA Fisheries Recreational Economics Program: Developing Models to Estimate the Effects of Recreational Fisheries Policies. Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Sciences invited lecture series. 2003

Economic Impacts of Marine Recreational Angling in the U.S.; Selected National Results. IMPLAN User's Conference. 2002.

Economic Data Collection for Marine Recreational Angling: The U.S. Approach. International Institute of Fisheries Economics and Trade (IIFET). 2000.

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

- International Institute of Fisheries Economics and Trade.
- North American Association of Fisheries Economists.
- WERA 1001 - Western Regional Research Committee on reduction in error in rural and agricultural surveys.
- American Fisheries Society – Human Dimensions of Recreational Fisheries Committee.
- Reviewer for:
  - Marine Resource Economics
  - North American Journal of Fisheries Management
  - Human Dimensions of Wildlife Management
  - Fisheries Research
  - Journal of Environmental Management
  - Marine Policy
  - Ecological Economics

ECONOMICS & PUBLIC OPINION RESEARCH

HOME
PEOPLE
SERVICES
CLIENTS
CONTACT US

People

Brad Gentner – President

For eight years, I ran the recreational economics data collection program for the National Marine Fisheries Service. As an Economist in the Division of Economics and Social Analysis, I specialized in survey design, recreational fisheries demand and welfare analysis, non-market valuation, and economic impact modeling for recreational fisheries. I managed all facets of NMFS recreational economic data collections including procurement, survey design and deliverable quality control. Additionally, I chaired the NMFS Economic Impact Working Group, coordinating the development of agency impact models for commercial and recreational fisheries and training NMFS staff in how to build and use custom IMPLAN models. My work for NMFS concentrated on the development and implementation of new methodologies for estimating the benefits, costs, and economic impacts of fisheries policies. My experience includes the design and analysis of revealed and stated preference valuation surveys, expenditure surveys, and industry cost and return surveys using in-person, mail and telephone surveying modes.

My latest research has focused on the use of stated preference choice experiments to predict changes in angler fishing effort, angler welfare, and the economic impacts stemming from changes in recreational regulations. Recently, I completed a national saltwater angler expenditure survey that involved multiple survey modes and mailed approximately 45,000 surveys. My work continues to include economic research and analysis related to commercial and recreational fisheries, working with such organizations as the NMFS Office of Economics and Social Analysis, the NMFS Office of International Affairs, and the International Game Fish Association.

I am experienced in all phases of survey design including sample design, instrument design, focus groups and cognitive interviews. I have extensive experience constructing and modifying economic impact models in IMPLAN to incorporate new industrial sectors not well represented in the standard SIC or NAIC categories. I am able to synthesize complex concepts and present these ideas to diverse audiences in person and in writing. My diverse knowledge and skills in natural resource management, statistics, econometrics, and survey design afford me the ability to craft innovative solutions multi-disciplinary problems.

Click here to view Brad Gentner's resume.

TAB 11

Socioeconomic SSC Meeting Summary
Grand Hyatt Tampa Bay
Tampa, FL
October 10-11, 2012

In attendance

Lee Anderson
Stephen Holiman
Wade Griffin
Steve Jacob
Mike Jepson
Sherry Larkin
Ebenezer Ogunyinka
Kurt Schnier
John Ward

Presenters

Juan Agar
David Carter
Jessica Stephen
Walter Keithly

Council staff

Assane Diagne
Ava Lasseter
Karen Hoak
Corky Perret
Steve Bortone

Roy Crabtree
Jason De La Cruz
Libby Fetherston
Frank Helies
Christina Package
Andrew Ropicki
Bobby Spaeth
Donny Waters

The meeting convened at 9 a.m., in a joint session with the Standing SSC. The list of attendees above reflects only those participating in the Socioeconomic SSC (SESSC) meeting. A summary of the joint session, which pertained to the roles of the Standing SSC and SESSC, is contained in the Standing SSC report (Tab B, No. 22) and is incorporated here by reference.

I. Economic Evaluation of Red Snapper Allocation – Juan Agar and David Carter

Dr. Juan Agar and Dr. David Carter from the Southeast Fisheries Science Center presented a study evaluating the economic efficiency of the current allocation of red snapper resources between the commercial and recreational sectors in the Gulf of Mexico. The presentation, titled “Are the 2012 allocations of red snapper economically efficient?” will be presented to the Council at this meeting.

Dr. Agar reviewed the theory behind economically efficient resource allocations between two sectors, including the concept of willingness to pay. Dr. Agar presented the commercial sector analysis. The analysis relied on reported red snapper IFQ allocation prices to measure the marginal willingness to pay. Challenges and limitations noted by Dr. Agar included a large number of zeroes in reported allocation prices, a wide fluctuation in landings over the last several years due to changes in ACLs, the recent implementation of the grouper IFQ program, and the voluntary and self-reported nature of IFQ allocation prices.

Next, Dr. Carter presented the recreational sector analysis, noting that the analysis relied on a 2003 survey. The survey asked how much anglers would be willing to pay for trips with varying attributes. The SESSC expressed concerns as to the data on which the recreational analysis was based, including concerns as to changes in regulatory and economic circumstances since 2003. The presenters noted that the best available data were used in this study. Dr. Carter also indicated that another survey will be administered in 2013.

Estimates of marginal willingness to pay for the commercial and recreational sectors were then used to examine the economic efficiency of the red snapper allocation between the commercial and recreational sectors. The presenters concluded that the study suggests that economic efficiency could potentially be improved by reallocating red snapper resources.

The SESSC then passed the following two motions:

The SESSC accepts the findings and conclusions in the presentation on “Economic Evaluation of Red Snapper Allocation” made by Dr. Agar and Dr. Carter.

To accept the following recommendation: While the results of the Agar/Carter study indicate that the marginal value of a recreationally caught red snapper is likely higher than the marginal value of a commercially caught red snapper, given the data that was used, (for example, data collection time periods: recreational- 2003, commercial- last 5 years of the IFQ program), we cannot specify the potential efficiency gains from possible quota shifts because we do not know how the marginal valuations will change with the switch.

II. Social Impacts of the Allocation/Reallocation of Marine Fisheries Resources on Communities in the Gulf of Mexico and South Atlantic: Development of an empirical predictive model. – Steve Jacob

Dr. Steve Jacob (SESSC member, York College) presented the results of a study that examined how allocation and reallocation may impact human well-being, using objective and subjective indices of well-being and their utility in Social Impact Assessments. Objective referred to community level measures of well-being from secondary data sources, while subjective referred to self-appraisal data collected through interviews with community members. There were four study communities: Port Isabel, Texas, and Buras, Louisiana in the Gulf, and Sebastian, Florida and Little River, North Carolina in the South Atlantic. Dr. Jacob focused on Buras, Louisiana, describing the natural and unnatural disasters experienced by the people of Buras, including recent hurricanes and the Deepwater Horizon oil spill, and the resilience of the community in response to these disasters. These disasters raise the questions of how much damage can one place sustain and survive. That is, how resilient is a community?

Dr. Jacob defined well-being as an aggregate community property, but included examination of individual and community factors. He also defined subjective well-being and the objective domains of well-being. He found that in terms of social impact assessment at the community level, objective indicators offer an advantage in both reliability and validity because of “framing effects” that enable individuals to ignore poor living conditions in favor of strong social networks, good health, or just the opportunity to live in a setting one favors.

Dr. Jacob conducted a regression analysis for the variables of depression, community, and well-being, for each of the study communities, and a multi-level model on the allocation impacts on community satisfaction and depression. He then compared the estimated allocation impacts for the three factors, for the whole community, the community excluding fishers, and for only fishers, based on the status quo allocation, 75%, 50%, and 25% of allocation and resulting landings. He concluded that objective indicators are more reliable for use in the analysis, because subjective well-being changes in relation to external conditions. Results were consistent for individual or community modeling. Selecting the most commercially dependent communities resulted in the highest predictive power of the analysis.

The SESSC then passed the following motion:

The Socioeconomic SSC endorses the methodological contributions made by Dr. Jacob in conducting equity-based research, with respect to community wellbeing as affected by changes in landings.

III. Red Snapper IFQ 2011 Annual Report including trends within the Red Snapper IFQ program -- Jessica Stephen and Juan Agar

Dr. Jessica Stephen presented the results of the Southeast Regional Office's review of the red snapper IFQ program, with the assistance of Dr. Agar. The presented results are included in the 2011 Red Snapper IFQ Annual Report, produced at the SERO, and are incorporated here by reference.

Dr. Stephen provided an overview and history of the red snapper IFQ program, including the structure of the data collection system. She provided data to examine the two primary goals of the program: to reduce overcapitalization and to improve safety at sea. Data provided included comparing the number of shareholder accounts over time, broken down by quantity of shares owned, numbers of accounts with permits, changes in the number of dealers, annual transfers of shares and allocations, and changes in the amount of shares held by shareowners in different states. The presentation also included a trends analysis including concentration and market power indices to examine change over time. Other changes examined pre- and post-program implementation including participating vessels, number of trips, trip duration, and average crew size.

The analysis examined changes in season length and changes in ex-vessel price. A market analysis is also included that examines changes in allocation price and its proportion to ex-vessel price, as well as the ratio of share to allocation price. Dr. Stephen provided information on how the amount of unused allocation remaining at the end of the year has changed over time, and the amount of discards, stratified for vertical line and bottom longline gear types.

Finally, some potential confounding effects were addressed, including the Deep Horizon oil spill, the price reporting practices of program participants, changes in the quota, and implementation of the grouper-tilefish IFQ program. Each of these likely affect the results presented. Although the SESSC did not pass a motion regarding the presentation, they expressed strong satisfaction with the extensive material and results presented by Dr. Stephen.

IV. Gulf of Mexico Red Snapper IFQ Program Survey Results and Analysis – Walter Keithly

Dr. Walter Keithly presented results from a survey among 2011 red snapper IFQ program shareholders. The mail survey was administered by Louisiana State University's Center for Natural Resources and Policy. The survey was designed to collect background socioeconomic information and elicit attitudes and perceptions of red snapper IFQ participants. Specifically, the main objectives of the survey included: (1) examining attitudes and perceptions relative to the RS-IFQ program, crewmember experiences, main characteristics of trips that harvested red snapper, and relationships with dealers; (2) analyzing perceptions regarding the potential red snapper IFQ outcomes, investment and disinvestment decisions, future plans in the red snapper component of the reef fish fishery, share and allocation transfers, and prices; and (3) comparing the attitudes and perceptions relative to the red snapper IFQ program with those reported in other IFQ program studies. The survey was sent to 428 shareholders on record as of January 1, 2011. By the end of September 2011, 179 responses had been received, representing 43% of the shareholders and accounting for approximately 50% of the shares. Dr. Keithly noted that the primary result of the survey indicated shareholders with large amount of shares tend to be very happy with the program, while those with small amount of shares are not very happy with the program.

